October 8, 2008

Please find enclosed all of the e-mails between the State of Alaska Office of the Governor and me, for the dates you requested.

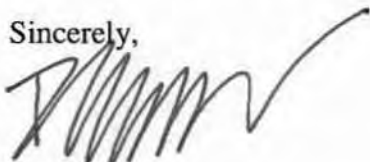

In one e-mail related to an acquisition, I have redacted identifying information (payment and phone information) that could, when combined, implicate the sender's financial privacy. This redaction is authorized under AS 40.25.120(a)(4) by article I, section 22 of the Alaska Constitution.

I offer no comment on your assessment of the deliberative process privilege since it is not asserted here.

On the question of public interest status, in the context of public records, the issue is not whether there is some perceived value to the documents, but rather, whether it would cost more to seek payment than the effort of retrieval and the copying of the documents is worth. Here, the search took less than five hours under AS 40.25.110(c), and the copying amount is minimal under AS 40.25.110(d). Accordingly, we have not charged you for this particular request.

Because we have redacted some information, we provide your appeal rights. They are set out in the attached provisions of 2 AAC 96.335 – 2 AAC 96.340. They include the right to administratively appeal complying with the procedures in 2 AAC 96.340, or to seek immediate judicial review of the denial by seeking an injunction from the superior court under AS 40.25.125. An election not to pursue injunctive remedies in superior court has no adverse effects on the rights of the requestor before the public agency. An administrative appeal from a denial of a request for public records requires no appeal bond.

Sincerely,

Bruce Kato
Chief Curator

cc: Kay Shelton, Director, Division of Libraries, Archives and Museums

2 AAC 96.335. Denial of request. (a) A request for a public record that complies with this chapter may be denied only if

- (1) the record is not known to exist after the public agency makes a diligent search for it;
- (2) the record is not in the public agency's possession, and after a diligent search the public agency does not know where the record is to be found;
- (3) the record has been destroyed in accordance with an applicable record-retention schedule;
- (4) nondisclosure of the record is authorized by a federal law or regulation, or by state law; or
- (5) the record is believed to be in the agency's possession but has not yet been located, in which case the public agency shall proceed under (f) of this section.

(b) A request may be denied by the public agency head or by an agency employee to whom denial authority has been delegated by the public agency head.

(c) An initial denial of a written request must be in writing; must state the reasons for the denial, including any specific legal grounds for the denial; and must be dated and signed by the person issuing the denial. If a request is denied by a public agency employee to whom denial authority has been delegated, the notice of denial must reflect this delegation. A copy of 2 AAC 96.335 - 2 AAC 96.350 must be enclosed with the denial.

(d) A denial of a written request, in whole or in part, must state that

- (1) the requestor may administratively appeal the denial by complying with the procedures in 2 AAC 96.340;
- (2) the requestor may obtain immediate judicial review of the denial by seeking an injunction from the superior court under AS 40.25.125;
- (3) an election not to pursue injunctive remedies in superior court shall have no adverse effects on the rights of the requestor before the public agency; and
- (4) an administrative appeal from a denial of a request for public records requires no appeal bond.

(e) A denial of a written request is considered to be issued at the time the denial is either delivered to the United States Postal Service for mailing, or hand-delivered to the requestor by an employee or agent of the public agency.

(f) If a written request is denied because a record has not yet been located and the record is believed to exist in the agency's possession, the office in the public agency responsible for maintaining the record is believed to exist in the agency's possession, the office in the public agency responsible for maintaining the record shall continue to search until the record is located or until it appears that the record does not exist or is not in the public agency's possession. The public agency shall periodically inform the requestor of its progress in searching for the requested record.

(g) A record that is the subject of a public records request that has been denied shall not be destroyed or transferred from the public agency's custody, except that records may be transferred to state archives and records management services as provided by AS 40.21 and regulations adopted under AS 40.21. A public agency may not destroy or transfer custody of a record to which access has been denied or restricted until at least 60 working days after the requestor is notified in writing that the request has been denied, or if there is an administrative or judicial appeal or other legal action pending at the end of the 60-working-day period, until the requestor has exhausted those actions.

2 AAC 96.340. Appeal from denial; manner of making. (a) A requestor whose written request for a public record has been denied, in whole or in part, may ask for reconsideration of the denial by submitting a written appeal to the agency head.

(b) An appeal under (a) of this section must be mailed or hand-delivered to the agency head within 60 working days after the denial is issued and must include the date of the denial and the name and address of the person issuing the denial. The appeal must also identify the records to which access was denied and which are the subject of the appeal. If an appeal is from the failure of the agency to respond to the records request within the appropriate time limit under 2 AAC 96.325, the appeal must so state, must identify the records sought, and must identify the public agency to which the request was directed and the date of the request.

(c) The 60 working days within which an appeal must be filed begins to run upon the issuance of the denial or, if no denial is issued, upon the expiration of the time period within which the public agency should have responded.

Dear Mr. Kato,

Thank you so much for your e-mail.

I am delighted that the three pieces by Lesley Jackson are of interest to your Museum and that they are going back to Alaska.

I have contacted a professional shipper that I have used in the past and will get an air-freight quote within a few days.

I will send you an invoice for the three pieces; shipping and handling will be separate.

PRIVACY

I had no idea that you were interested in furnishings from the Governor's home.

I do have a piece of furniture which was handed down from him to his son Hugh P. Brady and then to me.

It is a New England (Massachusetts) Hepplewhite mahogany card table (1805-1815) with a serpentine top over a conforming frame with inlaid bird's eye maple & satinwood panels and an arrow-inlaid apron, supported by square legs with banded cuffs, in very good condition.

Would this piece be of any interest to you?

I also have a pair of Alaskan ceremonial oars which I would like to donate to the Museum as well as a copy of the manuscript "Early Days in Sitka" from a talk given by Hugh P. Brady at Sheldon Jackson College on Alaska Day, in 1965.

I would very much like to speak to you directly. When would it be convenient? There is an 8 hrs. time change.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

With my best regards,

Cornelia Meili Carré

Hello Cornelia,

Thank you for your email message. Yes, the price for the paintings is within our means to purchase. All three works of art will be a splendid addition to the State Museum's collection. The Lesley Jackson watercolor of Sitka is also a wonderful surprise.

Is there a service available to you for packing and shipping the paintings to Alaska? Perhaps a local art gallery or museum will be able to recommend an appropriate shipper. We will also need to know what these costs are so we will be able to reimburse you for these fees.

Upon receipt of an invoice from you, I am able to send a US Treasury Warrant to you via certified mail for the purchase. Please let me know if there is anything I can do to assist you.

In addition, I would like to talk with you at some point about your Great-Grandfather, Governor Brady. I regret to say that the museum has very little display material from the territorial governors. We have copies of Governor Brady's papers from Yale University. However, we are always interested in personal items--articles of clothing, office accessories, souvenirs, or other items connected to Alaska during Governor Brady's terms in office.

Thank you again, I look forward to hearing from you. We sincerely appreciate your interest in preserving these paintings as part of Alaska's history.

Dear Mr. Kato,

Thank you so much for your e-mail dated 20th June 2007.

I am very pleased of your interest in the Lesley Jackson oils.

I have another piece by Ms. Jackson, a watercolour of the town of Sitka viewed from the water.

This work was acquired by my Great-Grandfather John Green Brady alongside the two oils in 1901 directly from Lesley and her Father Sheldon.

Please find attached some additional pictures.

The 3 pieces are:

"Russian Church in Sitka" 1901, oil on canvas, framed: 23 1/4" x 15 1/4"

"Sitka by Water" 1901, oil on canvas, framed: 21 1/4" x 15 1/4"

"View of Sitka, 1901, signed & dated in pencil, watercolour, framed: 21" x 16"

All three are in pristine condition and beautifully framed.

Should the State Museum be interested in these historical and regional views, I am offering them for sale at a total price of US $8,000.00.

I very much look forward to hearing from you.

With kind regards,
Yours sincerely,

Cornelia Meili Carre

Do you know the folks who run the State Museum? There is a terrific exhibit on The Lure of Alaska – A History of Tourism in the Great Land that closes after February 29th. I called June Hall, the curator who put it together and she's willing to meet with any commissioners and staff who would like to discuss the exhibit and its themes. I'm intrigued since we're all working hard to accurately tell the story of rural Alaska, and I think we can gain several insights. It would be fun if the museum could be open for us, say Thursday evening, for a "Denali Commission Night at the Museum"! If you don't know anyone there, I'll make a cold call and see what happens.

Hello Bruce,

I received a call last week from Tina Barela, 373-7298. Her mother is elderly and moving out of her house in the Anchorage area, but in the yard sits a vintage WWII PT Boat. Tina said it might be one of the original eight. She wondered if there was any interest from the state museum. Her mother's name is Ruth Ann Turner, 349-8597.

Tina has spoken to Scott Neal of the Wasilla Museum, 373-9073, at this point and I believe she is just trying to reach out as much as possible to gauge interest. I told her I would ask around. Do you have any thoughts on whether the state would be interested in the boat? If you are comfortable with responding to Tina, I'd appreciate it, but it's also just as easy for me to relay any information you provide to me. Just let me know, either way.

Tina did say her family is currently doing more research on the boat.

Thank you for your help.
