RE: Freedom of Information Act Request #12-F-00143: Electronic copy of records provided to Honorable Chairman Darrell Issa in January 2011 under the FOIA and any correspondence sent to Chairman Issa's office during calendar year 2011

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the Commission. The record from the Commission files responsive to your request has been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed.

As you have requested, we have provided all Commission communications with the Honorable Chairman Issa during the 2011 calendar year. The information is in electronic format on the enclosed CD.

Thank you for your interest in consumer product safety. The cost to the Commission to prepare this information was $45.00. In this case, we have decided to waive the charges. Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127, telephone (301) 504-7923, or e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Mills:

The Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") is one of the most important tools for government transparency and accountability. In their mission to find waste, fraud, and abuse, the oversight and investigative committees of Congress, including the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform ("Committee"), are often assisted by tips, complaints, and briefings from media organizations, watchdog groups, and concerned citizens. These private-sector actors are often the first to become aware of federal inefficiency or malfeasance. FOIA allows them to scrutinize the activities of federal agencies. Without FOIA, they could not hold the government accountable, nor could they provide crucial assistance to Congressional oversight. President Obama recognized the importance of FOIA when he made it the subject of an executive memorandum on his second day in office.¹

The Committee, as the principal oversight committee in the House of Representatives with broad oversight jurisdiction as set forth in House Rule X, is very interested in ensuring that all federal agencies respond in a timely, substantive, and non-discriminatory manner to requests for information under FOIA. To enable the Committee to understand the impact of recent changes to FOIA procedures and to evaluate agencies' compliance with FOIA, please provide the following information, records, and explanations by February 15, 2011 at 5:00 pm.

1. Provide your agency's FOIA log(s) for the five years preceding the date of this letter, in Microsoft Excel or a similar format that allows sorting by column or information category, including at least the following information: (a) the name of the requestor; (b) the date of the request; (c) a brief description of the documents or records sought by the request; (d) any tracking number assigned to the request by your agency pursuant to Section 7 of the OPEN Government Act of 2007²; (e) the date the request was closed, if it is not still outstanding; (f) whether any records were provided in response to the request; and (g) any additional identification number or code assigned to the request by your agency for internal use.

2. On each log provided in response to Request No. 1, identify each FOIA request to your agency that was submitted more than 45 days prior to the date of this letter and to which your agency has not yet issued a complete and final response.

3. For each FOIA request identified in response to Request No. 2, provide all communications between your agency and the requestor.

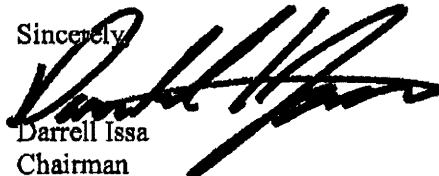

4. Identify any federal judicial action in which your agency, within the five years preceding the date of this letter, has been ordered by the court to pay any attorneys' fees or other litigation costs incurred by a FOIA requestor under 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(E) or under any similar law or regulation.

5. For each federal action identified in response to Request No. 4, provide a copy of the court order requiring your agency to pay attorney fees or other litigation costs.

Please note that for purposes of responding to this request, the terms "records," "communications," and "referring or relating" should be interpreted consistently with the attached Definitions of Terms.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. If you have any questions regarding this request, please contact Hudson Hollister or Tegan Millspaw with the Committee staff at (202) 225-5074.

Sincerely,

Definition of Terms

1. The term "record" means any written, recorded, or graphic matter of any nature whatsoever, regardless of how recorded, and whether original or copy, including, but not limited to, the following: memoranda, reports, expense reports, books, manuals, instructions, financial reports, working papers, records notes, letters, notices, confirmations, telegrams, receipts, appraisals, pamphlets, magazines, newspapers, prospectuses, interoffice and intra office communications, electronic mail (e-mail), contracts, cables, notations of any type of conversation, telephone call, meeting or other communication, bulletins, printed matter, computer printouts, teletypes, invoices, transcripts, diaries, analyses, returns, summaries, minutes, bills, accounts, estimates, projections, comparisons, messages, correspondence, press releases, circulars, financial statements, reviews, opinions, offers, studies and investigations, questionnaires and surveys, and work sheets (and all drafts, preliminary versions, alterations, modifications, revisions, changes, and amendments of any of the foregoing, as well as any attachments or appendices thereto), and graphic or oral records or representations of any kind (including without limitation, photographs, charts, graphs, microfiche, microfilm, videotape, recordings and motion pictures), and electronic, mechanical, and electric records or representations of any kind (including, without limitation, tapes, cassettes, disks, and recordings) and other written, printed, typed, or other graphic or recorded matter of any kind or nature, however produced or reproduced, and whether preserved in writing, film, tape, disk, videotape or otherwise. A record bearing any notation not a part of the original text is to be considered a separate record. A draft or non-identical copy is a separate record within the meaning of this term.
2. The term "communication" means each manner or means of disclosure or exchange of information, regardless of means utilized, whether oral, electronic, by document or otherwise, and whether face-to-face, in a meeting, by telephone, mail, telexes, discussions, releases, personal delivery, or otherwise.
3. The terms "referring or relating," with respect to any given subject, means anything that constitutes, contains, embodies, reflects, identifies, states, refers to, deals with or is in any manner whatsoever pertinent to that subject.

Dear Chairman Issa:

Thank you for your letter dated January 25, 2011, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's ("CPSC") Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") Officer seeking information about the agency's processing of FOIA requests and the FOIA request logs. The responses to your request are as follows:

Response to Request 1. The FOIA logs are contained on the attached CD-R in Microsoft Excel format. There are 2 Excel files of the FOIA logs, because we adopted a new electronic logging or tracking system in 2008. One Excel file is for 2008 to 2011 (named "Congressional Report Feb 14 2011") and one file is for 2006 and 2007 (named "CPSC foia data 2006-2007").

Response to Request 2. Each FOIA request that was submitted more than 45 days prior to the date of your letter and that is not yet complete is identified by shading over that specific request on the file.

Response to Request 3. For each FOIA request that was submitted more than 45 days prior to the date of your letter and that is not yet complete, we have provided all communications between the agency and the requester in pdf files (named "CPSC FOIA REQS OVER 45 DAYS Parts 1, 2, and 3") on the CD-R.

Response to Request 4. Within the last five years, the CPSC has not been ordered by a court to pay any attorney's fees or other litigation costs incurred by a FOIA requester under 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(E) or under any similar law or regulation. However, in Natural Resources Defense Council, v. U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Civil Action No. 08-1312 (HHK), CPSC entered into a Stipulation of Settlement, Release and Order of Dismissal, dated June 10, 2009, where the CPSC agreed to pay attorney's fees and costs as part of the settlement.

Chairman
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
House of Representatives

Response to Request 5. A copy of the Stipulation of Settlement, Release and Order of Dismissal, dated June 10, 2009, is enclosed.

I hope this is fully responsive to your inquiry. Should you have any questions, please contact me at 301-504-6836.

Sincerely,

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT, RELEASE AND ORDER OF DISMISSAL

This Stipulation of Settlement, Release and Order of Dismissal (Stipulation) is entered into between Plaintiff, Natural Resources Defense Council (NRDC) and Defendant, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The Parties, by and through their respective counsel, hereby stipulate and agree as follows:

RECITALS

1. Whereas, Plaintiff filed this suit in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552, seeking release of certain information by the CPSC.
 2. Whereas, CPSC has produced to NRDC responsive documents in connection with its FOIA request as well as Vaughn indices;
 3. Whereas, NRDC has informed CPSC that it will not challenge any of CPSC's withholdings;
 4. Whereas, this Stipulation constitutes a full and final resolution of all claims and allegations arising from the above-captioned civil action.

STIPULATION

1. NRDC hereby dismisses with prejudice any and all claims NRDC now has or could have acquired against CPSC or the United States of America ("United States"), or any department, agency, officer or employee of the CPSC and/or the United States related to or arising out of NRDC's FOIA request at issue in this action.

2. Defendant agrees to pay NRDC's attorneys a lump sum of Ten Thousand Three Hundred and Fifty dollars ($10,350.00), which sum shall be in complete and full settlement and satisfaction of any and all claims, demands, rights, and causes of action of whatsoever kind and nature for attorney's fees and costs incurred in connection with the above-captioned civil action.

3. Defendant agrees that upon notification of the Court's execution of this Dismissal Order and Stipulation of Settlement it will promptly complete the documentation necessary to effectuate payment of $10,350.00 to the NRDC. The NRDC releases the CPSC and the United States of America ("United States"), or any department, agency, officer or employee of the CPSC and/or the United States from any and all claims, past or present that NRDC has alleged or could have alleged against CPSC or the United States, arising out of NRDC's FOIA request at issue in this action.

4. This Stipulation of Settlement shall not constitute an admission of liability or fault on the part of the United States, its agents, servants, or employees and is entered into by both parties for the sole purpose of compromising disputed claims and avoiding the expenses and risks of further litigation.

5. This Stipulation of Settlement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

6. The Parties agree that this Stipulation of Settlement will not be used as evidence or otherwise in any pending or future civil or administrative action against the United States, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States.

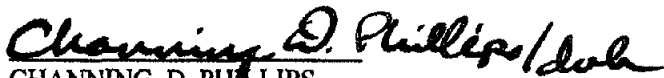

7. This Stipulation of Settlement shall become effective only upon execution by all of the parties, however, this Stipulation of Settlement may be executed by the parties in several counterparts and shall constitute one Stipulation. The parties further agree that a facsimile of the signatures of the parties and counsel will be the same as the original.

8. The Court shall retain jurisdiction over any issues that may arise relating to this Stipulation and Order.

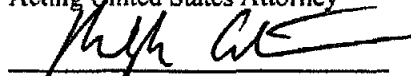

Respectfully submitted,

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00175: I would like to obtain complaints of Anchor Hocking Glassware and Ovenware exploding or shattering.

Dear Mr. Balmuth, P.A.:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 10 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 2007 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 10 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date. Should you have questions, contact me by letter, facsimile 301-504-0127 or telephone (301) 504-7479 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

Sincerely,

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00175: Would like to obtain complaints of Anchor Hocking Glassware and Ovenware exploding or shattering.

Dear Mr. Balmuth, P.A.:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

I recently spoke with Alberta Mills at your office. We have been retained to represent the above-named clients in a claim for damages for personal injuries sustained in connection with the above-captioned accident. On July 10, 2010, plaintiff Jeff Huberts was picking up the subject glass vase (approx. 16 in vase made by the Gerson Company – similar the recalled 20 in vase), when he was injured as a direct result of the defective and dangerous glass vase which shattered in his hands. The subject 16 inch glass vase was purchased at the Michaels Store located at 357 S. Mountain Avenue, Upland, California 91786. We hereby request that you provide us with a copy of all documents relating to the 20 inch recalled vase and any documents relating to the subject 16 inch vase. Please relet us know if you need any additional information. We have also contacted Eric Gray to request that a new recall begin regarding the 16 inch vase and are awaiting a call back.

Thank you for your anticipated cooperation in this matter.

Dear Mr. Stevenson:

I left you voicemail messages today. We currently represent an individual who was injured by a Michaels vase (16 in) similar to the one recalled by your entity in Sept. 2010. We would like to see if we could obtain additional information regarding the 20 in vase and provide you with information regarding the 16 inch vase.

Please call me when you get a chance.

Thank you.

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00166: Please provide details regarding the specific hazard associated with the following recall: FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE October 5, 2010 Release #11-001.

Dear Mr. Pietropaolo:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 1990 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Should you have questions, contact LaWanna Harrod by letter, facsimile 301-504-0127 or telephone 301-504-6728 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

Dear Todd:

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. sec 552.

Please note my new company affiliation and address and send all documents to this address from now on.

I would like to request the Section 15 Recall file involving the "Blair Bathrobes" as discussed in three Press Releases (#10-017, 09-200 and 09-241).

Please send any documents as soon as they are available. We will pay for any costs incurred.

If you choose to withhold any portion of the requested documents, please cite the specific exemption of the FOIA Act you feel justifies the denial. Further, we request notification of the appeal procedures available to us, and the time constraints that we must adhere to.

Thank you very much.

RE: Freedom of Information Request 10-F-00771: Request the Section 15 Recall file involving the "Blair Bathrobes" as discussed in three Press Releases (#10-017, 09-200 and 09-241) / Office of Compliance and Field Investigations File RP090300

Dear Ms. Longacre:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). We must withhold the records responsive to your request, specifically, the records from the Commission's Office of Compliance and Field Operations Corrective Action active litigation and law enforcement investigatory file RP090300, Blair Corporation, pursuant to the FOIA Exemptions 5 and 7(A), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and (b)(7)(A). Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. Exemption 7(A) provides for the withholding from disclosure of records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings.

The records being withheld consist of internal staff memoranda and correspondence containing recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses of the Commission's technical and legal staffs. The records constitute both pre-decisional and deliberative discussions that clearly fall within the attorney-client and attorney-work product privileges. Any factual materials in the records not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would (1) impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters, and (2) prematurely reveal information used in the investigation, thereby interfering with this and other matters by disclosing the government's basis for pursuing this matter.

The file may also contain proprietary and confidential information that we must withhold pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 4 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3) and (b)(4), and section 6(a)(2) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2055(a)(2). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3 to these records, we are relying in part on CPSA section 6(a)(2) to withhold files that contain proprietary and confidential information. Section 6(a)(2) prohibits the Commission from disclosing information that is exempt from disclosure under Exemption 4 of the FOIA. That exemption protects trade secrets and confidential commercial information directly related to a firm's business that the firm has not made public and whose disclosure could give a substantial commercial advantage to a competitor.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

The file information may be subject to disclosure once the case is closed. You may want to resubmit your request in a few months.

Processing this request, performing the file searches and reviewing the information, cost the Commission $40.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive all of the charges.

Sincerely,

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00157: Gemmy Industries Corp. (KMart)
"Totally Ghoul" Costumes - All Complaints and Reports of Injuries or Deaths

Dear Mr. Pinero:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request - US Consumer Product Safety Commission concerning Gemmy Industries Corp.

Dear Ms. Acosta and Ms. Carter:

Please send our firm any and all complaints and reports of injuries or deaths from the use of Gemmy Industries Corp.'s airblown inflatable costumes. The costumes may have been marketed for Kmart under the brand name "totally ghou!" We request specifically, reports where battery packs in the inflatable costume were improperly sealed and leaked acid or alkaline materials resulting in injuries.

Please email, or mail any information that conforms to the above request to our offices. We are prepared to pay any required costs, but please contact us if the request produces a large number of documents. Please feel free to contact me directly at (919) 899-9655 if you have any questions. Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Very truly yours,

Mr. Kenyon,

Thank you for submitting a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The FOIA Office has received a response from the Commission's Program Office(s) for request 11-F-00146. However, we had a few questions for the Program Office. As of today, we have not received a response from either the legal team or the Program Office. Perhaps the slow response is due to many people being out of the office due to the holidays.

Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127, telephone (301) 504-7923 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov. Please reference your request tracking number in your communication with the Commission's FOIA Office.

Mr. Kenyon,

Thank you for submitting a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The FOIA Office has received a response from the Commission's Program Office(s) for request 11-F-00146. However, we have a few questions for the Program Office before we can process their response. Follow up with us in a week or so to see if we have a response to our inquiry regarding the requested material.

It may be at minimum 30 days before any disclosable material is released. The CPSC statutes require that we notify the manufacturer of the product(s), if they are identified in the material and have not been previously notified or have requested to be notified again. To help you understand the statutes, perhaps you should read the Commission's regulations regarding the release of information for FOIA and the Consumer Product Safety Act Section 6(b) regulations. This information was mentioned in the acknowledgement letter and can be found at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/CPSA6b1.pdf> and <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/CPSA6bFactSheet.pdf>.

If we need to contact the manufacturer then the manufacturer will have 15 days to review the material and respond to our notice. We will review the manufacturer's comments and notify them a second time stating if we agree or disagree with their assessment regarding the disclosure of the material. The manufacturer has 10 days to respond to the notice. Otherwise, the material will be prepared and released when it is received in the FOIA Office according to CPSC 6(a)(1) and/or 6(b)(2) and FOIA regulations.

Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127, telephone (301) 504-7923 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov. Please reference your request tracking number in your communication with the Commission's FOIA Office.

RE: Freedom of Information Request #11-F-00144; Request access to and copies of the following records: - All in-depth investigative reports used in Suad Wanna-Nakamura's white paper "Unsafe Sleep Settings" from July 2010

Dear Ms. Gabler:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (Commission). The information from the Commission files responsive to your request has been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic (In-Depth) Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems, the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are copies of news paper clippings, medical examiner reports and death certificate files regarding the subject of your request.

Information that identifies manufacturers, distributors and/or private labors has been redacted from the enclosed records because we have not satisfied our requirement under Section 6b of the Consumer Product Safety Act which requires that prior to disclosing information about such entities, they would be provided the opportunity to comment on the information prior to disclosure.

You will note that information in the documents disclosed that could identify injured parties and persons treating them has been deleted pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of such identities without the consent from the individuals. Also FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel, medical and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA exemptions to disclosure.

Additional responsive information which is no longer stored at the Commission's headquarters has been requested from the National Archives Record Center. We will complete the processing of your request upon receipt of this information.

According to the Commission's regulations implementing the FOIA at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, MD 20814-4408.

RE: Freedom of Information Request #11-F-00144; Request access to and copies of the following records: - All in-depth investigative reports used in Suad Wanna-Nakamura's white paper "Unsafe Sleep Settings" from July 2010. Finally, I am requesting that the CPSC expedited this request

Dear Ms. Gabler:

This is in response to the above referenced Freedom of Information Act Request. By letter dated December 20, 2010, we provided you with material that represented a partial response to your request. The enclosed documents constitute a final response to your request.

Enclosed are two Epidemiologic (In-Depth) Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems, the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

You will note that in the documents disclosed information that could identify injured parties and persons treating them has been deleted, because section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act, 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1), prohibits such disclosures without the consent of those individuals.

FOIA Request 11-F-00144

According to the Commission's regulations implementing the FOIA at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, MD 20814-4408.

Processing this request, performing the file searches and preparing the information, cost the Commission $80.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive all of the charges. This completes the processing of your request. Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127 or telephone (301) 504-7923 or e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

RE: Freedom of Information Request #11-F-00144; Request access to and copies of the following records: - All in-depth investigative reports used in Suad Wanna-Nakamura's white paper "Unsafe Sleep Settings" from July 2010

Dear Ms. Gabler:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (Commission). The information from the Commission files responsive to your request has been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed. Please note that the enclosed documents constitute a partial response to your request.

The enclosed records constitute Epidemiologic (In-Depth) Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems, the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Information that identifies manufacturers, distributors and/or private labors has been redacted from the enclosed records because we have not satisfied our requirement under Section 6b of the Consumer Product Safety Act which requires that prior to disclosing information about such entities, they would be provided the opportunity to comment on the information prior to disclosure.

You will note that information in the documents disclosed that could identify injured parties and persons treating them has been deleted pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of such identities without the consent from the individuals. Also FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel, medical and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA exemptions to disclosure.

According to the Commission's regulations implementing the FOIA at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, MD 20814-4408.

We will provide the remaining documents as soon as they become available for release.

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request 11-F-00144: In-depth investigative reports and supporting documents - absent any reference to any manufacturer or brand – used in Suad Wanna-Nakamura's "Unsafe Sleep Settings, July 2010, including 52 infant deaths where bumper pads were mentioned

Dear Ms. Gabler:

This regards your request dated November 19, 2010 that seeks a full waiver of any fees that may be incurred in the processing of the referenced Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request to the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") and expedited processing of the request.

In your letter you request a waiver of the fees because "the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities." Your explanation or justification is not sufficient to justify a full waiver of the fees. We, therefore, deny your request for a full waiver of the fees.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9 provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The FOIA regulations and fee schedule allow for the charges for file search time at $12.00 an hour for clerical personnel and $19.60 an hour for professional personnel, $19.60 an hour for review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, and $0.10 a page for duplication services. As a member of the news media, you will receive a partial waiver of the fees. The search and review fees and $10.00 of the duplication services will be waived.

Your letter also seeks expedited processing because "the public has an urgent need for information about the safety of products used by children. You have not demonstrated that the failure to obtain the requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual or that there is an urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.5(f)(1). I am therefore denying your request for expedited processing.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5(f)(4) and (f)(6) and 1015.7, any denial of a request for a fee waiver or expedited processing of an FOIA request may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Dear Mr. Stevenson and Ms. Mills:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of the following records:

- All in-depth investigative reports and supporting documents – absent any reference to any manufacturer or brand – used in Suad Wanna-Nakamura's white paper "Unsafe Sleep Settings" from July 2010.
- That includes files from a total of 52 infant deaths where bumper pads were mentioned in the narrative. These are CPSC files.
- Lastly, I am requesting that these files be released to me as soon as each file becomes available. In the interest of time and public safety, it is crucial that we not be required to wait for all 52 files to be processed until we can review those that have already been approved.
- Finally, I am requesting that the CPSC expedite this request in the interest of public safety. I would like the files by Tuesday, Nov. 30th.

As a representative of the news media, I am required only to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, I am gathering information that is of current interest to the public because it relates to the safety of products used by children.

This information is being sought on behalf of Chicago Tribune for dissemination to the general public. Please waive any applicable fees. Release of the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

I am making this request as a journalist, and this information is of timely value. So I would appreciate your communicating with me by phone or email, rather than by mail if you have questions regarding this request. Please don't hesitate to call me at any time.

Please provide expedited review of this request, which concerns a matter of urgency. As a journalist, I primarily am engaged in disseminating information. The public has an urgent need for information about the safety of products used by children.

Thanks for your assistance.

Dear FOIA Officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of A report by the laboratory TEI Analytics that was presented to the USCPSC by U.S. Rep. Jason Altmire that concerned lead in reusable grocery bags.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, I am gathering information on chemical content of reusable grocery bags. that is of current interest to the public because of public health issues. This information is being sought on behalf of The Tampa Tribune for dissemination to the general public.

Please waive any applicable fees. Release of the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and this information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone, rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request.

Please provide expedited processing of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. As a journalist, I am primarily engaged in disseminating information. The public has an urgent need for information about government efforts to protect public health because consumers are using these reusable bags. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited processing are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

I look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Richard Mullins

Re: Generic Search and FOIR; CPSC Task No. 100802HNE0563; Recall No. 10-309; Nap Nanny, Infant Portable Recliner

Dear Sir/Madam:

I represent the product manufacturer, Baby Matters, LLC/Nap Nanny. I would request your office please provide us with both a generic search and a Freedom of Information Request for specific information regarding CPSC Recall No. 10-309. I would ask that the search go back to 1980.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION REQUEST

Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, Title 5 of the U.S. Code, Section 552, as amended, and the Michigan Freedom of Information Act, we hereby request a complete copy of all documents and other materials including in-depth investigation reports (IDI's), photographs, reports, interview statements, violation citations, inspection reports, investigations, drawings, diagrams and other information in your file concerning an infant death incident that occurred on July 9, 2010 in Royal Oak, Michigan involving a Nap Nanny product wherein a four-month old infant sustained fatal injuries when the product was improperly placed in a crib.

We further request any information in your possession with regard to infant portable recliner incidents from 1980 to the present.

GENERIC SEARCH

We hereby further request a complete search of your four data bases: (1) accident investigations, (2) reported incidents, (3) death incidents, and (4) comments including in-depth investigation reports for all infant portable recliner cases, including CPSC Recall No. 10-309 and information on 22 other reported cases. The key word search should include Baby Matters, Nap Nanny, infant portable recliner, crib and bumper pads.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any additional questions.

Very truly yours,

Jerry Galante

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00124: Any and all information regarding smoking, burning and or exploding iPods from 2005 through the present.

Dear Mr. Russell:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 2005 through 11/19/10 for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Should you have questions, contact Lynn Carter by letter, facsimile 301-504-0127, telephone 301-504-6890 or via e-mail addressed to cpssc-foia@cpssc.gov.

I represent a consumer who was seriously burned by a first generation nano iPod while it was strapped to his arm in a Nike + arm band for use with the nano. He suffered second and third degree burns to his arm, while he was out jogging. He remains out of work and under a doctors care.

It is my understanding that CPSC has been aware of such issues and has over 800 pages of documents relating to the same. Nevertheless no recall or warnings have been issued by the CPSC. Interestingly, consumers were warned in Japan by its respective Ministry in 2008. Why did CPSC drop the ball regarding its duty to consumers in the U.S. How many third degree burns are too few to report?

At this time, while we have reported the incident on the CPSC web site, we are requesting any and all information you have regarding smoking, burning and or exploding iPods from 2005 through the present.

The requested information should be forwarded to me at the address listed below.

Additionally, if you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

To: FOIA,

Mr. Zapata is looking into a situation, where one of these safes was accessed while in the possession of a police officer.

Questions: Was the recall specifically limited to the problem described in the press release (These safes can be opened without the use of a combination by jiggling with the door knob) or was there more to it than this? Additionally, the recall notice states that there were "no injuries or incidents" at the time of the recall. Is that still the case with this recall "no injuries or incidents"?

Pls explain the delay. Three months back I asked for this information, which is for off-the-shelf documents and generic in nature. It is not manufacturer-specific or brand specific. A request like this should be handled within no more than two weeks. What gives?

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00094: Request any and all interpretive letters from the Office of General Counsel concerning bicycles, and the regulations under 16 CFR 1512 and its subparts.

Dear Mr. Statler:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

Todd,

The Hotline can provide the bicycle regulations, but I was not sure if there were "interpretive letters" outside of the one in the first link below. Lastly, would this require a FOIA request since the person asked for "any and all interpretive letters"?

Dear Ms. Gambardella:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). We have located records that are responsive to your request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any manufacturers or private labelers whose identities can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firms. The firms have 15 days to respond. If the companies claim that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and re-notify the firms if we overrule any claims.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firms. The firms' responses and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

For more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations, please refer to our website <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons." If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

Sincerely,

Alberta,
I've added an additional item to our request. Thanks again.

Alberta,

Thanks for expediting the FOIA on the Ft. Bragg testing the other day. It was crucial to our story.

We have another request.

We would like all information on the investigation into the collapsed bleachers at East Carolina University (ECU) in Greenville, NC in September 2010.

This would include (but not be limited to) all written correspondence (letters and e-mails)

- * to and from the contractor to the CPSC
- *to and from ECU and the CPSC
- *to and from ECU and the contractor
- *the written contract between ECU and the contractor
- *any fines the contractor may have incurred
- *all CPSC field reports

As always, we would appreciate the CPSC's expedition of this request.

You can reach me at 919-687-2219 if you have any questions.

Thanks, Alberta.

Sincerely,

Silvia

FOIA REQUEST

Dear FOI Officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. s. 552, I request access to and copies of the new Commission meeting policy first used at the October 20 commission meeting. This new policy was described by Chairman Inez Tenenbaum at the beginning of the meeting and included that each Commissioner would get 10 minutes for questions with possible further questioning after all other Commissioners were done.

I agree to pay reasonable duplication fees for the processing of this request in an amount not to exceed $25. However, please notify me prior to your incurring any expenses in excess of that amount.

As a representative of the news media I am required to pay only for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, I am gathering information on CPSC activity that is of current interest to the public because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities. This information is being sought on behalf of Product Safety Letter for dissemination to the general public.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and this information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone, rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request.

I look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sincerely,

Sean Oberle,

Subject: Graco Toddler Bed 2005 recall

Dear FOI Officer:

I am studying the hazards of toddler bed entrapments. I am aware of an incident that occurred on 7/18/08, in Ketchikan, Alaska, where a 17 mo old F was found lying on the floor with her left foot caught in the slats of her wooden toddler bed manufactured in 11/07. The entrapment resulted in significant injury, compartment syndrome that needed to be surgically repaired and she has a significant gait and lack of mobility.

While this bed is not made by Graco, I noticed that Graco recalled its toddler beds for limb entrapment in 2005. Therefore, please send me the recall file that generated this recall;

3/22/2005, CPSC Release #05-137, "CPSC, Graco Children's Products Announce Recall of Toddler Beds."

Thank you. I am willing to pay any fees.

Dear Mr. de Francesco:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 1990 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

My secretary forwarded the below set out request for additional information. I hope this response helps focus our inquiry.

I will withdraw my request concerning all products that Kohler makes, and will instead limit my request for only the information concerning complaints (including all records, correspondence, notes, and file material including its disposition) made against the Kohler Company within the past 15 years that involve the Pressure Flushometer model number K 81100, including the Rialto or San Raphael commodes that incorporate the K 81100 flushometer.

And it may help to point out that the CPSC previously had a file open on this product (CPSC # PI 00-0134), but closed that file in 2000. I would appreciate any information you may have as to whether this file was re-opened, or whether there had been additional complaints made or action taken by the CPSC that post-dates the November, 2000 letter attached that concerns the above referenced product.

Dear Mr. Kleckhefer:

The staff of the Office of Compliance of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has finished its review of the matter involving Kohler Pressurized Toilets. Acting under delegation from the Commission, the staff has closed this investigation.

The firm has a continuing obligation to inform the Commission of defects associated with consumer products which could create a substantial product hazard and of information which reasonably supports the conclusion that a product creates an unreasonable risk of serious injury or death.

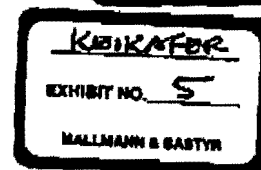

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter. We hope that future dealings between the company and the Office of Compliance, should they become necessary, will be conducted in the same spirit.

These documents and materials are requested for use in litigation. Accordingly, it is crucial that they be certified copies. Specifically, the document and materials need to bear an official seal and the signature of a CPSC official attesting to their authenticity. I have attached a copy of a custodial affidavit for your convenience.

To the extent that the responsive documents and materials contain information protected from disclosure, I request that the documents or other materials, including any audio recordings, be redacted/edited and then produced to us in redacted/edited form, as opposed to being entirely withheld from production.

Should you have any questions or concerns regarding this request, please do not hesitate to contact me at (713) 374-7010 or via e-mail at JScott@hou-law.com.

I thank you for your anticipated cooperation in this matter.

Regards,

James R. Scott

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00055: Requesting copies of documents in the possession of the Commission pertaining to the October 2010 recall of Sleep and Study Loft Beds, by PBteen, a division of Williams-Sonoma, Inc.

Dear Ms. Halpern:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date. Should you have questions, contact Joyce Brager by letter, facsimile 301-504-0127 or telephone 301-504-7923 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

Recall Alert

U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission

Office of Information and Public Affairs

Washington, DC 20207

October 5, 2010
Alert #11-703

PBteen Recalls to Repair Sleep and Study Loft Beds Due to Fall and Injury Hazards

The following product safety recall was voluntarily conducted by the firm in cooperation with the CPSC. Consumers should stop using the product immediately unless otherwise instructed. It is illegal to resell or attempt to resell a recalled consumer product.

Name of Product: PBteen Sleep and Study Loft Beds

Importer: PBteen a division of Williams-Sonoma Inc., of San Francisco, Calif.

Hazard: The side rail on the bed can crack allowing the mattress support to collapse, posing a fall and injury hazard to users.

Incidents/Injuries: The firm has received seven reports of the bed rail cracking or splitting. In one reported incident, a child sustained lacerations to his head when the side rail split as he climbed down the ladder.

Description: This recall involves PBteen Sleep and Study Loft beds in a variety of colors: espresso, honey, white and black. The bed is elevated and has a desk and bookcase underneath it. The beds were sold in the following colors: honey, black, espresso, and white.

Sold by: PBteen stores in Georgia, New York and Illinois and online at www.pbteen.com for about $1,800. The recalled loft beds were delivered to consumers from January 2008 through July 2010.

Manufactured in: Vietnam

Remedy: Consumers should immediately contact PBteen to schedule installation of a free replacement side rail support bracket.

Consumer Contact: For additional information, contact PBteen toll-free at (877) 494-9822 between 7 a.m. and midnight ET or visit the firm's website at www.pbteen.com

CPSC is still interested in receiving incident or injury reports that are either directly related to this product recall or involve a different hazard with the same product. Please tell us about it by visiting <https://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/incident.aspx>

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission is charged with protecting the public from unreasonable risks of serious injury or death from thousands of types of consumer products under the agency's jurisdiction. The CPSC is committed to protecting consumers and families from products that pose a fire, electrical, chemical, or mechanical hazard. The CPSC's work to ensure the safety of consumer products - such as toys, cribs, power tools, cigarette lighters, and household chemicals - contributed significantly to the decline in the rate of deaths and injuries associated with consumer products over the past 30 years.

To report a dangerous product or a product-related injury, call CPSC's Hotline at (800) 638-2772 or CPSC's teletypewriter at (301) 595-7054. To join a CPSC e-mail subscription list, please go to <https://www.cpsc.gov/cpscliat.aspx>. Consumers can obtain recall and general safety information by logging on to CPSC's Web site at www.cpsc.gov.

Hi CPSC,

I am sending this email to find out if any safety concerns have been reported with the Baby Appleseed Millbury crib. I own the crib and on Saturday my daughter's (5 month old) legs got caught in the slats between the foot board and the top of the mattress. I reported this incident to CPSC today, but wanted to find out if anything else has been reported regarding this crib.

I also reported the incident to the manufacturer.

Thank you!

He has attached the two lists: "Heiden INDP-IPIIs from CPSC Jan 2010.pdf" and "Copy of Heiden INDP-IPIIs from CPSC Jan 2010.xls", which list all the documents that are in his possession. I have attached our current list of ROV-related IPIIs, DTHS, and IDIs, with links to the documents: "master list of incidents.xls". I think this should give you all the information needed for his request.

Please let me know if you need anything else.

Thanks,
Sarah

Subject: Request for CPSC IDIs

Hi Sarah,

Following up on our prior conversations, I am requesting complete electronic copies (or hard copies if electronic copies are not available) of all of the complete ROHV IDIs and IPIIs that have been prepared by CPSC but that are not in our possession as of Oct. 1, 2010.
(See immediately below).

Attached please find two lists. The first attached list contains the case numbers and PDF number and first page reference page for of all the CPSC ROHV IDIs and IPIIs currently in our possession. These represent all the cases for ROHV-related incidents contained on a CD with 8 PDFs that Mark Kumagai provided to us from January 2010. There are 144 IDIs on this list and 30 IPIIs.

*Rescued

1 11-F-00047

The second attached list contains case reports that it is our understanding were included in the CPSC study, but that were not found by us on the Kumagai-furnished CD. These are not in our possession. It includes two IDI task numbers and five IPII document numbers. Since they are not in our possession, we are requesting the documents on this second list.

In addition to the documents on the second list above, we are requesting the following: (1) all IDIs and IPII reports that are not on the first list above but have been completed by CPSC as of September 30, 2010; and (2) any IDIs or IPIIs that may be listed on the Kumagai CD of January 2010 and thus are on our first list, but that have subsequently been revised, updated, or changed in some way since the CPSC ROHV accident study was completed.

Again, we do not need documents on the attached first list unless they have been added to or revised since CPSC issued its ROHV injury/fatality study.

If you have any questions about this request, or if we otherwise need to discuss it, please give me a call or email.

Thank you and your colleagues, Sarah, in advance for your help on this.

Best regards,
Ed

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00044: Request all documents related to "the several specific steps" that White House Chief of Staff Rahm Emanuel and White House Counsel to the President Bob Bauer instructed your agency to take in a 16 March 2010 memo to all agency and department heads. The "specific steps" that the memo instructed your office to implement include: 1) "Update[ing] all FOIA guidance and training materials to include the principles articulated in the President's memorandum" and 2) "Assess[ing] whether you are devoting adequate resources to responding to FOIA requests promptly and cooperatively."

Dear Mr. Jones:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

Re: Request under the FOIA, in reply refer to Archive# 20100946CPS001

Dear Information Officer

Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), I hereby request the following:

All documents related to "the several specific steps" that White House Chief of Staff Rahm Emanuel and White House Counsel to the President Bob Bauer instructed your agency to take in a 16 March 2010 memo to all agency and department heads. The memo is available at http://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/default/files/rss_viewer/foia_memo_3-16-10.pdf

The "specific steps" that the memo instructed your office to implement include:

1) "update[ing] all FOIA guidance and training materials to include the principles articulated in the President's memorandum" and

2) "assess[ing] whether you are devoting adequate resources to responding to FOIA requests promptly and cooperatively."

If you regard any of these documents as potentially exempt from the FOIA's disclosure requirements, I request that you nonetheless exercise your discretion to disclose them. As the FOIA requires, please release all reasonably segregable non exempt portions of documents. To permit me to reach an intelligent and informed decision whether or not to file an administrative appeal of any denied material, please describe any withheld records (or portions thereof) and explain the basis for your exemption claims.

As a representative of the news media, the National Security Archive qualifies for "representative of the news media" status under 5 U.S.C. Sec. 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II) and, therefore, may not be charged search and review fees. (See National Security Archive v. U.S. Department of Defense, 880 F.2d 1381 (D.C. Cir. 1989), cert denied, 110 S.Ct. 1478 (1990)). This request is made as part of a scholarly and news research project that is intended for publication and is not for commercial use. For details on the Archive's research and extensive publication activities please see our website at www.nsarchive.org.

To expedite the release of the requested documents, please disclose them on an interim basis as they become available to you, without waiting until all the documents have been processed. Please notify me before incurring any photocopying costs over $100. If you have any questions regarding the identity of the records, their location, the scope of the request or any other matters, please call me at (202) 994-7000 or email me at foiamail@gwu.edu. I look forward to receiving your response within the twenty day statutory time period.

Sincerely yours,

Nate Jones

THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington

March 16, 2010

MEMORANDUM FOR AGENCY AND DEPARTMENT HEADS

FROM: RAHM EMANUEL

BOB BAUER
COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT

On his first full day in office, the President wrote that "A democracy requires accountability, and accountability requires transparency." In little over a year, much successful work has been done to make the government more open and accountable to the American people. For the first time in history, the White House has made its visitor records available to the public and online. The President issued executive orders to reduce over-classification, speed declassification, and increase access to presidential records. Additional measures include Recovery.gov and USAspending.gov, designed to bring sunlight to government expenditures, and the issuance of the Open Government Directive that requires government operations to be more transparent and open to public participation.

Also, on his first full day in office, the President directed you to administer the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) with a "presumption in favor of disclosure" and to respond to FOIA requests "promptly and in a spirit of cooperation." Accordingly, we write to request that your agency take several specific steps to improve implementation of the President's Memorandum on the Freedom of Information Act.

We appreciate your efforts to implement the Memorandum on FOIA, and we are confident that the Chief FOIA Officer Reports you filed will show progress. But more work remains to be done, and such work requires persistent effort.

To that end, we request that you take action as follows to ensure full implementation of the President's Memorandum on FOIA. First, you should update all FOIA guidance and training materials to include the principles articulated in the President's Memorandum. Second, you should assess whether you are devoting adequate resources to responding to FOIA requests promptly and cooperatively, consistent with the requirements for addressing this Presidential priority.

Many of you may already be taking these steps in the course of drafting your agency's Open Government Plans, and we ask that you consider these and other measures as part of developing and implementing the FOIA section of those plans.

Thank you for all of your hard work to make sure that the Administration can fulfill the President's commitment to create an unprecedented level of openness in government.

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00041: Request any and all incident/injury reports, investigations by the US CPSC, communications and any and all other documents regarding the recalled Black & Decker Random Orbit Sander.

Dear Ms. Baublitz:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Subject: LG Refrigerators-Light Bulb Overheating Issue

Hi Pam. Can you please let me know if CPSC has received any consumer complaints in recent years regarding LG ~~refrigerators~~ with overheating light bulbs that causes the refrigerators interior to melt and smoke. If so, has CPSC issued a recall on this issue?

I am aware of the LG refrigerator recall that CPSC issued in 2005 relating to a faulty condenser fan motor <http://www.cpsc.gov/cpscpub/prere1/prhtml05/05213.html>, but this is not the issue I am currently interested in.

Thanks in advance for your assistance.

Dr. Stevenson,

Thanks for the link. However, I am interested in the "dataset" – not the raw data - used to generate Tables A4 and A5. Such a dataset would take the form of, for example, an Excel or comma delimited file containing variables such as "house or home", substance, concentration, etc.

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00646: Request copies of the results of any or all testing (XFR, laboratory or other) conducted on items of the "Princess and the Frog" jewelry related to the recall starting January 29, 2010; Copies of notes, agendas or other documentation from meetings or deliberations that Chairman Tenenbaum or members of the staff have had regarding cadmium in children's jewelry with a date range starting on November 1, 2009; and Copies of research/documents that discuss or have been used in the determination of whether the CPSC is considering "flip flop" charms once sold at Wal-Mart and identified in recent Associated Press reporting on cadmium as "children's jewelry."

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

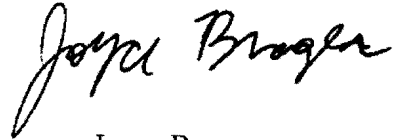

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. We have located the records that are responsive to your request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Ms. Alberta Mills

Freedom of Information Officer
U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission
Directorate for Information Management
Office of Information and Technology
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, MD 20814

Dear Alberta,

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request the following information:

1. Copies of the results of any or all testing (XRF, laboratory or other) conducted on items of the "Princess and The Frog" jewelry related to the recall starting Jan. 29, 2010 (per <http://www.cpsc.gov/onsafety/2010/01/childrens-necklaces-recalled-due-to-serious-risk-of-cadmium/>). Testing should be understood to include procedures done by CPSC staff and/or firms overseen by CPSC involved in the recall (FAF, Inc.; Wal-Mart Stores; and/or The Walt Disney Co.).
2. Copies of the results of any or all testing (XRF, laboratory or other) conducted on other items the CPSC has bought and tested (or which has been tested by firms under the direction or oversight of CPSC, or by individuals who submitted their results to the agency) as part of its ongoing review of the presence of cadmium in children's metal jewelry. The time frame for such results shall be understood not only to include testing subsequent to Associated Press reporting on cadmium in jewelry that began in late 2009; rather it shall include testing dating to Jan. 1, 2004.
3. Copies of correspondence between the CPSC/CPSC staff and either individual or corporate stakeholders (members of Congress, members of industry, safety advocacy organizations, standard-setting institutions, etc.) regarding the issue of cadmium in children's metal jewelry, including but not limited to correspondence with members of the Fashion Jewelry Trade Association; its member companies, including FAF, Inc.; and Wal-Mart Stores Inc.
4. Copies of notes, agendas or other documentation from meetings or deliberations that Chairman Tenenbaum or members of her staff have had regarding cadmium in children's jewelry with a date range starting on Nov. 1, 2009.
5. Copies of research/documents that discuss or have been used in the determination of whether the CPSC is considering "flip flop" charms once sold at Wal-Mart and identified in recent Associated Press reporting on cadmium as "children's jewelry." Those charms carried a UPC number 7 17968 1266.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

I am making this request as a reporter with The Associated Press and this request is made as part of newsgathering and not for commercial use. As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages.

10-F-00646

I ask that you waive any and all applicable fees associated with this request. Through this request, I am gathering information on the presence of cadmium in children's metal jewelry. Release of this information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities, particularly what CPSC is doing in response to this safety concern. If you deny this request for a fee waiver, please advise me in advance of the estimated charges if they are to exceed [$100].

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the Act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

I also ask that you provide expedited review of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. The information sought relates to a currently unfolding story, specifically, members of Congress have proposed legislation, members of industry have set up a task force to set a standard for cadmium in jewelry and the CPSC continues to assess the issue. Second, delaying release of the information harms the public interest in knowing what actions are being taken to protect the public health from toxic heavy metals in consumer products. Third, the request obviously concerns federal government activity, as the request seeks information on agency actions. Finally, as the world's oldest and largest news organization, the AP is a credible requester. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited review are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

If you deny expedited processing, I expect to receive a response to the request within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

As I am making this request as a journalist and the information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone 213-280-2263 or e-mail jdpritchard@ap.org, rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request

Finally, I note that President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act" specifically stated that "[i]n responding to requests under the FOIA, executive branch agencies should act promptly and in a spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public." Moreover, it held that "[a]ll agencies should adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure, in order to renew their commitment to the principles embodied in FOIA, and to usher in a new era of open Government. The presumption of disclosure should be applied to all decisions involving FOIA." Importantly in this request, the administration's guidance includes direction that agencies should release information that can otherwise be exempt under Exemption 5.

In the spirit of such cooperation and the presumption of disclosure, I look forward to your prompt response.

Thank you for your consideration, and again, please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Justin Pritchard

FAF Inc. Recalls Children's Necklaces Sold Exclusively at Walmart Stores Due to High Levels of Cadmium

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, in cooperation with the firm named below, today announced a voluntary recall of the following consumer product. Consumers should stop using recalled products immediately unless otherwise instructed.

Name of Product: Children's Metal Necklaces

Units: About 55,000

Importer: FAF Inc., of Greenville, R.I.

Hazard: The recalled necklaces contain high levels of cadmium. Cadmium is toxic if ingested by young children and can cause adverse health effects.

Incidents/Injuries: None reported.

Description: The recalled jewelry is shaped as a metal crown or frog pendant on a metal link chain necklace in a crown hinged box. The packaging has the words "The Princess and the Frog" on it and contains the following model numbers and UPC codes:

Crown Model # 4616-4187 UPC # 72783367144

Frog Model # 4616-4190 UPC # 72783367147

Sold exclusively at: Walmart retail stores nationwide from November 2009 through January 2010 for $5.

Manufactured In: China

Remedy: Consumers should immediately take this recalled jewelry away from children. Consumers should return the recalled jewelry to any Walmart store for a full refund or a free replacement product.

Consumer Contact: For additional information, contact F.A.F. Inc. at (800) 949-3311 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. ET Monday through Friday, or visit the firm's Web site at www.faf.com

CPSC, Apple Announce Recall of PowerBook Computer Batteries

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announces the following recall in voluntary cooperation with the firm below. Consumers should stop using recalled products immediately unless otherwise instructed.

Computer Manufacturer: Apple Computer Inc., of Cupertino, Calif.

Battery Manufacturer: LG Chem Ltd., of South Korea

Problem: An internal short can cause the battery cells to overheat, posing a fire hazard to consumers.

Incidents/Injuries: Apple has received four reports of batteries overheating, though no injuries have been reported.

Description: The recalled batteries are used with the 15-inch PowerBook G4 (Aluminum) laptop computer. The batteries, which contain cells manufactured during the last week of December 2003 only, have the model number A1045 and serial numbers that begin with HQ404, HQ405, HQ406, HQ407, or HQ408. The model and serial numbers can be found on a label on the bottom of the battery. The battery is approximately 4 ¼ inches long, 3 ¼ inches wide, and ¾ inches tall. No other PowerBook or iBook batteries are involved in this recall.

Sold at: National and regional resellers, catalogers, and Apple's online and retail stores sold the computers with the batteries from January 2004 through August 2004 for between $2000 and $2600. The batteries also were sold separately for about $130.

Assembled in: Taiwan

Remedy: Consumers should stop using the recalled batteries immediately and contact Apple to arrange for a replacement battery, free of charge.

Consumer Contact: Contact Apple at (800) 275-2273 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. CT Monday through Sunday or log on to Apple's Web site at www.apple.com/support/powerbook/batteryexchange

FOIA/Privacy Act Request : Unleash the Beast Firework CPSC Sample Number 06-840-6860/3/4

Dear Mr. Okarski:

Pursuant to both the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, and the Privacy Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552a, I seek access to and copies of all records regarding the testing of the Unleash the Beast GG0282A which was performed by your office between January and February 2006.

I am also interested in learning whether the above-referenced sample was manufactured in 2005. I understand that the sample was sealed. Please advise regarding whether I can have access to the sample for photographs or testing. I would be interested in any photographs CPSC might have regarding the sample and whether CPSC has measurements of the sample and the corresponding launch tube.

Additionally, I request any information you might have on samples for Unleash the Beast that have been tested in 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005 or after the sample testing in 2006. Do samples include both the artillery shell and launch tube? Are launch tubes tested?

Finally, I would like to know whether any other products from Behai Fireworks & Firecrackers General Factory failed the CPSC tests in 2004, 2005 or 2006.

To assist with your search for these records, I am providing the following additional information:

- a. Attached is the CPSC Form 179 and the Laboratory Report for the Unleash the Beast test for CPSC Sample Number 06-840-6860/3/4
- b. The item number for the subject Unleash the Beast Firework purchased by my client is the same as the item number in the 2006 CPSC Sample—GG0282A.
- c. The manufacturer of this Unleash the Beast, artillery style firework was Behai Fireworks & Firecrackers General Factory, Behai, Guangxi, China and the subject fireworks was sold to R Brown Inc. aka R. Brown & Company. Attached are some packing slips and invoices for the 2005 Unleash the Beast.

If you determine that any portions of these documents are exempt under either of these statutes, I will expect you to release the non-exempt portions to me as the law requires. I reserve the right to appeal any decision to withhold information.

I agree to pay reasonable fees incurred in the copying of these documents up to the amount of $500.00 if the estimated fees will be greater than that amount, please contact me by telephone before such expenses are incurred.

If you have any questions regarding this request, please contact me by telephone or email. Thank you for your assistance. I will look forward to receiving your prompt reply.

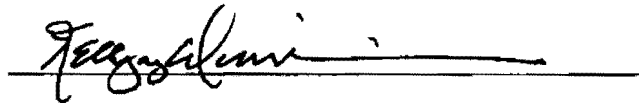

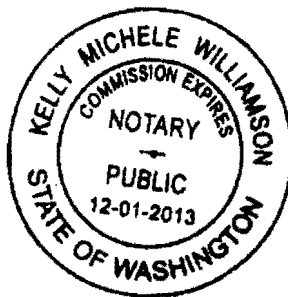

Very truly yours,

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00661: Request all documents and other information regarding the: 1) Polyacrylamide content of diapers; 2) Chemical composition of Proctor & Gamble's new Swaddlers and Cruiser diapers using "Dry Max" technology; 3) Leaching of acrylamide from polyacrylamide used as an absorbent in diapers; 4) Chemicals in diapers which are suspected of causing rashes on infants; and 5) Dermal absorption of acrylamide in infants from polyacrylamide.

Dear Mr. Metzger:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 2006 through 7/15/10 for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Re: FOIA Request for Records Concerning Pampers Dry Max

Dear Sir or Madam:

On behalf of the Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc. ("NRDC"), I write to request the disclosure of records pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, and Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC") implementing regulations, 16 C.F.R. Part 1015.

I. The Requestor

NRDC is a national, non-profit public interest organization that engages in public education, policy analysis, scientific research, advocacy, and litigation on behalf of its members and the public on environmental issues. NRDC is dedicated to the preservation, protection, and defense of public health and the environment. NRDC has more than 1.3 million members and online activists nationwide, and routinely provides and disseminates information on health and environmental issues to its members, the public, and the media through print and online communications. NRDC intends to make newsworthy information disclosed pursuant to this request directly available to the public.

11-F-00021

II. Description of Records Sought

NRDC requests any and all records¹ prepared, received, transmitted, collected, or maintained by the CPSC or any of its employees or contractors relating or referring to the following:

1. The materials used in Pampers Dry Max.
2. Any investigation or safety information concerning possible adverse health effects caused by exposure to Pampers Dry Max, including but not limited to any investigation conducted by the CPSC or Procter & Gamble.
3. Any consumer incident reports or other documented consumer complaints related to Pampers Dry Max.
4. All communications between the CPSC and Procter & Gamble regarding Pampers Dry Max from January 1, 2009 to the present.

III. Request for a Fee Waiver

NRDC requests a waiver of all fees and costs related to this request. Under the FOIA, responsive records must be furnished without charge "if disclosure of the information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii); see also 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(4). The requested disclosure would meet both of these requirements. In the alternative, NRDC qualifies as "a representative of the news media" entitled to a reduction of fees under FOIA. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II).

A. Disclosure Is In The Public Interest

The disclosure requested here would be “likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government,” id. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii), satisfying each of the requirements set forth in CPSC regulations, see 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

First, the records requested above pertain to and would reveal “the operations or activities of the government.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii); 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(i). In particular, these records concern the CPSC’s activities with respect to risks posed to children from exposure to Pampers Dry Max, including the CPSC’s investigation of those risks and the CPSC’s communications with the manufacturer of the diapers about those risks.

Second, responsive records would “contribute to an understanding” of the government’s operations and activities. 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(ii). The details of CPSC investigations and other activity with respect to risks posed to infants and toddlers by Pampers Dry Max, including for example the details of the consumer incident reports the CPSC received, and the CPSC’s reaction to those reports, have not been publicized and are not known to the public.² Disclosure would therefore contribute to an understanding of those activities.

Third, disclosing the requested records to NRDC would “contribute to public understanding.” 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(iii). As illustrated by numerous news articles and publications based on information obtained by prior NRDC FOIA requests, NRDC effectively conveys to the public relevant government information.³ NRDC will disseminate any

⁴ NRDC has the ability to disseminate information, including the results of this request, to the public widely, including numerous and varied publications, educational programs, media initiatives, and public interest litigation. For example, NRDC's website (www.nrdc.org) is updated daily and draws approximately 2.5 million views and approximately 700,000 visits per month. NRDC publishes and distributes Nature's Voice, is a print and electronic newsletter featuring updates and actions on NRDC's campaigns to protect nature and the environment and is distributed to 1.3 million members and online activists, and is available on line at <http://www.nrdc.org/naturesvoice/default.asp>. NRDC also publishes a magazine, On Earth magazine, which is distributed to approximately 150,000 subscribers, sold at newsstands and bookstores, and made available online free of charge at <http://www.nrdc.org/onearth>. NRDC sends newsletters and alerts to more than 550,000 individuals several times per month. A selection of the current alerts is posted at <http://www.nrdc.org/action/>. NRDC also has an Activist Alert email list with more than 142,000 subscribers who receive biweekly information on urgent environmental issues. Information disseminated to Activist Alert email subscribers is also available online at NRDC's Action Center, <http://www.nrdc.org/action/default.asp>. NRDC sends its Legislative Watch bulletin to more than 30,000 individuals biweekly during Congressional sessions. This Green Life is NRDC's electronic newsletter on environmentally sustainable living. It is distributed by email to 62,000 subscribers and made available online at <http://www.nrdc.org/thisgreenlife/default.asp>. NRDC Online is a weekly electronic environmental newsletter distributed by e-mail to 37,000 subscribers, at <http://www.nrdc.org/newsletter>. NRDC also maintains a staff blogging site, "Switchboard," at <http://switchboard.nrdc.org>, which is updated daily and features more than 130 bloggers writing about current environmental issues. The blogs draw approximately 110,500 page views and 65,000 visits per month. Switchboard's RSS feeds have approximately 3,100 subscribers and Switchboard posts appear on websites of other major internet media outlets, such as "The Huffington Post," at <http://www.huffingtonpost.com>. NRDC's profiles on "Facebook," at <http://www.facebook.com/nrdc.org>, and "Twitter," at <http://www.twitter.com/nrdc>, are updated

Fourth, the requested disclosure would be "likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations or activities." 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(iv). The records requested and disseminated by NRDC will help illuminate the process by which the CPSC evaluates the health risks of consumer products and makes critical decisions regarding the safety of products that may harm infants and toddlers.

NRDC issues press releases; participates in press conferences and interviews with reporters and editorial writers; and has nearly thirty staff members dedicated to communications work, see "Communications" staff list at <http://www.nrdc.org/about/staff.asp>. NRDC employees provide Congressional testimony; appear on television, radio and web broadcasts and at conferences; and contribute to numerous national newspapers, magazines, academic journals, other periodicals, and books.

Finally, NRDC has no commercial interest in this matter. 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(v)-(vi). NRDC is a not-for-profit organization and the records requested are not sought for commercial use, but for public dissemination, as discussed above.

Given the public interest and concern regarding risks to infants and children from Pampers Dry Max, and the fact that furnishing the information will benefit primarily the public as opposed to the requester, fees and costs related to this request should be waived. See Judicial Watch, Inc. v. Rossotti, 326 F.3d 1309, 1312 (D.C. Cir. 2003) (“Congress amended FOIA to ensure that it be ‘liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requestors.’”).

B. In the Alternative, NRDC Is a Media Requester Entitled to a Reduction in Fees

Even if CPSC denies a public interest waiver of all costs and fees, NRDC is a representative of the news media entitled to a reduction of fees under FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II); 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(d) (“The following requests may incur charges only for duplication:... a request from a representative of the news media.”). See Elec. Privacy Info. Ctr. v. United States Dep’t of Def., 241 F. Supp. 2d 5, 6, 11-15 (D.D.C. 2003) (a “non-profit public interest organization” qualifies as a representative of the news media under FOIA where it publishes books and newsletters on issues of current interest to the public).

Under the CPSC’s implementing regulations, a “representative of the news media” includes “any person or organization which regularly publishes or disseminates news to the public, in print or electronically.” 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(c)(8) (emphasis added). NRDC fits squarely within this classification. As described earlier in this request, NRDC publishes a quarterly magazine, OnEarth, which has approximately 150,000 subscribers and is available at newsstands and bookstores; publishes a regular newsletter for its more than one million members and online activists; issues other electronic newsletters, action alerts, public reports and analyses; and maintains free online libraries of these publications. These publications routinely include information about current events of interest to the readership and the public. NRDC staff members are also regular contributors to numerous periodicals and books; television, radio, and web programs; and hearings and conferences. Finally, as described above, NRDC maintains a significant additional communications presence on the internet through staff blogs. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii) (clarifying that “as methods of news delivery evolve . . . such alternative media shall be considered to be news-media entities”). As previously noted, information obtained as a result of this request will, if appropriately newsworthy, be disseminated through one or more of NRDC’s publications or other suitable media channels. Due to these activities, NRDC qualifies as a representative of the media with regard to FOIA requests and is entitled to a fee reduction even if a fee waiver were not otherwise appropriate.

IV. Willingness to Pay Fees Under Protest

Please provide the records requested above irrespective of the status and outcome of your evaluation of NRDC’s fee category assertion and fee waiver request. In order to prevent delay in CPSC’s provision of the requested records, NRDC states that it will, if necessary and under protest, pay fees in accordance with 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9 for all or a portion of the requested records. Please consult with me, however, before undertaking any action that would cause the fee to exceed $100.00. Such payment will not constitute any waiver of NRDC’s right to seek administrative or judicial review of any denial of its fee waiver request or rejection of its fee category assertion.

V. Conclusion

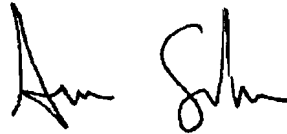

We trust that, in responding to this request, CPSC will comply with all applicable requirements set forth in the FOIA and CPSC regulations, including the relevant deadlines and the CPSC's disclosure policy. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A)(i); 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5, 1015.15(b). Please produce the records above by emailing or mailing them to my attention at the NRDC office address listed below. Please produce records on a rolling basis; at no point should CPSC's search for—or deliberations concerning—certain records delay the production of others that CPSC has already retrieved and elected to produce.

If the CPSC denies this request in whole or in part, we ask that you justify any such denial by reference to specific exemptions in the FOIA. See generally 16 C.F.R. § 1015.6. NRDC specifically requests the release of all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. NRDC reserves the right to appeal a decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this request.

Aaron Schaer

RE: FOIA Request #11-F-00016: Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc. Recall of Snow Play
Candleholders ~ Request certified copies of certain CPSC materials noted in this request.

Dear Mr. Eberle:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

CPSC, Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc. Announce Recall of Snow Play Candleholder

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announces the following recall in voluntary cooperation with the firm below. Consumers should stop using recalled products immediately unless otherwise instructed. It is illegal to resell or attempt to resell a recalled consumer product.

Name of product: Snow Play Candleholder

Units: 14,338

Manufacturer/Importer: Home Interiors & Gifts, Inc. of Carrollton, Texas

Hazard: Flames from the votive candle can set fire to the rope linking three "sledding" snowmen.

Incidents/Injuries: Two reports of the rope on the candleholder catching fire. No property damage and no injuries.

Description: The recalled candleholder is about 6 inches high and is packaged in a box with "Home Interiors" written on the top of the box. Each candleholder has three snowmen linked by a small rope, "sledding" down a hill around the votive candleholder. The snowmen are painted red, blue, and green.

Sold at: Home Interiors' direct sales associates exclusively sold the recalled candleholders from July 2003 through October 2003 for $14.99.

Manufactured in: China

Remedy: Stop using the candleholder immediately and return the candleholder to Home Interiors & Gifts, 2901 Trade Center, Suite 100, Carrollton, TX 75007, Attn: Snow Play Recall. Consumers should clearly mark the outside of the box with their name, return address, and total number of candleholders being returned, to receive a $20 gift certificate from Home Interiors for the full purchase price and shipping expense.

Consumer Contact: Consumers may call Home Interiors toll-free on (800) 818-2062 between 9 am and 5 pm (CT) Monday through Friday or visit the firm's Web site: www.homeinteriors.com

CPSC is still interested in receiving incident or injury reports that are either directly related to this product recall or involve a different hazard with the same product. Please tell us about it by visiting <https://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/incident.aspx>

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission is charged with protecting the public from unreasonable risks of serious injury or death from thousands of types of consumer products under the agency's jurisdiction. The CPSC is committed to protecting consumers and families from products that pose a fire, electrical, chemical, or mechanical hazard. The CPSC's work to ensure the safety of consumer products - such as toys, cribs, power tools, cigarette lighters, and household chemicals - contributed significantly to the decline in the rate of deaths and injuries associated with consumer products over the past 30 years.

To report a dangerous product or a product-related injury, call CPSC's Hotline at (800) 638-2772 or CPSC's teletypewriter at (301) 595-7054. CPSC, Home Interiors and Gifts Announce Recall of Tea Lights

WASHINGTON, D.C. - In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC), Home Interiors and Gifts Inc., of Carrollton, Texas, is voluntarily recalling about 211,000 sets of tea lights. Flames from the tea lights can flare, and the excessive heat can cause the plastic holders to melt, posing a fire hazard.

Home Interiors and Gifts has received 22 reports of the tea lights flaring up and melting their plastic holders. These incidents have resulted in minor property damage. No injuries have been reported.

The recalled tea lights are packaged 12 candles per box with "Home Interiors" written on the top of the box. Each tea light candle has a clear plastic base and is either red or ivory in color. The tea light candles are imported from Hong Kong.

Home Interiors' direct sales associates exclusively sold the recalled tea lights from September 2002 through November 2002 for about $5 per box.

Consumers should stop using the tea lights immediately and return any unused tea lights by mail to Home Interiors at 2901 Trade Center Drive, Suite 100, Carrollton, TX 75007. Consumers should include their return address information to receive a retail gift certificate from Home Interiors for the full purchase cost and shipping cost of the tea lights. For more information, consumers can contact Home Interiors at (800) 749-4545 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. CT Monday through Friday.

Mr. Justin Pritchard
Reporter
Associated Press
221 S. Figueroa Street
Suite 300
Los Angeles, CA 90012

RE: Freedom of Information Request 10-F-01056: Request "Section 15" reports to the CPSC pertaining to instances in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products.

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the Commission. The records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed.

The enclosed records include file information generated by the Commission itself or its contractors for regulatory or enforcement purposes. These records are in CPSC Recall Files 10-810-5600 and 10-810-560, 10-302-2206, 10-302-2023, 10-302-2139 and RP100285. The Commission has established management systems under which supervisors are responsible for reviewing the work of their employees or contractors. The file information materials are final and have been prepared and accepted by the Commission's staff under such review systems. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of the information.

Portions of the files are being withheld pursuant to the Exemptions 3, 4, and 5, 5 U.S.C. §552(b)(3), (b)(4), (b)(5) and (b)(6), and sections 6(a)(2) and 6(b)(1) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. §2055(a)(2), and (b)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3 to these records, we are relying in part on section on Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA) section 6(a)(2) to withhold files that contain proprietary and confidential information. Section 6(a)(2) prohibits the Commission from disclosing information that is exempt from disclosure under Exemption 4 of the FOIA. That exemption protects trade secrets and confidential commercial information directly related to a firm's business that the firm has not made public and whose disclosure could give a substantial commercial advantage to a competitor. Specifically, we are withholding portions that if disclosed would reveal confidential financial and business relationships, sales figures, customers and proprietary testing data from files 10-810-5600 & 10-810-5601, portions of pages 10-15, 28-29, 31, 47-49, 79, 97-98, 120, 127-128, 131, 147, 182-184, 187, 206, 222, and 227-228 and the entire pages of 69, and 211-221. From file RP100285, the entire pages of 246-290. From file 10-302-2206, portions of pages 12, 13, 23-26, 28, 47-48, 52-54, 56-57, 59-61, 63-66, 77-78, 91, 128-130 and the entire pages of 126-127. From file 10-302-2139, portions of pages 14, 24, 29, 31, 38, 45, 48, 91-92, 98, and 113 and the entire pages of 8, 11, 18-23, 25, 50, 109-112, 114, and 117-174.

We must also withhold records from the files pertaining to the negotiations with the company, according to the Commission regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1101.33, and Exemption 3 of the FOIA and section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA, which prohibits the Commission from disclosing information about a consumer product that identifies a manufacturer or private labeler unless the Commission has taken "reasonable steps" to assure that the information is accurate, that disclosure is fair in the circumstances, and that disclosure will be reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the laws that the Commission administers. It would not be fair in the circumstances to disclose a firm's notes, drafts or minutes of meetings to discuss and negotiate settlement agreements, when the company has requested confidentiality and such records are protected from disclosure pursuant to 16 C.F.R. § 1101.33. We are withholding the file materials that would reveal draft materials, the settlement negotiations and discussions about the issues of the corrective action from files 10-810-5600 & 10-810-5601 at pages 22-26, 33-36, 39-46, 50-60, 64, 68, 73-75, 82-84, 89-96, 99-100, 113, 123, 137, 143, 151, 153-155, 157-162, 164-168, and 171-174. From file 10-302-2206, we will withhold portions of pages 98, 103, and 108 and the entire pages of 10-11, 92-93, 95-96, 120-121, 123, 125, 136, 140-142, 146-148, 151-152, 155-160, 164-167 and 171-173. From file 10-302-2139, portions of page 52 and the entire pages of 9-10, 12-13, 15-17, 26-28, 32-33, 39-41, 46-47, 49, 51, 53-73, 77-82, 86-90, 93-97, 99-106, and 115-116.

Certain preliminary internal Commission staff memoranda and analyses are also being withheld pursuant to FOIA Exemption 5. Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The staff memoranda and analyses being withheld are both predecisional and deliberative, consisting of recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses. Any factual materials in the memoranda not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. We have determined that the disclosure of the law enforcement investigatory records responsive to your request would be contrary to the public interest. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters. We will withhold from files 10-810-5600 & 10-810-5601, at pages 1-7, 17-18, 20-21, 30, 32, 37-38, 61-63, 35-37, 70-72, 76-78, 80-81, 85-88, 1010-105, 107-108, 111-112, 114-119, 121-122, 125-126, 129-130, 138-142, 145-146, 148-150, 152, 179, 190-198, and 200-205. From file RP100285, we will withhold pages 64, 113, 181, 197-208 and 239. From file 10-302-2206, we will withhold pages 1-6, 30, 80-86, 100-101, 118-119, 132-135, 137-139, 144-145, 149-150, 153-154, 163, 168-170, and 177-183. From file 10-302-2139, we will withhold pages 1-7, 30, 34-37, 42-44, 72-76 and 83-85. From file 10-302-2023 and 10-302-2024, we will withhold pages 1-6, 9-10, 31-32, 47-57, 59-69, and 71.

FOIA exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA exemptions to disclosure.

Certain portions of the recall file, 10-302-2139, were non-responsive to the FOIA request. We have withheld from file 10-302-2139, pages 107-108.

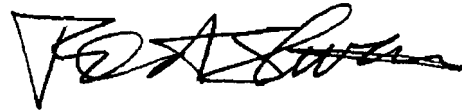

According to the Commission's regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing and addressed to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Room 502, Bethesda, MD 20814.

Processing this request, performing the file searches and preparing the information, cost the Commission $50.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive all of the charges. Thank you for your interest in consumer product safety. Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127 or telephone (301) 504-7923.

Re: Appeal of FOIA Request 10-F-01056
Cadmium Files

Dear Ms. Kaiser:

By letter dated October 11, 2010 (received October 13, 2010), you appealed the denial by the Commission's Freedom of Information Officer of your request for expedited processing concerning the above-referenced Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Also, by letter dated October 26, 2010 (received October 28, 2010), you appealed the denial of your request for a fee waiver by the FOI Officer in relation to the same request.

Under authority delegated to me by the Commission, 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, I have reviewed your appeals. For your convenience, I have consolidated my review of your appeals into this single response.

The Chief FOI Officer has reconsidered his decision concerning the denial of your request for expedited processing and will begin processing your request immediately. The FOI Officer has also reconsidered his decision concerning the denial of your request for a fee waiver. You will be receiving separate correspondence from the FOI Officer regarding the processing of this information. Before the Commission can release this information, we must comply with the provisions of section 6 of the CPSA.

Section 6(a)(2) of the CPSA, incorporating FOIA Exemption 4, expressly prohibits the disclosure of information reported to or otherwise obtained by the Commission, which contains or relates to trade secrets or other confidential commercial information. Commercial information is confidential if disclosure is likely: (1) to impair the government's ability to obtain necessary information in the future; or (2) to cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the person from whom the information was obtained. Pursuant to Section 6(a)(3) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. § 2055(a)(3), the Commission must submit the responsive material to the manufacturer prior to releasing those materials and the manufacturer may mark certain information as confidential. The staff must then evaluate the claims of trade secret or commercial information in accordance with Section 6(a)(5) of the CPSA. 15 U.S.C. § 2055(a)(5). The FOI Officer will process the responsive documents under this provision.

Section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA requires that, before disclosing information that would enable the public to identify the manufacturer or private labeler of a consumer product, the Commission "shall take reasonable steps to assure . . . that [the] information . . . is accurate, and that such disclosure is fair in the circumstances and reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the [CPSA]." The FOI Officer will also process the documents pursuant to this provision.

You have the right to seek judicial review of this decision, as provided by 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(B).

Sincerely,

Re: Freedom of Information Act Appeal – Fee Issues
File Number 10-F-01056

To Whom It May Concern:

As counsel for The Associated Press (“AP”) I am writing on behalf of AP reporter Justin Pritchard to appeal the denial of AP’s request for a fee waiver of its Freedom of Information Act (“FOIA”) request pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A) (“FOIA”), and the Regulations of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (“CPSC” or “Agency”).

I. Background

By letter dated September 21, 2010, and an amendment filed on September 28, 2010, AP requested copies of the following records:

“Detailed information contained within any “Section 15” reports to the CPSC pertaining to instance in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products. This information should be understood to include but not be limited to the name of the firm, the name and description of the item, the date of the report, details about why the item was subject to Section 15 reporting, and any injuries or reports of problems with the item. I am requesting this information starting Jan. 1, 2010.”

In this request, AP sought a fee waiver and expedited processing, explaining that the documents sought pertained to AP’s time-sensitive reporting on a currently unfolding news story of great interest to the public, and that the information was needed in an expedited manner in order to shed light on the government’s operations, a key purpose of FOIA. AP also made clear that the material would benefit the public interest and was not primarily for a commercial purpose. AP's request is attached as Exhibit A hereto.

By letter dated October 4, 2010 (attached hereto as Exhibit B), Todd Stevenson, Director of the Division of Information Management for the Agency, denied AP's request for expedited treatment and denied AP's request for a fee waiver. AP has already appealed the denial of the request for expedited treatment by letter dated October 11, 2010. This appeal addresses the fee waiver denial.

Under both established case law and the clear mandate of FOIA, the Agency's response is legally deficient. First, the Agency misstated the meaning of a fee waiver under the statute by suggesting that the lack of a search and review charge – something that agencies may not charge members of the news media under FOIA – somehow constitutes a waiver of fees. This is not correct. Moreover, the Agency failed to explain why a full fee waiver is not warranted in this situation, given that the legal factors justify a full waiver here. The Agency should reverse the determinations of its October 4 letter.

II. Basis for Appeal

As an initial matter, the agency fundamentally misstates the meaning of a fee waiver. Both the FOIA statute and CPSC Regulations establish different categories of fees for different requesters. Some requesters – commercial requesters – are required to pay full search, review and duplication charges. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(I); 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(d). Other requesters are required to pay only duplication charges. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii)(II); 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(d). This second category of requesters includes “educational or noncommercial scientific institution, whose purpose is scholarly or scientific research; or a representative of the news media.” Id. (Emphasis added). That is, federal agencies may not charge members of the news media for search or review time. They may only charge the news media duplication fees. Moreover, the statute makes clear that news organizations may not be charged for “the first one hundred pages of duplication.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iv)(II). CPSC Regulations require the same. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(2).¹

A fee waiver is an entirely separate concept. Located in subsection (iii) of the fee section of FOIA, the fee waiver provision refers back to the allowed charges for different requester categories in subsection (ii), and explicitly states: “documents shall be furnished without any charge or at a charged reduced below the fees established under clause (ii)” if the disclosure of the information meets certain criteria. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii); 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(4). That is, a fee waiver for a member of the news media would mean a waiver of the duplication costs above and beyond the first 100 pages of duplication.

¹ There is no dispute that AP is a “representative of the news media,” as it “regularly publishes or disseminates news to the public.” CPSC Regulations, 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(c)(8).

In its October 11, 2010 letter, the Agency claimed that it was granting AP a “partial waiver” of fees because it was not charging AP for search or review time, or for the first 100 pages of duplication. This “waiver,” however, is nothing more than agreeing to abide by the law, as the Agency is not permitted anyway to charge AP for those fees. As explained above, both the FOIA statute and CPSC Regulations mandate that members of the news media may not be charged for search or review time, or for the first 100 pages of duplication. 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(ii). So, the Agency’s statement that it was “waiving” the search and review fees for AP, as well as $10.00, which corresponds to the first 100 pages of duplication at a rate of $.10/page, is completely disingenuous, and nothing more than agreeing to abide by its basic obligations under the law in the first instance.

What AP requested – and what the Agency has failed to address – was a waiver of all fees that are permitted to be charged to members of the news media. That is, AP is requesting that the Agency waive the duplication fees for any charges after the first 100 pages. The merits of a fee waiver are similarly grounded in law.

AP is Entitled to a Fee Waiver

AP is entitled to a fee waiver here. FOIA explicitly provides for a fee waiver if the waiver standard is satisfied. See 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). The statutory fee waiver standard consists of two basic requirements: (1) that disclosure will benefit the public interest because it is “likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government” (the “Public Interest Prong”), and (2) that the request is not primarily for a “commercial interest” (the “Commercial Interest Prong”). Id.; see also U.S. Dep’t of Justice, Guide to the Freedom of Information Act, 2009 Edition (“FOIA Guide”), available at http://www.usdoj.gov/oip/foia_guide09/fee-waivers.pdf, at 99, 120. Both the Department of Justice and the federal courts have set forth six factors to be considered when determining the applicability of a fee waiver request. See FOIA Guide, at 119; see also Judicial Watch, Inc. v. DOJ, 365 F.3d 1108, 1126 (D.C. Cir. 2004). The CPSC Regulations set forth the same standard. See CPSC Regulations, 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(4). Under both the statutory standard and guidelines promulgated thereunder, there can be no doubt that a fee waiver is justified here.

The Public Interest Prong

When a journalist seeks information specifically for the purpose of disseminating news to the public, the request necessarily advances the public interest within the meaning of FOIA’s fee waiver provision. The Department of Justice guidance makes plain that the factors used in other contexts to weigh the public interest in a FOIA request are readily met when information is sought for dissemination by a national news organization such as AP. The four factors used to determine a request’s applicability under the Public Interest Prong are as follows:

(1) the subject matter of the requested records must “specifically concern identifiable ‘operations or activities of the government;’”

(2) the disclosable portions of the requested material “must be meaningfully informative in relation to the subject matter of the request;”

(3) the disclosure must contribute to a “public understanding as opposed to the individual understanding of the requester or a narrow segment of interested persons;” and

(4) the disclosure must “contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities.”

FOIA Guide, at 123-31. When reviewing each factor, it is clear that a fee waiver is justified.

1. Whether the subject matter of the requested records concerns the operations or activities of the federal government.

As to the first factor, the subject matter of the records sought here undeniably concern identifiable operations or activities of the government. Records possessed by a federal agency necessarily “concern identifiable ‘operations or activities of the government’... [when] sought for their informative value with respect to specifically identified government operations or activities.” FOIA Guide, at 123. This standard is plainly met here where records sought concern specific government inquiries into the safety of certain consumer products, and the Agency’s oversight over retailers and distributors of those products.

An ongoing AP investigation first published in January showed that children’s jewelry and other items have been made with high levels of cadmium, potentially exposing children to harmful levels of a toxin and carcinogen that can lead to kidney and bone damage. AP found that some children’s jewelry was made almost entirely of this metal. Following this disclosure, the CPSC oversaw five separate jewelry recalls, including those involving major national chain stores such as Walmart and Claire’s, and directed that retailers be vigilant that overseas manufacturers could be substituting cadmium for lead in their products. The information that AP seeks in this FOIA request goes directly towards showing whether the Agency has been fulfilling its obligations with respect to this oversight, which is critical given the Agency’s own emphasis on dangers posed by cadmium (Chairman Tenenbaum advised parents to purge their children’s jewelry boxes of cheap metal trinkets following AP’s initial January report), and the public attention that product recalls generate, particularly for products used by children. Just last week, CPSC staff unveiled new guidelines for cadmium in jewelry designed to influence the standard-setting process already underway at the independent group ASTM International. Agency staff also asked ASTM to consider cadmium regulations for toys, evidence that the Agency takes very seriously the health concerns posed by cadmium in any children’s product. The Agency continues actively to review regulations of cadmium, demonstrating its significance as an ongoing matter of public importance.

According to the Agency's website (<http://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/sec15.aspx>), "manufacturers, importers, distributors, and retailers are required to report to CPSC under Section 15(b) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA) within 24 hours of obtaining information which reasonably supports the conclusion that a product does not comply with a safety rule issued under the CPSA, or contains a defect which could create a substantial risk of injury to the public or presents an unreasonable risk of serious injury or death. 15 U.S.C. § 2064(b)." The information sought will allow AP to identify whether retailers are aware of substantial and unreasonable risks due to cadmium and are under-reporting them, and whether in some cases they are reporting, but nothing has been done in response. That is, the information would reveal not only what retailers have found in their products, but would also demonstrate what regulatory actions have been taken in response to such findings.

The material therefore will shed light on the activities of the government with respect to what it is investigating and what response it will have, to a matter that puts the American public's safety at issue. The information requested here would directly reveal the operations and activities of the federal government with respect to the investigation of consumer products, and its resulting policies. There is no doubt that the information requested specifically concerns "identifiable operations or activities" of the government agency.

2. Whether the disclosure is likely to contribute to an understanding of federal government operations or activities.

To meet the second factor, the disclosable portions of the requested information "must be meaningfully informative in relation to the subject matter of the request." FOIA Guide, at 124. That is, the information must be "likely to contribute" to an understanding of government activities. Because the information sought is not already in the public domain, its dissemination by AP to the public is certainly "likely to contribute" to the public's understanding of specific government activities. Id. at 124-25. Moreover, the documents sought here are the principal means for verifying that consumer safety is being accounted for by the Agency through its oversight of the retailers, distributors and manufacturers who have direct control over the products that are covered by recalls. And as the Agency explained on its website, "reporting by companies under Section 15 can provide the most timely and effective source of information about [hazardous] products." (Emphasis added). Again, the fact that there have been so many recalls due to cadmium in children's products makes this a critical issue of public importance. Knowing the steps being taken by the CPSC to ascertain these risks is crucial to the public. Whereas largely administrative or non-substantive files might not qualify for a full fee waiver, information that is not in the public domain that would contribute to an understanding of government operations falls squarely within the meaning of this prong. Again, here where AP seeks to monitor and report on the operations of government – including the ability of the Agency to be held accountable for its oversight of consumer safety – the information sought would contribute to the public's understanding of how the Agency operates. Accordingly, the second factor is easily met.

3. Whether the disclosure will contribute to the understanding of the public at large, as opposed to the individual understanding of the requester or a narrow segment of interested persons.

The third factor in the analysis is that disclosure contributes to the “public understanding” as opposed to just the individual understanding of the requester, or a narrow segment of the public. See Carney v. U.S. Department of Justice, 19 F.3d 807, 814 (2d Cir. 1994) (observing that relevant inquiry is “whether requester will disseminate the disclosed records to a reasonably broad audience of persons interested in the subject”). The Associated Press is a real-time newsgathering organization with the capacity to disseminate news to more than half of the world’s population on any given day, and within seconds. And the AP’s member news organizations also disseminate news throughout the world and the nation. Thus, it plainly reaches the “public at large,” and for this same reason the disclosure of the requested material would contribute to the general public’s understanding, not be limited to a small subset of individuals or entities. Indeed, members of the news media presumptively meet the dissemination factor of the fee waiver analysis. See FOIA Guide, at 130.

4. Whether the contribution to the public understanding of federal government operations or activities will be significant.

And finally, because the information sought is not already in the public domain, the public’s understanding will be enhanced to a significant extent by disclosure of the material to the AP. In assessing this last factor – that disclosure must contribute “significantly” to the public understanding of government operations or activities – agencies are strictly prohibited from making any value judgments as to whether the information sought is important enough to be made public. See FOIA Guide, at 132. What matters is simply whether the public’s understanding of the subject matter in question would “likely ... be enhanced by the disclosure to a significant extent.” Id. Here, where the information sought is not already available, and would directly increase awareness and understanding of the government’s review and oversight of recalls in the wake of health and safety concerns, the matter can clearly be said to “contribute significantly” to the public understanding of government operations, particularly as compared to the level of public understanding of this topic that existed prior to such disclosure. Accordingly, the first prong of the standard for a fee waiver (the Public Interest Prong) is unequivocally met by AP’s request.

The Commercial Interest Prong

As for the second prong (the Commercial Interest Prong), the Agency must determine whether “disclosure of the information . . . is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii). In order to determine whether this prong has been satisfied, agencies look to the two remaining factors: (5) whether the request involves any “commercial interest of the requester,” and if so, (6) whether the public interest in disclosure is greater than the requester’s commercial interest. FOIA Guide, at 133-34. In assessing the commercial interest, a requester's identity and the circumstances surrounding the request are considered. The burden clearly has been met here as AP's request unambiguously is not for a commercial purpose.

5. Whether the requester has a commercial interest that would be furthered by the requested disclosure.

For this prong, the Agency must examine whether the request involves any "commercial interest of the requester" which would be furthered upon disclosure. Id. at 133. "A commercial interest is one that furthers a commercial, trade, or profit interest as those terms are commonly understood." Id. In this analysis, the requester's identity may be considered. As explained in the initial request to the Agency, the records were sought in Mr. Pritchard's official capacity as a professional journalist for the AP for use in connection with analyzing information and reporting news of interest to the public. The Associated Press is a not-for-profit news collective, whose only purpose is to gather and disseminate the news. There is no commercial interest in the records sought.

6. Whether the magnitude of any identified commercial interest to the requester is sufficiently large in comparison with the public interest in disclosure that disclosure is primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.

Next, if a commercial interest exists, the Agency must balance the requester's commercial interest against the identified public interest in disclosure to determine which is "primary." As noted, the records here were sought by a news organization in the business of disseminating news worldwide, and thus, not for a commercial use. The balancing test thus does not even come into play. It is well-settled that a FOIA request from a representative of the news media that meets the Public Interest Prong will be presumed to have satisfied the factor of primarily serving the public interest. See FOIA Guide, at 135 ("Although news gathering organizations ordinarily have a commercial interest in obtaining information, agencies may generally presume that when a news media requester has satisfied the 'public interest' standard, that will be the primary interest served."); see also National Security Archive v. Dep't of Defense, 880 F. 2d 1381, 1387-88 (D.C. Cir. 1989) (holding that requests from news media entities, in furtherance of their newsgathering function, are not for "commercial use"). Therefore, the second prong of the fee waiver analysis falls well in AP's favor.

Fee Waivers are to be Construed Liberally

If the fee waiver factors are met, an agency may not charge a requester for disclosure. The law is clear that "a fee waiver or reduction must be granted when the public interest in disclosure is greater in magnitude than the requester's commercial interest." FOIA Guide, at 134 (emphasis added). In fact, "Congress requires federal agencies under FOIA to furnish requested documents free of charge" if disclosure satisfies the two prongs of the analysis.

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington v. U.S. Department of Education, 593 F. Supp. 2d 261, 268 (D.D.C. 2009). This is in keeping with the statute's purpose, which is "to remove the roadblocks and technicalities which have been used by . . . agencies to deny waivers." Id. (quoting 132 Cong. Rec. S16496 (Oct. 15, 1986) (statement of Sen. Leahy)).

Indeed, "legislative history indicates that the fee waiver provision 'is to be liberally construed in favor of waivers for noncommercial requesters.'" Community Legal Services v. US Department of Housing and Urban Development, 405 F. Supp. 2d. 553, 555 (E.D. Pa. 2005) (citing 132 Cong. Rec. S14, 270-01 (daily ed. Sept. 30, 1986) (statement of Sen. Leahy)). In 1974, Congress added the fee waiver provision in "an attempt to prevent government agencies from using high fees to discourage certain types of requesters and requests, particularly journalists, scholars, and non-profit public interest groups." Id. (citing Senate Comm. on the Judiciary, Amending the Freedom of Information Act, S. Rep. No. 93-854, at 10-19 (1974)). The fee waiver provision was further amended in 1986 "to remove the roadblocks and technicalities" that stood in the way of obtaining a fee waiver. Id. (citing 132 Cong. Rec. S16, 489-01 (daily ed. Oct. 15, 1986) (statement of Sen. Leahy)).

This analysis in favor of fee waivers is also consistent with express CPSC Regulations, which state the following about fee waivers:

"The Secretary shall waive or reduce fees whenever disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the required information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester."

16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(4) (emphasis added). The Agency goes on to list the same factors as reviewed above. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5)(i)-(vi). The Agency's own guidelines therefore leave no discretion to deny fee waivers when the conditions for a fee waiver are so clearly satisfied. Accordingly, under both the statutory standard and the guidelines promulgated thereunder, there can be no doubt that a fee waiver is appropriate for AP here.

Finally, I note that all undertakings by the Agency must abide by President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act," and Attorney General Holder's March 19, 2009 Directive, to administer FOIA requests with a presumption of openness. In no uncertain terms, Attorney General Holder stated that, "The Freedom of Information Act should be administered with a clear presumption: In the face of doubt, openness prevails." (Quoting President Obama's January 21 FOIA Memorandum). He instructed that "[a]n agency should not withhold records merely because it can demonstrate, as a technical matter, that the records fall within the scope of a FOIA exemption." Moreover, Attorney General

Holder directed that the Department of Justice will only defend a denial of a request if the agency "reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one of the statutory exemptions."

President Obama has stated that he intends to make his administration the most open and transparent in history. The Agency's denial of a fee waiver is clearly at odds with both the letter and spirit of President Obama's January 21, 2009 Memorandum, which expressly directed agencies to "act promptly and in the spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public."

These Administrative directives were repeated, underscored, and reaffirmed by Attorney General Holder in his recent remarks on March 15, 2010 that this Administration must operate with an "unprecedented commitment to transparency and accountability." In no uncertain terms, Attorney General Holder stated that the Administration has "signaled the emergence of a government that's striving to work more openly and more effectively for the people it serves." Keeping with the spirit of this Memorandum and the administration's pledge of openness and transparency, I ask that the Agency promptly address AP's request.

III. Request for Relief

For the foregoing reasons, we respectfully submit that the CPSC has improperly denied AP's request for a fee waiver. The Agency failed to undertake the requisite legal analysis for waiving fees, and failed to provide valid reasons for denying AP's request. Because disclosure to a non-profit news cooperative like the AP squarely satisfies the public interest objective of the fee waiver provision of FOIA – by making available to the general public information about the operations of government – a fee waiver is entirely appropriate and should be granted.

We trust that you will reverse the initial position, and grant AP's request. We again advise you that this information is sought in connection with AP's news reporting, and is needed to timely inform the public about activities of the federal government. If you have any questions about this appeal, please contact me by telephone (212-621-7287), fax (212-621-5456) or email (kkaiser@ap.org), rather than relying upon regular mail.

Thank you for your assistance, and I will look forward to receiving your prompt reply.

Sincerely,

Dear Alberta,

This is an amendment to FOIA Request # 10-F-01056, dated Sept. 21, 2010. As reflected below, I am time limiting the request to 2010. All additions are underlined.

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request the following information:

1. Detailed information contained within any "Section 15" reports to the CPSC pertaining to instances in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products. This information should be understood to include but not be limited to the name of the firm, the name and description of the item, the date of the report, details about why the item was subject to Section 15 reporting, and any injuries or reports of problems with the item. I am requesting this information starting Jan. 1, 2010.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

I am making this request as a reporter with The Associated Press and this request is made as part of newsgathering and not for commercial use. As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages.

I ask that you provide expedited review of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. The information sought relates to a currently unfolding story, specifically cadmium in consumer goods, an issue which the CPSC itself is at this very moment contemplating new regulations to address what has emerged as public concern. Second, delaying release of the information harms the public interest in knowing what actions have been taken to address potential harm caused by cadmium in consumer goods. Third, the request obviously concerns federal government activity, as the request seeks information on a topic the CPSC has highlighted as being of concern this year. Finally, as the world's oldest and largest news organization, the AP is a credible requester. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited review are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

If you deny expedited processing, I expect to receive a response to the request within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

I also ask that you waive any and all applicable fees associated with this request. Release of this information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities, particularly what the CPSC is doing to protect the public from potentially harmful consumer goods. If you deny this request for a fee waiver, please advise me in advance of the estimated charges if they are to exceed $100.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the Act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and the information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone (213-346-3192) or e-mail (jdpritchard@ap.org), rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request

Finally, I note that President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act" specifically stated that "[i]n responding to requests under the FOIA, executive branch agencies should act promptly and in a spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public." Moreover, it held that "[a]ll agencies should adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure, in order to renew their commitment to the principles embodied in FOIA, and to usher in a new era of open Government. The presumption of disclosure should be applied to all decisions involving FOIA."

In the spirit of such cooperation and the presumption of disclosure, I look forward to your prompt response.

Thank you for your assistance.
Sincerely,

Justin Pritchard

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-01056: Section 15 reports pertaining to instances in which any firm has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale or distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products.

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request dated September 28, 2010, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information.

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request dated September 16, 2010, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information and a complete waiver of any fees associated with the request.

You have asked us to expedite your request, because the request concerns "a matter of urgency," "the information sought relates to a currently unfolding story," and "harms the public interest in knowing what actions are being taken to address potential harm caused by cadmium." ~~None of these statements does not set forth a claim that a "compelling need" exists for the expedited processing under Commission regulations. You have not demonstrated that the failure to obtain the requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual or that there is an urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.5(f)(1). I am therefore denying your requests for expedited processing.~~

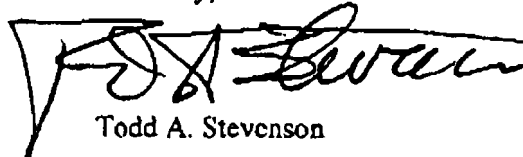

In your letter you request a waiver of the fees because "the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities." Your explanation or justification is not sufficient to justify a full waiver of the fees. We, therefore, deny your request for a full waiver of the fees.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9 provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The FOIA regulations and fee schedule allow for the charges for file search time at $12.00 an hour for clerical personnel and $19.60 an hour for professional personnel, $19.60 an hour for review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, and $0.10 a page for duplication services. As a member of the news media, you will receive a partial waiver of the fees. The search and review fees and the $10.00 of the duplication services will be waived.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5(f)(4) and 1015.7, any denial of a request for expedited processing of an FOIA request may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

We are continuing to conduct the file searches to collect the records responsive to your request. We will process any records as quickly as possible and contact you as soon as the processing of your request is completed.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Stevenson,

Please see the attached Freedom of Information Act appeal by the Associated Press related to file number 10-F-01056. This letter appeals the denial of AP's request for a fee waiver. This is separate from AP's appeal of the denial of expedited processing, which was filed on October 11, 2010.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Karen Kaiser

Re: Freedom of Information Act Appeal
File Number 10-F-01056

To Whom It May Concern:

As counsel for The Associated Press ("AP") I am writing on behalf of AP reporter Justin Pritchard to appeal the denial of AP's request for expedited processing of its Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(A) ("FOIA"), and the Regulations of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC" or "Agency").

I. Background

By letter dated September 21, 2010, and an amendment filed on September 28, 2010, AP requested copies of the following records:

"Detailed information contained within any "Section 15" reports to the CPSC pertaining to instance in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products. This information should be understood to include but not be limited to the name of the firm, the name and description of the item, the date of the report, details about why the item was subject to Section 15 reporting, and any injuries or reports of problems with the item. I am requesting this information starting Jan. 1, 2010."

AP requested expedited processing of this request pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II) and CPSC Regulations, because the documents sought pertained to AP's time-sensitive reporting on a currently unfolding news story of great interest to the public. As the lead government agency for ensuring the safety of consumer products – including overseeing recalls of products that could have negative effects on the public's health – the CPSC's records concerning the oversight of retailers that have identified products containing cadmium is critical to the public understanding and knowledge of the continued risk of cadmium in children's products.

An ongoing AP investigation first published in January showed that children's jewelry and other items have been made with high levels of cadmium, potentially exposing children to harmful levels of a toxin and carcinogen that can lead to kidney and bone damage. AP found that some children's jewelry was made almost entirely of this metal. Following this disclosure, the Agency oversaw five separate jewelry recalls, including those involving major national chain stores such as Walmart and Claire's, and directed that retailers be vigilant that overseas manufacturers could be substituting cadmium for lead in their products. The information that AP seeks in this FOIA request goes directly towards showing whether the Agency has been fulfilling its obligations with respect to this oversight. AP's letter is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

By letter dated October 4, 2010 (attached hereto as Exhibit B), Todd Stevenson, Director of the Division of Information Management for the Agency, denied AP's request for expedited treatment. While the denial letter stated – in utmost conclusory fashion – that the Agency determined that AP had “not set forth a claim that a compelling need exists” for the information, or that there is an urgency to inform the public about an “actual or alleged Federal Government activity,” it failed to explain how it reached this conclusion given the immediacy of the issues involved, the Agency's own emphasis on dangers posed by cadmium (Chairman Tenenbaum advised parents to purge their children's jewelry boxes of cheap metal trinkets following AP's initial January report), and the public attention that product recall generates, particularly for products used by children. Indeed, the letter said nothing more than this generalized recitation of the legal standard.

This type of conclusory denial by an agency when determining the need for expedited treatment of a legitimate FOIA request concerning a matter of significant public importance, is inexcusable. An agency must undertake a proper legal analysis for a request for expedited handling, and identify the reasons underlying a denial of such request. Here, the Agency did neither. Under both established case law and the clear mandate of FOIA, it is apparent that the material requested is subject to prompt treatment by the Agency, and the Agency should reverse the determination of its October 4 letter.

II. Basis for Appeal

The Agency's Refusal to Provide Expedited Treatment Was Improper

The Agency's refusal to review and produce the material sought by AP in an expedited manner is improper given the time-sensitive nature of AP's request and the important news value of the documents.

FOIA directs that expedited treatment should be provided when a request is "made by a person primarily engaged in disseminating information" and there is an "urgency to inform the public of actual or alleged Federal Government activity." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(6)(E)(v)(II). Clearly, AP is a news organization "primarily engaged in disseminating information" to the public, and so the first requirement for expedited treatment is met.

Whether an "urgency to inform" exists depends on several factors: (1) whether the information relates to a currently unfolding story; (2) whether delaying release of the information harms the public interest; and (3) whether the request concerns federal governmental activity. See Al-Fayed v. CIA, 245 F.3d 300 (D.C. Cir. 2001). In addition, "the credibility of a requester" is also a relevant consideration. Id.

The relevant factors outlined by the courts underscore that an "urgency to inform" undeniably exists for the information sought in this request. First, the information sought relates to a currently unfolding story, namely, the obvious and ongoing public concern over product safety, particularly as relates to high levels of toxins in children's products. At the time when the Agency has acknowledged these hazards and risks, and has orchestrated several recalls in recent months as a result, the continued exposure of this toxic element in products, are critical to the public knowledge.

According to the Agency's website (<http://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/sec15.aspx>), "manufacturers, importers, distributors, and retailers are required to report to CPSC under Section 15(b) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA) within 24 hours of obtaining information which reasonably supports the conclusion that a product does not comply with a safety rule issued under the CPSA, or contains a defect which could create a substantial risk of injury to the public or presents an unreasonable risk of serious injury or death. 15 U.S.C. § 2064(b)." The information sought will allow AP to identify whether retailers are in fact aware of substantial and unreasonable risks due to cadmium and are under-reporting them, or whether in some cases they are reporting, but nothing has been done in response. That is, the information would reveal not only what retailers have found in their products, but it would demonstrate what regulatory actions have been taken in response to these findings.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission is the lead government agency for ensuring the safety of consumer products. The documents sought here are the principal means for verifying that such safety is being accounted for by the Agency through its oversight of the retailers, distributors and manufacturers who have direct control over the products that are covered by recalls. Section 15 of the Consumer Product Safety Act establishes reporting requirements for manufacturers or retailers of consumer products. According to the CPSC website, Congress enacted Section 15(b) and the reporting requirements in order to "encourage the widespread reporting of potential product hazards." Therefore, disclosure of information on how the CPSC is fulfilling its responsibilities with respect to product safety through these reporting requirements is at the core of issues that are critical to the public at large. AP cannot accurately assess whether products containing such harmful toxins continues to permeate the consumer public, and what the Agency has done in response to such findings, without reviewing the documents it has requested from CPSC. This is not simply a matter of informing the public about issues that concern its right "generally to know" about an Agency activity, but matters that implicate current and immediate safety concerns for all members of the public.

Second, delaying release of the information harms the public interest in knowing (a) if there are safety concerns remaining in certain consumer products, and if so, where, and in what amounts; (b) whether the CPSC is taking proper regulatory precautions to avoid such health and safety concerns; and (c) what actions are being taken by the CPSC to address the critical issue of product contamination once it has been revealed. The reports that AP seeks will reveal this information. And as the Agency explained on its website, "reporting by companies under Section 15 can provide the most timely and effective source of information about [hazardous] products." (Emphasis added). Again, the fact that there have been so many recalls due to cadmium in children's products makes this an issue that needs to be considered immediately. Knowing the steps being taken by the CPSC to ascertain these risks is crucial to the public now. And by the Agency's own admission, these reporting requirements are the most effective ways of conveying this vital information. It is extraordinary that the Agency would argue that the American people do not have a right to know now whether and to what extent children's products continue to be contaminated, including at their local retailers or distributors. This type of information is precisely the type of information that any person would urgently want to be made aware of. The purpose of FOIA is to keep the government accountable to the people. This can only be achieved when matters are brought to light at the time they are unfolding.

Third, the request obviously concerns federal governmental activity, as it seeks information that the Agency collected about the recall of a product for consumer safety, as well as its regulatory follow-up for any retailers that recalled the products. Finally, as the world's oldest and largest news organization, the AP is certainly a credible requester.

Every one of the criteria identified by the courts as warranting expedited treatment is present in this case, and it is untenable that CPSC would seek to block this information from prompt release.

Finally, I note that all undertakings by the Agency must abide by President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act," and Attorney General Holder's March 19, 2009 Directive, to administer FOIA requests with a presumption of openness. In no uncertain terms, Attorney General Holder stated that, "The Freedom of Information Act should be administered with a clear presumption: In the face of doubt, openness prevails." (Quoting President Obama's January 21 FOIA Memorandum). He instructed that "[a]n agency should not withhold records merely because it can demonstrate, as a technical matter, that the records fall within the scope of a FOIA exemption." Moreover, Attorney General Holder directed that the Department of Justice will only defend a denial of a request if the agency "reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one of the statutory exemptions."

President Obama has stated that he intends to make his administration the most open and transparent in history. The Agency's denial of expedited handling is clearly at odds with both the letter and spirit of President Obama's January 21, 2009 Memorandum, which expressly directed agencies to "act promptly and in the spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public." Keeping with the spirit of this Memorandum and the administration's pledge of openness and transparency, I ask that the Agency promptly address AP's request.

III. Request for Relief

For the foregoing reasons, we respectfully submit that CPSC has improperly denied AP's request for expedited treatment. The Agency failed to undertake the requisite legal analysis and failed to provide valid reasons for denying the request. Because the information AP is seeking concerns AP's time-sensitive reporting on a currently unfolding news story of great interest to the public, the information is needed in an expedited manner in order to shed light on the government's operations, a key purpose of FOIA.

We trust that you will reverse the initial position, and grant AP's request for expedited processing of this important matter. We again advise you that this information is sought in connection with AP's news reporting, and is needed to timely inform the public about activities of the federal government. If you have any questions about this appeal, please contact me by telephone (212-621-7287), fax (212-621-5456) or email (kkaiser@ap.org), rather than relying upon regular mail.

Thank you for your assistance, and I will look forward to receiving your prompt reply.

Respectfully submitted,

Karen Kaiser

Dear Alberta,

This is an amendment to FOIA Request # 10-F-01056, dated Sept. 21, 2010. As reflected below, I am time limiting the request to 2010. All additions are underlined.

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request the following information:

1. Detailed information contained within any "Section 15" reports to the CPSC pertaining to instances in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products. This information should be understood to include but not be limited to the name of the firm, the name and description of the item, the date of the report, details about why the item was subject to Section 15 reporting, and any injuries or reports of problems with the item. I am requesting this information starting Jan. 1, 2010.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

I am making this request as a reporter with The Associated Press and this request is made as part of newsgathering and not for commercial use. As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages.

I ask that you provide expedited review of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. The information sought relates to a currently unfolding story, specifically cadmium in consumer goods, an issue which the CPSC itself is at this very moment contemplating new regulations to address what has emerged as public concern. Second, delaying release of the information harms the public interest in knowing what actions have been taken to address potential harm caused by cadmium in consumer goods. Third, the request obviously concerns federal government activity, as the request seeks information on a topic the CPSC has highlighted as being of concern this year. Finally, as the world's oldest and largest news organization, the AP is a credible requester. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited review are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

If you deny expedited processing, I expect to receive a response to the request within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

I also ask that you waive any and all applicable fees associated with this request. Release of this information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities, particularly what the CPSC is doing to protect the public from potentially harmful consumer goods. If you deny this request for a fee waiver, please advise me in advance of the estimated charges if they are to exceed $100.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the Act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and the information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone (213-346-3192) or e-mail (jdpritchard@ap.org), rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request

Finally, I note that President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act" specifically stated that "[i]n responding to requests under the FOIA, executive branch agencies should act promptly and in a spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public." Moreover, it held that "[a]ll agencies should adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure, in order to renew their commitment to the principles embodied in FOIA, and to usher in a new era of open Government. The presumption of disclosure should be applied to all decisions involving FOIA."

In the spirit of such cooperation and the presumption of disclosure, I look forward to your prompt response.

Thank you for your assistance.
Sincerely,

Justin Pritchard

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request dated September 28, 2010, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information.

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request dated September 16, 2010, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information and a complete waiver of any fees associated with the request.

You have asked us to expedite your request, because the request concerns "a matter of urgency," "the information sought relates to a currently unfolding story," and "harms the public interest in knowing what actions are being taken to address potential harm caused by cadmium." Your statement does not set forth a claim that a "compelling need" exists for the expedited processing under Commission regulations. You have not demonstrated that the failure to obtain the requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual or that there is an urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.5(f)(1). I am therefore denying your requests for expedited processing.

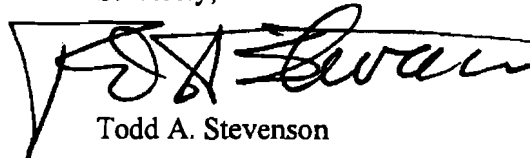

In your letter you request a waiver of the fees because "the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities." Your explanation or justification is not sufficient to justify a full waiver of the fees. We, therefore, deny your request for a full waiver of the fees.

1. Detailed information contained within any "Section 15" reports to the CPSC pertaining to instances in which any firm (retailer or otherwise) has pulled from store shelves, blocked sale at the register or otherwise limited the distribution of an item due to the presence of cadmium in those products. This information should be understood to include but not be limited to the name of the firm, the name and description of the item, the date of the report, details about why the item was subject to Section 15 reporting, and any injuries or reports of problems with the item.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

I am making this request as a reporter with The Associated Press and this request is made as part of newsgathering and not for commercial use. As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages.

I ask that you provide expedited review of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. The information sought relates to a currently unfolding story, specifically cadmium in consumer goods, an issue which the CPSC itself is at this very moment contemplating new regulations to address what has emerged as public concern. Second, delaying release of the information harms the public interest in knowing what actions have been taken to address potential harm caused by cadmium in consumer goods. Third, the request obviously concerns federal government activity, as the request seeks information on a topic the CPSC has highlighted as being of concern this year. Finally, as the world's oldest and largest news organization, the AP is a credible requester. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited review are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

If you deny expedited processing, I expect to receive a response to the request within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

10 F-01056

I also ask that you waive any and all applicable fees associated with this request. Release of this information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities, particularly what the CPSC is doing to protect the public from potentially harmful consumer goods. If you deny this request for a fee waiver, please advise me in advance of the estimated charges if they are to exceed $100.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the Act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and the information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone (213-346-3192) or e-mail (jdpritchard@ap.org), rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request

Finally, I note that President Obama's January 21, 2009 "Presidential Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies on the Freedom of Information Act" specifically stated that "[i]n responding to requests under the FOIA, executive branch agencies should act promptly and in a spirit of cooperation, recognizing that such agencies are servants of the public." Moreover, it held that "[a]ll agencies should adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure, in order to renew their commitment to the principles embodied in FOIA, and to usher in a new era of open Government. The presumption of disclosure should be applied to all decisions involving FOIA."

In the spirit of such cooperation and the presumption of disclosure, I look forward to your prompt response.

Thank you for your assistance.
Sincerely,

Justin Pritchard

Dear Mr. Sahadi:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

We searched our files for all requested information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-01014: CPSC Documents Concerning McDonald's Shrek Drinking Glass – Recall Release #10-257

Dear Dr. Thompson:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the Commission. The records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed. The enclosed records constitute a partial response to your request. The material involving the second part of your request is not yet available for disclosure.

The enclosed records include file information generated by the Commission itself or its contractors for regulatory or enforcement purposes. These records are from the Commission's Office of Compliance and Field Operations investigatory file pertaining to McDonalds Shrek Drinking Glasses. The Commission has established management systems under which supervisors are responsible for reviewing the work of their employees or contractors. The file information materials are final and have been prepared and accepted by the Commission's staff under such review systems. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of the information.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to product complaints and reported incidents that were submitted to the Commission by consumers, attorneys for consumers or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluation of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents.

Certain records or portions of the records contained in the files are being withheld pursuant to the Exemptions 3, 4, and 5, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), (b)(4), and section 6(a)(2) and 6(b)(1) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2055(a)(2), and (b)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for withholding from disclosure, matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3 to these records, we are relying in part to CPSA section 6(a)(2) to withhold files that contain proprietary and confidential information. Section 6(a)(2) prohibits the Commission from disclosing information that is exempt from disclosure under Exemption 4 of the FOIA. That exemption protects trade secrets and confidential commercial information directly related to a firm's business that the firm has not made public and whose disclosure could give a substantial commercial advantage to a competitor. The protected portions for the records that are being withheld are confidential commercial information, such as testing data. Specifically we are withholding pages 89-95, 108-186, 220-224, 225-229, 230-241, and 242-247.

We are also relying in part to section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA. That section prohibits the Commission from disclosing information about a consumer product that identifies a manufacturer or private labeler unless the Commission has taken "reasonable steps" to assure that the information is accurate, that disclosure is fair in the circumstances, and that disclosure will be reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the laws that the Commission administers. It would not be fair in the circumstances to disclose a firm's notes, drafts or minutes of meetings to discuss and negotiate settlement agreements, when the company has requested confidentiality and such records are protected from disclosure pursuant to 16 C.F.R. § 1101.33. Specifically, we will withhold portions of the file materials that would reveal the settlement negotiations, drafts and discussions about the issues of the corrective action. Specifically we are withholding pages 1-4, 11, 12, 14-15, 18-19, 20, 34, 40, 52, 62-63, 79-81, 85-86, and 251-252. We are also withholding portions of pages 215 and 248-250.

Certain preliminary internal staff memoranda and analyses are also being withheld from the file pursuant to FOIA Exemption 5. Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The staff memoranda and analyses being withheld are both predecisional and deliberative, consisting of recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses. Any factual materials in the memoranda not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. We have determined that the disclosure of the law enforcement investigatory records responsive to your request would be contrary to the public interest. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814.

Processing this request, performing the file searches and preparing this information cost the Commission $70.00. In this instance we have decided to waive the charges. This completes the processing of your request. Should you have any questions, you may contact us by letter, telephone 301-504-7923, facsimile 301-504-0127 or email at cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov

Sincerely,

Alberta E. Mills

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-01014: Procter & Gamble DryMax Pampers Diapers; McDonald's Shrek Glasses and CPSC Publicly Announced Investigations

Dear Dr. Thompson:

This regards your request dated September 10, 2010 that seeks a full waiver of any fees that may be incurred in the processing of the referenced Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request to the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). In your letter you request a waiver of the fees because "I am in the process of writing a paper that explores how the CPSC manages and communicates about the risks associated with children's products, and I see all of this information for research purposed, not for commercial use." Your explanation or justification is not sufficient to justify a full waiver of the fees. We, therefore, deny your request for a full waiver of the fees.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9 provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The FOIA regulations and fee schedule allow for the charges for file search time at $12.00 an hour for clerical personnel and $19.60 an hour for professional personnel, $19.60 an hour for review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, and $0.10 a page for duplication services. As a researcher, you will receive a partial waiver of the fees. The search and review fees and the $10.00 of the duplication services will be waived. Other reproduction costs will be charged on a direct-cost basis.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5(f)(4) and (f)(6) and 1015.7, any denial of a request for a fee waiver or expedited processing of an FOIA request may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Sincerely,

Todd A. Stevenson

Dear CPSC FOIA Officers,

Under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), I request copies of all of the CPSC's data, analyses, staff reports, and correspondence between the CPSC staff and members of the public and the media related to two recent issues (with any confidential information redacted): (1) the "investigation" of Pampers with DryMax diapers produced by Procter & Gamble, and (2) the recall related to the Shrek glasses sold by McDonalds. I request this information for research purposes, and I ask that you please send me copies of any and all available information by email (or by regular mail, if for any reason the information cannot be sent electronically), including but not limited to the following specific items:

Investigation of diapers:

1. Copies of all complaints received since January 1, 2010 related to any brand of diapers. I assume that these are available in a database since the CPSC receives many complaints electronically and the scientific staff must have compiled all of the complaint data into a database for its own analyses. I request the complete database (with any identifiable or confidential information redacted). I do not want, nor will I use, the names or any contact information associated with the complaints, but I ask that you please retain the information about the exact date and time that the CPSC received the complaint, how the CPSC received the complaint (i.e., from the on-line complaint form, phone, fax, or mail), and the city and state from which the complaint was received. I also ask that you please indicate whether the same individual and/or a related family member submitted more than one complaint for a child (i.e., I request that you please note if complaints are linked by child such that they are not unique, so that I can assess the number of unique complaints) and whether the information in the complaint has been shared with the diaper manufacturer or if the person filing the complaint indicated that the complaint could not be shared with the manufacturer. I request that you please retain all fields in the existing database, except those related to confidential information, and that you please provide a full description of each field in the database as well as all of the information about the exact diaper brand used and any product tracking verification information available. Please also include any information used by the CPSC staff and/or any health or medical professionals it retained to classify and/or characterize the nature of the reported injuries. If the CPSC staff has produced any summaries, memos, reports, presentations, and/or other written documents related to its review of the complaints or other data related to the diaper rash complaints, I request copies of these summaries as well. In addition, I request a list of the total numbers of complaints that the CPSC has received each year since 2005 related to diaper rash.

OSIC

2. Copies of any and all information collected as part of the CPSC staff's in-depth investigation (i.e., any follow up related to the complaints) and all available information about any independent product tests and/or expert medical opinions conducted by and/or commissioned by the CPSC. I also request copies of the report that served as the basis for the decision to issue the CPSC press release issued on September 2, 2010 called: "No Specific Cause Found Yet Linking Dry Max Diapers to Diaper Rash" and any documents that discuss the motivation, reasons for ongoing concern, and details about the process and questions to be addressed by the ongoing investigation. If no such documents exist, then I request that you notify me of this in writing.

3. Copies of all correspondence between the CPSC Public Affairs, Compliance, and Health Sciences staff with any and all members of the public (including members of the media, medical and legal professions, etc.), except any correspondence that is deemed confidential. Please include copies of any materials developed by the CPSC Public Affairs Office related to the CPSC's public announcement of its "investigation" (see: <http://www.walletpop.com/blog/2010/05/04/pampers-dry-max-rash-complaints-spark-federal-investigation/>), which occurred on or before May 4, 2010, specifically including any text (including email text) developed and sent out by the CPSC to media contacts. Please also provide a copy of the media contact log that details all contacts between the Public Affairs staff, if such exists, and copies of all electronic correspondence sent from the Public Affairs Office related to diapers for calendar year 2010 (with any confidential information redacted). I also request a copy of the criteria used by the CPSC Commissioners and/or staff to (1) formally launch and publicly announce an "investigation" related to diapers, and (2) to issue a press release to announce the ongoing investigation in the September 2, 2010 press release related to Pampers.

4. Copies of any and all available data related to the estimated amount of staff time and financial resources spent by the CPSC related to the investigation of diaper rash complaints spent in 2010 by month, up through September 10, 2010, and a projection of the expected costs going forward for the ongoing investigation activities.

5. A list of all of the names of the documents that Procter & Gamble has provided to the CPSC for its review. Please note that I currently serve on 2 external science advisory boards for Procter & Gamble (one related to Product Safety and one related to Sustainability), and in April 2010 Procter & Gamble asked me to review its data related to the safety of its diapers. I performed an independent and voluntary review in early May and I am continuing to research this issue independently and voluntarily (i.e., I am not working for P&G and my interests are academic and reflect my concerns as a US citizen). Although I believe that I have seen much of the information provided by Procter & Gamble to the CPSC, I would like to verify this by receiving a list of the documents provided to the CPSC by Procter & Gamble. Please also provide me with a list of the titles or brief descriptions of any documents that the CPSC has provided to Procter & Gamble related to its investigation of diaper rash complaints.

EXC

Shrek glasses recall:

6. Copies of all complaints received by the CPSC related to the McDonalds Shrek glasses that occurred on June 4, 2010, with any confidential information redacted.

EXC

7. Copies of all of the results of the CPSC staff's in-depth investigation (i.e., any follow up related to the complaints), copies of any information provided by McDonalds and/or any of its suppliers that is not confidential, and all available information about the independent product tests commissioned and/or conducted by the CPSC. Please also provide a copy of the CPSC risk assessment and any other information that formed the basis for the decision to issue a voluntary recall for the Shrek glasses, including any existing documents that support the decision to lower the cadmium standard.

OSIC

8. Copies of all correspondence related to this recall between the CPSC Commissioners, Public Affairs Office, and scientific staff with any and all members of the public (including members of the media, politicians, etc.) that occurred prior to the issuance of the recall on the CPSC website, except for any correspondence deemed confidential. I also request copies of any reports submitted to the CPSC after the issuance of the recall by any interested parties (including McDonalds, decorative glass manufacturers and trade associations, consumer interest groups, etc.), with any confidential information redacted.

EXPA
EXHR

9. Copies of any and all available data related to the estimated amount of staff time and financial resources spent by the CPSC related to the Shrek glass recall.

EXFM

Both issues:

10. I request copies of any other FOIA requests that the CPSC has received related to these 2 issues and copies of any information provided in the responses that the CPSC sent to the requesters that otherwise was not captured in the information above.

FOI

Related issues:

11. I request a list of any other instances since January 1, 2005 when the CPSC publicly announced an "investigation," which one media source identified as "rare" when he wrote about the "rare acknowledgment of an ongoing investigation" related to Zhu Zhu pets in December 2009 (see: <http://www.walletpop.com/blog/2009/12/06/will-zhu-zhu-pets-be-recalled-for-lead-or-is-this-just-a-web-my/>). I also request a list of any and all CPSC-issued press releases similar to the September 2, 2010 press release for diapers that publicly announced that an investigation is continuing and/or that explicitly used the word "yet" in the title, thus creating expectations for a future release of a final finding, and the list of the press releases issued by the CPSC to formally close the associated investigations (i.e., I want to determine the time that it took for the CPSC to produce a final resolution and announce official closure of the related investigations, if any). I also request a list of the press releases associated with all of the other recalls that the CPSC has issued based on a different, proposed, or planned lower standard than the standard currently in effect, similar to the situation that occurred with the McDonalds Shrek recall.

EXPA

Nature of my research:

I am in the process of writing a paper that explores how the CPSC manages and communicates about the risks associated with children's products, and I seek all of this information for research purposes, not for commercial use. I request that any fees associated with this request be waived. I would prefer to receive the information electronically via e-mail (kimt@kidrisk.org), thus eliminating any fees associated with mailing or copying costs (based on my assumption that all of this information exists in electronic formats within the CPSC). If the fees cannot be waived, then please contact me to arrange for payment. For any information that I have requested that is incomplete, unavailable, or missing, please indicate that in your reply. If you would like to contact me regarding this request, please call me at: (857)383-4230. Thank you in advance for your prompt response to this request.

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00994: Request copies of any and all consumer complaints, investigation reports, Minutes of Commission meetings, Records of Commission Actions, and any other documents pertaining to the following products for the years 2007 through the present day: 1) Travis Industries Fireplace Units; and 2) Gas control valves manufactured by Robert Shaw Company and/or Invensys Controls Company.

Dear Ms. Spring:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

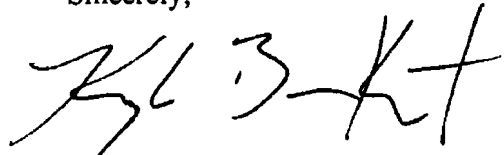

We searched our files from calendar year 2007 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

RE: Freedom of Information Request #10-F-00950; Request for incident reports for ROV-related fatality and injury databases from the Injury and Potential Injury Incident (IPII) and In-Depth Investigation (INDP) databases that were not produced to ROHVA on November 20, 2009

Dear Mr. Vitrano:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (Commission). The information from the Commission files responsive to your request has been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic (In-Depth) Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems, the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to product complaints and reported incidents that were submitted to the Commission by consumers and others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents.

You will note that information in the documents disclosed that could identify injured parties and persons treating them has been deleted pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of such identities without the consent from the individuals. Also FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel, medical and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA exemptions to disclosure.

According to the Commission's regulations implementing the FOIA at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, MD 20814-4408.

Processing this request, performing the file searches and preparing the information, cost the Commission $100.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive all of the charges. Thank you for your interest in consumer product safety. Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127 or telephone (301) 504-7923 or e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov.

Re: FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Dear Sirs/Madams:

Please consider this request to constitute a request for information filed under the Freedom of Information Act for any and all obtainable materials and documents pertaining to the recall by the CPSC announced on April 29, 2010 (Release #10-211) of all Simplicity full-size cribs with tubular metal mattress-support frames. By way of background, the undersigned represents the legal interests of Lauren Zimmerman and her family. Lauren's one year old son from North Attleboro, MA was suffocated when he became entrapped between the crib mattress and the crib frame. It is his death which is referred to in your Release #10-211) and which, in part, led to your investigation and subsequent recall. Your Commission, through your field investigator, Jason Twitchell, PSI of Shrewsbury, MA purchased the subject crib from the Lauren's step father, Tony Ciarocco, on January 19, 2010. A copy of the invoice for the purchase is enclosed.

This request includes all materials and documents which provide a basis for and/or support your recall as stated in Release #10-211), including but not limited to the following:

1. The subject crib. It is requested that you preserve the subject crib in its present condition and do not alter, change or modify it in any manner from this point forward.
2. Any and all documents generated by the investigation of Jason Twitchell, PSI of your Shrewsbury, MA office;

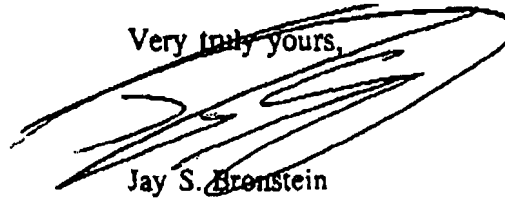

0905044NE4397

10-F-00878

3. Any all documents generated by the investigation of the CPSC into the subject Simplicity crib and model;
4. Any and all results from tests, inspections, examinations of the subject crib or similar type cribs;
5. Any and all documents which support your decision to issue the subject recall;
6. Any photographs, videotapes, drawings of the subject crib or model or type;
7. Any and all CPSC Existing Hazard Analysis, Case Summaries, Fact Sheets, Complaints File, and/or Summaries of In-Depth Investigations which pertain, in whole or in part, to the subject investigation and subsequent recall of the subject Simplicity crib model or type.

Please respond at your earliest opportunity. Thank you for your cooperation.

Very truly yours,

Simplicity Cribs Recalled by Retailers; Mattress-Support Collapse Can Cause Suffocation and Strangulation

One Infant Death Reported

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) is announcing the recall of all Simplicity full-size cribs with tubular metal mattress-support frames. This recall includes fixed-side and drop-side cribs. These cribs pose a risk of serious injury or death due to entrapment, strangulation, suffocation and fall hazards to infants and toddlers.

The crib's tubular metal mattress-support frame can bend or detach and cause part of the mattress to collapse, creating a space into which an infant or toddler can roll and become wedged, entrapped or fall out of the crib.

CPSC has received a report of a one-year-old child from North Attleboro, Mass. who suffocated when he became entrapped between the crib mattress and the crib frame in April 2008. CPSC is aware of 13 additional incidents involving the recalled cribs collapsing due to the metal mattress-support frame bending or detaching, including one child entrapment that did not result in injury, and one child who suffered minor cuts to his head when his mattress collapsed and he fell out of the crib.

CPSC staff urges parents and caregivers to stop using these cribs immediately and find an alternative, safe sleeping environment for their baby. Do not attempt to fix these cribs.

Due to the fact that Simplicity and its successor, SFCA Inc., are no longer in business, CPSC has limited information about the number of cribs sold. All Simplicity drop-side cribs have previously been recalled for a hazard involving the drop side. Simplicity drop-side cribs could still be in use by parents or caregivers who are unaware of the recalls or by those who received a repair kit to immobilize the drop side from Simplicity when the firm was still in business. This recall involves ALL Simplicity cribs with tubular metal mattress-support frames regardless of model number.

Crib Name	Model Number
All Simplicity Cribs with tubular metal mattress-support frames, regardless of model number	ALL Model Numbers

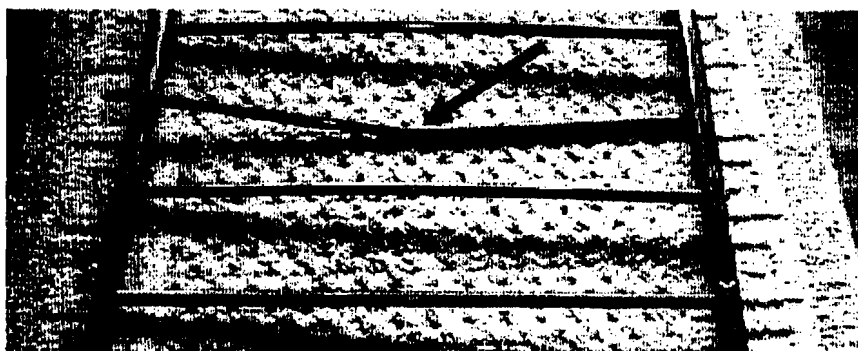

The name "Simplicity Inc." or "Simplicity for Children" appears on a label on the crib's mattress-support frame and/or the crib's end panels. The cribs were manufactured in China.

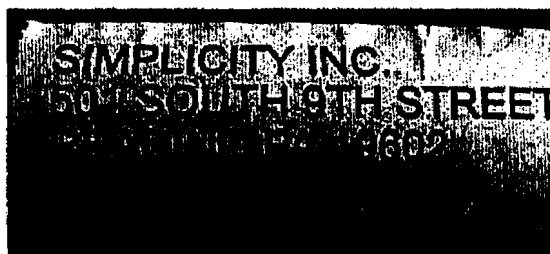

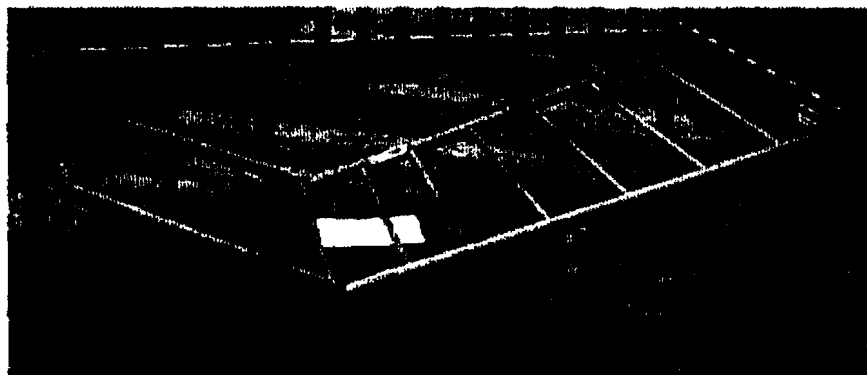

The recalled cribs were sold at Walmart, Target, Babies R Us and other stores nationwide for between $150 and $300. Consumers should contact the store where the crib was purchased to receive a refund, replacement crib or store credit.

Important Message from CPSC:

CPSC would like to remind parents not to use any crib with missing, broken or loose parts. Make sure to tighten hardware from time to time to keep the crib sturdy. When using a drop-side crib, parents should check to make sure the drop side or any other moving part operates smoothly. Always check all sides and corners of the crib for disengagement. Any disengagement can create a gap, which could fatally entrap a child. In addition, do not try to repair any side of the crib with tape, wire, rope or by other means. Infants and toddlers have died in cribs with makeshift repairs.

For more information on Crib Safety, visit CPSC's Crib Information Center.

CPSC is still interested in receiving incident or injury reports that are either directly related to this product recall or involve a different hazard with the same product. Please tell us about it by visiting <https://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/incident.aspx>

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission is charged with protecting the public from unreasonable risks of serious injury or death from thousands of types of consumer products under the agency's jurisdiction. The CPSC is committed to protecting consumers and families from products that pose a fire, electrical, chemical, or mechanical hazard. The CPSC's work to ensure the safety of consumer products - such as toys, cribs, power tools, cigarette lighters, and household chemicals - contributed significantly to the decline in the rate of deaths and injuries associated with consumer products over the past 30 years.

To report a dangerous product or a product-related injury, call CPSC's Hotline at (800) 638-2772 or CPSC's teletypewriter at (301) 595-7054. To join a CPSC e-mail subscription list, please go to <https://www.cpsc.gov/cpsclist.aspx>. Consumers can obtain recall and general safety information by logging on to CPSC's Web site at www.cpsc.gov.

Subject: FOIA Request re Educational Craft Kits Recalled by FloraCraft, Wires with Surface Coatings

Dear FOIA Officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of records relating to the March 18, 2009 voluntary recall of educational craft kits entitled "Solar System Kits" and "DNA Kits" manufactured by FloraCraft Corp. of Ludington, Michigan. Specifically, documents regarding the surface coating of the educational kits' wires that contain excessive levels of lead, and the specific federal lead paint standard that the kits had violated.

I also request information on any other recalls, to the extent there are any, involving surface coatings on metal wires containing lead in an amount that exceeds the federal lead paint standard.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format in the form of Adobe Acrobat PDF files if possible, sent to me by electronic mail at my e-mail address: larry@chanler.com.

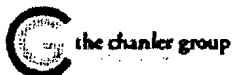

I agree to pay reasonable duplication fees for the processing of this request.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the Act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

I look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Thank you for your assistance.

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00791: All documentation of notice, since 2008, by state attorneys general to the Commission pursuant to the statutory grant of authority to enforce the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act under 15 U.S.C. 2073(b). And all other documentation of communication, since 2008, from state attorneys general concerning their intent to commence civil action under the Commission's governing statutes or their ability to enforce statutes under the Commission's authority.

Dear Ms. Widman:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir/Madam:

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act. I request that a copy of the following documents be provided to me:

All documentation of notice, since 2008, by state attorneys general to the Commission pursuant to the statutory grant of authority to enforce the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act under 15 U.S.C. § 2073(b);

All other documentation of communication, since 2008, from state attorneys general concerning their intent to commence civil action under the Commission's governing statutes or their ability to enforce statutes under the Commission's authority;

All communication since 2008 from state attorneys general to the Commission, including, but not limited to, the Commission's rule-making, enforcement, investigation, or adjudication, or lack thereof, of the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act.

I am requesting these on behalf of the Center for Justice & Democracy, a nonprofit public interest research institution. I request a waiver of all fees for this request. Disclosure of the requested information to me is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in my commercial interest. This information will be vital to the completion of a comprehensive study concerning the interaction of state attorneys general and the federal government.

If a fee waiver cannot be granted please notify me prior to the expenditure of funds on behalf of this request.

I will expect a response within 20 working days as provided by law. If my request is denied in whole or in part, I expect a detailed justification for withholding the records. I also request any segregable portions that are not exempt to be disclosed.

If you need to discuss this request, I can be reached at 212-267-2801. Thank you for your consideration of my request.

Sincerely,

Amy Widman

Subject: FOIA request -- record of meeting

Dear Ms. Mills,

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

I request that the following be provided to me:

- Any written, audio or video record of the commission meeting/hearing/briefing on March 22, 2005.

This was a meeting of the commission, representatives of consumer advocacy groups (the Consumer Federation of America, etc.) and groups of pediatricians and emergency room physicians to discuss CFA's ATV petition. I am interested in a recording, video or transcript of the entire meeting. I do not need the agenda.

I would prefer to receive this in electronic format on CD or DVD, though I will be quite happy to receive it in any form.

In order to help determine my status to assess fees, you should know that I am a public health researcher. I have published in journals, including CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report. In addition, I teach in the Department of Epidemiology and Biostatistics at The George Washington University. While I am also a consultant, the purpose of this request is not for my consulting business (i.e., not for commercial use) but rather for scholarly research purposes.

I am willing to pay fees for this request up to a maximum of $25. If you estimate that fees will exceed this, please inform me first. Disclosure of the requested information to me is in the public interest because it likely to contribute significantly to the public health of the country. My research on ATV injuries and deaths will help to inform health practitioners and policymakers on ways in which these injuries and deaths can be prevented.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear FOIA Request Department:

Please let this letter serve as our formal request for information under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552. We are writing to request copies of the items identified in the attached list.

We represent the family of Daniel Sutton whose child died of strangulation on a blind cord as indicated above. We are making this request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act. If you have any questions concerning the same, it would be most appreciated if you would contact me so that we might avoid the necessity of an administrative appeal. To the extent that any information cannot be provided and/or my request as to any information is being denied, it would be most appreciated if you would advise as to the grounds for the denial and the official to whom an appeal should be addressed.

To the extent the agency withholds specific categories of exempted information, please release any segregable portions that are left after the exempted material has been deleted or redacted from the data we are requesting.

We are willing to pay any reasonable costs associated with the compilation and copying of this information. We ask that this request be processed on an expedited basis.

We thank you in advance for your help and look forward to hearing from the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-00738: Documents relating to the provisional agreement between Schylling Associates, Inc., and the CPSC and any prior agreement between Schylling Associates, Inc., and the CPSC on the same matter.

Dear Mr. Woldenberg:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). We have located records that are responsive to your request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any manufacturers or private labelers whose identities can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firms. The firms have 15 days to respond. If the companies claim that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and re-notify the firms if we overrule any claims.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firms. The firms' responses and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

For more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations, please refer to our website <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons." If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-00738: Schylling Associates, Inc., Provisional Acceptance of a Settlement Agreement and Order and Any Prior Agreement

Dear Mr. Woldenberg:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request dated June 08, 2009, to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information.

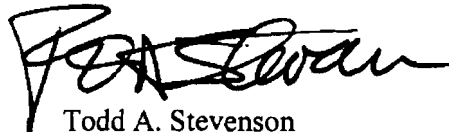

You have asked us to expedite your request when you asked us to "accord this request 'fast track' status." Your statement does not set forth a claim that a "compelling need" exists for the expedited processing under Commission regulations. You have not demonstrated that the failure to obtain the requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual or that there is an urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.5(f)(1). I am therefore denying your requests for expedited processing.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5(f)((4) and 1015.7, any denial of a request for expedited processing of an FOIA request may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

We are continuing to conduct the file searches to collect the records responsive to your request. We will process any records as quickly as possible and contact you as soon as the processing of your request is completed.

I am making this document request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act and 16 CFR §1015. I would like to receive copies of all documents (written or electronic, including notes and staff briefing packages) relating to the provisional agreement between Schylling Associates, Inc. and the CPSC [CPSC Docket No. 10-C0004, published 75 FR 30785 (2010-6-2) ("May Agreement") and any prior agreement between Schylling Associates, Inc. and the CPSC on the same matter. In particular, I am interested in any document which relates to objections to the original agreement between the parties dated January 19, 2010 (<http://bit.ly/aEfWcQ>) ("January Agreement") or which relates to the reasons for the increase in the penalty assessed in this case from the $200,000 amount in the January Agreement to the $400,000 in the May Agreement. Please accord this request "fast track" status.

In making this request, I note the following statement in 16 CFR §1015(b): "The Commission's policy with respect to requests for records is that disclosure is the rule and withholding is the exception. All records not exempt from disclosure will be made available. Moreover, records which may be exempted from disclosure will be made available as a matter of discretion when disclosure is not prohibited by law or is not against the public interest."

Dear Mr. Barac:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

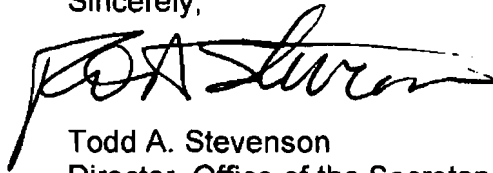

We searched our files from calendar year 2006 - 7/23/2010 for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Dear Mr. Russell Roegner,

In October of last year, I sent letters to the CSPC with regard to a Werner attic ladder that had numerous reports of faulty hinges (causing MANY serious injuries). Since the time of the original letter, 21 new defective hinge reports have been added to an updated and growing list (that's included with this letter).

These reports (50 included in this letter) are just those reported on one particular website (so this is obviously just the tip of the iceberg of what appears to be a seriously defective/dangerous product). Many of these injuries were extremely serious (including broken backs) -- as one could expect from a fall from a 10 foot ladder. I, personally, spoke with Werner customer service and they are well aware of the problems with these models, but shockingly still did not say that the ladders should not be used.

Because of what appears to be obvious systematic failures for this ladder, I was surprised that the CSPC concluded that no recall or public warning was necessary as communicated in this e-mail from March 17, 2010:

"Mr. Barac,

We have completed the investigation of the ladder firm in which you inquired. The original firm filed for bankruptcy. A new firm has purchased the name and certain rights associated with the company. They are making ladders that are greatly improved over the previous models. I also understand they are addressing the warranty concerns of people that purchased ladders from the original company, even though they are not required to do so. Thank you for bringing this to the attention of the Commission.

Regards,

Dean W. Woodard
Director, Defect Investigations
U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission"

None of that information seems relevant as to if there should be a recall or, at least, a public warning that people should not use these ladders. If the bankruptcy makes the recall difficult or impossible (because no one can now be held financially responsible for the associated costs), why can't a public warning be made that could prevent future injuries/paralysis/death? That's my real concern (not whether or not the new owners of Werner will honor the warranties). I was also well aware that these ladders are no longer produced (and the newer models appear to be safe), but (again) that's not really relevant with respect to these very dangerous older ladders (that are still being used and sold second-hand) – the safety of which was the point of the investigation.

So I have the following questions for the CSPC:

1.) The e-mail that I received from Dean Woodard refers to an investigation into the ladder company and not the specific defective ladder that was causing the problems. Was an investigation done on the ladder, itself, and was it believed to be defective?

2.) If the ladder was found to be defective (which seem highly likely given the numerous incidents), why can't there still be a warning despite the bankruptcy of the company? Surely, there must be recourse for defective products of bankrupt companies.

3.) If the ladder was not found to be defective, could you provide me with a summary as to the conclusions as to why this was the decision, despite the overwhelming number of reported incidences of defective ladders.

The fact that there at least 50 reported problems with many resultant injuries, combined with the fact that the company, itself, found it necessary to change the type of hinges used (implying that there was a problem with the old hinges) and your own analysis that the company is making "greatly improved" ladders (implying that the old ones had problems) seems like overwhelming evidence towards the need for a recall or a public warning.

4.) I have seen numerous people claim that they reported their accidents to the CSPC, yet it seems that some were told by the CSPC that there were no other complaints for this product. How does that happen and how can the CSPC recognize systematic problems (as opposed to isolated incidents) if they are not grouping and compiling these reports (for the same product) together. How many customer incident reports does the CSPV show for these ladders?

OSIC

5.) Is there any way for me to appeal the decision?

As I said in my original letter, I am not an attorney, I never owned this ladder and was not even injured myself, and I have no ulterior motive – nor am I in the habit of lobbying for consumer safety. That said, the sheer number of injury reports (including broken backs) and potential damage that could result from future falls (particularly given the serious potential repercussions of a ladder of this height falling) has prompted me to investigate as just a concerned citizen who sees future accidents as a serious risk if these ladders are not recalled. That is honestly my one and only motivation here and I am investing considerable time and resources just to do the right thing and protect others.

Sorry to bother you with this again and thank you again for your consideration. This is a very serious matter as people are continuing to be injured by this product and they are still being sold on sites like Craigslist. I have tried to warn people selling these ladders about the risks (there are three for sale on Craigslist right now), but it's difficult to do so, without any official recall or email to point them towards.

The fact that there has been no recall seems to indicate to me that either 1.) the system for compiling information and making these decisions may have some systematic problems or 2.) this particular investigation somehow went wrong. I understand that your organization is tasked with a great deal of responsibility with only limited resources (and I really appreciate the organization's services), so I really appreciate your time in looking into this matter.

I attach my original letter and an updated list of reported incidents. Thank you, again, so much for your continued consideration into this matter.

To Whom It May Concern:

I recently bought an aluminium Werner attic ladder and, in doing some research, came upon some frightening reviews for Werner ladder's S2210 and S2208 attic ladders. Specifically, on one web-sites alone (counsel.net), I found over 25 reports of the hinges breaking on these model, causing serious injury (including a broken back).

While I realize that this model is no longer produced and that the hinges on the later models were changed to steel (from another metal), I am astonished to find out that the older models (with the apparently weaker hinges) were never recalled and are still in use and potentially still for-sale (on websites like Amazon, Craigslist, and ebay).

I am not an attorney and have no ulterior motive -- nor am I in the habit of lobbying for consumer safety. That said, the sheer number of injury reports and potential damage that could result from future falls (particularly given the serious potential repercussions of a ladder of this height failing) has prompted me to investigate as just a concerned citizen who sees future accidents as a serious risk if these ladders are not recalled.

Many recalls occur without any reported injuries (just because of a risk) and here there is case after case of injuries and problems with no recall. I am quite perplexed on this issue. I know that this issue has been reported to the CPSC (incident reports), and I am not sure why there has been no further action.

If you could please clarify the CPSC's position on these ladders, I would be very grateful. Thank you for your time. Below (on the following pages) I have pasted the numerous incident reports from counsel.net (as written; typos and all). If you google "Werner" "s2210" "broke" you will also see other reports.

Anyway, called them back, very good service, they are sending me a new aluminum AL2210 replacement ladder and I was told the steel S2210 model is no longer being made....which is no surprise, really, given the problems they are obviously having....

On 12/07/07 I was descending my 2 year old steel pull down ladder that had replaced a similar Werner pull down made of wood (that had pulled loose from the pull down door)when the right side lower hinge just fell apart plunging me off an adjacent wall to the floor. The hinge looks like it was made of cast pot metal. Upon inspecting the left side hinge, I found a crack in it as well. If the damn ladder is made of steel, why are the hinges made of junk metal? I have a bad neck as well and wound up nursing it the rest of the day. I found this link while looking for possible replacement hinges. Anyone up for a class action suit?

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00709: LP furnaces manufactured/sold by Williams Furnace Co.
(Colton, CA)

Dear Mr. Bulinski:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 10 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 1998 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 10 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Re: Walter Kidde Portable Equipment, Inc., Nighthawk Monitors & Williams Furnace Co.

Dear Sir/Madam:

Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act and the Privacy Act of 1974, and the Consumer Product Safety Commission's ("CPSC") FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, this letter serves as our written request for all manufacturer submissions, complaints, recalls, and other reports, from the period January 1, 1998 through the present, relating to LP furnaces manufactured/sold by Williams Furnace Co., which is located in Colton, CA; and carbon monoxide detectors manufactured/sold by Walter Kiddie Portable Equipment, Inc. of Raleigh, NC (a subsidiary of United Technologies Holding Corporation) and, in particular, carbon monoxide detectors known as "Nighthawk Monitors."

We agree to pay the reasonable retrieval and copying charges associated with this request. Please advise if you anticipate the cost to exceed $250.00. Please feel free to contact me with any questions or concerns, and I thank you for your attention to this matter.

Very truly yours,

Freedom of Information Act Request Letter

May 21, 2010

To: Todd A. Stevenson
Secretary
U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, MD 20814

Dear Mr. Stevenson

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

I request that a copy of documents containing the following information be provided to me:

CPSC documents and correspondence pre-and-post the year 2000 referring to Chinese drywall or defective drywall. That includes internal CPSC documents, internal correspondence, e-mails, phone calls, letters, memos and faxes.

I also request all correspondence between the CPSC and other federal agencies, and state agencies in Florida and Louisiana that refers to Chinese or defective drywall. These agencies would include, but not be limited to, the EPA, the Centers for Disease Control, The Florida and Louisiana state health departments, their state attorney generals, and others. The correspondence I am requesting includes e-mails, phone calls, cell phone calls, letters, memos and faxes.

I also request all correspondence referring to Chinese or defective drywall between the CPSC and:

- Builders of single-family homes and condos that have used the drywall in Florida and Louisiana (eg. Lennar, etc.)
 - Laboratories contracted by these builders to investigate/test possible defective drywall
 - Companies that imported the drywall into the United States (eg. La Suprema Enterprise of Aventura, Fl., and others.)
 - Rothchilt International Limited, based in Taiwan and Hong Kong, a company that exported Knauf Tianjin drywall to the United States
 - Companies that distributed the drywall in Florida and Louisiana.
 - Suppliers of drywall in Florida and Louisiana (eg., Banner Supply and others)
- The correspondence I am asking for includes e-mails, phone calls, cell phone calls, letters, memos and faxes.

In order to help to determine my status to assess fees, you should know that I am a representative of the news media affiliated with The News-Press newspaper in Fort Myers, Fl., and this request is made as part of newsgathering and not for commercial use.

I request a waiver of all fees for this request. Disclosure of the requested information to me is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in my commercial interest.

I request expedited processing of this FOIA request. The defective drywall problem affects thousands of consumers, damaging their homes, health and livelihoods. Their situation is urgent. The highest concentration of affected residents are in Florida and Louisiana. They, and other homeowners across the country want and need to know everything they can about the government's actions and response. The News-Press and its reporters and staff are primarily engaged in disseminating information; delaying a response would hinder this goal and, therefore, would compromise a significant recognized public interest.

I look forward to the CPSC's response to this request.

Attachments: CPSC FOIA REQUEST2.doc

The first FOIA request was submitted Feb. 18.

I first addressed this to Mr. Todd Stevenson but received a return e-mail that he was out of the office. See below. Letter is attached.

Mr. Stevenson,

I'm about to put another FOIA request in to the CPSC, but still need to know about my first request. I received confirmation from the CPSC of receipt of the first request, #10-F-00415, on March 2, but no other word as to status or when I will receive the records, despite numerous requests.

Here is my second request, in the attached word document. I am thinking that the Sarasota Herald-Tribune may have already made a similar request. If so, could you let me know, so that I can help expedite this second request by simply asking for the records the Herald-Tribune asked for? That way you wouldn't have to compile them twice and I could get them faster. If the Herald-Tribune has not asked for anything similar, please accept this as my next FOIA request.

Thank you very much,

Sincerely,

Mary

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-00704: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Ms. Jimenez:

This is in partial response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available. We will contact you as we complete the processing of the remaining records.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to twenty-five product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

Additional records concerning Drywall including the EH&E 51-home test report, and the supporting data are now accessible from the Drywall page on CPSC's website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/info/drywall/index.html>.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Note that some of the American companies and manufacturers that are identified in the reports have commented to the Commission that they manufacture their products in the United States or North America, and do not import or use drywall products from China.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved:

(1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,600 pages X $0.10/page = $160.00;
(2) file searching by professional personnel, 7 hours X $19.60/hour = $137.20; and,
(3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 30 hours X $19.60/hour = $588.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive file search fees, review time fees and $10.00 duplication fees associated with this request.

Forward the total amount due, $150.00, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider a written request for a complete waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest, because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request 10-F-00704: Chinese Drywall, Communications between CPSC and the Chinese government concerning importing and scientific testing of drywall and records concerning CPSC employee travel to drywall plants in China.

Dear Ms. Jiménez:

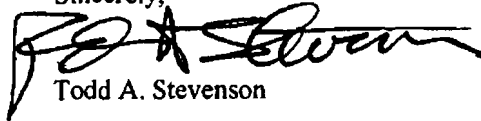

This regards your letter dated June 1, 2010 that seeks a full waiver of any fees that may be incurred in the processing of the referenced Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request to the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission").

In your letter you request a full waiver of the fees by stating that the records are being sought "will contribute significantly to the public understanding of the operations and activities of the government by showing how the CPSC and other federal and state government agencies are monitoring and investigating defective drywall complaints." Your letter states that the information is not freely available to the public and will be released on your website to be read by public. The Commission devotes a section of its website to the drywall investigation, <http://www.cpsc.gov/info/drywall/index.html> where we have released thousands of records and continue to release records weekly. Given that we already release considerable records regarding the drywall investigation, your letter provides no explanation or justification about how the information you are seeking is in the public interest or will contribute significantly to the public understanding of the operations or activities of the government beyond what is already being made available. We, therefore, deny your request for a full waiver of the fees.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9 provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The FOIA regulations and fee schedule allow for the charges for file search time at $12.00 an hour for clerical personnel and $19.60 an hour for professional personnel, $19.60 an hour for review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, and $0.10 a page for duplication services. As a member of the news media, you will receive a partial waiver of the fees. The search and review fees and $10.00 of the duplication services will be waived.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(6) and 1015.7, any denial of a fee waiver request may be appealed to the General Counsel of the Commission within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter. An appeal must be in writing and addressed to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Sincerely,

Dear FOIA officer,

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

On behalf of the Center for Public Integrity, I request that copies of the records containing the information identified and described below be provided to me.

I request that these records, or as many as possible, be produced in an electronic data format such as a spreadsheet, delimited data set, database file or similar electronic data format. I also request any and all documentation related to such electronic records, including but not limited to data dictionaries, database documentation, record layouts, data entry instructions and similar printed or electronic documentation materials.

Records/information requested:

- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting 1876
communications between employees of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and representatives and employees of the Chinese government between January 1st, 2009 and the present, concerning the manufacturing, importing and scientific testing of drywall, including but not limited to memorandums, minutes or notes of meetings both in-person and via conference call, calendars, appointment logs, emails, reports, surveys, and letters.
- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting communications between employees of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and representatives and employees of the Chinese government between January 1st, 2009 and the present, concerning planned or actual travel by CPSC employees to drywall plants in China and/or to meet with Chinese government agencies overseeing drywall production, including but not limited to memorandums, minutes or notes of meetings both in-person and via conference call, calendars, appointment logs, emails, reports, surveys, and letters.
- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting communications between employees of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and representatives of companies located in China that manufacture, sell and/or export drywall between January 1st, 2009 and the present, including but not limited to memorandums, minutes or notes of meetings both in-person and via conference call, calendars appointment logs, emails, reports, surveys, and letters.

- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting recordkeeping, documentation, and databases of complaints, including but not limited to health impacts, property damage, homeowner's insurance made by homeowners regarding U.S.-made or foreign-made drywall in their homes between January 1st, 2008, and the present.
- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting communications between employees of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and employees of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Centers for Disease Control, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry, the National Center for Environmental Health, as well as employees of state governments, regarding drywall complaints, investigations of defective production and testing of synthetic gypsum and its production, and any testing of synthetic gypsum between January 1st, 2009 to the present.
- All records in your custody or under your control reflecting internal communications among employees of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and/or communications with employees of state governments, regarding drywall complaints, investigations of defective production and testing of mined gypsum and its production, and any testing of mined gypsum between January 1st, 2009 to the present.
- All supporting documents related to federal and state investigations of defective drywall, including Chinese-made and U-S made.

Please respond within 20 working days, as the Act provides.

If you decide to withhold an exempt portion of any record, please release all other segregable parts. If you withhold any record or portion of a record, please specify which statutory exemptions are claimed for each withholding. Please separately state your reasons for not invoking your discretion, as the Act allows, to release the requested information. Please describe each record withheld, including its date and size (e.g., amount of electronic memory or number of paper pages).

If there are search, review, or duplication fees greater than $25, inform me before you fill the request. But first please consider the Center's requests for fee reduction and fee waiver:

Request for fee reduction as a representative of the news media

The Center for Public Integrity is a 501(c) (3) tax-exempt charity and a news media organization, and therefore this request should be exempt from all fees for search and review.

This request is being made in connection with the Center's newsgathering functions and not for any other commercial purpose. The Center intends to incorporate analysis of the requested information into one or more investigative reports.

In the past, federal agencies, including the Department of State, the Central Intelligence Agency, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Defense, among others, have exempted the Center from search and review fees as a representative of the news media. The only federal court to consider the issue has also held that the Center "is entitled to treatment as a representative of the news media for purposes of FOIA." Center for Public Integrity v. HHS, No. 06-1818 (D.D.C. Aug. 3, 2007).

Request for fee waiver

In addition, I request a waiver of all duplication fees for this request as permitted under the Act. Disclosure of the requested information to the Center is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government by showing how the CPSC and other federal and state government agencies are monitoring and investigating defective drywall complaints.

The Center for Public Integrity is a nonprofit, nonpartisan, tax-exempt organization that conducts investigative research and reporting on public policy issues in the United States and around the world. The International Consortium of Investigative Journalists was created in 1997 as a project of the Center for Public Integrity. For more information on the Center for Public Integrity and ICIJ please refer to <http://www.publicintegrity.org> and <http://www.icij.org>.

In reference to our request I am providing the following information addressing the six factors listed in the Department of Justice's FOIA Guide (March 2007): Fees and Fee Waivers, as found online at http://www.usdoj.gov/oip/foia_guide07/fees_feewaivers.pdf.

1) The subject matter of the requested records concerns the "operations or activities of the government," specifically of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, U.S. Centers for Disease Control, Consumer Product Safety Commission, the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, the Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry, and the National Center for Environmental Health.

2) Release of the requested information "is likely to contribute" to the understanding of your agency by the public. Our research will be advanced by the release of the requested information. Prior to any action on this FOIA request, this information is not freely available to the public.

3) and 4) Due to the nature of our organization, the disclosure under our FOIA request will “contribute to the understanding of the public at large” and “contribute ‘significantly’ to public understanding of government operations or activities.” Our reports based on the released information will be posted on our Web site, www.publicintegrity.org, and will be read by tens of thousands of people worldwide. We expect the information produced through this and other FOIA requests to serve as the basis for one or more articles or investigative reports that explain the actions and operations of government to the general public.

5) and 6) The disclosures we request under the Freedom of Information Act primarily serve the public interest and not any commercial interest. As stated above, the Center for Public Integrity is a 501(c)(3) tax-exempt charity, and the requested information will be used only in connection with the Center’s newsgathering functions.

Thank you for your attention to this request.

Dear FOIA officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request all complaints about diapers (NEISS product code 1512) from Jan. 1, 2009 to the present. I also request all CPSC investigation files complaints about diapers from Jan. 1 2009 to the present.

Please waive any applicable fees. Release of the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to the potential health risks from diapers, specifically those involved in the investigation into Pampers, manufactured by Procter and Gamble. If you are unable to waive fees, I ask that you provide me an itemized bill and cost estimate before incurring any expense.

I also ask that you expedite my request, because of the urgent nature of the issue.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees. If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act.

Thank you for your assistance, and please be in touch if there is anything I can do to clarify this document request.

Subject: Unsafe Kenmore (Sear's brand) 30" slide-in stove, which spontaneously caught fire Model 790. Replaced with identical model 790.4693503 Serial NF71107256

Dear Official:

I believe that Sears Holdings has been evasive in their answers to the Washington Attorney General office in regard to this matter. See enclosed letters.

Would you as a federal agency have more power to have Sears answer the questions that I believe they tapped dance around without addressing my questions and issues?

If you respond, please do so by reference to the numbered paragraphs below so that every party will know which points you are addressing.

1. Issue #1 What makes my stove different from the stoves Sears recalled? Sears has not answered this central question.
2. I assert that my stove is identical to the stove recalled by Sears in the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission Release #09-333 dated August 27; 2009. They are identical for four reasons. First, the stoves look identical. Second, their internal construction is the same. Third, the parts are identical. Fourth, they both turn on and turn off the same way. To turn on the stoves' burners is a two-step process. First you have to depress the knob. Second, you have to turn the knob. These steps must be done in sequence. Each step takes conscious effort. Fourth and a new disclosure by Sears on 02/09/10 my stove and the stoves recalled by Sears were made by the same company.
3. Issue #2 What did Sears know about all their defective stoves and when did Sears know it? Has Sears ever told you or any other agency when they discovered they were selling defective stoves? Has Sears ever told you or any other agency how many defective stoves did they sell? Whom did Sears that notify they had sold defective stoves? Did Sears ever notify told you or any other agency of the above? If so when were the disclosure made?
4. Why did Sears limit their recall to certain serial numbers? Did Sears ever do any product testing of other stoves for safety after finding out they had sold defective, unsafe stoves? Did they change their manufacturing process or product after the recalled serial numbers were produced?
5. It appears to me that Sears would have no basis to change their manufacturing process or product until AFTER they discovered that the stoves were unsafe which was according to the recall August 2009. August 2009 is two years and eight months after my stove was sold. Has Sears ever told you or any other

5565 E. Evergreen Blvd, #3309
Vancouver, WA 98661

agency when they changed their manufacturing process or product in order to sell a safe stove?

6. Issue #3 Has Sears provide timely and full disclosure to you or any other agency? Is Sears's behavior like that of Toyota?
7. Issue#4 When does the statue of limitations begin in Washington? Is it from the date of the fire or when Sears made public their recall of unsafe stoves or when I discovered Sears had recalled as unsafe a stove that is identical to mine or when I had the fire?
8. Only by chance did I find out that Sears was recalling an identical stove two years and 11 months after my loss due to the defective fire. My son noticed the recall notice posted at the Vancouver, Washington Sears store the weekend of 11/28-11/29/09. The recall notice was posted at the small out-of-the-way merchandise pick-up area. Yet, Sears recalled this stove August 27, 2009. See U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission Release #09-333 dated August 27, 2009.
9. If the date of loss is used to start the statue of limitations then Sears can avoid any responsibility for any unsafe product by waiting until long after all losses to recall unsafe products. I doubt that this was the legislative intent of the recall laws.
10. If the recall date is used then this is two years and eight months after my loss. Using a recall date instead of the date I discovered Sears had recall the stoves denies simple fairness, justice and equal protection under the law. If the recall date had been after 12/30/09 then Sears could escape all responsibility for selling a defective product by delaying the recall for three years after my loss.
11. I only found out about Sear's recalling a very similar stove to my stove on Monday 12/01/09. Previously I attempted to find out if my Kenmore model had been subject to a re-call. I emailed the federal CPSC on 01/19/07.
12. On Thursday 12/04/09 I went to the local Sear's store in Vancouver, WA to inquire about my stove recall. I found out that the salesman who sold me the stove in October 2006 and its identical replacement in 2007 is no longer with Sears.
13. In 2007 while shopping for a replacement to the burnt stove, I told the salesman who sold me the first stove in 2006 about the fire at my condominium on 12/30/06. I told the salesman the following. The smoke alarm was working. My son had just replaced the battery. The smoke alarm was heard a neighbor who lives on the second floor (Mrs. Irene) who told my neighbor across the hall (Mr. Gilbertson) who called 911 about 6:30pm. The Vancouver Fire Department responded at 6:33pm.
14. In 2007, I told the salesman who sold me the first stove in 2006 that starting around 4 pm, my son made two trips to unload items into the condo. He unloaded the first load then went back for a second. On the first trip, he put Xmas gifts on the stove. On the second trip, he put the empty cooler in the panty. You must pass by the stove to get the panty. There is plenty of room to walk by the stove without touching it.
15. My son stayed in the condominium fixing my computer and its Internet connection for an hour to an hour and a half after taking his second load thru the

Re: Gene E. A. Johnson
File No.: 355006

Dear Mr. McAdams:

Per our conversation last week, please allow this correspondence to serve as the response of Sears Holdings Corporation ("SHC") to the issues raised by Mr. Gene E. A. Johnson in his correspondence directed to Berta Dowden, Complaint Analyst, Washington State Office of the Attorney General, dated February 22, 2010.

At the outset, for various reasons, I cannot, and will not, address Mr. Johnson's alleged facts regarding a fire on or about December 30, 2006, Mr. Johnson's alleged facts regarding a telephone conversation that he had with Justin Camera of Sedgwick Claims Management Service, Inc. (SHC's Third Party Claims Administrator), and the law on statute of limitations in the State of Washington. Instead, I will focus on Mr. Johnson's range and the recall process.

On August 27, 2009, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC") announced a recall involving "Certain Frigidaire and Kenmore Elite Smoothtop Electric Ranges". (emphasis added.) The CPSC press release identified four (4) models of Kenmore Elite ranges that were subject to the recall: 790.99012, 790.99013, 790.99014, and 790.99019. The model range that Mr. Johnson represents that he purchased from Sears, model number 790.4693503, was not subject to the recall. The model range that SHC shows was purchased by Mr. Johnson, model number 790.46593500, was also not subject to the recall.

Appliance manufacturers make various models of the same appliance. Models have different features and/or different components. The fact that a manufacturer recalls one model of a product does not mean that all models are subject to the recall. Moreover, CPSC identifies the serial number range in a recall in those cases where all units of the same model number are not subject to the recall. For example, if a manufacturer discovered that there was an issue on a certain day of production that caused a potential safety issue, the manufacturer would recall those units manufactured on that particular day. The manufacturer would not recall all units of that particular model number. Thus, the fact that Mr. Johnson's range may look similar to the ranges recalled by Frigidaire does not mean that his range should have been recalled.

Prior to the announcement of a recall, the manufacturer works closely with CPSC to identify the scope of the recall and the terms of the recall. CPSC Compliance Officers work to ensure that all affected units will be covered by the recall. CPSC Compliance Officers also work to ensure that consumers obtain an appropriate and safe remedy. Finally, CPSC Compliance Officers work to ensure that the public is advised of a product safety issue in a timely manner.

When a product recall is announced, SHC takes various steps to notify its customers about the recall. For all recalls involving products sold in stores, SHC has its stores post the recall notice in the store. SHC also posts a link to the CPSC press release on its websites. For recalls involving products captured in SHC's database, SHC sends a notice via first class mail to its customers and/or forwards an e-mail to its customers to advise of the recall. SHC also attempts to contact via telephone those customers who have not responded to a recall notice and have not scheduled a service call for the free repair on their product.

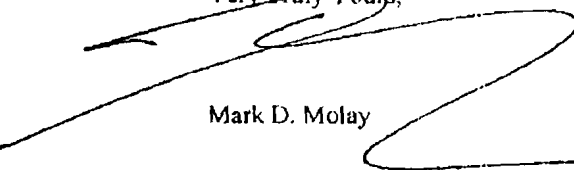

SHC takes product safety very seriously. SHC has a Product Safety Office to address possible product safety issues. SHC was the second retailer to join CPSC's Retailer Reporting program. SHC enjoys a close working relationship with CPSC because both parties recognize the value of the other one in addressing possible product safety issues.

Mr. Johnson's purchase history for his range is captured within SHC's system. Due to the fact that Mr. Johnson did not purchase a range and did not receive a replacement range that was the subject of the recall announced by CPSC on August 27, 2009, Mr. Johnson would not have received a notice regarding the recall.

Mr. Johnson alleges that his range caused a fire in his residence and that the unit turned on by itself. Mr. Johnson also alleges that his son put Christmas presents on the stove, but that his son did not turn on the stove. However, Mr. Johnson has not shown anything, and has not provided any evidence, to support his claims. Moreover, Mr. Johnson did not allow anyone to inspect the range at issue. For these reasons, Sedgwick denied Mr. Johnson's claim. Based upon the facts, there is no basis for SHC to honor Mr. Johnson's claim.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Very Truly Yours,

Mark D. Molay

Dear Mr. Galbreath:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 10 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. Subject: Request for swimming and wading pool data.

ERC

Milwaukee County performed swimming pool and wading pool inspections with the City of Milwaukee in October of 2009. During the inspections, the City collected detailed data about our ~~pool~~ recirculation systems. We are currently preparing plan applications to the State of Wisconsin for new outlet covers at 34 wading pools. We would like to verify the pump data collected by the City during these October inspections. We have already requested the information from City of Milwaukee, but they directed us to make this request to the CPSC under the FOIA.

Please send us the electronic data submitted to the CPSC by the City of Milwaukee for all Milwaukee County pools. If you have any questions, you may call or email me.

Dear Ms. Mills:

I am a representative of Louisville Ladder Inc. ("Louisville Ladder") d/b/a Davidson Ladder ("Davidson"). Specifically, I am the Director of Product Safety and Engineering. In furtherance of that role, I would like to request copies of two older CPSC Recall Files involving two of my company's products. I have been advised by John C. Celeste, one of the attorneys at Miles & Stockbridge P.C. representing Louisville Ladder, that the fastest way to obtain these Recall Files relating to my company's products would be to submit a Freedom of Information Act Request directly to you. Accordingly, please consider this correspondence to be a request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, et seq., for copies of the following CPSC Recall Files:

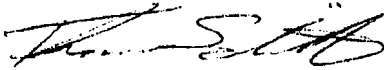

- Release 98-132 – CPSC File RP980154 (Davidson Ladder – Attic Stairways)
- Release 99-169 – CPSC File RP990218 (Louisville Ladder – RIGID® Stepladders)

10-F-00608

If you could kindly forward copies of these Recall Files to my above-listed address as soon as possible, it would be greatly appreciated. Louisville Ladder will of course be glad to reimburse the Commission for the cost of copying these documents.

Thank you for your assistance with this matter. If you have any questions or require any additional information, please do not hesitate to contact me, or my attorney, John C. Celeste.

Very truly yours,

I bought cement from a local company because I was making a driveway. The company failed to let me know that the cement had a mix of compounds, they call it fibermesh inforc. mix cement. I did not know this at the time. At the end of the cement pouring I put my bare hands in to finish the small holes and smooth the cement slab. i got some small cuts on my fingers and ever since my fingers have not healed. I had my hands in the cement for no more than 15 minutes, then I went inside and washed up, the company cement driver did not advise me of the cements compounds nor did the company when I purchased it at the time. Time went by and the cuts on my fingers healed then in the same spots my fingers ruptured again. I thought with time my wounds would heal, two and a half years later and a couple of dermatology doctors later my fingers have not healed. I drove to see a doctor from OHSU and he asked me to call the company and ask for the MSDS form of this type of cement. My wife and I called several times but with no luck but a lot of run arounds.

Now going on three years and now I'm seeing a doctor from Richland WA. and still looking for a cure. it's been almost 3 years and my doctor have asked for a MSDS form and the company gives me the run around about the form. i have not received any forms yet. My question is is there federal laws or other state laws that can help me in my case/pain.

Re: FOIA REQUEST - Fee waiver requested

Dear FOIA Officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, ProPublica and the Sarasota-Herald Tribune request the following:

Any and all correspondence between any Consumer Product Safety Commission employee and any employee of the Florida Department of Health regarding defective drywall (whether Chinese or American) that took place from January 1, 2008 to the present time. Please include, but do not limit your response to emails, phone calls, formal correspondence, audiotapes, videotapes, photographs, and back-up tapes. We are also requesting any telephone messages, voice mail messages, daily agenda and calendars, information about scheduled meetings and/or discussions, whether in-person or over the telephone, agendas for those meetings and/or discussions, participants included in those meetings and/or discussions, minutes of any such meetings and/or discussions, the topics discussed at those meetings and/or discussions, e-mail regarding meetings and/or discussions, e-mail or facsimiles sent as a result of those meetings and/or discussions, and transcripts and notes of any such meetings and/or discussions to the extent they relate to the aforementioned requested information.

We'd prefer to receive the bulk of this information in electronic format, if available. If not, as representatives of the news media we are only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, we are gathering information on communications of current interest to the public because that will contribute to the historical record. This information is being sought on behalf of ProPublica and the Sarasota-Herald Tribune for a collaborative news article that will be widely disseminated to the general public. Please waive any applicable fees, given my status as a member of the news media.

If our request is denied in whole or part, we ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. We will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. We, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As we are making these requests as journalists and this information is of timely value, we would appreciate your communicating with either of us by telephone or email at: Joaquin.Sapien@ProPublica.org or Aaron.Kessler@heraldtribune.com if you have questions regarding this request.

We look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Subject: U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) Request #10-F-00509

Mr. Boren,

Thank you for submitting a Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC). The FOIA Office has not received material from the Commission's Program Office(s) to begin processing request 10-F-00509. The FOIA Office will begin to process the material for your request upon its receipt. Follow up with us in a week or so to see if the Program Office(s) have replied to our request for material.

It may be at minimum 30 days before any disclosable material is released. The CPSC statutes require that we notify the manufacturer of the product(s), if they are identified in the material and have not been previously notified or have requested to be notified again. To help you understand the statutes, perhaps you should read the Commission's regulations regarding the release of information for FOIA and the Consumer Product Safety Act Section 6(b) regulations. This information was mentioned in the acknowledgement letter and can be found at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/CPSA6b1.pdf> and <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/CPSA6bFactSheet.pdf>.

If we need to contact the manufacturer then the manufacturer will have 20 days to review the material and respond to our notice. We will review the manufacturer's comments and notify them a second time stating if we agree or disagree with their assessment regarding the disclosure of the material. The manufacturer has 10 days to respond to the notice. Otherwise, the material will be prepared and released when it is received in the FOIA Office according to CPSC 6(a)(1) and/or 6(b)(2) and FOIA regulations.

Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127, telephone (301) 504-7923 or via e-mail addressed to cpsc-foia@cpsc.gov. Please reference your request tracking number in your communication with the Commission FOIA Office.

Subject: FOIA Request - Virginia Graeme Baker Pool & Spa Safety Act

Dear FOIA Officer,

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of pool inspection, compliance and complaint records filed with the Consumer Product Safety Commission - involving pool and spa facilities in the state of Indiana. I'd like the following records for the time December 1, 2008-present:

*Specifically, but not limited to, any inspection or complaint regarding the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act.

*Any correspondence with a pool or pool owner in violation of the Act

*Any correspondence involving enforcement of the Act

*Any records of general pool complaints and follow-up responses during that same time period

If possible, please send the documents to me electronically. If you need to mail copies, please notify me of any cost associated with my request once you identify the documents - and let me know the cost before proceeding. If the records are mailed, my address is below.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

Thank you for your assistance.

Sportime Recalls Children's Floor Hockey Sets Due to Lead Paint Hazard

Name of Product: BigBox Hockey Sets

Units: About 580

Importer: Sportime, of Norcross, Ga.

Hazard: The surface coating on the boards, which are assembled together to form the floor hockey playing-field, contain excessive levels of lead violating the federal lead paint standard.

Incidents/Injuries: None reported.

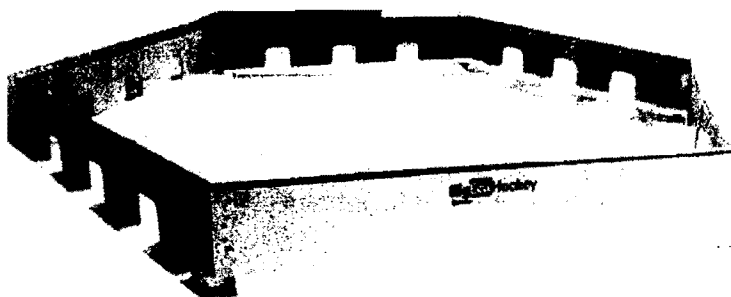

Description and Models: This recall involves all sets of BigBox Hockey, each consisting of six boards, measuring 6' long by 10" tall. The boards come in six colors: red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet. The boards can be assembled together to create a contained playing area for children's floor hockey.

Sold through: Sportime's catalog and online at www.sportime.com from November 2006 through October 2009 for between $147 and $269.

Manufactured in: China

Remedy: Consumers should immediately take the recalled product away from children and contact Sportime to obtain a full refund.

Consumer Contact: For additional information, contact Sportime toll-free at (888) 388-3224 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. ET Monday through Friday or visit the firm's Web site at www.schoolspecialty.com

CPSC is still interested in receiving incident or injury reports that are either directly related to this product recall or involve a different hazard with the same product. Please tell us about it by visiting <https://www.cpsc.gov/cgibin/incident.aspx>

Client: Lindeza International Limited

Our File No.: 51993

Dear Sir or Madam:

We represent Lindeza International Limited which has authorized us to file this Freedom of Information Act Request ("FOIA") on its behalf. This FOIA request is for certain records and materials in the possession of the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("USPC").

This letter constitutes a request for records made under the Freedom of Information Act, Title 5, U.S.C. § 552(a)(3) and is made pursuant to the U.S. Department of Commerce Regulations contained in Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 4, as directed by Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 4.3.

The purpose of this request is to obtain records of information pertaining to recommended changes, testing and data regarding the CPSC technical staff review of Standard for Transient Voltage Surge Suppressors, UL 1449 for the period of January 1, 1997 to September 1, 2002. For your convenience, please see the attached letter. UL is not a party to any law suit nor will its interests be affected by this request.

Pursuant to Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 4, we hereby state that we are willing to pay an amount sufficient to cover the necessary search fee, even if the estimated search fee will exceed $100 up to an amount not exceeding $500. The requestor recognizes and acknowledges that we will be required to pay a fee for the copying of any records identified in accordance with the fee schedule contained in section 4.11(c)(4) of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

To further expedite the processing of this request, this request should be interpreted to apply only to records that are now in the possession of Underwriters and not to include any records that have been placed for storage with the National Archives or GSA. Further, this request for records should be interpreted as to exclude any information properly categorized as Classified National Security Information or any information properly protected by the Privacy Act and the requestor agrees in advance to the deletion of such protected information, including, but not limited to, home addresses of personnel, classified information, proprietary information, and the contents of personnel files.

The request for records contained herein as enumerated should be considered severable. Should the determination be made under Section 4.6(c) of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations that unusual circumstances exist which would justify and extension of the date when such a determination should be made with regard to any specific request enumerated herein, the expedited processing of a response to those requests for records in which no unusual circumstances exist should be continued and processed within the time periods provided under Section 4.6(b) of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

The records being requested pursuant to Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 4.6(c), pertain to the Underwriters records are one clear and legible copy and one Certified Blue Ribbon Copy of:

- (1) Any records gathered or utilized by the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission relative to documents enclosed in the attached letter dated November 12, 2002, to-wit:

Attachment A – In Depth Investigation Reports

Attachment C – PSA No. 0354.02

In other words, this request seeks to obtain the above enclosures to the December 12, 2002 letter that we have attached for your reference.

Thank you very much for your cooperation and assistance in this matter. Should you have any questions or concerns regarding this request for records, or if our request for records is unclear or ambiguous in any manner, do not hesitate to call the undersigned at any time in order to clarify our request and to achieve the necessary specificity that is required to facilitate your handling of our request. Please do not delay in the processing of this request through inquiry by correspondence.

Subject: Proposed changes to requirements in UL 1449 – Standard for Transient Voltage Surge Suppressors

Dear Mr. Hallerberg:

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) staff recently completed a review of incidents associated with power strips with surge suppression components (subsequently referred to as surge suppressors). We would like to take this opportunity to share our findings with Underwriters Laboratories Inc. (UL) and recommend that you consider changes to the Standard for Transient Voltage Surge Suppressors, UL 1449, to increase the effectiveness of selected provisions of this standard.

CPSC technical staff reviewed 74 in-depth investigation reports (IDIs) on surge suppressor-related incidents that CPSC Field staff investigated between January 1, 1997 and September 1, 2002. Most of these incidents were investigated because of a fire or potential fire. Copies of the IDIs are enclosed for your review (Attachment A).

CPSC technical staff also conducted 39 technical evaluations of surge suppressors that were collected from incidents that occurred between January 1, 1997 and September 1, 2002. In 25 of the 39 incidents, it was reported that internal failure within the surge suppressor resulted in fire that penetrated the product enclosure. A fire that breaches the enclosure presents a risk of fire propagation. Technical analysis showed that 16 of these 25 incidents were associated with overheating of the printed circuit board or internal wiring system. Nine of the 25 were attributed to the metal oxide varistor (MOV) failing. Some of the incidents associated with an MOV failure involved units manufactured after February 1998, when new requirements for fusing and thermal protection became effective. CPSC technical staff recommends that a new requirement, such as the addition of a barrier, be added to UL 1449 to address fire propagation with an MOV failure. (Examples of assessments conducted in which the failure resulted in overheating that penetrated the product enclosure are enclosed as Attachment B).

Among the 39 incidents reviewed was one in which a screw intended to use for mounting a surge suppressor fell inside the unit (see Attachment C); the product was listed to the applicable standard. According to the IDI, the mounting screw fell inside the unit while the consumer was attempting to mount the surge suppressor on a tabletop. As a result, the screw caused arcing and became welded to the MOV ground lead between the line-ground connection. Although this incident resulted in tripping of the branch circuit breaker, potentially hazardous arcing that could lead to fire is possible if the circuit breaker does not trip, perhaps due to a high-impedance fault or low short-circuit current availability. CPSC staff recommends that a requirement be included in the standard that will prevent mounting hardware from falling through the mounting slots.

Thank you for the opportunity to make these recommendations. Please feel free to contact me for further discussions. The views expressed in this letter are those of the staff and have not been reviewed or considered by the Commission.

Sincerely,

Sheela Kadambi

RE: Freedom of Information Request #10-F-00451; SUBPOENA ~ Norris v. Battat, Case No. VC 054528. This firm represents the family of a woman who died from carbon monoxide poisoning. The source of the carbon monoxide was a wall furnace in a residence. We request the In Depth Investigation Files for the In-Scope In-Depth Investigation Task Numbers identified in Appendix A to the CSPC Memorandum dated 9/12/2002. Subject: "In-Depth Investigation of Carbon Monoxide (CO) Incidents Associated with 'Modern' Gas Fired Furnaces" attached to this letter as Exhibit 1. Any Documents related to any complaints and/or injuries involving the Battat Magnabild Magnetic Building Systems. Also, any documents related to the investigation of the safety of the Battat Magnabild Magnetic Building Systems.

Dear Mr. Carpenter:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (Commission). The enclosed records constitute a partial response to your request.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic (In-Depth) Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems, the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are copies of several reports, meeting summaries between Commission staff and industry, and other Commission documents pertaining to gas furnaces and carbon monoxide poisoning.

You will note that information in the documents disclosed that could identify injured parties and persons treating them has been deleted pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of such identities without the consent from the individuals.

FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel, medical and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA exemptions to disclosure.

Additional information is still being processed for your request. Please be assured that all releasable information will be made available to you as quickly as possible. Should you have any questions, contact us by letter, facsimile (301) 504-0127 or telephone (301) 504-7923 or e-mail addressed to cpssc-foia@cpssc.gov.

RE: FOIA Request -- Information on Wall Furnaces and related gas appliances

To whom it may concern:

This firm represents the family of a woman that died from carbon monoxide poisoning. The source of the carbon monoxide was a wall furnace in a residence located in Albuquerque, New Mexico. The wall furnace was sold and installed by Sears and was manufactured in July 1985 by Heil-Quaker Corporation, now a part of International Comfort Products Corporation (ICP). It appears that the carbon monoxide exposure resulted from CO production because the orifice and burner adjustment was not suitable for higher altitude of 5500 feet at the residence. The carbon monoxide was then allowed to escape in the sleeping area because the draft hood was attached to the heat exchanger by a single screw which was in the path of caustic combustion gases. Over a period of time the draft hood migrated to the point that the hood became separated from the heat exchanger. It appears from some of the in depth investigation reports that this situation may have been encountered by the commission in the past on both wall furnaces as well as other types of gas burning appliance. The applicable standard at time of manufacturer was ANSI Z21.49-1982 Gas - Fired Gravity and Fan Type Vented Wall Furnaces.

RE: FOIA Request for hunting tree stand and related information

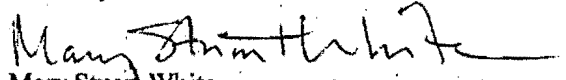

Dear Sir/Madam:

Pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. § 552 (2005), we request any and all information in the possession of the CPSC relating to hunting tree stands and hunting accessories relating to full body harnesses and/or fall arrest systems. In particular, we request the following:

1. All correspondence or e-mail communications or other reports/records/documents from the Treestand Manufacturers Association from 2003 through the present and relating to any issue regarding fall protection from treestands. A7
2. All correspondence or e-mail communications or other reports/records/documents from ASTM from 2003 to the present and relating to any issue regarding fall protection from treestands. copy
3. Any documents or records relating to the TMA fall extraction committee findings/report of March 2001 and discussed in the attached e-mail of August 26, 2003 e-mail from John Woller, Sr.. [Exhibit A]
4. Any documents, records, correspondence, e-mail, or reply from ASTM regarding the CPSC recommendations contained in the attached CPSC March 19 2004 letter to James Olshefsky [Exhibit B]
5. All correspondence, e-mail communication, records, documents, reports or other information from TMA, ASTM or any other source relating to the CPSC recommendation that load testing/standards/requirements for tree stands include dynamic loads to simulate realistic use conditions when a user is entering, exiting, ascending or descending a tree stand; or otherwise moving about on the tree stand.
6. Any documents, records, reports, correspondence, investigations, recommendations, engineering analyses, or other records relating to consideration of the safety of the methods of attachment of tree stands to trees to prevent or minimize collapse of the tree stand in use.

Thank you in advance for your attention to this request and prompt reply.

Sincerely,

Mary Stuart White

Subject: Response to CPSC Comments to Letter Ballot F08.16 (03-01) Item 1

Mr. DeWane Ray August 26, 2003

Project Manager

Engineering Sciences Directorate

CPSC

DeWane:

Per our conversation this AM please consider the following as response to your 7/31 letter to Jim Olshefsky at ASTM. This reiterates most of the thoughts already sent to the TMA Board and you on 8/25. ASTM requires that all comments to proposed standards be addressed. (Also, as I explained, there were 7 incident reports attached with your letter rather than the 5 cited. Two were short one-page reports that had minimal data).

This proposed ASTM standard adopted by the TMA is a test method to determine the load capacities by measuring the maximum arrest force and dynamic strength of components or sub systems. It does not purport to address all of the safety concerns, if any, associated with its use. The pass/fail criteria are given to assure the product will function for its intended use i.e., safely arrest the users fall from a treestand.

There are no specifications in the current standard because it is a test method. For compliance to this standard, manufacturers must design, analyze and identify the material and construction specifications necessary to meet the pass/fail criteria of this test method. Specifications in general, and especially one to ensure that a user can escape, are beyond the scope of this test method standard.

In other applications involving the use of full body harnesses such as commercial, industrial, mountain climbing, etc. there are no known specifications for escape. (Users are predominantly in contact with rescue personnel.) Since treestand users are alone, cutting straps or otherwise attempting to escape can lead to either 1) a fall resulting in serious injury or death or, 2) entanglement and strangulation or asphyxiation death from the remaining support straps (as shown in the CPSC incident reports sent).

In March of 2001 a special Treestand Manufacturer's Association (TMA) fall extraction committee composed of two harness manufacturers, a prominent hunter/writer (PhD) and the National Bowhunting Education Foundation (NBEF) Director released their findings concerning harness self-extraction. The Extraction Committee decided NOT to include any examples or other extraction explanation because:

- a. Difficulty of trying to include all extraction procedures for every "situation"
- b. Difficulty of explaining when and how to use any one extraction procedure
- c. Potential of increasing their (NBEF and TMA Manufacturers) exposure to liability is ever present.

From this decision the NBEF concluded to use the disclaimer in their "Safe Treestand Hunting" video: It is the user's responsibility to follow the manufacturer's directions, use the stand as it was designed and to always wear a properly fitted fall restraint system from the point of leaving the ground to returning again to the ground.

There were three major premises leading to the Fall Extraction Committee's conclusion:

1. The single most prevalent reason for falls to occur is due diligence by the user. Other reasons are a lack of knowledge of a specific product (users not following manufacturers instructions) or (least common and rare) they occur from equipment malfunction. Falls ONLY occur because the users do

re: F08.16 Standards Development

Dear Mr. Olshefsky:

The U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission staff has reviewed a available incident data pertaining to injuries and deaths associated with hunting tree stands and has the following comments and recommendations for consideration by the ASTM F08.16 subcommittee. Please note that these comments have not been reviewed or approved by, and may not necessarily reflect the views of, the Commission.

Our incident data review shows that most injuries and deaths involving tree stands are due to hunters falling out of the tree stand. In addition, staff is aware of one death associated with a full body harness. Staff also reviewed the following ASTM standards to determine the safety requirements and criteria that are related to the structure and use of tree stands and their components: F 2120, F 2122, F 2124, F 2125, F 2126, F 2127, F 2128 and F 2337.

The available data often lack sufficient details to determine the exact cause of an incident. However, based on engineering and human factors judgment applied to what we could learn from the incident data and the standards, CPSC staff recommends that the F08.16 subcommittee assign task groups to work on the following:

- Investigate self-rescue from a full body harness in the event of a fall and suspension.
- Determine whether ASTM F2337 should apply to aftermarket safety harnesses marketed for use with tree stands.
- Consider load requirements to include dynamic loads to simulate realistic use conditions when a user is entering, exiting, ascending or descending a tree stand.
- Consider load requirements for ladder stands to apply along the length of the ladder and not just at the top, since the load varies as the user ascends or descends the ladder.
- Consider load requirements for fabric seats.

Re: Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") Request

Dear Mr. Stevenson;

We hereby request, under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. § 552) and the Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC") Freedom of Information regulations (16 C.F.R. Part 1015), any and all data, reports, and summaries of testing for cadmium in jewelry, including the protocols used in such tests.

In order to facilitate the CPSC's response to this request, we agree that any reference to individual company information should be redacted. We agree to pay reasonable search and reproduction costs not to exceed $250.00. Please do not hesitate to contact me in the event the fee estimate exceeds this limit or if you have any questions regarding this request.

Sincerely,

Sheila A. Millar

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00381: Infantino SlingRider Infant Carrier, manufactured by Infantino, LLC ~ Any and all accident or injury reports related to this product.

Dear Mr. Hageman:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

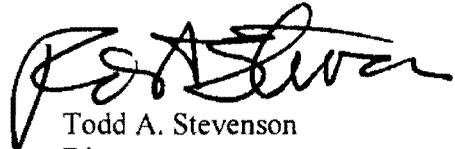

We searched our files from calendar year 2003 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Re: Freedom of Information Request

Dear Sir or Madam:

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 552(a) and 16 C.F.R. § 1015.3, we are requesting all documentation and/or information (from 01/01/2003 to the present) regarding the Infantino SlingRider Infant Carrier, manufactured by Infantino LLC, of San Diego, CA. We are especially interested in any and all accident or injury reports related to this product, as well as any information regarding litigation related to this product. We are investigating an incident in which a three-month old baby suffocated while being carried in this product.

Should you have any questions or concerns regarding the above request, please feel free to contact me. Thank you for your attention to this request.

NAME OF REQUESTER: Shawn M. Foucher

COMPANY: Sandusky Register

ADDRESS: 314 W. Market Street, Sandusky, Ohio, 44870

PHONE: 419-609-5849

NATURE OF REQUEST:

I am writing to request any inspection reports the CPSC may have on file in regards to any pool inspections conducted at Kalahari Resort in Sandusky, Ohio.

The inspections would have been conducted at random, or spot checks, in relation to federal legislation (Virginia Graeme Baker Act), and they would have been conducted by CPSC inspectors.

I am requesting inspection records on any and all pools that were inspected at Kalahari Resort. (The address is 7000 Kalahari Drive, Sandusky, Ohio, 44870) ...

Please include any and all documents that accompany the inspection reports. This would be any Kalahari pools inspected since the VGB act was approved as legislation.

If there were no pools inspected -- and no records exist because there were no pools inspected -- please notify me if this is the case.

Sincerely,
Shawn Foucher

Dear Sir or Madam:

This is a request for records under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act.

I seek copies of all requests submitted under the Freedom of Information Act to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission by the New York Times or the Associated Press, or persons claiming to represent or work for the New York Times or the Associated Press, between January 1, 2005 and January 13, 2010.

Media

I also seek any subsequent correspondence, electronic or otherwise, between the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission and representatives of the New York Times or the Associated Press relating to the aforementioned requests, including but not limited to any letters of acknowledgement, denials, appeals, requests for clarification, status updates, and letters submitted to the requester with responsive documents.

Alberta complex

I do not seek copies of the responsive documents furnished in association with the aforementioned requests: The scope of this request is limited only to correspondence associated with the requests between your FOIA officers and New York Times or Associated Press reporters.

In other words, if your agency granted a request to a New York Times reporter consisting of 100 pages of responsive records, and furnished those records to the reporter along with a three-page cover letter granting the request and outlining the rationale for redactions, I request the three-page cover letter (as well as any other correspondence related to the request) but not the 100 pages of responsive documents furnished in response to the request.

In order to help determine my status to assess fees, you should know that I am a journalist working as a reporter for Gawker Media, an online news organization that serves roughly 25 million visitors each month. This request is made as apart of a newsgathering effort and not for commercial use, and I am therefore eligible for a waiver of fees associated with the time spent to review responsive documents. I am also willing to pay fees for this request up to $100. If you estimate that the fees will exceed this limit, please notify me first.

To the extent possible, please furnish all responsive records in electronic format.

Please direct all correspondence regarding this request to me at john@gawker.com or my physical address at 528 16th St., Brooklyn NY 11215, or call me at (773) 919-3832 with any questions.

Thank you for your attention to this request.

RE: FOIA Request #10-F-00170: Request any records related to your agency's compliance with 5 U.S.C. 2302(c) by which its head is required to "prevent prohibited personnel practices (PPP's)." PPP are agency violations of the "merit principles" of the federal service. Such records would include records documenting the delegation of this authority and evaluations of your agency's performance of this duty.

Dear Mr. Carson:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sir,

Per the FOIA law and your agency regulation, I request any records related to your agency's compliance with 5 U.S.C. 2302(c) by which its head is required to "prevent prohibited personnel practices (PPP's)." Prohibited Personnel Practices are agency violations of the "merit principles" of the federal civil service - the bedrock of the civil service - detailed at 5 U.S.C. 2301. The various types of PPP's are detailed at 5 U.S.C. 2302. This section law states (emphasis added):

(c) The head of each agency shall be responsible for the prevention of prohibited personnel practices, for the compliance with and enforcement of applicable civil service laws, rules, and regulations, and other aspects of personnel management, and for ensuring (in consultation with the Office of Special Counsel) that agency employees are informed of the rights and remedies available to them under this chapter and chapter 12 of this title. Any individual to whom the head of an agency delegates authority for personnel management, or for any aspect thereof, shall be similarly responsible within the limits of the delegation.

Cosm

I suspect your agency has no records demonstrating its current (or former) head's compliance with this nondiscretionary statutory duty. If so, I think this lawbreaking by its head illustrates that agency employees are not able to do their duties, without fear or favor, per the merit principles, because the agency head will not prevent agency supervisors, personnel specialists, and attorneys from unlawfully punishing them for doing so.

EXAM

Copy

Such records would include records documenting the delegation of this authority within your agency and evaluations of your agency's performance of this duty, whether by self-assessment or the assessment of others, including the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB) per 5 U.S.C. 1204(a)(3), which states (emphasis added):

The [MSPB] shall- conduct, from time to time, special studies relating to the civil service and to other merit systems in the executive branch, and report to the President and to the Congress as to whether the public interest in a civil service free of prohibited personnel practices is being adequately protected.

Most specifically, I seek records that for policy, procedure and guidance information, as well as assessment, analysis and metrics materials relating to the prevention of prohibited personnel practices. This would include any records of your agency contact with the MSPB regarding the special studies of executive branch agencies referenced in 5 USC § 1204.

I am willing to pay up to $50.00 for this information. I am a private citizen who seeks this information for non-commercial purposes.

Dear Ms. Mills:

This is a request for records under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act. I request a copy of each report produced for Congress by the CPSC during the past three (3) years, and which are not posted on the CPSC public internet website.

If you can provide the reports in electronic format, such as, for example, a digital copy in pdf format, then I would like to get the entire report. However, if this is impractical, and the material must be produced in paper form, then the title page and first 10 pages alone would be sufficient. Please note that I do not wish included in this request any reports that are already posted on the CPSC public internet website.

These records, or information leading to these records, are likely to be found in an office such as the Office of Legislative Relations or Congressional Relations or Intergovernmental Relations.

Reports of this type may include, for example:

- Periodic reports produced as a statutory obligation for an oversight or appropriations Committee in the House or Senate;
- One-time reports produced as a statutory obligation for a Committee;
- One-off reports produced in response to a specific request from a Committee, or as a result of an inquiry from a Congressman or Senator.
- Unsolicited reports produced to help inform a Congressional office or a Committee office.

This is a request by an individual noncommercial requester for research and study purposes. I agree to pay up to $30 for costs. Please release all segregable releasable portions. Please apply the President's and the Attorney General's instructions on the presumption of release. Please correspond with me by ordinary U.S. mail or email, and not certified or registered mail or Fed Ex.

Thank you very much for your assistance.

Sincerely,

People swim off Baldwin Harbor Park on Sunday despite posted restrictions.

BALDWIN

After drowning, a sign

BY EDEN LALON
eden.laloin@newsday.com

Two weeks after a 41-year-old Hempstead man drowned in the bay next to town-run Baldwin Park — where swimming is banned — Town of Hempstead officials posted a more visible “no swimming” sign and installed some snow fencing along the shoreline, a town spokesman said yesterday.

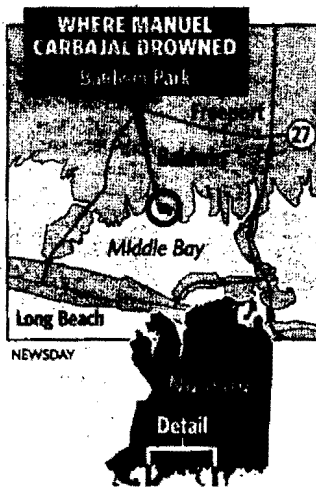

But, he added, there’s little else the town can do to prevent such tragedies.

Boaters, who say they see 30 to 50 people swimming and clamming in those waters nearly every weekend, disagree.

“There are trails that lead to the water,” said Jerry LaMonica of Freeport, a boater who added that a big sign at the park’s entranceway on Grand Avenue lists every prohibited activity, except for swimming. “If it’s dangerous to swim in our town parks, shouldn’t there be a law against it? If it is illegal, then can’t the town get code enforcement there to stop it?”

The new “no swimming” sign, superimposing a diagonal slash over the image of a swimmer, has been added to the park’s entrance.

Town spokesman Michael

Deery said the town is always looking for ways to increase safety at parks and other facilities, but “it’s impossible to prevent people who are going to seek access to the shore and to swim.”

He added that swimming is allowed only where the county health department has issued a permit, as at public pools and beaches.

But despite the July 11 drowning of Manuel DeJesus Carbajal, swimming continues in the bay off Baldwin Park. On Sunday about 30 people could be seen in the water. A path leading to the water is marked by a “restricted area” sign.

Nassau police said Carbajal was swimming with three friends at about 5 p.m. when they became separated. His friends said they discovered Carbajal 40 to 50 feet off shore, face down in the water. First Precinct police officers said they got a call at 5:23 p.m. and when they arrived, found the friends performing cardiopulmonary resuscitation on Carbajal, who was unresponsive. Police continued CPR as Carbajal was taken by Baldwin Fire Department ambulance to South Nassau Communities Hospital in Oceanside, where he was pronounced dead at 6:10 p.m.

The Nassau County medical examiner continues to investigate what has been preliminarily classified as an accidental drowning.

Baldwin Park, in Baldwin Harbor, features basketball, tennis, volleyball, soccer, baseball, a playground, ~~hike paths~~ and a skate park.

One boater who didn’t want to give her name said she’s seen up to 50 people, including young children, in the water on a weekend — including the day Carbajal drowned.

LaMonica said he’s seen people swimming there for 20 years.

Dear Ms. Cho:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we would provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 1990 through the current year for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Hi there- I would like to know which pools in Lee, Collier and Charlotte counties are currently NOT complying with the Virginia Graeme Baker Pool and Spa Safety Act which requires new drain covers that are domed instead of flat on pool filtration systems.

I would like the most up to date information you have based on CPSC's most recent inspection.

Please include the date the pool in question was last inspection, and what actions your agency took or did not need to take in the aftermath of those visits.

Thank you,

RE: Freedom of Information Request #10-F-00040: US CPSC v. Daisy Manufacturing ~ We would like to view this file.

Dear Ms. Hangen:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated October 5, 2010, to the Commission. To complete your request, we must do further extensive searches of our files or notify manufacturers. Before we can release certain material, we must, by law, provide firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on and review this information for confidentiality. We then review these comments and objections to determine which information to disclose. The complete processing is likely to take another few months.

We frequently find that many requesters' need for the information has passed by the time we have completed the processing required by law. If you want us to continue handling your request, please indicate so on the attached form. Also indicate your willingness to pay any expenses that may be involved. If we do not hear from you within 15 days, we will assume you are no longer interested in the material.

Sincerely,

As we discussed, we would like to view the above-referenced file. This matter involved a suit filed by the Consumer Product Safety Commission against Daisy Manufacturing regarding two models of BB/pellet guns manufactured by Daisy. I understand this file has been retired and will have to be retrieved from a storage facility.

Once you have had an opportunity to retrieve the file, it is my understanding that you will contact me with more information regarding the documents we will be able to view from that file.

In the interim, if you have any questions, feel free to call me.

Re: ZTM Coalition Members Meeting with CPSC Staff, November 21, 2003

Dear Todd:

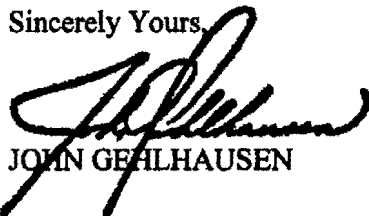

This letter is being sent to you at the request of Melissa Hampshire with whom I spoke on August 21. Enclosed, please find a Memo dated November 24, 2003 of a meeting with the CPSC Staff and various OPEI Members who were part of what they called the "ZTM Coalition." I spoke to Mark Schoem about what occurred at this meeting and the follow up that the Industry was to do and he said he had no memory of the same. On the other hand, he suggested that I contact Melissa Hampshire and send her a copy of this document. When I spoke to Melissa, she said to send it to you with a copy to Marc. I believe she assumes one of the two of you will discuss with her the fact that I would like Marc to look at this document and tell me if he has any memory of this meeting and/or any follow up that was to be done by the "ZTM Coalition" as indicated in the last paragraph.

staff acknowledged that it does not have jurisdiction over commercial products, but noted that it does have jurisdiction over the increasing number of units used by consumers.

3 We emphasized that the industry has concerns about the accident data, although the number of incidents is relatively low. We described the complexities of ongoing standards-development activities and of installing rollover protective systems ("ROPS") on all units. Going forward, industry members are taking the lead to identify appropriate methods to decrease the number of incidents and/or severity of the injuries and, to that end, look forward to working the Commission staff. We committed to provide the staff with an update in six months.

4 We expect the Commission staff to follow up with each company individually in the context of the staff's ongoing inquiries. Over the next six months, industry members should independently and collectively through the standard-setting process diligently work to demonstrate significant progress to the Commission. We propose scheduling a conference call among the coalition members in mid-December to discuss such progress.

Details

5 Mark Austrian led the discussion, using the attached presentation. We provided an overview of the ZTM unit and the safety warnings provided by manufacturers. Mike Huhman described various ongoing international standard-setting activities involving operator protection systems. We distributed the attached chart for the staff's reference. Alan Schoem noted that the smaller units typically marketed to consumers would not be required to meet most of those standards. He also cautioned the industry against waiting for harmonization before developing standards for operator protection that would apply in the United States.

6 We discussed the incident data for the last five years, noting that the data does not include information from Toro. In the interest of confidentiality, we limited distribution of the attached chart to Alan Schoem, Marc Schoem, Mary Toro, and Pam Major to minimize any inadvertent release to third parties.² The Commission staff asked whether any of the units involved in the reported incidents was equipped with ROPS or a similar system. We stated that we believe that none of the units was equipped with ROPS or a similar system, but agreed to confirm. Joe Newberg noted that companies offering ROPS have done so primarily in response to requirements from municipalities and other institutional customers, not in response to end user demand. To put the incident data in context, Jimmy Eavenson described MTD's estimate of average annual usage hours per incident.

7 Various industry members discussed the engineering concerns associated with installing ROPS on all ZTMs. The machines are inherently very stable and are more likely to slide than overturn on a slope. (An incident typically occurs in the presence of an obstacle at the bottom of the slope.) ROPS can affect that stability. Deborah Morrison stated that ROPS is a system, including a seatbelt, the structure of the machine, and rollover bars. Deere is aware of incidents with ROPS in the agricultural context where the user was not wearing a seat belt.

q Going forward, manufacturers will independently evaluate their units to determine how operator protection systems, including ROPS, might affect stability and controllability. We noted that manufacturers are at various stages of that analysis. For example, Deere had previously evaluated its ZTMs and decided not to use ROPS. It has begun to re-evaluate that decision, including structural analysis and computerized roll simulations. For marketing reasons, it plans to implement ROPS as standard equipment on certain ZTMs as early as next fall. Deere does not market its ZTMs to consumers and will likely identify certain of its smaller units for which ROPS would not be appropriate.

q Alan Schoem asked whether industry members have considered other technologies to address overturns, such as sensor technology. We noted concerns about the effectiveness of such alternatives. Roger Reilly indicated that Deere had considered other technologies in the agricultural context and concluded that they were ineffective. The inclinometer and interlock for the seatbelt are easy to override.

10 We committed to provide the staff with an update in six months.

Dear Ms. Forester:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 2009 to 6/26/09 for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Mr. Stevenson,

My name is Anne Forester, I'm a producer at KSL-TV in Salt Lake City. Sonya Hayes Pleasant gave me your email address. I'm looking for any complaints received regarding LG refrigerators. A viewer contacted us about his refrigerator, the light unit melted but the model hasn't been recalled. I'm wondering if there has been similar complaints about the light unit melting or the light inside staying on, also the number of complaints.

UNITED STATES
CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20207

The Chairman

July 2001

Dear Fire Protection Architects and Engineers:

As Chairman of the United States Consumer Product Safety Commission ("CPSC"), I am writing to ask for your cooperation with an important voluntary recall program jointly announced recently by the CPSC and Central Sprinkler Company ("Central"). In conjunction with the CPSC, Central is undertaking to replace over 35 million fire sprinkler heads with O-ring seals. Central will provide free replacement sprinklers and arrange for the free labor to install them. Although you have undoubtedly been made aware of the program, you are an important link in the chain of fire protection, and I would, therefore, like to take a moment to explain some of the background to the program before asking for your help in some very specific ways to make it succeed.

Why Central and the CPSC Have Developed the Voluntary Replacement Program

Growing knowledge about the many conditions that affect sprinkler performance, as well as laboratory testing, have led Central to determine that over time the O-ring sprinkler heads in question can corrode or minerals, salts and other contaminants in water can affect the rubber O-ring seals. These factors could cause these sprinkler heads not to activate in a fire. Laboratory testing has indicated that most sprinklers would operate in a fire situation, but certain tested heads required higher water pressure to activate than may be available in particular buildings.

Central's discovery highlights the need for regular inspection, maintenance, care and testing of all fire sprinkler systems. CPSC is currently working with the sprinkler industry to study sprinkler system conditions and upgrade existing standards and codes. In the meantime, Central is providing newer fire sprinklers that do not use O-ring seals, and is voluntarily launching this program to provide enhanced protection to its sprinkler customers.

Important Background to the Voluntary Replacement Program

- The program provides building owners with newer sprinkler technology at no cost to them.
 - Due to the number of sprinklers involved, the program will be phased in over a number of years. CPSC believes this phased in approach is appropriate and serves the public interest.

- We believe that fire safety is best served by replacing these O-ring seal sprinklers with Belleville seal sprinklers in the orderly, planned and organized program that Central and CPSC have developed.

How You Can Help

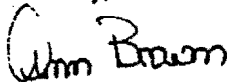

We urge you to do the following to assist in this important program:

- Familiarize yourself with the models and types of sprinkler heads involved in the program and encourage your clients' participation in the program.
- Recognize that the orderly and efficient replacement of sprinklers will be advanced if building owners are encouraged to replace these sprinklers over time according to the CPSC-approved program.
- Remind building owners and sprinkler installers that the installed sprinklers retain the listing or approval in effect when they were installed
- Encourage building owners who have these sprinklers to participate by calling the toll-free Notice Packet Request Line at 1-800-871-3492 or visiting Central's website at www.SprinklerReplacement.com.
- Remind building owners of the need to perform routine inspection, testing, and maintenance of sprinklers and sprinkler systems to ensure the proper function of the fire protection system. The most recent industry standards state that all dry sprinkler heads should be inspected and tested for proper activation at least every ten years.

If you have any questions about the voluntary replacement program, please feel free to call Central's Contractor and Industry Professional Hotline at 1-866-836-3928 (9 A.M. (EST) to 7 P.M. (EST)), or visit Central's special website at www.SprinklerReplacement.com.

Thank you for your attention to this matter and your important contribution to fire safety.

Sincerely,

Ann Brown

RE: FOIA Request #09-F-00919: All manufacturers and all models of gas powered riding mowers/tractors from 2003 to the present as noted in the request.

Dear Mr. Kane:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firm. The firm has 15 days to respond. If the company claims that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and renotify the firms if we overrule any claims. For assistance, please refer to our website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons" for more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations. If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

We searched our files from calendar year 2003 to 9/24/09 for information responsive to your request. If you want us to search other records, please submit another request and specify the new time period.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firm. The firm's response and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 15 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

Gas Powered Lawn Mowers/Tractors

Dear Sir or Madam:

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), 5 U.S.C. sec. 552.

We request on a RUSH basis, within 30 days of receipt of this letter, the following documents related to ALL manufacturers and ALL models of gas powered riding mowers/tractors from 2003 to the present as follows:

- All In-depth Investigative Reports and Supporting Documentation (IDIs) related to accidents, potential accidents, malfunctions, injuries or fatalities associated with riding lawn mowers/tractors that reportedly occurred during forward and/or rearward motion.
- Any and all compliance reporting provided to the agency by the manufacturers with respect to injury and death associated with gas powered lawn mowers/tractor that reportedly occurred during forward and/or rearward motion.
- Any and all CPSC research, studies, literature, statistics, and testing that documents, reviews no mower in reverse technologies from 2003 to the present.

If you choose to withhold any portion of the requested documents, please cite the specific exemption of the FOIA Act you feel justifies the denial. Further, we request notification of the appeal procedures available to us, and the time constraints that we must adhere to.

We are willing to pay fees necessary to procure this information. Please confirm receipt of this request and provide a reference number should we need to contact the CPSC regarding the status. Please email the requested confirmation to sean@safetyresearch.net

To Whom It May Concern:

See attached FOIA request. This is a revision to an earlier request submitted on our behalf by Ellen Liberman. Hopefully the fact that we made an earlier request for this product it will assist in shortening the time required to produce documents subject to FOIA requirements. We have made this request on a rush basis, if possible.

If you have any questions please contact Sean Kane at the main office or by email at sean@safetyresearch.net. You may also respond to this email, if necessary.

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00908: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Gonzalez:

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). Some of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Additional records concerning Drywall including the EH&E 51-home test report, and the supporting data are now accessible from the Drywall page on the CPSC's website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/info/drywall/index.html>.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request involved:

- (1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,600 pages X $0.10/page = $160.00;
- (2) file searching by professional personnel, 7 hours X $19.60/hour = $137.20; and
- (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 30 hours X $19.60/hour = $588.00.

The FOIA and the Commission's regulations also permit a waiver of a certain amount of the fees according to the type of request. In your case we have decided to waive the first $10.00 of the duplication, $40.00 of the search fees and the entire review fees.

Forward the total amount due, $247.20, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider written request for a waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00902: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Laboratory and Scientific Records and Electronic Messages / Consumer Complaints

Dear Mr. Diaz:

This is in partial response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). More of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed on two compact discs. We will contact you as we continue to process the remaining records.

The enclosed records include file information generated by the Commission itself or its contractors for regulatory or enforcement purposes. These records are laboratory and scientific records and electronic messages between Commission staff and others regarding the technical and scientific issues related to your request. The Commission has established management systems under which supervisors are responsible for reviewing the work of their employees or contractors. The file information materials are final and have been prepared and accepted by the Commission's staff under such review systems. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of the information.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved: (1) for this disclosure, the duplication or direct costs for providing the records electronically is 3,900 pages X $0.10/page = $390.00; (2) file searching by professional personnel, 10 hours X $19.60/hour = $196.00; and (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 20 hours X $19.60/hour = $294.00.

Forward the total amount due, $880.00, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

We have withheld other records and portions of records responsive to your request, specifically, the records regarding the Commission's Office of Compliance and Field Operations active and on-going litigation and law enforcement investigation pursuant to FOIA Exemptions 5 and 7(A), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and (b)(7)(A). Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The records being withheld consist of internal staff memoranda and correspondence containing recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses of the Commission's Compliance, technical and legal staffs. The records constitute both pre-decisional and deliberative discussions that clearly fall within the attorney-client and attorney-work product privileges. Any factual materials in the records not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters.

Exemption 7(A) provides for the withholding from disclosure records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings. The records being withheld consist of active and preliminary internal staff notes, memoranda, correspondence, analyses and other records. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would prematurely reveal information used in the investigation, thereby interfering with this matter by disclosing the government's basis for pursuing this matter.

We must also withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15

U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Finally, we have removed materials from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") and will refer those materials to the EPA for a direct response to you. We have also removed certain proprietary and confidential information pertaining to contract negotiations that must be provided to the contractors for any claims as to the proprietary information. We will provide a response to this information when we complete the processing. We have also removed the identities of manufacturers to expedite this disclosure.

Sincerely,

Todd A. Stevenson

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00902: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Laboratory and Scientific Records and Electronic Messages

Dear Mr. Diaz:

This is in partial response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request has been processed. Enclosed is a compact disc with copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available. We will contact you as we continue to complete the processing of the remaining records.

The enclosed records include file information generated by the Commission itself or its contractors for regulatory or enforcement purposes. These records are laboratory and scientific records and electronic messages between Commission staff and others regarding the technical and scientific issues related to your request. The Commission has established management systems under which supervisors are responsible for reviewing the work of their employees or contractors. The file information materials are final and have been prepared and accepted by the Commission's staff under such review systems. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of the information.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved: (1) for this disclosure, the duplication or providing electronically of 1,160 pages X $0.10/page = $116.00; (2) file searching by professional personnel, 4 hours X $19.60/hour = $78.40; and (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 42 hours X $19.60/hour = $823.20.

Forward the total amount due, $1,017.60, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

We have withheld other records responsive to your request, specifically, the records regarding the Commission's Office of Compliance and Field Operations active and on-going litigation and law enforcement investigation pursuant to FOIA Exemptions 5 and 7(A), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and (b)(7)(A). Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The records being withheld consist of internal staff memoranda and correspondence containing recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses of the Commission's Compliance, technical and legal staffs. The records constitute both pre-decisional and deliberative discussions that clearly fall within the attorney-client and attorney-work product privileges. Any factual materials in the records not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters.

Exemption 7(A) provides for the withholding from disclosure records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings. The records being withheld consist of active and preliminary internal staff notes, memoranda, correspondence, analyses and other records. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would prematurely reveal information used in the investigation, thereby interfering with this matter by disclosing the government's basis for pursuing this matter.

We must also withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Finally, we have removed materials from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") and will refer those materials to the EPA for a direct response to you. We have also removed certain proprietary and confidential information pertaining to contract negotiations that must be provided to the contractors for any claims as to the proprietary information. We will provide a response to this information when we complete the processing. We have also removed the identities of manufacturers to expedite this disclosure.

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00902: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Diaz:

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the remaining releasable responsive records that are now available.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Additional records concerning Drywall including the EH&E 51-home test report, and the supporting data are now accessible from the Drywall page on CPSC's website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/info/drywall/index.html>.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Note that some of the Americas companies and manufacturers that are identified in the reports have commented to the Commission that they manufacture their products in the United States or North America, and do not import or use drywall products from China.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved:

- (1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,600 pages X $0.10/page = $160.00;
- (2) file searching by professional personnel, 7 hours X $19.60/hour = $137.20; and,
- (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 30 hours X $19.60/hour = $588.00.

Forward the total amount due, $885.20, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider a written request for a complete waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest, because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

Dear Mr. Diaz:

Based on your appeal, the staff reconsidered the disclosure of certain information pertaining to other manufacturers/firm's named contained within the requested Epidemiological reports. Enclosed are the reports with manufacturers/firms included as requested.

The enclosed records include 14 Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. Re: Appeal of FOIA Request 09-F-00902
Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock/Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Diaz:

By letter dated December 3, 2009 (received December 4, 2009), you appealed the partial denial by the Commission's Freedom of Information Officer of certain information responsive to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request. Specifically, you appealed the partial withholding of manufacturer information contained in an In-Depth Investigation Report ("IDI"), and other manufacturer information not related to drywall or building products contained in IDIs that have been released, as well as the partial withholding of various consumer identities.

Under authority delegated to me by the Commission, 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, I have reviewed your appeal. The Freedom of Information Officer's decision to withhold the IDI and the consumer identities was legally correct and I must affirm it based on Exemptions 3 and 6. 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3) and (6).

Exemption 3 of the FOIA provides for the withholding of information that is specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying Exemption 3 to the withheld file, I am relying on Section 6(b)(1) of the Consumer Product Safety Act (CPSA), 15 U.S.C. § 2055(b)(1). See also Krugler v. United States Consumer Product Safety Commission, No. 1:03-cv-1905-JTC (N.D. Ga. June 2, 2004).

Section 6(b)(1) requires that, before disclosing information that would enable the public to identify the manufacturer or private labeler of a consumer product, the Commission "shall take reasonable steps to assure ... that [the] information ... is accurate, and that such disclosure is fair in the circumstances and reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the [CPSA]." The Commission's policy is to withhold each consumer complaint incident unless:

The Commission staff or a qualified person or entity outside the Commission (e.g., someone with requisite training or experience, such as a fire marshal, a fire investigator, an electrical engineer, or an attending physician) conducts an investigation or an inspection which yields or corroborates the product information to be disclosed. 16 C.F.R. § 1101.32.

In this case, the manufacturer information being withheld in IDI 090521CBB1733 could neither be corroborated by the CPSC investigator nor a qualified expert. The only information supporting the identification of the manufacturer was a verbal representation made by the victim's attorney. The Commission could not take the reasonable steps required under our regulation to yield or corroborate the product information to be disclosed. Therefore, pursuant to Exemption 3 and Section 6(b)(1), and the referenced regulations, I must affirm the FOI Officer's partial withholding of manufacturer information in IDI 090521CBB1733.

I am also relying on Exemption 3 of the FOIA, as well as Section 25(c) of the CPSA, in withholding certain consumer identities, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(3), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c). We must withhold these identities because, without the consent of the consumers, we are prohibited by Section 25(c) of the CPSA from disclosing them. Therefore, we are withholding this information under FOIA exemption 3, in reliance on Section 25(c). Id.

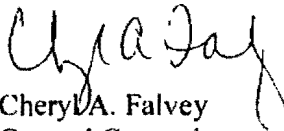

Finally, certain personnel and medical files, and similar files, are being withheld pursuant to FOIA Exemption 6, which provides for the withholding of such files where disclosure would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. I affirm that the personal information contained in the investigation file falls within the protection of this FOIA exemption. In particular, the information in the file contains personal and private information, such as the complainants' names, home addresses, birth information and other personal history details, the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

Regarding your request for the withheld manufacturer information not related to drywall or building products contained in IDIs that have been released, we will process that information and you will be contacted under separate cover by our FOI officer. As you know we are also processing other information for possible release to you at a later date.

Victor M. Diaz, Esq.

You have the right to seek judicial review of this decision, as provided by 5 U.S.C.
§ 552(a)(4)(B).

Re: FOIA Request No. 09-F-00902 (Chinese Drywall);
Notice of 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7 Appeal of Partial Denial of Access to Records

Dear Office of the General Counsel:

We write, pursuant to 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, to appeal the Commission's decision to deny access to certain responsive, releasable public records pursuant to the referenced FOIA request. See enclosed letter dated November 3, 2009 to Victor Diaz, Esq. from Todd Stevenson. In short, the public records being withheld by the Commission are responsive and releasable—and the Commission's stated rationale for withholding them is without legal merit—because each of the public records at issue is highly relevant to the federal multidistrict litigation pending in the U.S. District Court in New Orleans. See In re: Chinese Manufactured Drywall Products Liability Litigation, MDL Case No. 2047 FALLON-Wilkinson. While this letter briefly outlines our position, we reserve the right to submit a supplemental memorandum of law in support of this appeal. We also will be filing a motion in the referenced federal litigation.

I. THE IDENTITY OF MANUFACTURERS IS RELEASABLE BECAUSE IT IS RELEVANT TO THE FEDERAL LITIGATION AND THE INFORMATION CANNOT OTHERWISE BE OBTAINED.

According to the November 3, 2009 letter, the Commission has refused to provide access to "the identity of a manufacturer from the investigation report designated 090521CBB1733, pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA and section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. § 1101.32." The Commission has also "removed from some of the reports the identities of manufacturers of products other than the drywall and building products.” Besides being confusing, these omissions from production violate FOIA and the CPSA because the stated applicable exemptions are inapplicable. See generally C.P. Chem. Co. v. Stevenson, 732 F. Supp. 119, 122 (D.D.C. 1989) (holding CPSC records concerning chemical manufacturer were not exempt from disclosure under FOIA on grounds that release of documents would associate manufacturer’s foam insulation with urea-formaldehyde foam insulation).

The instant case is analogous to the circumstances in C.P. Chem. Co., where the federal district court concluded:

It appears to the Court, that [the manufacturer’s] main concern is that their product, Tripolymer, will be improperly associated with another foam insulation. The [Commission] argues¹ that “the release of the documents will not necessarily tend to cause people to associate Tripolymer 105 with UFFI [urea-formaldehyde foam insulation] even assuming such association to be harmful.” [citation omitted.] The [Commission] further argues that “[r]ather than leading people to associate the product with UFFI, therefore, the documents will, instead, apprise people of the controversy and the differing views about Tripolymer 105.” [citation omitted.] The Court recognizes that this is a dispute as to whether Tripolymer will be associated with UFFI; however, that is not a basis for the Commission to withhold the documents. The Court is satisfied that the Commission took reasonable steps to assure that the documents released were accurate, fair in the circumstances and reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the Act.

732 F. Supp. at 122.

The very intensive factual investigations that have occurred thus far in the federal litigation have revealed a very vexing problem that is highly relevant to the Commission’s determination here: numerous homes have been rendered unlivable due to the toxic effects of Chinese Drywall—all the well known symptoms of Chinese Drywall are present—yet the drywall found in the homes is unmarked, meaning the claimants cannot identify the manufacturer. If the Commission knows the identity of such manufacturers of a defective, unreasonably dangerous product, then considerations of public policy and public welfare—as well as the law—require disclosure of this information. The information at issue quite literally cannot be obtained in any other fashion—only the manufacturers themselves (and now the Commission) is in possession of the information. If the Commission persists in withholding this critical, releasable information, such action will be capricious and basic principles of fundamental due process will be violated.

Additionally, pursuant to 15 U.S.C. §§ 2055(b)(1) and 2055(b)(4) in combination with 15 U.S.C. § 2061, the Commission should conclude that public health and safety require a more robust response to this FOIA request. We are dealing with an “imminently hazardous product” pursuant to the applicable federal law governing the Commission. The matter of toxic Chinese drywall infecting homes—thereby rendering them unlivable—has received national and international attention and has been substantially confirmed by the Commission’s preliminary report. We are dealing with a serious national public health issue and the Commission’s usual rationale for withholding public records does not apply here.

II. THE PORTIONS OF THE WITHHELD RECORDS RELATING TO CONSUMER COMPLAINTS IS RELEASABLE BECAUSE IT IS RELEVANT TO THE FEDERAL LITIGATION AND THE INFORMATION CANNOT OTHERWISE BE OBTAINED.

The Commission’s refusal to produce records relating to consumers who have made complaints, as outlined in the November 3, 2009 letter, was similarly misplaced. The Commission has refused to produce information concerning:

consumer complaints and reported incidents unless (1) the Commission has conducted an investigation of the complaint or reported incident and the investigation corroborates the substance of the complaint and reported incident; (2) the Commission has conducted and obtained a technical, scientific, or other evaluation of the product that is the subject of the complaint or reported incident, and evaluation corroborates the substance of the information in the complaint or reported incident; or (3) the consumer or person reporting or submitting the incident confirms the accuracy of the information.

November 3, 2009 letter. Regarding this asserted “policy” rationale, the Commission merely states, “We have carefully reviewed this information and it does not meet the criteria for disclosure.” Such a general rationale is not sufficient to satisfy the Commission’s duties under law.

Additionally, the scope and extent of the Chinese Drywall problem has become relevant in the federal litigation for several reasons, not the least of which is the fact issue as to exactly how many homes were constructed with Chinese Drywall. While we do not seek private medical information regarding the identity of individuals or persons treating them, see 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3) and (b)(6) and 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1), we are concerned that the Commission—as far as we can tell from the statements made in the November 3, 2009 letter—has withheld releasable information concerning the nature, types, quantity, and extent of any consumer complaints that have been received by the Commission.

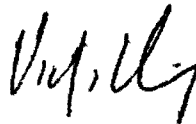

The public records at issue are releasable and contain highly relevant information that cannot be otherwise obtained.

III. CONCLUSION

The Commission's decision to withhold certain responsive, releasable public records is in error. The public records at issue are highly relevant to the pending federal multidistrict litigation and they contain information that cannot otherwise be obtained. The Commission should reconsider its decision and publish a notice of intent to release the records pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 2055.

The Commission should also determine that the instant circumstances constitute a public health and safety emergency and take all steps necessary to expedite production of these releasable public records.

Sincerely,

Victor M. Diaz, Jr.

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00902: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Diaz:

This is in partial response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available. We will contact you as we complete the processing of the remaining records.

The enclosed records include forty-four Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to twenty-five product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Note that some of the American companies and manufacturers that are identified in the reports have commented to the Commission that they manufacture their products in the United States or North America and do not import or use drywall products from China.

Also enclosed are generic summaries of investigation reports and reported incident and complaints involving drywall products

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved:

- (1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,900 pages X $0.10/page = $190.00;
- (2) file searching by professional personnel, 2 hours X $19.60/hour = $39.20; and
- (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 6 hours X $19.60/hour = $117.60.

Forward the total amount due, $346.80, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

We are withholding the identity of a manufacturer from the investigation report designated 090521CBB1733, pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA and section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. § 2055(b)(1), and our regulations, 16 C.F.R. § 1101.32. The manufacturer identified in the report has submitted comments that call into question the accuracy of the information in the report. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA. That section prohibits the Commission from disclosing information about a consumer product that identifies a manufacturer or private labeler unless the Commission has taken "reasonable steps" to assure that the information is accurate, that disclosure is fair in the circumstances, and that disclosure will be reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the laws that the Commission administers. See Commission regulation, 16 C.F.R. § 1101.32. The Commission's policy is to withhold each consumer complaint and reported incident unless: (1) the Commission has conducted an investigation of the complaint and reported incident, and the investigation corroborates the substance of the complaint and reported incident; (2) the Commission has conducted or obtained a technical, scientific, or other evaluation of the product that is the subject of the complaint and reported incident, and evaluation corroborates the substance of the information contained in the complaint and reported incident; or (3) the consumer or person reporting or submitting the incident confirms the accuracy of the information. We have carefully reviewed this information and it does not meet the criteria for disclosure.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

We have removed from some of the reports the identities of manufacturers of products other than the drywall and building products.

Our file searches and review of the files has revealed investigative, laboratory and litigation files and incident records that contain thousands of documents with information submitted by manufacturer's and other agency correspondence and documents that include records about manufacturer's products that would have to be processed to complete your request. In addition, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identities can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on the disclosure. If the companies claim that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and re-notify the firms if we overrule any claims. At this time, we estimate that the processing may require 80 hours of professional file searching and reviewing and the potential release of 15,000 pages of materials.

Victor M. Diaz
Podhurst Orseck

Given the voluminous nature of your request and the Commission's numerous types of records and files that must be processed, we estimate that the costs to complete the processing of your request will likely exceed $3,000. We need you to indicate in writing the extent of your willingness to pay any fees that would be incurred in the processing of your request.

You may want to limit your request to reduce the fee estimate. It will expedite the processing and reduce any fees if you would narrow the scope of your request to certain types of documents or specific products, models or model numbers, years of manufacture, or specific incidents or hazard scenarios.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider a written request for a complete waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest, because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

Sincerely,

Todd A. Stevenson

CPSC INVESTIGATION OF IMPORTED DRYWALL STATUS REPORT, JULY 2009

I. Background

In late December 2008, CPSC first began to receive drywall-related complaints from consumers. The chief complaints were obnoxious odors emanating from the drywall; corrosion of metal items inside the home, especially copper air conditioning coils; and short-term health effects generally involving the upper respiratory tract. CPSC staff first contacted the Florida Department of Health about the drywall issue on January 23, 2009.

CPSC staff assembled a team to address the emerging issue. On March 25-27, 2009, four members of CPSC's Drywall Team traveled to Florida to meet with county health officials and to visit four affected homes in the Tampa area. The team members observed firsthand the noxious smell in the homes, as well as varying levels of corrosion in electrical outlets, circuit breakers, mirrors, plumbing fixtures, and air conditioning coils. While in the homes, they also consistently experienced some throat irritation, scratchy eyes, headache, and other symptoms that tended to clear up or dissipate after some time outside the homes.

To date, CPSC has received 608 incident reports relating to drywall from 21 states and the District of Columbia. The majority of the reports are from Florida, Louisiana, and Virginia.

II. Federal Coordination

On April 14, 2009, CPSC staff hosted a joint meeting with the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)/Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry (ATSDR). Senior staff from these agencies met in order to discuss coordination of a federal action plan to address the health hazards from Chinese drywall. The group agreed that CPSC would take the lead role in this investigation and that EPA and CDC would support our efforts. The multi-pronged, concurrent approach suggested by CPSC staff included import investigations; field measurements in the affected homes; chamber studies to assess the possible health risk (to homeowners and workers) and corrosion to electrical, gas, and fire safety systems; and laboratory studies on gypsum elemental characterization and environmental release from waste disposal sites.

CPSC staff has since held regular weekly calls to discuss developments and plan next steps. EPA's Emergency Response Team is developing a protocol that will inform the federal protocol for the air testing program. CDC/ATSDR will also assist in the development of a public health awareness publication at some future point in time.

III. Progress in the Investigation

A. Materials Used to Manufacture Drywall

One focus of the CPSC staff's investigation is to determine whether the imported drywall contains substances not usually found in drywall made domestically. The team consulted the United States Geological Survey and conducted its own literature reviews about gypsum mining in China, and particularly in ShanDong province, which was known to be the point of origin of at least some of the problem drywall.

An academic paper published in 2009 discussed Chinese gypsum and its tendency to emit odors.¹ The authors found that the Chinese gypsum ore and the finished Chinese wallboard were both sources of unpleasant sulfur-like odors. In comparison, non-Chinese samples contained some similar substances, generally at much lower levels, and did not give off the same smell. The authors thought that some of the odor-related compounds might be derived from the raw materials, while others could have been introduced as a result of processing conditions such as crushing and heat. CPSC staff suspected and later confirmed that the Chinese samples used in this study were from the LuNeng mine, located in ShanDong province. In 2006 and earlier, this mine was the sole source of gypsum used by a large manufacturer of plasterboard, which probably manufactured more of the drywall exported to the United States in 2006 than any other company. The academic paper was commissioned by the manufacturer in 2006 when they began to receive complaints of malodorous drywall in Florida.

To become more familiar with drywall manufacturing, members of the Drywall Team toured a domestic wallboard manufacturing facility. The manufacturing process used at this particular U.S. plant is similar to the Chinese manufacturing operations that made the problem drywall in 2006. The staff at the manufacturing facility pointed out where other chemicals could or would be added by a Chinese manufacturer and identified potential additives.

It is possible that gypsum from the LuNeng mine is characteristic of gypsum from other mines in the ShanDong province, and that other manufacturers using gypsum from mines in that area may have the same problem. CPSC Compliance staff has asked our Chinese government counterpart (General Administration of Quality Supervision, Inspection and Quarantine, or AQSIQ) for a list of all drywall producers that have used the LuNeng mine. We are working to obtain the same information for other mines in the region.

B. Cooperation with the Chinese Government

Since the beginning of our investigation, it has been increasingly apparent that some answers to the cause of the drywall problem will have to come from sources in China. With that in mind, CPSC staff took steps early on to involve AQSIQ in our investigation to the greatest extent possible under the law. The Drywall Team sent an initial list of questions to AQSIQ on April 9, 2009. AQSIQ requested, in turn, that CPSC staff arrange for a visit by two Chinese experts (one an academio specializing in building materials and, another, a government official with a chemistry background).

On June 15 and 16, 2009, the two Chinese experts joined CPSC staff on inspections of homes in Florida and Louisiana. On June 17, CPSC staff engaged the Chinese experts in technical discussions at CPSC headquarters and arranged meetings with EPA and CDC on that same date. At that time, CPSC staff expressed to the Chinese our view that a visit to China would be necessary, and staff requested their support. CPSC staff is following up on that request and pressing for approval for a visit to specific mines and manufacturers. Some of our initial questions have been answered, and the Chinese have volunteered additional information. CPSC staff continues to follow up with them to obtain answers to outstanding questions.

C. The Chain of Commerce: Tracing Drywall Imports and Complaints

Another key ingredient of the investigation is to establish the provenance of the problem drywall. The Drywall Team is pursuing a comprehensive approach to learn where all the known imports of Chinese drywall went and where all the problem drywall came from. CPSC staff began with information gleaned from the Customs and Border Protection databases, and then sent requests for information to drywall importers and to builders who are suspected of using imported drywall. As CPSC staff learns more, the staff is prioritizing our work and following up with other entities in the supply chain to piece together the whole picture.

Compliance Field staff is conducting inspections of selected importers and securing samples of imported drywall. All of the major domestic gypsum manufacturers have also been inspected and samples obtained for comparison with the samples of imported product. New imports of drywall from China have decreased dramatically to a very low volume. Compliance Field staff is working closely with CBP to ensure that CBP notifies CPSC if any new materials are presented for clearance. Staff is working hard to determine exactly how much drywall was imported into the United States. Unfortunately, that effort is hampered by the dual use of the same commodity code as acoustic or ceiling tiles. CPSC is developing a more accurate accounting through manufacturer and trading company records. To date, CPSC staff has confirmed that 5,503,694 sheets of Chinese drywall were imported into the United States during 2006. This is not all of the imports; staff is continuing to verify more shipments.

Field staff is also conducting In-Depth Investigations (IDIs) of complaints received by CPSC. Staff developed a selection process to prioritize the complaints for investigation. The assignments reflect three different exposure scenarios:

- locations reporting both health effects and corrosion to home components,
- locations reporting health effects but no corrosion, and
- locations reporting corrosion but not health effects.

The selection process takes into consideration and includes a range of dwelling settings (e.g., single family homes, condominiums, townhomes), the geographic distribution of incident reports (with the number of assigned IDIs weighted towards states with the greatest percentage of incident reports), and incident reports with notations of unique corrosion or home appliance and component failures. Thus far, Field staff has completed 49 of 51 IDs initially assigned.

IV. Health Effects Analysis

CPSC Health Sciences staff is pursuing three major tracks in order to evaluate the relationship between drywall emissions and consumer reported health effects. The three tracks for assessing the impact on human health are elemental analysis, emission chamber studies, and in-home indoor air sampling.

A. Elemental Analysis

The purpose of elemental analysis is to characterize the components of domestic and imported drywall. The Environmental Protection Agency's Emergency Response Team (EPA ERT) agreed to do an analysis of 15 samples provided by CPSC staff. The 15 samples consist of uninstalled drywall from a variety of sources, including imported drywall, domestic calcined drywall, and domestic synthetic drywall collected from warehouses, suppliers, and manufacturers. The drywall samples will be analyzed for organic and inorganic compounds, metals, and other properties. CPSC staff sent 14 samples to EPA ERT on June 22, 2009. EPA ERT stated that their analysis will be completed by August 21, 2009.

B. Chamber Studies

The purpose of the chamber studies is to isolate the drywall's chemical emissions from those of other products that can be found in the home (e.g., carpets, cleaners, paint, adhesives and beauty products) so that CPSC staff can determine what gases are emitted from each drywall sample. These laboratory investigations will provide quantitative data which will enable CPSC staff to model exposure and to perform a preliminary health risk assessment. The emission factors will be presented in a way that is sufficient for deriving exposure concentrations in consumer homes.

A contract for the chamber studies was awarded to Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory (LBNL) on June 9, 2009. CPSC has shipped the imported and domestic drywall samples to LBNL. These include samples from the same 15 sources as the samples undergoing elemental analysis described above.

The chamber studies will proceed in two phases. The Phase I studies will screen drywall samples in controlled chambers to identify the chemicals (particularly sulfur containing but also major volatile organic compounds and other irritant gases) emitted from uninstalled drywall. The Phase I studies will be completed by late August 2009. A preliminary health risk assessment will be completed by CPSC staff by mid to late September 2009. The Phase II chamber studies will focus on a limited number of higher emitting materials identified in the Phase I studies. The Phase II studies will also characterize factors that influence long-term emissions such as temperature, moisture, ventilation, and wall treatments (e.g., paint, joint compound, texture, paper) and will commence upon completion of Phase I. Results from the in-home sampling studies (described below) will also inform the Phase II study design.

C. In-home Indoor Air Sampling

In-home indoor air sampling will be carried out on 50 homes (35 target homes selected from CPSC's incident report database and In-depth Investigation database, plus 15 control homes). A contract for this work was awarded to Environmental Health and Engineering (EHE) on June 1, 2009. The in-home indoor air sampling consists of residential building characterization and indoor environmental measurements in selected target residences with imported drywall and in control residences without imported drywall. The data from the residential building characterization activity will be incorporated into a relational database such that statistical trend analysis can be performed with respect to the indoor environmental measurements.

CPSC staff developed a methodology for selecting target homes. We expect to begin making contact with and scheduling of pilot test homes by late June 2009. Preliminary work by EHE including in-home sampling protocol refinement and pilot study performance will be completed by mid-July 2009. The 50 home in-home sampling will begin about July 20, 2009 and is scheduled for completion by late August 2009. Laboratory analysis of collected samples and receipt of a draft final report is expected to be completed by mid-September 2009.

V. Engineering Analysis

The objective of the Engineering Sciences test program is to determine the effects of emissions from Chinese drywall on electrical/gas/HVAC components and fire safety equipment with respect to possible fire and shock hazards. The testing will consist of two major phases: examination of various components harvested from affected residences, and the reaction of new components to elevated levels of gases (identified in chamber studies of Chinese drywall samples) as part of an accelerated corrosion test program.

A. Affected Home Site Inspections

CPSC Engineering staff has visited homes in Florida, Virginia, and Louisiana to conduct a preliminary assessment of the extent of corroded components present in homes reported to have been constructed with imported drywall and any acute effects that may signal an impending safety problem. The home site inspections include the following:

1. Visual observation of the level of corrosion and photographic documentation of components of interest
2. In-situ functional testing of safety devices (e.g., ground-fault circuit-interrupters, smoke alarms)
3. To the extent possible, operation of home appliances to see evidence of potential problems that can effect life safety (e.g., cooking and heating equipment)
4. Notation of characteristic odors purported to have been related to the installation of imported drywall and positive identification of the presence of imported drywall in the home.

Page 6

On June 2, 2009, CPSC Engineering staff visited a townhome community in Chesapeake, Virginia in which the builder is conducting a removal of drywall and affected components. Unoccupied homes in various stages of remediation were visited. In addition, site visits were made to two occupied homes in Louisiana. All of the homes that were visited exhibited characteristic effects that have been attributed to the presence of imported drywall. All of the houses staff visited had a very distinctive and pervasive "chemical" odor, which was found (subjectively) to be very similar in homes in Florida, Louisiana, and Virginia. Copper components were widely affected, as evidenced by the presence of a black coating on exposed surfaces, including central air conditioner evaporator coils, electrical wiring, and copper piping (including water and gas lines). Other non-safety related symptoms included tarnishing and degradation of other metallic components like picture frames, light fixtures, and mirrors.

B. Incident Sample Collection (Harvesting Effort)

The staff is collecting samples of components of interest for analysis to determine the risk of electrocution and fire hazards that may exist as a result of the corrosive gases to which they have been exposed while installed in affected homes. The harvested components will be analyzed to determine their present condition, the extent of deterioration and any possible degradation of performance of affected components that can lead to safety hazards. Staff has elected to collect samples from homes that are being remediated in order to maximize the number of available samples and minimize the impact that this collection could cause to the systems in an occupied home. CPSC staff has been coordinating with a builder in Florida and a builder in Virginia to identify candidate homes scheduled for drywall removal and replacement. We are seeking other builders doing remediation as potential sources for sample collection. The following are the components of interest:

1. Standard receptacles/light switches
2. Ground-fault circuit-interrupter (GFCI) receptacles
3. Standard circuit breakers
4. Arc-fault circuit-interrupter (AFCI) circuit breakers
5. Flexible gas connectors
6. HVAC evaporator coils and tubing
7. Gas service distribution tubing and fittings
8. Smoke alarms
9. Fire sprinklers

Sample collection is expected to be completed by September 30, 2009.

C. Evaluation of Field Samples and Accelerated Corrosion Testing

Engineering Sciences staff plans to enter into an interagency agreement to conduct corrosion analysis of affected field components; staff expects to complete this agreement in July 2009. Under the agreement, the laboratory will perform optical examination and analysis on field samples to characterize the extent and nature of corrosion found on these electrical components. The analysis will focus on contact surfaces of wire/terminal connection points to devices, individual circuit conductors, and switch contacts. In addition, the laboratory will conduct accelerated corrosion testing and analysis of new components in an attempt to predict long-term effects of the identified gases on these components and correlate these with the collected samples.

Engineering Sciences plans to use a contractor for analysis and functional testing of gas service and fire safety components. Smoke alarms, fire sprinklers, flexible gas connectors, and gas distribution pipes will be analyzed. The analysis will include:

- Smoke alarms – to determine if their ability to sense smoke and provide notification has been compromised,
- Fire sprinklers – to evaluate potential changes in temperature sensitivity and to determine operational pressure,
- Flexible gas connectors and gas service connections – to ensure they can maintain a leak-tight condition under normal operating pressures, and
- HVAC evaporator coils and copper tubing – to determine if refrigerant leaks are possible.

D. Potential Fire Incident Follow-Up

To date, there have been two unconfirmed reports of fire incidents involving Chinese drywall. Staff is working with the Florida State Fire Marshal's Office to get details of the incidents and explore the possibility of sample collection for testing and analysis.

VI. Public Affairs

The Office of Public Affairs has focused on ensuring that the Commission's message on drywall has remained consistent, informative to the general public, and in coordination with our other federal partners. CPSC has developed a new Drywall Information Center, available on the CPSC Web site, to provide the public with the latest information on technical developments and news about drywall. As part of this process, the total number of consumer reports is being tracked along with the resultant number of States.

Dear Ms. Kasiaz:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated June 25, 2009, to the Commission. To complete your request, we must do further extensive searches of our files or notify manufacturers. Before we can release certain material, we must, by law, provide firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on and review this information for confidentiality. We then review these comments and objections to determine which information to disclose. The complete processing is likely to take another few months.

We frequently find that many requesters' need for the information has passed by the time we have completed the processing required by law. If you want us to continue handling your request, please indicate so on the attached form. Also indicate your willingness to pay any expenses that may be involved. If we do not hear from you within 15 days, we will assume you are no longer interested in the material.

RE: Freedom of Information Request #09-F-000833: Request documents pertaining to the recall of Kolcraft Enterprises "Travelin' Tot" "Sesame Beginnings" "Jeep Sahara," "Contours 3-in1" Play Yards on September 27, 2007, PR#07-317, also the monthly corrective actions reports; information on the availability of the product in retail establishments (including online) information on injuries and incidents reports, along with consumer complaints that took place or were received after the recall was issued

Dear Ms. Kasiarz:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated June 25, 2009, to the Commission. To complete your request, we must do further extensive searches of our files or notify manufacturers. Before we can release certain material, we must, by law, provide firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on and review this information for confidentiality. We then review these comments and objections to determine which information to disclose. The complete processing is likely to take another few months.

We frequently find that many requesters' need for the information has passed by the time we have completed the processing required by law. If you want us to continue handling your request, please indicate so on the attached form. Also indicate your willingness to pay any expenses that may be involved. If we do not hear from you within 15 days, we will assume you are no longer interested in the material.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Kasiarz:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00825: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Laboratory and Scientific Records and Electronic Messages / Consumer Complaints and Reported Incidents

Dear Mr. McCraw:

This is a partial response to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request 09-F-00825 from Aaron Kessler seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). More of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed and copies of the releasable responsive records are enclosed on two compact discs. We will contact you as we continue to process the remaining records.

The enclosed records include file information generated by the Commission itself or its contractors for regulatory or enforcement purposes. These records are laboratory and scientific records and electronic messages between Commission staff and others regarding the technical and scientific issues related to your request. The Commission has established management systems under which supervisors are responsible for reviewing the work of their employees or contractors. The file information materials are final and have been prepared and accepted by the Commission's staff under such review systems. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of the information.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved: (1) for this disclosure, the duplication or direct costs for providing the records electronically is 3,900 pages X $0.10/page = $390.00; (2) file searching by professional personnel, 10 hours X $19.60/hour = $196.00; and (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 20 hours X $19.60/hour = $294.00.

The FOIA and the Commission's regulations also permit a waiver of a certain amount of the fees according to the type of request. In your case we have decided to waive the first $10.00 of the duplication costs and the entire search and review fees.

Forward the total amount due, $380.00, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

We have withheld other records and portions of records responsive to your request, specifically, the records regarding the Commission's Office of Compliance and Field Operations active and on-going litigation and law enforcement investigation pursuant to FOIA Exemptions 5 and 7(A), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(5) and (b)(7)(A). Exemption 5 provides for the withholding from disclosure of inter-agency and intra-agency memoranda which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency. The records being withheld consist of internal staff memoranda and correspondence containing recommendations, opinions, suggestions and analyses of the Commission's Compliance, technical and legal staffs. The records constitute both pre-decisional and deliberative discussions that clearly fall within the attorney-client and attorney-work product privileges. Any factual materials in the records not covered by some other exemption are inextricably intertwined with exempt materials or the disclosure of the factual materials would itself expose the deliberative process. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would impair the frank exchange of views necessary with respect to such matters.

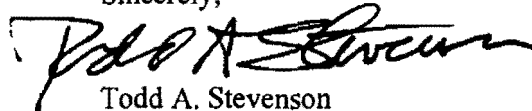

Exemption 7(A) provides for the withholding from disclosure records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings. The records being withheld consist of active and preliminary internal staff notes, memoranda, correspondence, analyses and other records. It would not be in the public interest to disclose these materials because disclosure would prematurely reveal information used in the investigation, thereby interfering with this matter by disclosing the government's basis for pursuing this matter.

We must also withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Finally, we have removed materials from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA") and will refer those materials to the EPA for a direct response to you. We have also removed certain proprietary and confidential information pertaining to contract negotiations that must be provided to the contractors for any claims as to the proprietary information. We will provide a response to this information when we complete the processing. We have also removed the identities of manufacturers to expedite this disclosure.

Sincerely,

Todd A. Stevenson

Dear Mr. Goldstein:

This is in partial response to your Appeal of Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request 10-F-00600 and the previous request 09-F-00825 from Aaron Kessler seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00825: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Kessler:

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available.

The enclosed records include Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to twenty-five product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

Additional records concerning Drywall including the EH&E 51-home test report, and the supporting data are now accessible from the Drywall page on CPSC's website at <http://www.cpsc.gov/info/drywall/index.html>.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Note that some of the American companies and manufacturers that are identified in the reports have commented to the Commission that they manufacture their products in the United States or North America, and do not import or use drywall products from China.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved:

(1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,600 pages X $0.10/page = $160.00;
(2) file searching by professional personnel, 7 hours X $19.60/hour = $137.20; and,
(3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 30 hours X $19.60/hour = $588.00. In this instance, we have decided to waive file search fees, review time fees and $10.00 duplication fees associated with this request.

Forward the total amount due, $150.00, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider a written request for a complete waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest, because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

Dear Mr. Stevenson,

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of:

(1) CPSC's Injury or Potential Injury Incidents (IPII) database. I am seeking every file in this database, including but not limited to news clippings, Medical Examiners and Coroners Alert Program (MECAP) reports, consumer complaints, letters from lawyers. If possible, I would like every file included in the IPII database, but would be willing to consider narrowing the scope to include only files submitted from Jan. 1, 2000 to the present (Oct. 26, 2009).

(2) CPSC's Death Certificate (DTHS) database. I would like every file included in the DTHS database, but would be willing to consider narrowing the scope to include only files submitted from Jan. 1, 2000 to the present (Oct. 26, 2009).

I would like to receive the information in electronic format, preferably Microsoft Excel, and delivered via an FTP link or on a DVD.

As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, I am gathering information on potential health threats that are of current interest to the public because This information is being sought for dissemination to the general public.

Please waive any applicable fees. Release of the information is in the public interest because it will contribute significantly to public understanding of government operations and activities.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

I look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Thank you for your assistance, and don't hesitate to contact me if there's anything I can clarify.

Sincerely,

Isaac Wolf

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00825: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Kessler:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). Enclosed on a CD are generic summaries of incidents and death certificates for all products.

Processing this part of your request, including searching files and preparing this information, cost $50.00. In this instance, we waived the charges.

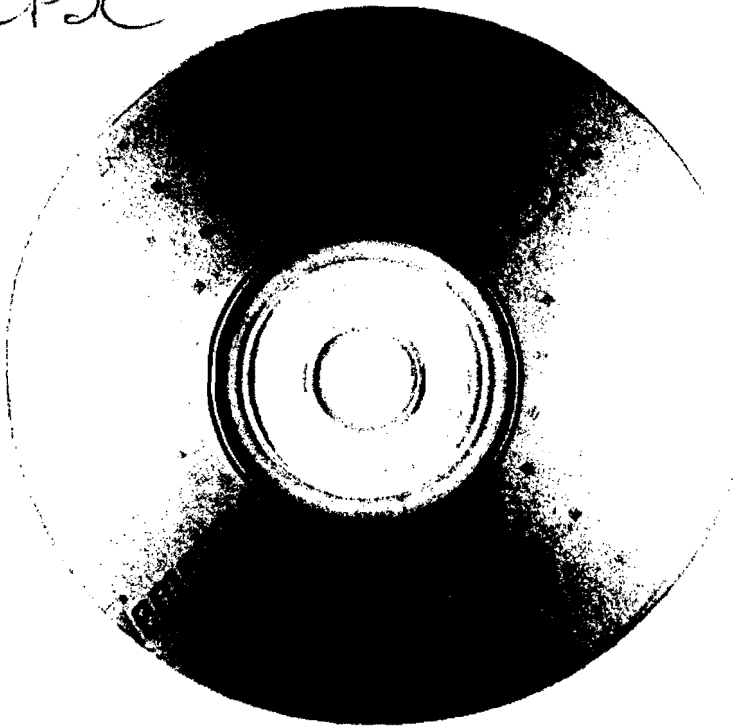

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA REQUEST 09-F-00825: CHINESE DRYWALL

Dear Mr. Stevenson:

After numerous and repeated attempts over the phone to resolve this issue, we are writing to formally respond to your letter dated November 3, 2009 and the partial set of records mailed to us in response to FOIA 09-F-00825.

As we clearly stated in our June 25, 2009 records request, we asked for the records to be provided in electronic format, if they were maintained or available electronically.

During the months of September and October, we discussed with you and/or your staff multiple times prior to the release of the initial records – specifically the “in-depth investigation” reports – our expressed wishes that the records be provided in an electronic format. We specifically stated that no paper records were to be sent unless and until we agreed to such a paper format, nor would we agree to pay for copying of paper records without our prior authorization. We reiterated once again that an electronic format was our strong stated preference.

On November 2, 2009, 44 in-depth investigation reports partially responsive to our request – totaling 1,811 pages – were indeed made available to us electronically. The records were provided in Adobe PDF format and made available at no charge.

However, despite this production of records electronically, your subsequent letter dated November 3, 2009 was accompanied by 1,900 pages of paper copies, including copies of the very same 1,811 pages of IDI reports. We did not ask for such paper copies of the IDI reports to be provided – in fact, quite the contrary.

Therefore, we request that the duplication costs the agency calculated for the paper copies – 1,900 pages at 10 cents a page, for a total of $190 – be immediately adjusted to remove the $181.10 for 1,811 pages we specifically did not want on paper, and which had already been provided in an electronic format.

We are currently prepared to pay for the 81 additional pages included in the initial partial response that were not IDI reports, but related to several product complaints. Therefore, we are currently prepared to forward a total payment for this initial set of records in the amount of $8.90.

We ask for your immediate response to this matter, so that we may pay the $8.90 within the 30 day period and have our account in this matter be considered current and paid in full.

We also reiterate our desire to have the full scope of our FOIA request honored as quickly as possible, to include all records responsive to our request. As our original request stated, these records are to include “all correspondence or communications sent to or received by any CPSC employee, including e-mails, letters, memos, instant messages, text messages or any communications in any other medium” related to Chinese drywall. It further stated: “We also seek all databases containing records related to Chinese drywall, including but not limited to drywall-related records contained in the CPSC’s consumer complaint database.”

This letter should also serve as a formal notice that The New York Times has decided to join us in this FOIA request. We look forward to your cooperation.

Thank you for your prompt attention,

Aaron Kessler

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00825: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Kessler:

This is in partial response to your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). A portion of the records from the Commission files responsive to your request have been processed. Enclosed are copies of the releasable responsive records that are now available. We will contact you as we complete the processing of the remaining records.

The enclosed records include forty-four Epidemiologic Investigation Reports with the underlying and supporting documentation and related product complaints or reported incidents where available. The Commission has received this information from its formal investigation systems. Through these systems the Commission hopes to learn when specific products are associated with illness, injury or death. The Commission believes that it has taken reasonable steps to assure the accuracy of this information. While conducting the interviews for the investigation reports, Commission staff or contractors have spoken with the individuals involved or with others who witnessed or are familiar with the incidents. Where possible, Commission staff has examined the products reportedly involved in the incidents. Although the Commission has investigated the incidents described in the investigation reports, the Commission has not necessarily determined the cause of the incidents.

Also enclosed are records pertaining to twenty-five product complaints and reported incidents submitted to the Commission by consumers or their attorneys or others. The consumers or submitters have confirmed the accuracy of the information in the complaints and reported incidents. The Commission has neither investigated the incidents nor conducted or obtained any evaluations of the products that corroborate the substance of the information contained in the complaints and reported incidents. In some of these cases, we have removed the identities of the complainants at their request.

Some of the manufacturers or private labelers identified have made comments regarding some of the records enclosed. To assure fairness to the manufacturers or private labelers, we are enclosing their comments attached to appropriate records.

Note that some of the American companies and manufacturers that are identified in the reports have commented to the Commission that they manufacture their products in the United States or North America and do not import or use drywall products from China.

Also enclosed are generic summaries of investigation reports and reported incident and complaints involving drywall products

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request to this time involved:

- (1) for this disclosure, the duplication of 1,900 pages X $0.10/page = $190.00;
- (2) file searching by professional personnel, 2 hours X $19.60/hour = $39.20; and
- (3) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, 6 hours X $19.60/hour = $117.60.

The FOIA and the Commission's regulations also permit a waiver of a certain amount of the fees according to the type of request. In your case we have decided to waive the first $10.00 of the duplication costs and the entire search and review fees.

Forward the total amount due, $180.00, (with your Tax Identification Number) made payable to the TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES with the enclosed copy of this letter to:

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION
Division of Financial Services, FMFS Room 522
4330 East West Highway
Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408

Note that after thirty days interest will be charged on amounts billed. Furthermore, if billing is not paid in a timely manner the Commission will require advance payment for your future requests and any pending requests.

We must withhold portions of the records that identify injured persons, persons treating them and other consumers pursuant to Exemptions 3 and 6 of the FOIA, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), and (b)(6), and section 25(c) of the Consumer Product Safety Act ("CPSA"), 15 U.S.C. § 2074(c)(1). FOIA Exemption 3 provides for the withholding from disclosure of matters that are specifically exempted from disclosure by another statute. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on CPSA section 25(c), which prohibits the disclosure of records that could identify injured parties and persons treating them without the consent from the individuals. FOIA Exemption 6 provides for the withholding of personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Absent authorizations to disclose the records from the persons identified in the records or their representatives, we believe that the records fall within the protection of the FOIA Exemptions to disclosure.

We are withholding the identity of a manufacturer from the investigation report designated 090521CBB1733, pursuant to Exemption 3 of the FOIA and section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA, 15 U.S.C. § 2055(b)(1), and our regulations, 16 C.F.R. § 1101.32. The manufacturer identified in the report has submitted comments that call into question the accuracy of the information in the report. In applying FOIA Exemption 3, we are relying on section 6(b)(1) of the CPSA. That section prohibits the Commission from disclosing information about a consumer product that identifies a manufacturer or private labeler unless the Commission has taken "reasonable steps" to assure that the information is accurate, that disclosure is fair in the circumstances, and that disclosure will be reasonably related to effectuating the purposes of the laws that the Commission administers. See Commission regulation, 16 C.F.R. § 1101.32. The Commission's policy is to withhold each consumer complaint and reported incident unless: (1) the Commission has conducted an investigation of the complaint and reported incident, and the investigation corroborates the substance of the complaint and reported incident; (2) the Commission has conducted or obtained a technical, scientific, or other evaluation of the product that is the subject of the complaint and reported incident, and evaluation corroborates the substance of the information contained in the complaint and reported incident; or (3) the consumer or person reporting or submitting the incident confirms the accuracy of the information. We have carefully reviewed this information and it does not meet the criteria for disclosure.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.7, a partial denial of access to records may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

We have removed from some of the reports the identities of manufacturers of products other than the drywall and building products.

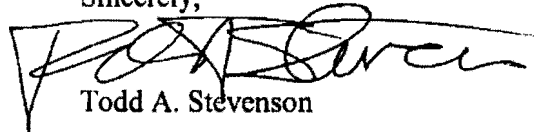

Our file searches and review of the files has revealed investigative, laboratory and litigation files and incident records that contain thousands of documents with information submitted by manufacturer's and other agency correspondence and documents that include records about manufacturer's products that would have to be processed to complete your request. In addition, we must, by law, provide any firms whose identities can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on the disclosure. If the companies claim that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and re-notify the firms if we overrule any claims. At this time, we estimate that the processing may require 80 hours of professional file searching and reviewing and the potential release of 15,000 pages of materials.

Given the voluminous nature of your request and the Commission's numerous types of records and files that must be processed, we estimate that the costs to complete the processing of your request will likely exceed $3,000. We need you to indicate in writing the extent of your willingness to pay any fees that would be incurred in the processing of your request.

You may want to limit your request to reduce the fee estimate. It will expedite the processing and reduce any fees if you would narrow the scope of your request to certain types of documents or specific products, models or model numbers, years of manufacture, or specific incidents or hazard scenarios.

The Commission's Freedom of Information Officer, Office of the Secretary, will consider a written request for a complete waiver of the assessed fees when the requester can show that disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest, because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and disclosure of the requested information is not primarily in the commercial interest of the requester. Other factors to be considered are listed in the regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9(f)(5).

Sincerely,

Re: FOIA Request 09-F-00825: Chinese Drywall, Gypsum Board, Wallboard, Plasterboard or Sheetrock / Complaints, Reported Incidents, Investigations of Incidents and Commission Investigation Records

Dear Mr. Kessler:

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") request seeking information from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission"). We have located records that are responsive to your request. Before we can release this material, we must, by law, provide any manufacturers or private labelers whose identities can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment. Therefore, we first must give the information we intend to release and a copy of your letter to the firms. The firms have 15 days to respond. If the companies claim that the information is inaccurate or confidentiality for proprietary information, we must evaluate these comments and re-notify the firms if we overrule any claims.

Please be assured that we are handling your request as quickly as possible. We simultaneously are writing to you and notifying the firms. The firms' responses and our analysis of any comments, however, will take more than 30 days. You will receive all records to be released at the earliest possible date.

For more information about the Consumer Product Safety Act and the regulations, please refer to our website <http://www.cpsc.gov/library/foia/foia.html> and click on the link for "FOIA Requester Service Center and FOIA Public Liaisons." If you do not have access to the internet and would prefer to receive hard copies of the regulations and fact sheet, please contact us and we will provide the copies.

Sincerely,

RE: FOIA Request #09-F-00825: Seeks any and all records from any office of the CPSC dating January 1, 2008, to the present that mention or relate to Chinese manufactured drywall, also known as gypsum board, wallboard, plasterboard or sheetrock.

Dear Mr. Kessler:

This acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request seeking records from the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and also assigns your FOIA request number.

Due to certain procedural steps we are required to take under our statute, there may be delays in providing the records. Please be assured that every effort is being made to process each request as equitably as possible, and that the records or information that you have requested will be made available to you at the earliest possible date.

If you have any questions concerning the status of your request, contact our office and provide your assigned FOIA request number.

Dear Sir or Madam:

The Sarasota Herald-Tribune, a New York Times Co.-owned daily newspaper, makes this request for records, regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics, and including electronic records and information, reports, communications, audiotapes, videotapes, and photographs, pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, et seq.

Specifically, the Herald-Tribune seeks any and all records from any office of the Consumer Product Safety Commission dating from January 1, 2008, to the present that mention or relate to Chinese-manufactured drywall, also known as gypsum board, wallboard, plasterboard or sheetrock.

We are particularly interested in any and all documents and records produced, sent, or received by any CPSC employee or commissioner, including all reports such as "in-depth investigation" reports (IDIs) and lab test reports, and all correspondence or communications sent to or received by any CPSC employee, including e-mails, letters, memos, instant messages, text messages or any communications in any other medium. We also seek all databases containing records related to Chinese drywall, including but not limited to drywall-related records contained in the CPSC's consumer complaint database.

This request should also be understood to include all materials sent to the CPSC by any company associated with the use of Chinese-manufactured drywall or suspected of such an association, including but not limited to builders, manufacturers, suppliers, importers, exporters, shippers, general contractors and subcontractors. Additionally, all documents, records and correspondence of any kind between any CPSC employee and any representative of the Chinese government, including but not limited to Chinese regulatory authorities, are to be included.

Please search for responsive records regardless of format, medium, or physical characteristics. We seek records of any kind, including electronic records, audiotapes, videotapes, photographs, and back-up tapes. Our request includes any telephone messages, voice mail messages, daily agenda and calendars, information about scheduled meetings and/or discussions, whether in-person or over the telephone, agendas for those meetings and/or discussions, participants included in those meetings and/or discussions, minutes of any such meetings and/or discussions, the topics discussed at those meetings and/or discussions, e-mail regarding meetings and/or discussions, e-mail or facsimiles sent as a result of those meetings and/or discussions, and transcripts and notes of any such meetings and/or discussions to the extent they relate to the aforementioned requested information.

If the requested records are maintained or available in an electronic format, then we specifically request that they to be provided to us in a useable electronic format.

Bond Manufacturing Co. Issues Recall for Folding Recliner Chairs That Can Collapse and Injure Users

Name of Product: Rockingham Deluxe Lounge Chairs (also sold as Vanderwall Folding Recliner Chairs)

Units: About 68,000

Importer: Bond Manufacturing Co., of Baypoint, Calif.

Hazard: The chairs can collapse or fall backward due to faulty support brackets or weak frames, posing fall and severe laceration hazards to consumers.

Incidents/Injuries: Bond is aware of 13 incidents in which the recalled chairs fell backwards or collapsed. There have been eight reports of injuries. Four consumers reported injuries to their shoulder, back or neck, one consumer reported an injury to her head, two consumers reported hand injuries, and one consumer suffered a severe laceration to the tip of her finger when the chair collapsed.

Description: The recalled recliner chairs have a mesh covering attached to the steel frame by a woven cord. The chairs were sold in the following colors: bronze, navy blue, spa blue, spa green, spa linen, orange, lime, teal and taupe. The recliners are about 40 inches long, 28 inches wide and 46 inches high.

Sold at: Hardware, variety and discount department stores nationwide from December 2006 through April 2007 for between $35 and $100.

Manufactured in: China

Remedy: Consumers should stop using the recalled chairs immediately and return them to the store where purchased for a full refund.

Consumer Contact: For additional information, contact Bond toll-free at (866) 771-2663 between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. PT Monday through Friday, or visit the firm's Web site at www.bondmfg.com

I was told to email a request for information on reported incidents pertaining to this food processor, from this address. If this is not where I could obtain information about this machine, could you please let me know where to search. We filed a report about this machine 2 months ago and CPSC has come and inspected our processor. We are looking for information about previous injuries/reports of injuries.

Thanks

Dear Ms. Shin:

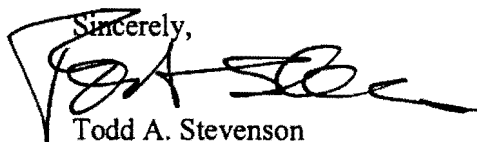

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") requests to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission ("Commission") seeking expedited processing of your request for information.

You state that the records are sought on an expedited basis because "[t]he public has an urgent need for information about Simplicity, linc., because the company's products have been linked to the deaths of five infants in recent years. Your statement does not set forth a claim that a "compelling need" exists for the expedited processing under Commission regulations. You have not demonstrated that the failure to obtain the requested records on an expedited basis could reasonably be expected to pose an imminent threat to the life or physical safety of an individual or that there is an urgency to inform the public concerning actual or alleged Federal Government activity. See 16 C.F.R. § 1015.5(f)(1). I am therefore denying your requests for expedited processing.

According to the Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. §§ 1015.5(f)((4) and 1015.7, any denial of a request for expedited processing of an FOIA request may be appealed within thirty (30) days of your receipt of this letter by writing to: FOIA APPEAL, General Counsel, ATTN: Office of the Secretary, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, 4330 East West Highway, Bethesda, Maryland 20814-4408.

We are continuing to conduct the file searches to collect the records responsive to your request. We will contact you as soon as the processing of your request is completed.

Dear FOI Officer:

Pursuant to the federal Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552, I request access to and copies of (1) FOIA requests made to the agency from Dec. 2007 to Sept. 1 2008; (2) Any documents pertaining to Simplicity, Simplicity products, SFCA, SFCA products, deaths associated with cribs or bassinets or play yards that have been released under the Freedom of Information Act in the past 12 months; (3) notes, power point presentations, summaries, and/or minutes of ASTM meetings attended by CPSC staff regarding cribs or bassinets within the past 12 months.

I would like to receive the information in electronic format.

EXTRA copy

I agree to pay reasonable duplication fees for the processing of this request in an amount not to exceed $100. However, please notify me prior to your incurring any expenses in excess of that amount.

As a representative of the news media I am only required to pay for the direct cost of duplication after the first 100 pages. Through this request, I am gathering information on Simplicity that is of current interest to the public because two infants have died in the past year in Simplicity bassinets and retailers are in the midst of recalling the bassinets in question. This information is being sought on behalf of Washington Post for dissemination to the general public.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. I will also expect you to release all segregable portions of otherwise exempt material. I, of course, reserve the right to appeal your decision to withhold any information or to deny a waiver of fees.

As I am making this request as a journalist and this information is of timely value, I would appreciate your communicating with me by telephone, rather than by mail, if you have questions regarding this request.

Please provide expedited review of this request which concerns a matter of urgency. As a journalist, I am primarily engaged in disseminating information. The public has an urgent need for information about Simplicity Inc. because the company's products have been linked to the deaths of five infants in recent years. I certify that my statements concerning the need for expedited review are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

I look forward to your reply within 20 business days, as the statute requires.

Thank you for your assistance.

Dear Mr. Pritchard:

RE: FOIA Request S7090062; Export notification database covering instances where companies requested to export recalled products to other countries (1993 to 2007)

Thank you for your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requested dated September 17, 2007, to the Commission. To complete your request we must do further extensive searches of our files or notify manufacturers. Before we can release certain material, we must by law, provide firms whose identity can be readily ascertained by the public, the opportunity to comment on and review this information or confidentiality. We then review these comments and objections to determine which information to disclose. The complete processing is likely to take another few months.

We frequently find that many requesters' need for the information has passed by the time we have completed the processing required by law. If you want us to continue handling your request please indicate so, on the attached form.

Sincerely,

Alberta E. Mills

Dear Angela:

This is a request under the Freedom of Information Act.

I request that a copy of the following documents [or documents containing the following information] be provided to me:

-- The export notification database covering all instances in which companies have requested to export recalled products to another country. I would like this database to cover the time period 1993 to the present. If electronic records are easily available prior to 1993, please include those in this request. I also would like all supporting documents, including letters sent to foreign governments about the intent to export these products from the U.S. to that country.

D. Y

This request should be easy to expedite: the Commission provided similar information in 2001 to then-LA Times reporter Russell Carollo (Request No. S1050153), and updated that request within the last year (Mr. Carollo is now a reporter at the Sacramento Bee).

To help to determine my status to assess fees, you should know that I am a veteran reporter with The Associated Press who regularly writes investigative stories based on FOIA requests. This request falls along those lines: it is part of reportorial work that serves the public interest. I will not use this data for commercial purposes.

The Commission provided the information to Carollo without charge. I request that the same be applied to me; in other words, I request a waiver of all fees for this request. Disclosure of the requested information s in the public

Mr. Pritchard,

You are quite welcome. Yes, I realized that the subject line was cut off in the system generated acknowledgement letter. Hence, the attachment of the database screenshot which shows a little more of the subject line and the additional request information that was entered into the notes section of the file.

In RE: to the charges for Mr. Carollo's second request which occurred a year ago, as I stated earlier, we now charge to process most requests that incur $50.00 or more of the agency's resources. Typically, any incurred costs below $50.00 the agency is allowed to waive.

Here are our fees:

The Commission's FOIA regulations at 16 C.F.R. § 1015.9, provide for the charging of fees resulting from the processing of FOIA requests. The processing of your request involved:

- (1) the duplication of ? pages X $0.10/page = $;
- (2) file searching by clerical personnel, ? hours X $12.00/hour = $;
- (3) file searching by professional personnel, ? hours X $19.60/hour = $;
- (4) review time to determine whether records were permitted to be withheld, ? hours X $19.60/hour = $; and
- (5) preparation of computerized records: central processing unit (CPU) time, ? seconds X $0.32/second = $; and ? line printed X $10.00/1,000 = $.

Of course, we will charge the FOIA professional personnel rate for worked performed by the IT staff and other agency professionals (who earn a great deal more per hour) involved in fulfilling your request, if their services are required.

At this time, I don't know the status of the disclosed material Mr. Carollo received. To clarify your request, you have asked for an additional year's worth of data and for data that may be available prior to 1993 in electronic format. Therefore, the scope of the requests are more than likely not the same. If we can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Angela,

Thanks for this -- your prompt reply, your professional approach. Two quick things in response:

-- In the attached PDF file, the third line of the "RE:" field up top is cut off. It's not a big deal, but if you have a version that is intact, I'd appreciate receiving it.

-- Regarding fees charged to Carollo: My understanding is that he was not charged anything in September 2006 when he asked for and received an update of the database (in other words, data from 2001-2006). So there were two requests -- 2001 and 2006 -- and he didn't have to pay for either. Even if there has been a change in fee policy, the fact that this is a request which already has been run would seem to suggest minimal effort by CPSC programmers.

Justin

¶ Sacramento Bee (California)

¶ September 9, 2007 Sunday METRO FINAL EDITION

¶ U.S. ships unsafe products; Since long before China furor, federal agency has OK'd exporting goods banned in America.

¶ BYLINE: Russell Carollo Bee Staff Writer

¶ SECTION: MAIN NEWS; Pg. A1

¶ LENGTH: 1657 words

9/17/2007

¶ Ten days ago, the Consumer Product Safety Commission announced another in a series of well-publicized recalls of Chinese-made goods: children's art sets containing crayons, markers, pastels, pencils, water colors -- and lead -- distributed by Toys "R" Us.

¶ "Consumers should immediately take the products away from children," warned a news release from the federal government's watchdog for thousands of household items. "The CPSC is committed to protecting consumers and families."

¶ But 13 months earlier, in July 2006, the CPSC, without a press release or corresponding media attention, authorized a Los Angeles company to export to Venezuela 16,520 art sets that violated the same CPSC standard protecting children from dangerous art supplies. The following month, the agency authorized a Miami company to export to Jamaica 5,184 sets of wax crayons that also violated the standard.

¶ Though recalls coordinated by the CPSC of Chinese-made goods have made headlines recently, for decades the federal agency has allowed American-based companies to export products deemed unsafe here.

¶ Those products can present an even greater danger in a country that has only a handful of government employees devoted to consumer protection, said R. David Pittle, a former acting CPSC chairman who spent 22 years as a senior vice president for Consumers Union.

¶ "If the United States doesn't have very many inspectors, how many do you think there are in Honduras or Jamaica or Trinidad or Bulgaria?" Pittle asked.

¶ Using the CPSC's database of exports of non-approved products and hundreds of pages of documents obtained through the federal Freedom of Information Act, The Bee found that between October 1993 and September 2006, the CPSC received 1,031 requests from companies to export products the agency had found unsafe for American consumers. The CPSC approved 991 of those requests, or 96 percent.

¶ Agency spokesman Scott Wolfson said the CPSC is simply following export notification law "as Congress spelled it out for us." But CPSC Commissioner Thomas Moore strongly objected to the policy.

¶ "Our agency, through our governing statutes, cannot claim much moral superiority over the Chinese, or any other foreign country, when it comes to our own export policy," Moore said in a list of his legislative proposals submitted to Congress in July. "Our export policy is based on a desire to see U.S. manufacturers be able to compete in foreign countries in terms of price and marketability, not safety.

¶ "... It is somewhat hypocritical of us to berate any other country for not requiring their manufacturers to abide by the myriad U.S. mandatory and voluntary product safety standards."

¶ The CPSC database did not identify how many of the approved exports were products made outside the United States that simply were returned to their manufacturers and how many made here or elsewhere were actually exported for sale in other countries. The data also represent just a portion of all products violating CPSC standards exported from the United States to other countries.

¶ Under current law, companies have to seek CPSC approval when they export products that violate mandatory standards or bans. But only about 13 percent of CPSC standards are mandatory.

¶ The agency is under a congressional mandate to first pursue voluntary standards, which lack the force of law, and companies exporting products that violate voluntary standards are not required to notify CPSC before exporting.

¶ The largest number of requests to the CPSC to export banned goods came from California companies, which accounted for about one-third, or 338, of the total during the period reviewed by The Bee. The vast

¶ One Stop Customs Brokers of Los Angeles, the company that applied to ship the art materials to Venezuela for another Los Angeles company, Kico Toys, told The Bee that the materials had landed in California by mistake. Customs broker Randy Tang said officials with Kico Toys told him the art sets should have gone directly from China to Venezuela.

¶ Days before the Kico Toys request, Tang's company applied to CPSC on behalf of S H Toys Inc. of Los Angeles to ship 15,120 banned toy trains, buses and other toys to the Caribbean. The CPSC agreed and notified the Embassy of Grenada, but Tang said those toys never were exported.

¶ At S H Toys, a woman who identified herself as the owner and would give only her first name, Lisa, said her company decided not to ship the toys because of safety concerns. Incorporation documents identify the company's owner/president as Lisa Tran.

¶ At least 18 of the export requests reviewed by The Bee were from the San Francisco Bay Area, and one company, All That Glitters, once located on Second Street in San Francisco, accounted for eight of those.

¶ On April 12, 1996, a CPSC news release announced that All That Glitters Inc. was the target of the government's first criminal prosecution of corporate officers under the federal Flammable Fabrics Act. The release said company owners David and Gail Daly had pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court to a criminal charge of willfully violating federal law and violating CPSC flammability safety requirements.

¶ The company was accused of selling chiffon skirts, blouses and scarves that did not meet standards protecting the public from "highly flammable wearing apparel," according to the release.

¶ "Mr. and Mrs. Daly's willful misconduct placed consumers at risk from serious burn injuries," then-CPSC Chairwoman Ann Brown was quoted as saying. "These guilty pleas underscore our tough stance against any individuals who ignore their safety obligations."

¶ Still, before and after the Dalys' guilty pleas, the CPSC approved four requests by All That Glitters to export scarves and other clothing, which, according to CPSC, violated the same American flammability standards. Letters seeking permission to export to Romania, Brazil and Panama were signed by company owner David Daly.

¶ The CPSC approved four other requests by the company in 1994 and 1995, but detailed records of those were not available.

¶ Reached on Thursday, Gail Daly said she and her husband started exporting the clothing after the CPSC investigation began in late 1994 or early 1995. The investigation, which eventually forced the company to close in 1998, started when a disgruntled former employee reported them, Daly said.

¶ "That was why we were looking for other places to send them because we couldn't sell them in the United States," she said. "I don't think they (CPSC) care what goes to other countries."

¶ CPSC approved one of the All That Glitters requests, to ship 693 of the scarves from San Francisco to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, just two months before announcing the guilty pleas. It approved the export of 15,170 rayon chiffon dresses, skirts, blouses and scarves to Zona Libre Colon, Panama, more than a year after it announced the pleas.

¶ Shipment of 1,500 scarves and other pieces of clothing made in India and bound for Bucharest, Romania, was approved in October 1995, and two months later shipment of more than 20,000 scarves and pieces of clothing was approved for Bahia, Brazil.

¶ Among the 4 percent of export requests denied were several destined for Canada or Mexico. CPSC records show that the agency was concerned the banned products could cross the borders and re-enter the United States and that the agency approves exports to Canada and Mexico only when the products are being returned to the manufacturer.

¶ "We're very concerned about them coming back over the border into the country," said Wolfson, the CPSC spokesman.

¶ On Sept. 7, 2005, Great Lakes Products Inc., of Indianapolis filed two requests to ship products containing isobutyl nitrite, used as a fragrance in such things as room odorizers. CPSC denied the shipment to Canada, but approved the request to ship between 14,400 and 28,800 bottles of room odorant containing the same banned chemical to the Czech Republic.

¶ Isobutyl nitrite, used in inhalers known as "poppers" to enhance sexual arousal, was banned in the United States in 1988 following allegations of medical side effects, including the spread of AIDS.

¶ Attorney Walt Sanders, a vice president for a Washington-area lobbying firm who spoke on behalf of Great Lakes Products, said the products were produced in the United States for export.

¶ "If Great Lakes wants to sell these products to any country in the world that will accept these products, they're free to do so, as long as they don't sell them in the United States," Sanders said.

¶ Pittle, the former CPSC acting chairman, said he tried unsuccessfully to get the commission to prevent the export of non-approved products.

¶ "To me it's like a no-brainer that the children of the consumers in another country will feel the pain of a dangerous product just like they would here in the United States, so I don't think it's OK to dump this stuff in another country," said Pittle, who also served as a CPSC commissioner from 1973 to 1982. "Small parts with toys that can lodge in kids' throat. I think that's probably universal no matter where you go. It's global."

¶ Robert S. Alder, a legal adviser to CPSC commissioners and now a professor of entrepreneurship at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, suggested the agency's export policy could end up harming American trade.

¶ "Twenty-five years from now when Romania or some of these other countries have really turned up their economies and they're sort of looking to see where they want to do business," he said, "are they really going to be that interested in doing business with a country that was dumping stuff in their countries that would not have been safe to sell in the United States?"

Dear Angela:

I request that a copy of the following documents [or documents containing the following information] be provided to me:

-- The export notification database covering all instances in which companies have requested to export recalled products to another country. I would like this database to cover the time period 1993 to the present. If electronic records are easily available prior to 1993, please include those in this request. I also would like all supporting documents, including letters sent to foreign governments about the intent to export these products from the U.S. to that country.

This request should be easy to expedite: the Commission provided similar information in 2001 to then-LA Times reporter Russell Carollo (Request No. S1050153), and updated that request within the last year (Mr. Carollo is now a reporter at the Sacramento Bee).

To help to determine my status to assess fees, you should know that I am a veteran reporter with The Associated Press who regularly writes investigative stories based on FOIA requests. This request falls along those lines: it is part of reportorial work that serves the public interest. I will not use this data for commercial purposes.

The Commission provided the information to Carollo without charge. I request that the same be applied to me; in other words, I request a waiver of all fees for this request. Disclosure of the requested information is in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding of the operations or activities of the government and is not primarily in my commercial interest.

Thank you for your consideration of this request. Please let me know if you have any questions or would like any clarifications.

Sincerely,

Justin Pritchard
