“Administration of the Freedom of Information Act: Current Trends.”

Good afternoon Chairman Clay, Ranking Member McHenry, and Members of the Subcommittee. My name is Larry Gottesman, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA's) Freedom of Information (FOI) Officer. I am pleased to appear before you today to discuss EPA's Freedom of Information Act program during Sunshine Week.

EPA is committed to the letter and spirit of the Administration's Open Government and Transparency goals. EPA demonstrates this commitment by constantly striving for reductions in processing time for initial FOIA requests and administrative appeals. EPA recognizes that emerging technology creates new opportunities for improving the FOIA processes throughout the federal sector, and continues to collaborate with other federal agencies in this regard.

Administrator Jackson issued a memorandum to all employees on April 23, 2009 that communicated her commitment to "Transparency in EPA's Operations". The Administrator said, "As President Obama stated, the Freedom of Information Act should be administered with a clear presumption that openness prevails. All Agency personnel should ensure that this principle of openness is applied to the extent possible when responding to a FOIA request. Managers should give their staffs and the Agency's FOI professionals the support needed to satisfy FOIA's transparency requirement in as timely and efficient a manner as possible. In accordance with guidance issued by Attorney General Holder on March 19, 2009, EPA offices should exercise their discretion in favor of disclosing documents whenever possible under the FOIA. Offices should assert an exemption to disclosure only where the Agency reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by an exemption or disclosure is prohibited by law. Offices should also take steps to make information public on the Agency's Web site without waiting for a request from the public to do so."

I would like to take a few minutes to explain how EPA is addressing the FOIA backlog, striving to improve timeliness, exploring new technology, and embracing the mandate for greater transparency.

Backlog

First and foremost, the Agency's FOIA backlog has decreased dramatically. In July 2001, there were 23,514 overdue FOIA requests. EPA took aggressive steps to address this situation. EPA revised FOIA procedures and processes, deployed updated information technology tools, and collaborated with subject matter experts across the Agency to eliminate overdue FOIA requests. In a 2006 report to the Department of Justice (DOJ), the Agency stated that it may always have a backlog given the number and complexity of FOIA requests that it receives. Nevertheless, EPA committed to reducing its backlog to not more than 10 percent of new FOIA requests each year. EPA has met this aggressive milestone since 2007 and continued to exceed this performance level in all subsequent years. EPA received 10,404 requests in FY 2009; however, its total backlog was just 332 at the end of fiscal year 2009, or just over 3% of all incoming requests. Furthermore, the number of overdue FOIA appeals has decreased significantly even though the number of appeals has increased. At the end of FY 2009, the number of overdue appeals was reduced to 79. The lessons learned over the years have positioned EPA to maintain low backlog and high customer service that are integral to open government.

Timeliness

In spite of EPA's dramatic reduction of overdue requests, the Agency continues to seek innovative ways to improve its responsiveness. For example, each year the Agency receives thousands of FOIA requests seeking information on specific parcels of land as part of the due diligence in real estate transactions. The Agency is creating an online-searchable database that will make this information readily available to the public, thereby reducing the need for FOIA requests. By proactively disclosing environmental information before it becomes the subject of a FOIA request, EPA will significantly reduce the time required for the public we serve to access the information we maintain.

EPA also reduced the response time for issuing decisions on fee waivers, and expedited processing requests by centralizing these processes within its headquarters National FOI staff. The consolidation ensures that the same high standards of timeliness and law are applied to each decision issued by the Agency. EPA conducts annual FOIA trainings for its employees. Monthly meetings are held with the Agency's headquarters and regional FOI contacts by the Agency FOI Officer.

Technology

The Agency continues to look at new technologies to assist the processing of FOIA requests, particularly the processing of email and electronic records. EPA developed a software application for processing large e-mail searches and responses. The application allows for duplicate email messages to be identified and removed, facilitating more timely review and processing. In addition, the National FOI Program currently is collaborating with Agency information technology staff to improve the efficiency for conducting key word searches on the Agency's e-mail servers. This service will expedite FOIA searches and assure that all responsive e-mails maintained on the Agency's e-mail system are identified.

EPA also deployed redaction software to help process electronic records. The application uses "pixel" replacement to permanently remove information being withheld from disclosure, eliminating the risk associated with technologies that electronically "white out" information which can later be restored. The redaction software expedites the processing of FOIA responses while protecting information that should not be released.

Transparency

The Agency embraced the mandate for greater transparency. EPA posted data bases to its Web site containing information frequently requested under FOIA. For example, an individual desiring to export an automobile is required to produce a certificate issued by EPA. In the past, the individual had to make a FOIA request for the certification and then wait for the Agency to respond to the request. Promoting transparency, quicker access and accountability, EPA's FOI Officer worked with the Agency's Office of Air and Radiation to make the database available online. The public can now go directly to EPA's FOIA Web site (epa.gov/foia) and print the certificate(s) in seconds without having to file a FOIA request; previously, the public had to wait days or weeks to obtain the necessary documentation after submitting a request. In addition, the Agency recently launched a Web page in March 2009 that allows requesters to easily obtain the status of their FOIA requests on the "Status of My FOIA Request" site at http://www.epa.gov/foia/foia_request_status.html.

EPA's Office of Pesticide Programs (OPP) completely redesigned its electronic FOIA reading room to make tens of thousands of highly sought after pesticide science and regulatory records publicly available without the filing of a FOIA request. OPP established a dual component electronic reading room by making documents available on its FOIA Website and on the Regulations.gov Web site. The OPP FOIA Web site provides access to approximately 13,000 OPP scientific reviews on 300 pesticide active ingredients. The Regulations.gov regulatory repository contains approximately 800 pesticide product registration working files comprising some 150,000 pages. Since making these highly sought after records available on the Web, FOIA requests for this information have plummeted from twenty percent to three percent of all FOIA requests received by this office. The high demand scientific reviews and pesticide registration information are vital to industry, interest groups, state, local, and foreign governments, and many other stakeholders. Other parts of the Agency are exploring opportunities to use similar technology in proactively disclosing records.

EPA publishes extensive information on its Web site and continues to look for additional information to publish. Additionally, EPA continues to engage the public through FOIA Requester Forums held in conjunction with National and Regional training sessions. In the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, EPA created a Web site to allow the public access to Hurricane-related information as soon as it became available at <http://www.epa.gov/katrina/>. While this site is no longer being updated it is still available to the public for reference purposes. Currently EPA is actively participating in the Data.gov effort by making datasets -- which have been accessible through Envirofacts and My Environment -- available now in open, downloadable formats that enhance access and support user creation of customized reports by individuals and businesses, reducing the need to file FOIA requests. The requested reports are often used for real estate transactions as part of the due diligence package. It is anticipated that this tool may reduce the number of Agency FOIA requests by 20 percent by allowing the public direct access to this environmental information.

Conclusion

In conclusion, EPA is proud of the accomplishments with its FOIA administration responsibilities and continues to proactively disclose information and reduce FOIA requests for publicly available information. I would be pleased to answer any questions from the Subcommittee.

2. Basic terms expressed in common terminology

- a. Administrative Appeal - a request to a federal agency asking that it review at a higher administrative level a FOIA determination made by the agency at the initial request level.
- b. Average Number - the number obtained by dividing the sum of a group of numbers by the quantity of numbers in the group. For example, of 3, 7, and 14, the average number is 8.
- c. Backlog - the number of requests or administrative appeals that are pending at an agency at the end of the fiscal year that are beyond the statutory time period for a response.
- d. Component - for agencies that process requests on a decentralized basis, a "component" is an entity, also sometimes referred to as an Office, Division, Bureau, Center, or Directorate, within the agency that processes FOIA requests.
- e. Consultation - the procedure whereby the agency responding to a FOIA request first forwards a record to another agency for its review because that other agency has an interest in the document. Once the agency in receipt of the consultation finishes its review of the record, it responds back to the agency that forwarded it. That agency, in turn, will then respond to the FOIA requester.
- f. Exemption 3 Statute - a federal statute that exempts information from disclosure and which the agency relies on to withhold information under subsection (b)(3) of the FOIA.
- g. FOIA Request - a FOIA request is generally a request to a federal agency for access to records concerning another person (i.e., a "third-party" request), or concerning an organization, or a particular topic of interest. FOIA requests also include requests made by requesters seeking records concerning themselves (i.e., "first-party" requests) when those requesters are not subject to the Privacy Act, such as non-U.S. citizens. Moreover, because all first-party requesters should be afforded the benefit of both the access provisions of the FOIA as well as those of the Privacy Act, FOIA requests also include any first-party requests where an agency determines that it must search beyond its Privacy Act "systems of records" or where a Privacy Act exemption applies, and the agency looks to FOIA to afford the greatest possible access. All requests which require the agency to utilize the FOIA in responding to the requester are included in this Report.

Additionally, a FOIA request includes records referred to the agency for processing and direct response to the requester. It does not, however, include records for which the agency has received a consultation from another agency. (Consultations are reported separately in Section XII of this Report.)

- h. Full Grant - an agency decision to disclose all records in full in response to a FOIA request.

- i. Full Denial - an agency decision not to release any records in response to a FOIA request because the records are exempt in their entireties under one or more of the FOIA exemptions, or because of a procedural reason, such as when no records could be located.
- j. Median Number - the middle, not average, number. For example, of 3, 7, and 14, the median number is 7.
- k. Multi-Track Processing - a system in which simple requests requiring relatively minimal review are placed in one processing track and more voluminous and complex requests are placed in one or more other tracks. Requests granted expedited processing are placed in yet another track. Requests in each track are processed on a first in/first out basis.
 - i. Expedited Processing - an agency will process a FOIA request on an expedited basis when a requester satisfies the requirements for expedited processing as set forth in the statute and in agency regulations.
 - ii. Simple Request - a FOIA request that an agency using multi-track processing places in its fastest (non-expedited) track based on the low volume and/or simplicity of the records requested.
 - iii. Complex Request - a FOIA request that an agency using multi-track processing places in a slower track based on the high volume and/or complexity of the records requested.
- l. Partial Grant/Partial Denial - in response to a FOIA request, an agency decision to disclose portions of the records and to withhold other portions that are exempt under the FOIA, or to otherwise deny a portion of the request for a procedural reason.
- m. Pending Request or Pending Administrative Appeal - a request or administrative appeal for which an agency has not taken final action in all respects.
- n. Perfected Request - a request for records which reasonably describes such records and is made in accordance with published rules stating the time, place, fees (if any) and procedures to be followed.
- o. Processed Request or Processed Administrative Appeal - a request or administrative appeal for which an agency has taken final action in all respects.
- p. Range in Number of Days - the lowest and highest number of days to process requests or administrative appeals.
- q. Time Limits - the time period in the statute for an agency to respond to a FOIA request (ordinarily twenty working days from receipt of a perfected FOIA request).

3. Include the following concise descriptions of the nine FOIA exemptions:
- a. Exemption 1: classified national defense and foreign relations information
 - b. Exemption 2: internal agency rules and practices
 - c. Exemption 3: information that is prohibited from disclosure by another federal law
 - d. Exemption 4: trade secrets and other confidential business information
 - e. Exemption 5: inter-agency or intra-agency communications that are protected by legal privileges
 - f. Exemption 6: information involving matters of personal privacy
 - g. Exemption 7: records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, to the extent that the production of those records (A) could reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings, (B) would deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication, (C) could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, (D) could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of a confidential source, (E) would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or (F) could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any individual
 - h. Exemption 8: information relating to the supervision of financial institutions
 - i. Exemption 9: geological information on wells

F. Discussion of Other FOIA Activities (Optional)

In FY2010, EPAs' FOIA program:

- reduced EPA's backlog of overdue FOIA request to 329;
- improved the Agency's effectiveness and consistency by consolidating and standardizing procedures to respond to fee waivers and expedited processing requests;
- increased transparency and access to information by proactively posting information that is frequently sought through FOIA requests and by launching an on-line Web site informing FOIA requesters of the status of their requests.

Even before the President's 2009 memoranda on access and disclosure, EPA's National FOIA Program embarked on an effort to improve timeliness, accountability and transparency in the processing of FOIA requests submitted to the Agency. In the early part of 2000, the Agency had over 23,000 overdue FOIA requests and two of the oldest overdue requests in the federal government. EPA revised procedures and processes, deployed updated information technology tools, and collaboratively worked with subject matter experts across the Agency to successfully reduce the number of pending FOIA requests from 23,000 to 783 by the end of FY2008. EPA was able to further reduce its overdue FOIA request to 329 by the end of FY2010.

In embracing the President's mandate for greater transparency, the National FOIA Program worked with EPA Headquarters and Regional Offices to make data bases containing information that is frequently requested under FOIA available to the public through EPA's Web sites. For example, an individual who seeks to export an automobile is required to produce a certificate issued by EPA. In the past, the individual had to submit a FOIA request for the certification and wait for the Agency to respond to the request. Promoting transparency, quicker access and accountability, staff worked with program office responsible for these certificates to make the database available online. The public can now go directly to EPA's FOIA Web site (epa.gov/foia) and print the certificate(s) in seconds as opposed to waiting days, or weeks to obtain the necessary documentation. Another example of greater transparency and promoting accountability is the "Status of My FOIA Request" (http://www.epa.gov/foia/foia_request_status.html). This tool allows requesters to easily obtain the status of their FOIA requests on-line. EPA also launched a FOIA dashboard, a listing of all FOIA cases where fee waivers were granted and developed. In response to the many FOIA requests for information on environmental conditions of a property or lot, EPA developed the on-line tool, MyProperty (www.epa.gov/myproperty). MyProperty searches multiple EPA and state databases for records of environmental interest. This tool allows the public, real estate agents, mortgage banks, engineering and environmental consulting firms and others with a need to know if EPA environmental databases have records on a specific property without filing a FOIA request. The search results are identical to the information provided when a FOIA request is filed with EPA for these records.

EPA continues its commitment to seek additional data and tools to enhance transparency and meet the needs of the requester community while looking for innovation.

The parties to the above-captioned action, by their undersigned representatives, hereby agree as follows:

1. The United States will pay to plaintiff the sum of $25,000, in attorneys' fees and litigation costs, pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(E). NANCY MAYER WHITTINGTON, CLERK
U.S. DISTRICT COURT

STIPULATION OF SETTLEMENT AND DISMISSAL

Plaintiff, Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility ("PEER"), and Defendant, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA"), by and through the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia, hereby agree and stipulate that the above-captioned civil action shall be settled and dismissed on the following terms:

1. Settlement Payment. Defendant shall pay plaintiff the total sum of $2,200 (two thousand and two hundred dollars). This payment shall be made by an electronic transfer of funds as specified in instructions provided to defendant's counsel by plaintiff's counsel in writing. Payment shall be made as promptly as practicable, consistent with the normal processing procedures followed by the Department of Justice and the Department of the Treasury, following the dismissal of the above-captioned civil action. Plaintiff and plaintiff's counsel shall co-operate with defendant to insure that all documentation required to process this payment is complete and accurate. This payment is inclusive of plaintiff's attorney's fees, costs, and other litigation expenses, and defendant shall have no further liability for those fees, costs, and expenses. Plaintiff and plaintiff's counsel shall be responsible for the distribution of the payment among themselves.

2. Dismissal with Prejudice. Defendant's counsel may file the fully executed Stipulation with the Court at any time after the date on which the Stipulation was signed by both plaintiff and defendant, and such filing shall constitute a dismissal of the above-captioned civil action with prejudice pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(a)(1)(A)(ii), except that the Court shall retain jurisdiction to enforce the terms of this Stipulation. Promptly after the dismissal of the above-captioned civil action, plaintiff shall dismiss any pending administrative complaints regarding Plaintiff's FOIA request in this case, with prejudice.

3. Release. This Stipulation provides for the full and complete satisfaction of all claims which have been or could have been asserted by plaintiff in the above-captioned civil action and any pending administrative complaints regarding Plaintiff's FOIA request in this case.

4. No Assignment. Plaintiff represents and warrants that it is the sole lawful owner of all the rights and claims which it has settled and released herein, and that it has not transferred or assigned any of those rights and claims or any interest therein. Plaintiff shall indemnify, hold harmless, and defend the defendant, the Agency, and the United States, its agencies and officials, and its present and former employees and agents, in their official and individual capacities, from and against any transferred, assigned, or subrogated interests in those rights and claims.

5. No Admission of Liability. This Stipulation has been entered into by plaintiff and defendant solely for the purposes of compromising disputed claims without protracted legal proceedings and avoiding the expense and risk of such litigation.

Therefore, this Stipulation is not intended and shall not be deemed an admission by either party of the merit or lack of merit of the opposing party's claims and defenses. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, this Stipulation does not constitute, and shall not be construed as, an admission that defendant, the Agency, or any of the Agency's present or former employees or agents violated any of plaintiff's rights or any laws or regulations, or as an admission of any contested fact alleged by plaintiff in connection with this case or otherwise. This Stipulation may not be used as evidence or otherwise in any civil or administrative action or proceeding against defendant, the Agency, or the United States or any of its agencies or officials or present or former employees or agents, either in their official or individual capacities, except for proceedings necessary to implement or enforce the terms hereof.

6. Tax Consequences. Plaintiff acknowledges that it has not relied on any representations by defendant or defendant's employees or agents as to the tax consequences of this Stipulation or any payments made by or on behalf of defendant hereunder. Plaintiff shall be solely responsible for compliance with all federal, state, and local tax filing requirements and other obligations arising from this Stipulation that are applicable to plaintiff.

7. Entire Agreement. This Stipulation contains the entire agreement between the parties hereto and supersedes all previous agreements, whether written or oral, between the parties relating to the subject matter hereof. No promise or inducement has been made except as set forth herein, and no representation or understanding, whether written or oral, that is not expressly set forth herein shall be enforced or otherwise be given any force or effect in connection herewith.

8. Amendments. The terms of this Stipulation may not be modified or amended, and no provision hereof shall be deemed waived, except by a written instrument signed by the party to be charged with the modification, amendment, or waiver.

9. Construction. The parties acknowledge that the preparation of this Stipulation was collaborative in nature, and so agree that any presumption or rule that an agreement is construed against its drafter shall not apply to the interpretation of this Stipulation or any term or provision hereof.

10. Headings. The paragraph headings in this Stipulation have been inserted for convenience of reference only, and shall not limit the scope or otherwise affect the interpretation of any term or provision hereof.

11. Severability. The provisions of this Stipulation are severable, and any invalidity or unenforceability of any one or more of its provisions shall not cause the entire agreement to fail or affect the validity or enforceability of the other provisions herein, which shall be enforced without the severed provision(s) in accordance with the remaining provisions of this Stipulation

12. Further Assurances. Each party agrees to take such actions and to execute such additional documents as may be necessary or appropriate to fully effectuate and implement the terms of this Stipulation.

13. Right to Cure. If either plaintiff or defendant at any time believes that the other party is in breach of this Stipulation, that party shall notify the other party of the alleged breach. The other party shall then have thirty (30) days to cure the breach or otherwise respond to the claim. The parties shall make a good faith effort to resolve any dispute arising from or regarding this Stipulation before bringing the dispute to the Court's attention.

14. Notices. Any notice required or permitted to be given pursuant to this Stipulation shall be in writing and shall be delivered by hand, or transmitted by fax or by e-mail, addressed as follows or as each party may subsequently specify by written notice to the other:

If to plaintiff:	Paula Dinerstein Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility 2001 S Street, NW, Suite 570 Washington, D.C. 20009 (202) 265 4192 (fax) pdinerstein@peer.org

15. Execution. This Stipulation may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original and all of which together shall be deemed to be one and the same agreement. A facsimile or other duplicate of a signature shall have the same effect as a manually-executed original.

Civ. No. CV09-0017-PK

Plaintiff,

v.

GARY LOCKE, et al.,

STIPULATED MOTION AND AGREED ORDER
DISMISSING FOIA CLAIMS WITH PREJUDICE

Defendants.

STIPULATED MOTION

The parties in the above-captioned action hereby move the Court for entry of the parties' agreed order dismissing with prejudice the fourth and fifth claims for relief in Plaintiff's complaint. Plaintiff Northwest Environmental Advocates filed the complaint in this action on January 6, 2009. See Dkt. #1. Plaintiff's fourth and fifth claims for relief alleged violations of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, and the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 701 et seq., by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("EPA" or "Agency"). See Complaint, ¶¶ 58-72.

In the parties' April 3, 2009, Stipulation and Joint Motion for Temporary Stay of Litigation, Defendant Lisa P. Jackson, Administrator of the EPA, stipulated through counsel that by May 22, 2009, the EPA would produce all non-exempt documents responsive to the FOIA request at issue in the complaint, as well as a list of any responsive documents withheld by the EPA. See Dkt. # 16. On May 22, 2009, the EPA mailed six boxes of documents to Plaintiff's counsel in Seattle, Washington. On June 3, 2009, the EPA mailed another package of documents to Plaintiff's counsel, along with a letter that noted that one part of one email had been redacted under FOIA Exemption 5. EPA's June 3 letter also stated: "The enclosed subset of documents represents the completion of EPA's production response to this FOIA request."

Given EPA's stipulation and subsequent production of responsive documents, Defendant Jackson hereby agrees to pay eight thousand five hundred dollars and no cents ($8,500.00) in attorneys' fees to Plaintiff, and Plaintiff hereby agrees to dismiss its fourth and fifth claims for relief with prejudice. Plaintiff and Defendant Jackson further agree that the Court should retain jurisdiction to enforce the terms of this agreement should that become necessary.

Accordingly, the parties now respectfully move the Court to sign and file the parties' agreed order dismissing with prejudice the fourth and fifth claims for relief in Plaintiff's January 6, 2009, complaint.

Respectfully submitted this 18th day of September, 2009.

of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

v.

Defendant.

Civil Action No. 05-10450 RBC

Plaintiff, Thomas F. Reilly, Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and defendant, the United States Environmental Protection Agency, through their authorized representatives, hereby agree to the following terms:

2. The parties agree that the records at issue in this litigation shall be disclosed pursuant to the terms of this agreement. Specifically, Defendant shall produce Document EPA-115, "IPM Run Outputs for two alternative MACT options"; and Document EPA-116, "IPM Run Outputs for Hg Trading Option," as identified in EPA's Vaughn Index for Reilly v. EPA, filed with the Court on July 29, 2005, and which were found subject to release under the FOIA by the Court in its Opinion dated April 13, 2006, in ASCII format.

3. Defendant will continue to withhold Documents EPA-1 through EPA-114, and Documents EPA-117 through EPA-119, as identified in EPA's Vaughn Index for Reilly v. EPA, filed with the Court on July 29, 2005. Plaintiff hereby foregoes any and all claims that Documents EPA-1 through EPA-114, and Documents EPA-117 through EPA-119, should be produced under the Freedom of Information Act.

4. Upon signing this agreement, the parties will file a joint stipulation of dismissal pursuant to Rule 41(a)(1)(ii) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

5. Defendant agrees to pay plaintiff TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS AND NO CENTS ($25,000.00), which sum shall be in full settlement and satisfaction of any and all claims for "attorney fees and other litigation costs reasonably incurred." Payment of the settlement amount will be made by electronic funds transfer for TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS AND NO CENTS ($25,000.00.). Counsel for Plaintiff will provide the necessary information to counsel for Defendant to effectuate the transfer. Counsel for Defendant agrees that, upon notification of the Court's approval of this Stipulation and receipt of information, he will promptly complete and transmit to the Treasury of the United States the documentation necessary to effectuate this payment.

6. Plaintiff waives his right to file any future request under the Freedom of Information Act for the records at issue in this litigation. The records at issue in this litigation are specified in EPA's Vaughn Index, which EPA filed with the Court in this matter on July 29, 2005.

7. The parties have agreed to the terms and principles articulated in this Settlement Agreement for the sole purpose of settling this litigation, and this Settlement Agreement is not, is in no way intended to be, and should not be construed as, an admission of liability or fault, on the part of either party, their agents, servants, and employees. This Settlement Agreement is entered into by the parties for the sole purpose of compromising disputed claims under the Freedom of Information Act, and avoiding the expense and risk of further litigation.

8. The terms of this agreement do not establish any general policy and shall have no precedential or binding effect beyond the scope of this specific agreement. The parties agree that this Settlement Agreement will not be used as evidence or otherwise in any pending or future civil or administrative action against the United States, or any agency or instrumentality of the United States.

9. The persons signing this Settlement Agreement warrant and represent that they possess full authority to bind the persons on whose behalf they are signing to the terms of the Settlement Agreement.

OUR CHILDREN'S EARTH FOUNDATION v.
U.S. ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION, et al.
Civil No. 08-00426 SOM KSC
"STIPULATION AND ORDER RE: DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE"

Plaintiff Our Children's Earth Foundation and Defendants U.S. Environmental Protection Agency ("USEPA"), Lisa P. Jackson, and Laura Yoshii, through their respective counsel, agree and stipulate that the above-captioned action shall be settled and dismissed on the following terms:

1. Following the complete execution of this Settlement Agreement and Release ("Agreement"), Plaintiff shall promptly file a Stipulation of Dismissal with Prejudice ("Dismissal") of the above-captioned action, which expressly reserves this Court's jurisdiction to enforce the terms of this Agreement. The Agreement and Dismissal shall serve as a release of all claims which have been or could have been asserted by Plaintiff, whether known or unknown, arising directly or indirectly from the acts or omissions that gave rise to the above-captioned action.

2. Defendants shall pay Plaintiff the total sum of $18,914.50 (eighteen thousand nine hundred fourteen and 50/100 dollars) as promptly as practicable following the filing of the Dismissal. Plaintiff and its counsel shall cooperate with Defendants to ensure that all documentation and information necessary to process this payment is complete and accurate. Plaintiff agrees to accept such payment in full settlement and satisfaction of all claims, at both the district court and administrative levels, relating to the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") requests at issue in this action, including all claims for attorney's fees, costs, and other expenses, for which Defendants shall have no further liability or responsibility.

3. Within sixty (60) days of the filing of the Dismissal, Defendants shall release to Plaintiff, subject to a Confidentiality Agreement, certain documents previously withheld by Defendants in response to Plaintiff's FOIA requests in this action. Defendants anticipate that most of such previously withheld documents will be released to Plaintiff, with the exception of documents withheld pursuant to the attorney-client privilege and/or that constitute core work product of the USEPA, in that the disclosure of such documents would materially impair the operations of the agency, including with regard to the enforcement actions against the City and County of Honolulu. For such documents that continue to be withheld notwithstanding this paragraph, Defendants agree to provide to Plaintiff a list of the withheld documents, together with an explanation of the reason(s) the documents will not be released. If Plaintiff disagrees with any of Defendants' withholdings, Plaintiff shall notify Defendants within thirty (30) days of receipt of Defendants' aforementioned list or any such objections shall be deemed waived. The parties further agree to meet and confer in an attempt to informally resolve any such disagreements, seeking Court intervention only if such informal efforts are not successful.

4. Plaintiff represents and warrants that it is the sole lawful owner of all rights and claims which it has settled and released herein, and that it has not transferred or assigned any of those rights and claims or any interest therein. Plaintiff shall indemnify, hold harmless and defend Defendants, and each of them, together with their present and former agents, servants, or employees, from and against any transferred, assigned, or subrogated interests in those rights and claims.

5. This Agreement is not, is in no way intended to be, and should not be construed as, an admission of liability or fault on the part of Defendants, their present or former agents, servants, or employees, and it is specifically denied that they are liable to Plaintiff. This Agreement is entered into by all parties for the purpose of compromising disputed claims under the FOIA and avoiding the time, expense and risk of further litigation. This Agreement may not be used against Defendants as evidence or otherwise in any civil or administrative action or proceeding, except for proceedings necessary to implement or enforce the terms herein.

6. Plaintiff acknowledges that it has not relied on any representations by Defendants, their present or former agents, servants, or employees, as to the tax consequences of this Agreement or any payments made by Defendants herein.

Plaintiff shall be solely responsible for compliance with all federal, state and local tax requirements or obligations arising from this Agreement.

7. The persons signing this Agreement warrant and represent that they possess full authority to bind the persons or entities on whose behalf they are signing to the terms of the Agreement.

8. This Agreement contains the entire agreement between the parties and supersedes any and all previous agreements, written or oral, relating to the subject matter herein. No promise or inducement has been made except as set forth herein and in the parties' separate Joint Prosecution and Confidentiality Agreements, and no representation or understanding, whether written or oral, that is not expressly set forth herein shall be enforced or otherwise be given any force or effect.

9. This Agreement may not be modified or amended, except in writing signed by each of the parties herein.

10. The parties acknowledge that the preparation of this Agreement was collaborative with all parties represented by counsel of their choosing. Therefore, the parties agree that any presumption or rule that this Agreement should be construed against the drafter shall not apply to the interpretation of this Agreement or any term or phrase herein.

11. The provisions of this Agreement are severable, such that any provision determined to be invalid or unenforceable shall not render or cause the entire Agreement to fail or affect the validity or enforceability of the other provisions, which shall be enforced without the severed provision.

12. If any party believes that there has been a breach of this Agreement, that party shall provide written notice to the others of the alleged breach. The parties shall meet and confer in order to attempt to resolve the dispute within fifteen (15) days of the written notice, or such time thereafter as is mutually agreed. If the parties are unable to resolve the dispute within thirty (30) days of such notice, any party may bring the dispute to the Court's attention.

It is hereby stipulated by and between the parties to this action, plaintiff, Glynn Environmental Coalition (hereinafter "GEC") and defendant the United States of America, on behalf of its Agency the Environmental Protection Agency (hereinafter "EPA"), by and through their respective attorneys as follows:

1. The parties do hereby agree to settle and compromise the above-entitled action under the terms and conditions set forth herein.

Defendant's agency, the EPA, agrees that it will pay to the plaintiff the sum of $62,668.00 which sum constitutes the attorney's fees and expenses incurred by the plaintiff in this Freedom of Information ("FOIA") lawsuit brought pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552. It is stipulated and agreed by the parties that this Stipulation for Compromise Settlement does not constitute evidence that violations of the FOIA by the Environmental Protection Agency or its employees occurred. The payment of $62,668.00 in attorney's fees and expenses by the United States of America and EPA and shall be in full settlement and satisfaction of all claims brought in the above-styled action.

3. The plaintiff further agrees to dismiss all administrative appeals cognizable under the FOIA pertaining to his FOIA request dated March 20, 2008, if any exists. The plaintiff further agrees that in exchange for the payment of $62,668.00 in complete settlement and satisfaction of this lawsuit, he will not seek any re-opening of this case in the district court for the purpose of litigating the merits of the case or the award of attorney's fees or expenses.

4. Within ten days of the execution of this agreement by all parties, through authorized counsel, the Environmental Protection Agency agrees to submit the settlement agreement for processing for payment. Payment will be made either by electronic funds transfer or by a United States Treasury check made payable to Donald D. J. Stack, Esq. Report of the Chief FOIA Officer to the
U.S. Department of Justice

Malcolm D. Jackson
Chief Information Officer and Chief FOIA Officer

March 1, 2011

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Chief Freedom of Information Act Officer's Report
To the Attorney General

I. Steps Taken to Apply the Presumption of Openness

- a. Describe how the President's FOIA Memorandum and the Attorney General's FOIA Guidelines were publicized throughout EPA.

EPA Administrator Lisa P. Jackson issued a memorandum on April 23, 2009, to all employees to reinforce the President's FOIA Memorandum and the Attorney General's FOIA Guidelines. The memorandum states that management should support staff in meeting FOIA's transparency requirement in a timely and efficient manner. In addition, FOIA Officers in each of EPA's ten regions who administer day-to-day FOIA activities and their Headquarters' counterparts (e.g., FOIA Coordinators) disseminated Administrator Jackson's memorandum to all staff with FOIA responsibilities in their organizations. The memoranda are posted on EPA's FOIA website (<http://www.epa.gov/foia/reference.html>).

- b. What training has been attended and/or conducted on the new FOIA Guidelines?

EPA's National FOIA Program conducts monthly meetings with regional FOIA Officers and FOIA Coordinators at which the new FOIA Guidelines are discussed. The new FOIA Guidelines are posted on EPA's Processing FOIA Requests webpage (http://www.epa.gov/foia/Processing_FOIA_Requests.html). Regional FOIA Officers and Headquarter FOIA Coordinators also provide training to their FOIA staffs. EPA staff attended DOJ's training for FOIA Attorneys and Professionals in 2010. National FOIA Program staff or the Chief FOIA Officer attended all of the Chief FOIA Officers meetings hosted by the Department of Justice.

- c. How has EPA created or modified internal guidance to reflect the presumption of openness?

Administrator Jackson directed staff to review documents with a presumption of release. EPA's national FOIA Requestor Service Center and the Office of General Counsel provide guidance to staff about processing requests with an eye toward a presumption of openness.

- d. To what extent has EPA made discretionary releases of otherwise exempt information?

EPA has not tracked discretionary releases of otherwise exempt information. The Agency reviews all exempt information with an eye toward discretionary release as directed by Administrator Jackson in her April 23, 2009 memorandum. EPA processed 10,071 FOIA requests in FY10. Of these requests, only 707 requests had records withheld in full or part -- approximately 7%.

- e. What exemptions would have covered the information that was released as a matter of discretion?

Exemptions 2, 5, 7, and 9 would have covered the information that was released as a matter of discretion.

- f. How does EPA review records to determine whether discretionary releases are possible?

EPA reviews all responsive records with an eye toward discretionary releases. Individuals with questions receive assistance from the National FOIA Program, Regional FOIA Officers and the Office of General Counsel. Efforts are underway to develop written guidance to ensure consistency in making discretionary releases across the Agency.

- g. Describe any other initiatives undertaken by EPA to ensure that the presumption of openness is applied.

In matters under appeal, records or portions of records that were previously withheld are being reviewed, applying the new policy and presumption of disclosure. The National FOIA Officer includes a discussion of applying the presumption of openness at monthly meetings with regional FOIA Officers and FOIA Coordinators.

II. Steps Taken to Ensure that EPA has an Effective System in Place for Responding to Requests

a. Do FOIA professionals within EPA have sufficient IT support?

Yes, EPA's FOIA professionals have sufficient IT support through access to a national electronic tracking system and redaction software. The Deputy Administrator's FOIA Workgroup identified additional tools and technologies to ensure that employees continue to have what they need to efficiently respond to FOIA requests.

b. Describe how EPA's FOIA professionals interact with EPA's Open Government Team.

EPA's National FOIA Program Office and the Open Government Directive Project Management Office are located in the same organization and report to the same senior leader. The National FOIA Officer and FOIA staff is members of the Open Government Directive Workgroup. The FOIA Officer provides FOIA updates to EPA's quarterly Open Government Directive report.

c. Describe steps EPA has taken to assess whether adequate staffing is being devoted to responding to FOIA requests.

EPA's Deputy Administrator established an Agency-wide FOIA Workgroup in July 2010 to review all aspects of the Agency's FOIA program, including staffing levels. The FOIA Workgroup is completing its review and will provide recommendations to the Deputy Administrator in Q2, FY2011.

d. Describe any other steps EPA has undertaken to ensure that the Agency's FOIA system operates efficiently and effectively.

The Agency is conducting a comprehensive review of its FOIA system as directed by the Deputy Administrator. The review includes reviewing EPA's regulations, policies, procedures and technology to determine if changes are needed to facilitate and support transparency, proactive disclosures and accountability. In addition to the monthly meetings held with regional FOIA Officers and FOIA Coordinators by the National FOIA Officer, the Agency funds a help desk for its electronic FOIA tracking system. The help desk provides system training and technical support. By providing this support, new staff can receive timely training on the FOIA system and responses to technical issues or questions can be quickly resolved.

III. Steps Taken to Increase Proactive Disclosures

a. Has EPA added new material to the Agency's website since last year?

EPA continuously posts new records to epa.gov.

b. What types of records have been posted?

Records relating to the BP oil spill, mountaintop mining decisions and new air and water protection regulations are examples of significant postings of interest to the public for which a FOIA requests is no longer necessary.

c. Give examples of the types of records EPA now posts that used to be available only by making a FOIA request for them.

The following types of records are now posted that previously were only available by making a FOIA request: property records; lists of granted fee waivers; request status; and monthly progress reports providing data on number of requests, overdues and appeals broken down by Headquarters and regions. See response to Item III b. Of particular interest are materials relating to the Open Government Directive; FOIA Dashboard; statistics on fee waivers granted; and a request status report.

d. What system do you have in place to routinely identify records that are appropriate for posting?

Regional FOIA Officers and Coordinators are asked at the monthly conference calls hosted by the National FOIA Officer to identify records that are appropriate for posting. The records may be chosen due to the number of FOIA requests for them or selected by a group within their organization to be of public interest.

e. How do you utilize social media in disseminating information?

EPA's Administrator leads the Agency's effort to utilize social media to disseminate information through her Facebook and Twitter accounts. EPA is using social media tools in the firm belief that by sharing and experimenting with information, the potential for better understanding about environmental conditions and solutions is increased. Collaboration among individual or groups to solve problems is particularly exciting when people bring "different parts of the puzzle" to help find solutions. In addition to Facebook and Twitter, EPA has a presence on YouTube, Flickr Challenge.gov and hosts a blog called Greenversations (<http://blog.epa.gov/blog/>).

f. Describe any other steps taken to create proactive disclosures at EPA.

The National FOIA Program hosted to a booth to demonstrate MyPropertyInfo at the Agency's national environmental information symposium in 2010, which was attended by over 500 Agency employees, supporting contractors and vendors. (See VI. Spotlight on Success.)

IV. Steps Taken to Greater Utilize Technology

1a. What proportion of the components within EPA which receive FOIA requests have the capability to receive such requests electronically?

One hundred (100) percent of EPA's components receive FOIA requests electronically.

1b. To what extent has EPA increased the number of components doing so since the filing of the last Chief FOIA Officer Report?

Not applicable.

1c. What methods do EPA use to receive requests electronically?

EPA uses the following methods to receive requests electronically: webform, email and fax. The fax transmittals are digitized and received as a message in the National FOIA Program e-mail in-box.

2a. What proportion of components within EPA which receive FOIA requests have the capability to track such requests electronically?

One hundred (100) percent of EPA's components track FOIA requests electronically.

2b. To what extent have you increased the number of components doing so since the filing of the last Chief FOIA Officer Report?

Not applicable.

2c. What methods do EPA use to track requests electronically?

EPA uses commercial off-the-shelf software to track requests electronically.

3a. What proportion of components at EPA which receive FOIA requests have the capability to process such requests electronically?

One hundred (100) percent of EPA's components process FOIA requests electronically.

3b. To what extent has EPA increased the number of components doing so since the filing of the last Chief FOIA Officer Report?

Not applicable.

3c. What methods do EPA use to process requests electronically?

EPA uses commercial off-the-shelf software to track and process requests electronically. The Agency also has developed collection databases which are used to manage search and review activities for large numbers of electronic documents covering a common topic.

4a. Why type of technology does EPA use to prepare the Annual FOIA Report?

EPA uses commercial off-the-shelf software to prepare the Annual FOIA Report.

4b. If EPA is not satisfied with the existing system to prepare the Annual FOIA Report, describe the steps taken to increase the use of technology for next year.

The existing system to prepare the Annual FOIA Report is currently meeting Agency's needs.

V. Steps Taken to Reduce Backlogs and Improve Timeliness in Responding to Requests

1. Report whether the backlog is decreasing by measuring in two ways. First, report whether the number of backlogged requests and backlogged administrative appeals that remain pending at the end of the fiscal year decreased or increased, and by how many, when compared with last fiscal year. Second, report whether EPA closed in FY 2010 the ten oldest of those pending requests and appeals from FY 2009, and if not, report how many of them EPA did close.

EPA's backlog at the end of fiscal year 2010 decreased by three. EPA's administrative appeals decreased by two.

EPA closed fourteen of its twenty oldest pending requests and appeals from FY 2009.

2a. Is the backlog increase a result of an increase in the number of incoming requests or appeals?

Not applicable.

2b. Is the backlog increase caused by loss of staff?

Not applicable.

2c. Is the backlog increase caused by an increase in the complexity of the requests received?

Not applicable.

2d. What other causes, if any, contributed to in the increase in the backlog?

Not applicable.

3a. Does EPA routinely set goals and monitor the progress of the FOIA caseload?

Yes. EPA monitors the progress through the monthly dashboard which is available on the FOIA website.

3b. Has EPA increased its FOIA staffing?

EPA has added one FTE to the National FOIA Program.

3c. Has EPA made IT improvements to increase timeliness?

Yes. The MyPropertyInfo tool (<http://www.epa.gov/myproperty/>) allows the public to obtain information immediately that was previously only available in response to a FOIA request. See Spotlight on Success section, below.

3d. Has EPA's Chief FOIA Officer been involved in overseeing EPA's capacity to process requests?

The Chief FOIA Officer participates in the Chief FOIA Officer meetings hosted by the Department of Justice and has requested several briefings on FOIA activities.

VI. Spotlight on Success

EPA's FOIA Office developed a tool that allows the public direct access to site-specific information contained in multiple Agency environmental databases. The tool, MyPropertyInfo, combines multiple EPA database searches into a single printable report. The searches, now performed by the public online, were previously conducted by EPA staff in response to a FOIA request. Inquiries may be as specific as an address on a street or broad as the name of the street within a city or zip code. MyPropertyInfo was made available on the Agency's FOIA homepage on June 25, 2010 (<http://www.epa.gov/improperty/>).

A review of FOIA requests revealed that the most frequently requested information from the public is for records on specific locations to determine potential environmental hazards prior to real estate transactions. Further research revealed that most of EPA's "no record responses" were in response to these requests. The public can now obtain responses immediately and the number of no record responses has noticeably dropped since the deployment of MyPropertyInfo. The tool's primary customers are real estate agents, mortgage bankers and engineering and environmental consulting firms who are required to provide documentation for property transactions. The secondary audience is individual homebuyers.

Over the past three fiscal years, the number of incoming requests has remained approximately 10,500. However, in FY08 EPA sent 4,554 no record response letters; 5,181 in FY09; and 3,808 in FY10 – a decrease of 27% in the last quarter of the FY in which MyPropertyInfo was released.

Why We Did This Review

Two members of Congress asked the Inspector General to review how the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) handles requests under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). They were particularly interested in whether and, if so, the extent to which political appointees are made aware of information requests and have a role in request reviews or decisionmaking.

Background

FOIA gives the public the right to ask for records possessed by federal government agencies. Under EPA regulations, the head of an office, or that individual's designee, is authorized to grant or deny any request for EPA records. The heads of EPA's 23 major offices are political appointees.

Congressionally Requested Inquiry Into EPA's Handling of Freedom of Information Act Requests

What We Found

We concluded that EPA does not have a process to filter FOIA requests by political appointees. EPA policy permits releasing information at the lowest practicable level. Generally, political appointees are not involved in deciding FOIA requests, unless there is denial of information. We found exceptions, but political appointees were usually involved only to sign denials or partial denials. FOIA coordinators provided regular status reports on the processing of FOIA requests to managers at various levels within the office. In 3 of the 11 offices we reviewed, those managers were political appointees. However, none of the offices required routine review of FOIA requests by a political appointee.

In response to comments from EPA staff on the draft report, we made some minor wording changes.

TO: Malcolm D. Jackson
Assistant Administrator for Environmental Information and Chief Information Officer

This is our report on the subject review conducted by the Office of Inspector General (OIG) of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). This report contains findings that describe the problems the OIG has identified and corrective actions the OIG recommends. This report represents the opinion of the OIG and does not necessarily represent the final EPA position. Final determinations on matters in this report will be made by EPA managers in accordance with established audit resolution procedures.

The estimated cost of this report, calculated by multiplying the project's staff days and expenses by the applicable daily full cost billing rates in effect at the time, is $113,770.

Action Required

Because this report contains no recommendations, you are not required to respond to this report. However, if you submit a response, it will be posted on the OIG's public website, along with our memorandum commenting on your response. Your response should be provided as an Adobe PDF file that complies with the accessibility requirements of section 508 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended. The final response should not contain data that you do not want to be released to the public; if your response contains such data, you should identify the data for redaction or removal. We have no objections to the further release of this report to the public. We will post this report to our website at <http://www.epa.gov/oig>.

If you or your staff have any questions regarding this report, please contact Eric Lewis, Director, Special Reviews, at 202-566-2664 or lewis.eric@epa.gov; or Russell Moore, Project Manager, at 202-566-0808 or moore.russell@epa.gov.

Purpose

On August 23, 2010, Senator Charles E. Grassley, Ranking Member of the U.S. Senate Committee on Finance, and Congressman Darrell Issa, Ranking Member of the House Oversight and Government Reform Committee, requested the Inspector General, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), to review EPA's Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) office to determine whether political appointees are made aware of information requests and have a role in reviews or decisionmaking related to those requests. They wanted to know whether EPA was engaged in political filtering of information.

Background

FOIA gives the public the right to ask for records possessed by federal government agencies. In 2002, EPA published regulations describing how it will process FOIA requests. One section provides that the head of an office, or that individual's designee, is authorized to grant or deny any request for a record of that office or other EPA records when appropriate. This regulation is consistent with a 1983 EPA delegation of authority; it gives the heads of major offices authority to make initial determinations related to FOIA requests, but allows them to delegate their authority (1) down to the division director level if EPA is denying release of all or part of the records based on a FOIA exemption, and (2) to an even lower level if all of the requested records are being released.

Including the Office of the Administrator, EPA has 23 major offices. The heads of these offices, as well as some of their deputies, are political appointees. In total, EPA has identified 67 positions that are filled by political appointees. These positions are subject to noncompetitive appointment because the duties may involve advocacy of administration policies and programs, and the incumbents usually have a close and confidential working relationship with the Agency or other key officials.

EPA has assigned staff to manage its FOIA process, including a national FOIA officer in the Office of Environmental Information, a FOIA officer in each region, and a FOIA coordinator for each of the major program offices. To track the FOIA requests, EPA uses an information management system called "FOIAXpress." Overall, EPA's FOIA process is decentralized. Each of the 23 major offices has established its own internal procedures for handling FOIA requests.

Scope and Methodology

We conducted this review from September through December 2010. The work centered on evaluating a sample of 50 FOIA requests to determine who was involved in processing them. These requests were selected from a universe of 157 requests EPA received between January 21, 2009, and August 31, 2010, that concerned one of the following subjects the Office of Inspector General (OIG) believed might be of particular interest to EPA political appointees:

- BP oil spill
- Climate change
- Coal ash
- Environmental justice
- Hydraulic fracturing, or fracking
- Mountaintop mining

We identified the universe of requests by searching FOIAXpress. We reviewed the documentation in FOIAXpress associated with the 50 sample items. Except for inquiring about missing documentation, we did not evaluate the accuracy of the data in FOIAXpress. We interviewed the FOIA officer or FOIA coordinator for the following 11 organizations that processed the 50 requests under review:

- Office of the Administrator
- Office of Air and Radiation
- Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance
- Office of Inspector General
- Office of Solid Waste and Emergency Response
- Office of Water
- Region 1
- Region 3
- Region 4
- Region 5
- Region 6

For some requests, we also interviewed other EPA employees who were involved in responding. The interviews included a review of FOIA procedures for that office. In addition, we interviewed the EPA national FOIA officer.

We did not test the internal controls related to processing FOIA requests. Controls were evaluated during a prior review by the OIG. The related report, Report No. 09-P-0127, EPA Has Improved Its Response to Freedom of Information Act Requests But Further Improvement Is Needed, was issued on March 25, 2009. EPA is still implementing the corrective actions recommended in that report.

We conducted our work in accordance with generally accepted government auditing standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the review to obtain sufficient, appropriate evidence to provide a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based on our objectives. We believe the evidence obtained provides a reasonable basis for our findings and conclusions based upon our objectives.

Results

We concluded that EPA does not have a FOIA process that results in the filtering of requests by political appointees. Generally, political appointees are not involved in the FOIA process, either by policy or in practice. With few exceptions, information is released at the lowest practicable level, which EPA permits. Political appointees are usually involved only to sign denials or partial denials, as was the case in 2 of the 11 offices that we reviewed.

Of the 50 FOIA requests in our sample, political appointees were involved in only 7 of them. In two cases, political appointees were asked to search for responsive records. In four cases, a political appointee signed the response letter because the request resulted in partial denial of information. In one case, a political appointee signed the response letter even though all records were given to the requester, which was done at the discretion of the FOIA coordinator and was not directed by the political appointee.

Requests Are Not Filtered by Political Appointees

FOIA staff at headquarters and the regions are not political appointees. They review FOIA requests to determine who in their office might have responsive records. The organizational location of the FOIA staff varied across the 11 major offices we reviewed. Of the 11 FOIA officers and coordinators interviewed, 2 (for the Office of Air and Radiation and the Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance) work in the immediate office of the assistant administrator (a political appointee). However, these two coordinators have a process that is similar to the other nine offices that we reviewed; they assign all requests to staff without the involvement of the assistant administrator, and neither office specifies a role for political appointees in the FOIA process.

Staff Throughout EPA Collect Relevant Records

The FOIA officers and coordinators ask EPA offices with responsive records to provide them. Two of the sampled FOIA requests involved political appointees searching for records. However, in both cases, office staff searched for relevant records and forwarded what they had to the response coordinator for further action. The political appointee had no further involvement with the request.

Political Appointees Sign Denial Letters For Two Offices

Two of the 11 major offices we reviewed (Region 3 and Office of the Executive Secretariat, in the Office of the Administrator) had a political appointee sign all denial and partial denial response letters. Region 3 policy requires the regional administrator to sign all denial and partial denial response letters. None of the eight Region 3 response documents to FOIA requests we reviewed were signed by a political appointee, and none involved denials. The Office of the Executive Secretariat has the director (who is a political appointee) sign all denial and partial denial letters. This practice ensures compliance with EPA policy that a division director or higher sign all denials or partial denials. The Director for the Office of the Executive Secretariat signed the response letters for five of the FOIA requests in our sample.

FOIA Staff Keeps Management Informed

The FOIA staff keeps EPA management informed about the FOIA process. All the FOIA officers and coordinators provided reports on FOIA processing to managers at various levels in the office. In 3 of the 11 major offices reviewed, the manager who received the reports was a political appointee.

Special Cases Do Not Involve Political Filtering

FOIA requests related to the BP oil spill are being monitored on an EPA-wide basis to ensure consistency in the responses due to the large number of documents requested and the significance of the issues involved. A staff member in the Office of General Counsel is notified when BP-related requests are received and when EPA responds. However, for BP-related requests that we reviewed, the response was sent to the Office of General Counsel after the information was released to the requester. At the time of our interviews, no political appointees from the Office of General Counsel were involved in processing these FOIA requests.

EPA has received numerous FOIA requests related to climate change, particularly regarding the April 2009 endangerment finding on greenhouse gases. To ensure EPA offices were handling these requests consistently, an informal work group was formed to review records. None of the members of this work group were political appointees.

Conclusion

Our analysis shows that political appointees at EPA are generally not involved in processing, screening, or approving FOIA requests. Even though our sample included only requests related to controversial subjects, political appointees were involved with 7 of the 50 instances reviewed. The activities of political appointees in the FOIA process at EPA generally include signing denials and partial denials, and receiving reports on FOIA processing. We found no evidence of systematic screening of FOIA requests by political appointees. Based on our review of their program, we conclude that the EPA does not have a process to filter FOIA requests by political appointees.

Agency Response and OIG Comment

To ensure the accuracy of this report, on December 8, 2010, we provided a draft to the Office of Environmental Information for review. In a memorandum dated January 7, 2011, the Assistant Administrator for Environmental Information agreed with the OIG conclusions. Based on Agency comments on the draft report, we made some minor wording changes. This memorandum is included as Appendix A.

Washington, DC 20460

Dear Administrator Jackson:

On his first full day in office, President Obama proclaimed his Administration's commitment to openness and transparency by signing a memorandum that urged the federal agencies to adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure in response to Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests. The Freedom of Information Act grants the public access to federal agency records unless the requested information is protected by any of nine exemptions or three exclusions. Two recent audits demonstrate that the agencies have failed to implement the President's first-day FOIA guidance to such an extent that we are concerned the records and information of the federal government are no more, and possibly less, available to the public than they were during previous administrations.

President Obama promised taxpayers "a new era of openness in our country" and a presidency built on "transparency and the rule of law."¹ To that end, on January 21, 2009, President Obama issued new guidance on FOIA, via a memorandum to the heads of executive departments and agencies. The President stated that "all agencies should adopt a presumption in favor of disclosure, in order to renew their commitment to the principles embodied in FOIA, and to usher in a new era of open Government."² Additionally, agencies were instructed that "[n]ondisclosure should never be based on an effort to protect the personal interests of Government officials at the expense of those they are supposed to serve.”¹

As directed by President Obama, on March 19, 2009, Attorney General Holder issued a memorandum to the heads of executive departments and agencies to “underscore” the President’s FOIA commitment and “ensure” that it was realized in practice.² The memorandum stressed two points: 1) an agency should not withhold information simply because it may do so legally; and 2) whenever an agency determines that it cannot make full disclosure of a requested record, it must consider whether it can make partial disclosure.³ Additionally, presumably to discourage FOIA denials, the Attorney General limited the Department of Justice’s defense of FOIA denials to those that 1) the department reasonably foresees that disclosure would harm an interest protected by one of the statutory exemptions, or 2) disclosure is prohibited by law.⁴

Despite these memoranda stressing the importance of openness and transparency, an audit by the National Security Archive, an open-government project at George Washington University, found that only four agencies have increased the release of information and decreased denials under FOIA, the majority of agencies have not responded to either the Obama or Holder memos with concrete changes in their FOIA practices, and ancient requests still persist in the FOIA system.⁵ Additionally, despite receiving 48,686 fewer FOIA requests in the past fiscal year than in 2008, the number of rejections rose by 154,189.⁶ In direct opposition to Obama’s memorandum, the use of FOIA exception 5, which more than any other exemption protects the personal interests of Government officials, has risen, from 47,395 in fiscal year 2008 to 70,779 in the past fiscal year.⁷

During a March 18, 2010 Subcommittee on Information Policy, Census, and National Archives hearing on current trends in the administration of FOIA, several witnesses expressed frustration with the current climate surrounding FOIA. One witness, a director of a FOIA litigation group, testified that he has observed no improvement since President Obama signed the January 21, 2010 FOIA memorandum: “We [are] unable to discern any real difference between the manner in which the disputed information was handled first under the Bush policy, and later under the Obama policy.”⁸

So that we may better understand the failure of the federal agencies to implement the directives of the White House and Justice Department, and to facilitate openness and transparency in the future, we request the following documents:

1. Your agency's complete FOIA log, including the identity of each party that requested records and/or information, the date the request was received, the date the request was fulfilled, whether the request was rejected, and if so, what exemption or exclusion was cited.

3. All records and communications referring or relating to a full or partial FOIA rejection since January 21, 2009.
4. All records and communications referring or relating to the implementation of President Obama's January 21, 2009, memorandum on the Freedom of Information Act and/or Attorney General Eric Holder's memorandum of March 19, 2009, on the Freedom of Information Act.

We respectfully request that you provide the requested information no later than Monday, April 26, 2010. Please note that, for purposes of responding to this request, the terms "records," "communications," and "referring or relating" should be interpreted consistently with the attached Definitions of Terms.

UNITED STATES ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20460

JUN - 3 2010

OFFICE OF
ENVIRONMENTAL INFORMATION

The Honorable Darrell Issa
Ranking Member
Committee on Oversight and Government Reform
U.S. House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Issa:

This is in response to your March 25, 2010, letter to Administrator Jackson seeking information concerning the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) program.

When EPA testified before the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, Subcommittee on Information Policy, Census, and National Archives on March 18, 2010, we provided numerous examples of the Agency's commitment to the letter and spirit of FOIA and Open Government. EPA's National FOIA program has been engaged in an improvement process to ensure greater timeliness, accountability and transparency in processing FOIA requests submitted to the Agency. In the mid-2000's, EPA had over 23,000 unanswered FOIA requests and, according to the White House, two of the oldest overdue requests in the federal government. Agency FOIA professionals, using strong leadership, improved technology, revised procedures and processes, and the support of subject matter experts across the Agency have successfully reduced the number of pending FOIA requests from 23,000 in 2001 to 783 by the end of FY 2008. By the end of FY 2009, EPA reached an all-time low of 317 unanswered FOIA requests with a 53% reduction in FY 2009 alone.

The Annual FOIA Report to the Department of Justice submitted by all Federal agencies indicates that EPA is a leader among its peers in its FOIA processing activities. This leadership position is due in no small part to the commitment of the Agency to meeting both the letter and spirit of FOIA, the Presidential Memoranda and the Attorney General's Guidelines on FOIA.

In embracing the President's mandate for greater transparency, EPA's FOIA staff worked in concert with Agency program representatives to make information publicly available from Agency data bases on EPA's Web sites without the need to file a FOIA request. The result was a reduction in the amount of time to receive Agency records from weeks to seconds. An example of EPA's proactive disclosure of Agency records is demonstrated by the redesign of the Office of Pesticide Program's electronic FOIA reading room where tens of thousands of highly sought after pesticide science and regulatory records are now available to the public on the Web, obviating the need to file a FOIA request. Since making these highly sought after records available on line, FOIA requests for this information have substantially declined. Other parts of the Agency are exploring opportunities to use similar technology to proactively disclose records. The Agency also operates a national FOIA Hotline, staffed by a FOIA Requester Service Center specialist, who answers questions from the public about their requests whether filed at headquarters or in EPA's ten regions and general questions concerning FOIA.

In addition, for the past several years, even prior to the recent FOIA policy change, EPA had already committed to specific FOIA improvement goals in response to E.O. 13392 (<http://www.epa.gov/foia/docs/backlogfy08-10.pdf>). The Agency met all of its FOIA improvement goals ahead of schedule and continues to strive to further improve its FOIA administrative responsibilities.

In response to your request for specific documents, the following enclosures are provided:

- A CD-ROM containing an Excel spreadsheet with over 3000 pages of information from the Agency's FOIA log noting the reason for each full or partial denial, along with a one-page document that summarizes the disposition of the requests received between 01/21/2009 and 04/01/2010 and explains the FOIA exemptions listed under Column 9; and
- A copy of Agency records and communications referring or relating to the implementation of President Obama's memorandum and Attorney General Holder's Guidelines. Additional relevant information will be sent to you from EPA's Office of Inspector General.

If you have further questions, please contact me or your staff may call Tom Dickerson in the Office of Congressional and Intergovernmental Relations on 202-564-3648.

Sincerely,

Linda A. Travers
Acting Assistant Administrator
