This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request of December 10, 2011. Your request was received in the Office of the General Counsel on December 12, 2011, and assigned tracking number NGC12-037. In your request, you sought access to the following records:

- 1) An electronic copy of the records provided to the Honorable Chairman Darrell Issa, whose office had in January 2011 asked your agency for various data concerning the administration of the Freedom of Information Act.

On December 13, we spoke on the telephone concerning your request. You agreed to remove the correspondence of our FOIA responses NARA supplied to Chairman Issa. Since our conversation, we located additional files that were supplied to his staff as described in our letter to him.

We identified 12 files responsive to your request. Nine files were provided to the chairman with three files duplicative in nature. The following files are released in full electronically on a CD-ROM:

- a. Accessioned Record FOIA Letter Log for Open Cases (Excel)
- b. Accessioned Record FOIAs (Excel)
- c. Federal Register FOIAs (Access)
- d. Fee Order (Adobe .pdf)
- e. NARA's Presidential Library FOIAs (Excel)
- f. NPRC FOIAs Part I (Excel)
- g. NPRC FOIAs Part II (Excel)
- h. Open Case Letters (Excel)
- i. Question 1 (Excel)

j. Open Case Letters not on the File Server (Excel)

Two files contain Personally Identifiable Information (PII) that is protected from disclosure. At this time, NARA does not have the capability to electronically redact PII from electronic files. Therefore, we are withholding these files in full pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6), information that if disclosed would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of person privacy. The information redacted includes, but is not limited to, personal phone numbers, e-mail addresses, and home addresses:

- k. NARA Regions FOIAs (Excel)
- l. Operational FOIAs (Access)

- 2) A copy of any correspondence whatsoever sent to Chairman Issa's office on the subject of the January 2011 inquiry, and any correspondence sent during calendar year 2011 to Chairman Issa's office on the subject of FOIA.

We are providing you a copy of the letter NARA sent to Chairman Issa's office that accompanied the 9 files requested in his original letter to NARA. The letter is an electronic copy and released in full.

You may appeal these withholdings by writing to the Deputy Archivist (ND), National Archives and Records Administration, 8601 Adelphi Road, College Park, MD 20740-6001 within 35 days of the date of this letter explaining why you feel the withheld information should be released. Both the letter and the envelope should be clearly marked "Freedom of Information Act Appeal." Please include the tracking number NGC12-037 in your appeal letter.

Sincerely,

Re: Freedom of Information Act Process Request

Dear Chairman Issa:

I write in response to your January 25, 2011, letter requesting responses to five matters related to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) processes of the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA).

You have requested the following information from NARA: first, our FOIA log(s) for the past five years containing: “(a) the name of the requestor; (b) the date of the request; (c) a brief description of the documents or records sought by the request; (d) any tracking number assigned...; (e) the date the request was closed...; (f) whether any records were provided to the request; and (g) any identification number or code assigned to the request by your agency for internal use”; second, that the “log” identify any FOIA request that had not been closed within 45 days prior to the date of your letter; third, all correspondence between NARA and the requestor whose FOIA case has not been closed; fourth, that NARA identify any attorney’s fees that a court has ordered NARA to pay; and fifth, a copy of any such court order.

Our responsive documents are contained in nine files on the attached CD labeled “A”. There is an additional CD, labeled “B” that contains the available correspondence for FOIA requests for accessioned records. NARA’s Office of Inspector General will respond separately with its FOIA processing information.

In responding to your request, we believe it is useful to explain how NARA is organized. The National Archives was established in 1934, and the largest percentage of our holdings is housed in the National Archives buildings in Washington, DC and College Park, Md. In 1939, the first Presidential Library was established by President Franklin Roosevelt, and the system of presidential libraries now holds the donated Presidential papers and Presidential records from President Hoover forward in thirteen Presidential Libraries managed by NARA throughout the country. Since 1969 NARA has also managed a system of Regional Archives that hold the permanent Federal records of regional origin and significance, including records of the U.S. Courts. Most, but not all, of NARA's massive holdings are Executive branch agency records and Presidential records that are now subject to the FOIA. However, NARA has been responding to public access requests for government information since the 1930's, decades before the FOIA was enacted. Through its core statutory mission, NARA makes the vast majority of its records available to the public without the use of or need for the FOIA.

We are providing responsive documents in several distinct files consistent with this organizational structure. The first file group is for FOIA requests for archival records of Federal agencies that are maintained in the Washington, DC area. (The enclosed CD "A" has two files labeled "Accessioned Record FOIA Letter Log for Open Cases" and "Accessioned Record FOIAs".) The FOIA backlogs from these records are due in part because many of these records contain Classified National Security Information. Since the National Archives is not an Original Classification Authority per Executive Order 13526, all classified records requested under the FOIA must be sent to the originating agency for declassification determinations. A second reason for our FOIA backlog is due to a recent influx of complex Federal Bureau of Investigation and Department of Justice records, which has inundated the staff that handles unclassified FOIA requests.

The next file group is for FOIA requests for records held by NARA's Presidential Libraries. The Libraries operate under several different statutes, which dictate their availability to FOIA. The Presidential Records Act of 1978 (PRA) incorporates the FOIA for all administrations beginning with President Reagan. However, under the PRA, Presidential and Vice Presidential records are not subject to FOIA requests until five years after the President leaves office, which means that the records of President George W. Bush and Vice President Cheney are not yet subject to FOIA requests, per 44 U.S.C. 2204(b)(2)(A).

Before enactment of the PRA, the materials at the Hoover through Carter Libraries were donated to NARA, in accordance with 44 U.S.C. 2111, and are not subject to requests under the FOIA (The exception is Nixon Presidential materials, which were transferred to NARA under the Presidential Recordings and Materials Preservation Act of 1974, and are also not subject to FOIA); however, many of these libraries do hold a small amount of Federal or Presidential records that are subject to FOIA. As such, these Libraries receive only a small number of FOIA requests. In addition, researchers occasionally submit FOIAs for holdings that are not subject to FOIA. In those cases, the Libraries treat these FOIAs as regular reference requests and provide records responsive to the request if they are processed and open. If the records are not yet processed or if the Libraries have no responsive records, NARA has answered "no" to question 1(f).

At the PRA libraries, where Presidential records are subject to FOIA, there is a significant demand for and backlog of FOIAs for these high-level policy records. As with the archival records in the Washington, DC area, many responsive records contain national security information and have to undergo the same process of referral to the originating and any sub-equity classification agencies for declassification review. Other FOIA requests received by the PRA Libraries are very large in scope (some exceeding one million pages) and must be segmented in order not to stall the processing of all other FOIA requests. In these instances, the libraries have processed numerous segments of these larger FOIAs and have provided responsive records to the requester even though the request remains open.

The PRA libraries have also often already systematically processed and made publicly available records that are of significant research interest. Therefore, in response to many FOIAs, the library is able to make a body of responsive records available prior to beginning to process the request. Furthermore, Presidential records are subject to FOIA requests as the FOIA is incorporated by the PRA, which requires archivists to apply not only eight of the nine FOIA exemptions but also six Presidential restrictions to the records for a period of 12 years. These additional restrictions make the review of Presidential records more time consuming. Finally, the PRA and Executive Order 13489 add an additional step prior to the release of Presidential records that is not required of any Federal records, whereby NARA must notify the representatives of the former and incumbent Presidents to allow them an opportunity to conduct a privilege review before any Presidential records are released. The enclosed CD "A" has a file labeled "NARA's Presidential Library FOIAs," which has sheets for each of the Presidential Libraries; the names of FOIA requesters who have requested information about themselves have been redacted.

The third file group is for FOIA requests for military and civilian personnel records in the custody of NARA's National Personnel Records Center (NPRC). Civilian records have only recently begun to be archived and have not received FOIA requests related to these records. For military records, while most of these records still belong to the originating agencies, records older than 62 years from the date of release of the member from service have been accessioned into the National Archives. NPRC receives over one million reference requests a year, but only a small fraction are filed under the FOIA. Any backlog for these requests is largely due to the process for these archival records. When NPRC receives a FOIA request for an archival record, the requester is sent an invoice (first response). If payment is not received within 45 calendar days, the request auto-closes in the NPRC's Case Management and Reporting System. If payment is received, a photocopy of the record is reproduced and sent to the requester (second response). Our records indicate the vast majority of the NPRC FOIA cases receive a first response within the statutory 20 work day time period for response. Because the NPRC case tracking system did not allow us to easily extract data into one excel database, we have provided the information in two files on the enclosed CD "A", labeled "NPRC FOIAs Part I" and "NPRC FOIAs Part II." In addition, NPRC does not identify whether the requester is making a first party request for information on him or herself, so we have not been able to redact any such personal privacy information.

Also included are the FOIA request information for NARA's Regional Archives (labeled "NARA Regions FOIAs" on the enclosed CD "A"), the Office of the Federal Register (labeled "Federal Register FOIAs" on the enclosed CD "A"), and NARA's operational files (labeled "Operational FOIAs" on the enclosed CD "A"). Because we were not able to convert our MS-Access database into Excel, we have provided the information in Access, which contains personal privacy information, including home address and other contact information and first party requester information.

Your third request is for all correspondence between NARA and the requestor whose FOIA case has not been closed within the past 45 days. As we explained to Tegan Millspaw in a telephone conversation, at this time we are only able to provide correspondence that we currently maintain in electronic form by the electronic case management system used for the archival records in the Washington, DC area. The enclosed CD labeled "B" contains the scanned correspondence for these accessioned Federal records; these files contain personal privacy information, including home addresses and other contact information. The other systems maintain the correspondence in a corresponding paper file, and it would be extremely burdensome to search for and copy each piece of correspondence from these files. Please let us know if you still need us to undergo this effort and produce copies of such paper correspondence.

In response to your fourth and fifth requests, the one FOIA case in the past five years in which attorneys' fees were assessed is Cooke v. Ronald Reagan Presidential Library (C.D. CA, CV 05-6518, Sep. 1, 2006); we have attached a copy of the court order in that case (labeled "Fee Order" on the enclosed CD "A").

If you have any questions you or your representative may contact me directly by phone at (301) 837-0583 or by e-mail at joseph.scanlon@nara.gov.

Sincerely,

Order on Plaintiffs' Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees and Costs (filed 6/1/06)

I. Introduction

This matter is before the Court on Plaintiffs' Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees and Costs ("Motion"), filed on June 1, 2006. Defendants' Opposition to Plaintiffs' Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees and Costs ("Opposition") was filed on July 10, 2006. The Reply Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Award of Attorneys' Fees and Costs ("Reply") was filed on August 2, 2006.

II. Factual and Procedural Background

Plaintiffs Pamela Cooke and Joanna Schwartz filed their initial Complaint for Injunctive and Other Relief Under the Freedom of Information Act ("Complaint") on September 1, 2005, against Defendants the Ronald Reagan Presidential Library ("Library"), Allen Weinstein, and the National Archives and Records Administration ("NARA"). Plaintiffs sought the disclosure and release of over 1,500 pages<sup>1</sup> of records in the Library pertaining to now Chief Justice John G. Roberts, Jr., whose confirmation was then pending. (Compl. ¶¶ 1-2.) In the event that the records were not disclosed, Plaintiffs sought a Vaughn index listing the documents withheld and the reasons for the withholding.<sup>2</sup> (Id. ¶ 50.) Defendants' Answer was filed on October 6, 2005.

Meanwhile, on September 9, 2005, Plaintiffs filed an Ex Parte Application for Temporary Restraining Order and OSC Re: Preliminary Injunction ("Application"), seeking essentially the same relief as in the Complaint, and contending that they and the American public would suffer irreparable harm if they did not receive these records before the Senate vote. On September 16, 2005, the Court found Plaintiffs had not shown irreparable harm justifying the order they sought. Along with its opposition to the Application, NARA produced a partial Vaughn index and proposed a schedule for further production. The Court ordered NARA to prioritize certain documents on a list ordered to be provided by Plaintiffs, and to complete a Vaughn index of those documents by September 23, 2005. NARA was also ordered to continue preparing a Vaughn index for the remaining documents and to provide the index to Plaintiffs on a rolling basis.

On September 29, 2005, Chief Justice Roberts was confirmed – in advance of production of any further documents by NARA.

In a stipulation dated November 15, 2005, the parties agreed that Defendants would complete a Vaughn index for all of the withheld documents by January 10, 2006, and that Plaintiffs would file a list of those documents Plaintiffs contended should be produced by February 9, 2006. On February 10, 2006, the parties filed another stipulation stating that Defendants had provided the complete Vaughn index on January 10, 2006, and that Plaintiffs would file their list of challenged documents by March 13, 2006. In a third stipulation dated April 24, 2006, the parties stated that they had "resolved their disputes as to all documents at issue in this litigation."

According to Plaintiffs, a partial Vaughn index was produced on September 23, 2005. (Mot. 4:19-20.) A complete, 390-page Vaughn index was provided on January 10, 2006. (Id. at 4:21-24.) At that time, 10 additional documents were released. (Id. at 4:28-

<sup>2</sup> The index concept stems from the decision in Vaughn v. Rosen, 484 F.2d 820 (D.C. Cir. 1973), where the court held that when a government agency withholds requested documents, it must provide a detailed justification for a FOIA exemption. The purposes of the index are to assure the requesting party that the government is not hiding or mischaracterizing documents and to aid in efficient evaluation of the disputed documents by the reviewing court. Vaughn, 484 F. 2d at 826. Because the party seeking disclosure has limited or no access to the documents, "[t]he purpose of the index is to afford the FOIA requester a meaningful opportunity to contest, and the district court an adequate foundation to review, the soundness of the withholding." Wiener v. FBI, 943 F.2d 972, 977 (9th Cir. 1991) (internal quotations omitted). Thus, there appears to be no requirement of a Vaughn index in the absence of litigation, and even after litigation has been instituted, an index is not always required. See Wiener, 943 F.2d at 978 n.5; Lewis v. Internal Revenue Serv., 823 F.2d 375 (9th Cir. 1987).

5:1.) On February 8, 2006, Defendants released 11 more documents. (Id. at 5:2-4.) After negotiations, on April 21, 2006, Defendants released 38 more documents. (Id. at 5:15-16.) On April 24, 2006, Defendants released 2 more documents. (Id. at 5:16-17.) Sixty-one documents, totaling 77 pages, were released. (Mincberg Decl. ¶ 3.)

Plaintiffs state that "after reviewing the Court-ordered index, Plaintiffs decided not to contest the majority of the withholdings and instead focused their efforts on a select group of documents . . . ." (Mot. 1:21-23.) After a series of "lengthy and substantive meet-and-confers" over the course of several months, Defendants publicly released 61 documents. (Id. at 1:24-2:2.)

III. Legal Standard

As a general rule, the prevailing party is not entitled to recover attorneys' fees unless specifically provided for in an agreement between the parties or by statute. See Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Soc'y, 421 U.S. 240, 247 (1975). The Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"), 5 U.S.C. § 552, specifically provides for the recovery of attorneys' fees and costs under certain circumstances. Under FOIA, "[t]he court may assess against the United States reasonable attorney fees and other litigation costs reasonably incurred in any case under this section in which the complainant has substantially prevailed." 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(E).

The decision as to whether to award attorneys' fees is a two-step process. First, the moving party must show that she is eligible for an award of attorneys' fees under FOIA. Long v. U.S. IRS, 932 F.2d 1309, 1313 (9th Cir. 1991); Church of Scientology of Cal. v. U.S. Postal Serv., 700 F.2d 486, 489 (9th Cir. 1983). However, "[a] determination of eligibility does not automatically entitle the plaintiff to attorney's fees." Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489 (citation omitted). Next, the moving party must show that she is entitled to an award of attorneys' fees. Long, 932 F.2d at 1313; Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489.

A. Eligibility

To show that she is eligible to recover attorneys' fees, a plaintiff must show that she "substantially prevailed" in the FOIA action. Long, 932 F.2d at 1313. In Buckhannon Board & Care Home, Inc. v. West Virginia Department of Health & Human Resources, 532 U.S. 598 (2001), the Supreme Court substantially altered the framework to be used for determining whether a plaintiff had substantially prevailed.

Before Buckhannon, the Ninth Circuit (and most other circuits) applied the "catalyst theory" in determining whether a plaintiff had prevailed. Id. at 601-02 and n.3. As described by the Ninth Circuit, the catalyst theory is "an alternate theory for determining the prevailing party if no relief on the merits is obtained." Kilgour v. City of Pasadena, 53 F.3d 1007, 1010 (9th Cir. 1995) (citations omitted). The doctrine provides that "a plaintiff is a 'prevailing party' if it achieves the desired result because the lawsuit brought about a voluntary change in the defendant's conduct." Buckhannon, 532 U.S. at 601. The Ninth Circuit had approved the catalyst theory in cases under the FOIA. In Exner v. FBI (Exner I), 443 F. Supp. 1349 (S.D. Cal. 1978), the plaintiff sought the release of certain documents pursuant to the FOIA. Id. at 1350. The defendants were ordered to produce a Vaughn index. Id. at 1350-51. Defendants then voluntarily released some of the documents requested. Id. at 1351. The trial court granted summary judgment for the defendants, finding that all of the documents had been released or were properly exempt. Nevertheless, the court found that the plaintiff had substantially prevailed and awarded attorneys' fees. Id. at 1353-54. The Ninth Circuit affirmed. Exner v. FBI (Exner II), 612 F.2d 1202 (9th Cir. 1980).

Similarly, in Church of Scientology, the defendant ultimately released nearly all of the requested documents voluntarily, after lengthy legal proceedings. 700 F.2d at 487-89. The district court granted the defendant's motion for summary judgment, finding that all of the documents either had been released or were exempt, and denied the plaintiff's request for attorney's fees. Id. at 489. The Ninth Circuit remanded the case for a factual determination as to whether the plaintiff substantially prevailed, and noted that "the mere fact that defendants have voluntarily released documents does not preclude an award of attorney's fees to the plaintiff." Id. at 489, 492. The Church of Scientology decision laid out a framework for determining whether a plaintiff was eligible for a fee award. "[T]he plaintiff must present 'convincing evidence' that two threshold conditions have been met: . . . (1) his filing of the FOIA action was necessary to obtain the information sought and (2) the action had a 'substantial causative effect' on the ultimate receipt of that information." Long, 932 F.2d at 1313 (quoting Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489).

Buckhannon expressly rejected this approach. The Court began by examining its prior jurisprudence; although the Court found it had never decided whether the term "prevailing party" allowed for an award of fees under the catalyst theory, prior cases made clear that "a 'prevailing party' is one who has been awarded some relief by the court . . ." Id. at 603 and n.5. Construing the attorneys' fees provisions of the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988, 42 U.S.C. § 3601 et seq., and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, 42 U.S.C. § 12101 et seq., the Court stated: "respect for ordinary language requires that a plaintiff receive at least some relief on the merits of his claim before he can be said to prevail." Buckhannon, 532 U.S. at 603 (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). The Court found that an award of attorneys' fees is permissible only if there has been a "material alteration of the legal relationship of the parties." Id. at 604 (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). Under Buckhannon, then, fees may be awarded only where there is a "judicially sanctioned change in the legal relationship of the parties." Id. at 605. "A defendant's voluntary change in conduct, although perhaps accomplishing what the plaintiff sought to achieve by the lawsuit, lacks the necessary judicial imprimatur on the change.” Id.

In Buckhannon, the Court held that the required judicially-sanctioned “material alteration” may result from an enforceable judgment on the merits or a court-ordered consent decree. Id. The Ninth Circuit has “rejected overly narrow interpretations of Buckhannon and held on a number of occasions that judgments and consent decrees are . . . not the only examples of judicial action sufficient to convey prevailing party status.” Carbonell v. INS, 429 F.3d 894, 898 (9th Cir. 2005) (citations omitted).

As one district court has recently noted, “[t]he Ninth Circuit has yet to consider whether Buckhannon reaches FOIA fee claims, but every other circuit that has addressed the question has applied Buckhannon.” Pac. Fisheries, Inc. v. IRS, Case No. C04-2436JLR, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 35288, at *12 (W.D. Wash. June 1, 2006).

B. Entitlement

Once eligibility has been determined, the plaintiff must then show an entitlement to fees. “Entitlement to attorney’s fees is left to the discretion of the district court.” Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489 (citation omitted). The court may consider “whatever factors it deems relevant in determining whether an award of attorney’s fees is appropriate.” Id. at 492. The Ninth Circuit has suggested four criteria to be considered: “(1) the benefit to the public, if any, deriving from the case; (2) the commercial benefit to the complainant; (3) the nature of the complainant’s interest in the records sought; and (4) whether the government’s withholding of the records sought had a reasonable basis in law.” Id. (citations omitted).

As a final step, the court must determine whether the fees requested are reasonable. “The plaintiff who has proven both eligibility for and entitlement to fees must submit his fee bill to the court for its scrutiny of the reasonableness of (a) the number of hours expended and (b) the hourly fee claimed. If these two figures are reasonable, then there is a strong presumption that their product, the lodestar figure, represents a reasonable award.” Long, 932 F.2d at 1313-14 (citations and internal quotation marks omitted). The court may depart from the lodestar figure based on certain factors articulated in Kerr v. Screen Extras Guild, Inc., 526 F.2d 67, 70 (9th Cir. 1975). Long, 932 F.2d at 1314.

IV. Discussion

A. Plaintiffs Have Satisfied the Buckhannon Requirement and Are Eligible for

Fees

The Court first determines whether Plaintiffs have substantially prevailed. The Court ordered NARA to complete a Vaughn index for all of the withheld documents, to be provided to Plaintiffs on a rolling basis and in draft form. The Court did not fault NARA for its failure to produce the index earlier. In fact, the Court found:

[P]roduction of a comprehensive Vaughn index is a laborious and time-consuming process. The papers submitted and answers to the Court's questions at argument establish that NARA has devoted the energies of three persons with appropriate clearance and sufficient knowledge of the documents and issues to work full time, excluding other business commitments, to the process of providing the documents and (now that litigation has commenced) preparing a Vaughn index. Requiring NARA to produce an index any sooner than they have already agreed to do will require diverting personnel and resources away from other important government priorities. Even if the Court were to order additional resources to be committed, additional personnel would likely have insufficient knowledge to speed the process, and time might be required for them to obtain appropriate clearances. This would be an unwarranted intrusion in light of the insubstantial likelihood that Plaintiffs will eventually prevail on their claim that documents have been wrongfully withheld. Plaintiffs have not justified imposing this burden on NARA.

The Court did not order NARA to release any documents. Nevertheless, over the course of several months while the Vaughn index was being prepared and litigation pursued, Defendants publicly released a total of 61 documents comprising 77 pages. The parties now state that they have resolved all of their disputes, and Plaintiffs do not seek the release of any further documents.

In Northwest Coalition for Alternatives to Pesticides v. Environmental Protection Agency (Northwest Coalition II), 421 F. Supp. 2d 123 (D.D.C. 2006), the court considered a very similar set of circumstances in connection with a motion for an award of attorneys' fees. The plaintiff initially filed a FOIA request seeking the release of certain documents from the EPA. Nw. Coalition for Alternatives to Pesticides v. EPA (Nw. Coalition I), 254 F. Supp. 2d 125, 128 (D.D.C. 2003). The EPA denied the request, relying on a "substantiation letter" from a third party claiming that the information sought was confidential; the plaintiff then sought the release of the substantiation letter and related documents. Id. The plaintiff then filed a FOIA action in district court seeking disclosure of the substantiation letter and related documents. Id. at 129. A few months later, the third party itself provided some of the documents sought. Id. Nevertheless, on the parties' cross-motions for summary judgment, the court found that the controversy was not moot – the EPA had failed to show that it had adequately reviewed the substantiation letter before withholding the underlying documents. Id. at 131. The court ordered the EPA to determine whether the third party had properly redacted the underlying documents, and to identify the basis for its conclusion. Id. at 134. Subsequently, the EPA filed a supplemental declaration outlining its reasons for finding that the information was properly withheld. Nw. Coalition II, 421 F. Supp. 2d at 126. On the EPA's renewed motion for summary judgment, the court granted summary judgment and determined that the information was properly withheld. Id. On the plaintiff's motion for attorneys' fees, the court found that the plaintiff had substantially prevailed and was eligible for a fee award. Id. at 128. The court noted that its order "caused a change in the legal relationship between the parties" because it "required action by the EPA that EPA otherwise believed it had no duty to perform - explain whether the agency determined that all of the information sought by plaintiff was properly withheld." Id. (citation and internal quotation marks omitted).

Under the lenient standard of Carbonell, Plaintiffs need not obtain full relief on the merits to satisfy the Buckhannon requirement. See 429 F.3d at 898-99. This Court's order compelling production of a Vaughn index changed the legal relationship and conduct of the parties; it required NARA to re-examine Plaintiffs' FOIA requests, and provided Plaintiffs with the information they needed to determine which (if any) claimed exemptions to challenge. Further, an order compelling production of a Vaughn index was a form of relief specifically requested by Plaintiffs in their Complaint (though they were likely not entitled to one until after the case was filed). Before initiation of the suit, NARA had declined to produce further documents.

Defendants suggest that Plaintiffs' success was not substantial, because Plaintiffs obtained the release of only 77 pages out of the total of over 1,500 pages sought. However, "it is not the nature [or volume] of the documents [released] that controls. It is the nature of the judicial relief that is dispositive." Piper v. U.S. Dep't of Justice, 339 F. Supp. 2d 13, 20 (D.D.C. 2004) (finding that plaintiff substantially prevailed where he obtained the judicially-ordered release of 23 documents out of a total of 80,000 documents sought and eventually released voluntarily). Similarly, Defendants argue that Plaintiffs did not substantially prevail because Defendants had already agreed to the deadline ordered for completion of the Vaughn index even before Plaintiffs filed their Application. This argument also lacks merit. As discussed in Carbonell, 429 F.3d at 899, even a legally enforceable settlement agreement is sufficient under Buckhannon. Thus this Court's order satisfies the Buckhannon requirement.<sup>3</sup>

B. Even Under the Two-Part Test in Church of Scientology, Plaintiffs Are Eligible for Fees

While it is clear that the catalyst theory does not survive Buckhannon, it is less clear whether the Court should continue to apply the two-part test for eligibility described in Long and Church of Scientology.<sup>4</sup> See Long, 932 F.2d at 1313 (“[T]he plaintiff must present ‘convincing evidence’ that two threshold conditions have been met: . . . (1) his filing of the FOIA action was necessary to obtain the information sought and (2) the action had a ‘substantial causative effect’ on the ultimate receipt of that information.” (quoting Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489)).

In Pacific Fisheries, the court determined eligibility with no discussion of the two-part test; however, such discussion was not necessary because the court found that the judicial imprimatur requirement of Buckhannon was not satisfied. Pac. Fisheries, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS, at *11-13. In Read v. FAA, 252 F. Supp. 2d 1108, 1109-10 (W.D. Wash. 2003), which distinguished Buckhannon, there was again no discussion of the two-part test. The court did note, however, that the plaintiff “initiated this lawsuit to compel the FAA to respond to his FOIA requests” and that the judicial relief award “accomplished that goal.” Id. at 1110. In Windel v. United States, No. 3:02-cv-00306 JWS, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 21232 (D. Alaska Apr. 19, 2006), the plaintiff did not rely on the catalyst theory because judicial relief was awarded, and thus the court did not discuss Buckhannon. The court did, however, cite the two-part Church of Scientology test. Id. at *7. See also Piper, 339 F. Supp. 2d at 19 (without expressly citing two-part test, court examined whether “the plaintiff obtained a change in the [defendant’s] primary conduct in real world terms” (citation, internal quotation marks, and alterations omitted)).

The cases cited above suggest that the two-part test in Church of Scientology was not eliminated by Buckhannon. Where the Buckhannon judicial imprimatur requirement is not met, as in Pacific Fisheries, there is no need to go further – a plaintiff is not entitled to recover attorneys’ fees. Where the Buckhannon requirement is satisfied by a court order or consent decree requiring production of the requested documents, it will generally be clear that the disclosure of those documents was caused by the judicial action. However, Buckhannon leaves open the possibility that some lesser form of judicial relief might satisfy the judicial imprimatur requirement. See Carbonell, 429 F.3d at 898-99. In such cases, the Church of Scientology test may be helpful in determining whether the plaintiff has substantially prevailed.

Application of the two-part Church of Scientology test suggests that the judicial relief obtained by Plaintiffs was sufficiently connected to the merits of Plaintiffs' FOIA claims to render Plaintiffs the substantially prevailing parties. First, it is clear that the filing of Plaintiffs' FOIA action was necessary to obtain the information sought. Defendants had apparently refused to provide the documents requested.<sup>5</sup> In their initial responses to Plaintiffs' FOIA requests, Defendants provided "withdrawal sheets" listing the documents withheld. (Second Smith Decl. ¶ 10.) At that time, it appears that Defendants believed they needed to do nothing further. (See Woocher Decl. ¶ 2.) Defendants produced their first partial Vaughn index only after litigation was initiated. (Second Smith Decl. ¶ 13.) Further, the need for suit was increased due to Chief Justice Roberts' impending confirmation. See O'Neill, Lysaght & Sun v. Drug Enforcement Admin., 951 F. Supp. 1413, 1420 (C.D. Cal. 1996) ("Time pressure may enhance the need for suit if the agency is not forthcoming."). Second, the action had a substantial causative effect on the ultimate production of some requested documents. In the course of producing the Vaughn index, Defendants were compelled to review the withheld documents, and ultimately concluded that a few of them should not have been withheld.

C. Plaintiffs Are Entitled to Recover Attorneys' Fees

In determining whether Plaintiffs are entitled to a fee award, the Court considers: "(1) the benefit to the public, if any, deriving from the case; (2) the commercial benefit to the complainant; (3) the nature of the complainant's interest in the records sought; and (4) whether the government's withholding of the records sought had a reasonable basis in law." Church of Scientology, 700 F.2d at 489 (citations omitted).

"[I]n weighing the public benefit factor the district court should take into account the degree of dissemination and the likely public impact that might result from disclosure." Id. at 492. "Courts also consider whether the release of the information contributes to the fund of information at the disposal of citizens to make important political choices." O'Neill, Lysaght & Sun, 951 F. Supp. at 1423 (citation omitted). This FOIA request was somewhat unique in that it purported to seek information relevant to the consideration of Judge Roberts for the position of Chief Justice of the United States — a matter of great public interest. The President had nominated Judge Roberts, and the United States Senate was in the process of performing its constitutional duty of providing "Advice and Consent." U.S. Const. art. II, §2. The Senate was actively investigating

Judge Roberts and seeking to obtain relevant documents – including documents in Defendants’ possession. (Second Smith Decl. ¶ 11). Plaintiffs have not demonstrated that they had any particular ability to bring these documents to the attention of the Senate, that the Senate was somehow less able than Plaintiffs to obtain the documents it considered relevant to its determination, or that the information – once provided to the Senate by Defendants – would nevertheless be kept from public view. Chief Justice Roberts was confirmed before any additional documents were disclosed, but the bulk of the requested fees were incurred after that date. Plaintiffs have indicated that the information they obtained was made available for downloading from a website or for photocopying. (Minberg Decl. ¶ 4.) The documents are also available at the Library. But Plaintiffs have not suggested anything in the documents that is of particular interest to the public, and have attached only four of them to their papers. The public benefit from disclosure of the documents appears virtually nonexistent. It is unlikely the unique circumstances of this case will occur again, and the Court concludes that NARA’s efforts to produce relevant documents here met or exceeded any reasonable expectations for the enormous amount of work that had to be done – and the enormous responsibility to innocent third parties to do it properly. In addition, the production of a minimal number of additional documents establishes the overwhelming accuracy of the process. While courts have recognized that FOIA litigation is “generally beneficial when it causes a government agency to take seriously its responsibilities under FOIA,” there is no evidence here that Defendants were not taking their responsibilities seriously. Quite the contrary, their efforts were extraordinary under the circumstances. Nothing Plaintiffs accomplished suggests that NARA will be inclined to handle requests differently in the future – nor should it. If this factor weighs in favor of Plaintiffs at all, it is de minimis at best.

It is undisputed that Plaintiffs did not bring this suit for financial gain. Plaintiffs acted as volunteers for People for the American Way, a non-profit public interest group. (Cooke Decl. ¶ 1; Schwartz Decl. ¶ 1.) Defendants contend that once Chief Justice Roberts was confirmed, Plaintiffs no longer had the same interest in seeking the documents. This does not change Plaintiffs’ original intention in bringing the suit, which was to contribute to the “fund of information” available regarding the nominee. See O’Neill, Lysaght & Sun, 951 F. Supp. at 1423. (See Cooke Decl. ¶ 4; Schwartz Decl. ¶ 3.) While Defendants have not demonstrated any self-interest in Plaintiffs’ continued pursuit of the documents after the confirmation, Plaintiffs’ identical and conclusory statements that they “remain – and continue to remain – interested in obtaining such information” even after they have agreed that no more documents are subject to FOIA (Cooke Decl. ¶ 4; Schwartz Decl. ¶ 3), is not particularly helpful to the Court’s analysis.

Finally, the Court considers whether the government’s withholding of the records sought had a reasonable basis in law. Plaintiffs contend that Defendants had no reasonable basis for their refusal to produce a Vaughn index. However, the relevant inquiry is whether Defendants had a reasonable basis for refusing to produce the underlying documents – including those ultimately released. Defendants argue that they invoked the exemption in 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6) to withhold “personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.” After negotiations, the parties apparently agreed that most of the withheld documents were properly within this exemption; only a relative few were subject to disclosure. Defendants thus apparently established to Plaintiffs’ satisfaction that most of the documents were properly excluded; however, as to the 61 documents ultimately released, Defendants have not adequately stated a reasonable basis for the withholding. Instead, Defendants argue only that they did not have sufficient time to ensure that they were applying the exemption in a consistent manner. (See Second Smith Decl. ¶ 10.) This statement is somewhat contradictory to the unequivocal refusal, before suit, to produce any further documents.

Under the unique circumstances of this case, this factor does not weigh heavily in Plaintiffs’ favor.

Considering all of the above, though reasonable minds could differ, the Court concludes Plaintiffs are entitled to attorneys’ fees.

D. The Requested Fees Are Unreasonable

The degree of a plaintiff’s success is the “most critical factor” in determining the reasonableness of the fee award. Farrar v. Hobby, 506 U.S. 103, 114 (1992) (considering the issue in a civil rights case). The Court should “‘compare’ the relief the plaintiff originally sought in his complaint with the relief he ultimately obtained.” Fischer v. SJB-P.D., Inc., 214 F.3d 1115, 1119 (9th Cir. 2000) (same). “Such a comparison promotes the court’s ‘central’ responsibility to ‘make the assessment of what is a reasonable fee under the circumstances of the case.’” Id. at 1119-20, citing Farrar. Where plaintiffs achieve extremely limited or technical success, the court can simply award “low fees or no fees.”<sup>6</sup> Id. at 1119.

Here, Plaintiffs had extremely limited success. The Court found no showing of irreparable injury. The Court did order a Vaughn index, relief to which Plaintiffs were not necessarily entitled in the absence of litigation. The index was to be provided on a schedule offered by NARA, which the Court found to be reasonable. No additional <sup>6</sup> When using this approach, the Court need not recite the “Kerr” factors. Id. documents were produced before the confirmation had been accomplished – and Plaintiffs have not shown that the documents are of any particular interest to the public. Defendants contend that 73 pages were released after the lawsuit was filed (no explanation is provided for the disparity between this and Plaintiffs' figure).<sup>7</sup> (Second Smith Decl. ¶ 14.) As Defendants point out, this number is only 3.5% of the 2,080 pages originally withheld by Defendants – and only 0.2% of the 44,062 total pages released both before and after litigation. (Id.)

Plaintiffs "bear[] the burden of establishing entitlement to an award and documenting the appropriate hours expended and hourly rates." Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 437 (1983). First, the Court reviews the billings to determine a "reasonable fee" for the services rendered. Next, the Court determines whether and to what degree that amount should be reduced to reflect Plaintiffs' "degree of success." See id. at 440 (holding extent of success is a crucial factor in determining amount of awardable fees in civil rights cases); see also Aguirre v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist., 2006 DJDAR 11548 (August 30, 2006) (finding the "degree of success" standard announced in Hensley applies in IDEA cases).

Counsel have billed for tasks not properly awardable under any circumstances, such as services performed before Defendants refused to produce further documents and drafting the administrative appeal. Counsel's practice of "block billing" makes it impossible to determine how much time was spent on what tasks.<sup>8</sup> Generally, the Court has estimated the amount of time properly incurred in a "block billed" entry rather than deducting the entire amount – though the Court does not believe it has an obligation to perform this analysis on Plaintiffs' behalf. Though counsel's credentials are impressive and their respective billing rates are likely comparable to the prevailing rates in the community, the tasks performed were not difficult and could often have been performed more than adequately by attorneys (or paralegals or administrative personnel) at lower billing rates. In addition, the time spent on several of the tasks, including preparation (research, document review, discussions, drafting, filing, etc.) of the Complaint itself (more than 75 hours) and preparation (same) of the application for temporary restraining order and attendance at the hearing (more than 80 hours) is excessive.<sup>9</sup> Years of experience and significant billing rates should equate with an ability to perform services more efficiently and effectively than could others with lesser credentials and experience. In addition, the bulk of the services for which counsel seeks reimbursement (review of the Vaughn index, research concerning exemptions and discussions with opposing counsel) are services that would have been expended even in the absence of litigation and, thus, are not the direct result of the lawsuit. There was no judicial imprimatur on the results of any of these services. Counsel seek fees for unidentified "research," described as "####" and for review of a motion, brief, and complaint "identified" in the same manner. The Court assumed – and the Reply confirms – that counsel was redacting matters that allegedly were privileged. The Court finds this explanation unsatisfactory and counsel's offer to provide information "too little, too late." If the matters researched and reviewed were so obscure that they would not already be identifiable by opposing counsel and a judge familiar with the case (by appearing in papers or argument), then these services should not be compensated.<sup>10</sup> The Court declines to order the people of the United States to pay (as they ultimately will) for services that counsel does not describe. It appears from one of the entries, and from comments made to opposing counsel, (Coleman Decl. ¶¶7-10), that Plaintiffs' counsel may have been interested in issues relating to campaign financing laws not necessarily relevant to this suit. In any event, without a description of the services, the Court cannot determine whether they were "reasonable." The Court also finds the number of internal conferences and communications with a person whom the Court assumes represent the "client" to be excessive and duplicative. Time spent on certain other items, such as review of Local Rules, review of the Court's orders (1.4 hours for two attorneys to review the ruling on the TRO), and preparation of stipulations (including 2 hours to prepare a 20-line stipulation to remove a motion from the Court's calendar) was also excessive. The Court also declines to award fees for services that were ultimately unnecessary, such as the drafting of an amended complaint that was never filed.<sup>11</sup> Even more unreasonable is that counsel seek reimbursement for more than 19 hours relating to preparation for and attendance at the hearing on the preliminary injunction scheduled for September 26. This hearing was not held because counsel failed to give notice of the hearing date to Defendants! The hearing was never rescheduled.

<sup>7</sup> Of this figure, some pages were released in full, some were released in redacted form, some partially released were released in full, and some partially released had additional portions released. (Second Smith Decl. ¶ 14.)

<sup>8</sup> Plaintiffs argue that "block billing" is generally less expensive for the client. The Court agrees. That is irrelevant here, however, as counsel were handling the matter pro bono and never intended to bill a client for the services. (Woocher Decl. ¶ 10.) Knowing that fees would be paid only if ordered by the Court, counsel nevertheless chose a method of billing that would make it impossible for the Court to determine how much time had been spent on each individual category of service. When a "block billed" entry contained only appropriate services and the total amount billed appeared reasonable, the Court awarded the entire amount. When not all of the entries were reasonable, the Court estimated how much to eliminate, rather than eliminating the entire "block." The burden was on Plaintiffs to establish their fees. Plaintiffs state that "many attorneys keep more detailed time records of their activities and may be able to provide more information regarding specific time entries." The Court declines to review records that have not yet been provided.

<sup>10</sup> The billings identify numerous research topics, such as FOIA, PRA, jurisdiction and venue, exhaustion of remedies, futility, and the FOIA (b)(6) exemption. The Court won't guess at what relevant but privileged research was performed.

Having carefully considered the billings provided, the Court concludes that $44,272.50 is the "reasonable fee" for the allowable services performed.

The Court next looks to the "degree of success." The Court concludes that awarding 50% of the allowable "reasonable fees," or $22,136.25 is more than fair to Plaintiffs' counsel.<sup>12</sup>

Having ruled that only $22,136.25 of the $119,837.50 sought is properly awarded, the Court now turns to Plaintiffs' application for the fees incurred in connection with their fee application. The Court concludes that fees of more than $53,000 (and more than 170 billed hours) to file a fee application for $119,837.50 – which ultimately result in an award of $22,136.25 – is excessive.<sup>13</sup> The Court has carefully reviewed the fee application. A substantial portion of the application argues that the Buckhannon standard does not apply. The Court has concluded that it does. Many of the criticisms noted above apply in connection with this supplemental application as well. The Court concludes that $8,000 is a reasonable amount to be awarded in connection with this largely unsuccessful fee application.

IV. CONCLUSION

The Court awards total fees of $30,136.25.

<sup>11</sup> Some of these issues, though by no means all, are detailed in Defendants' Opposition at 23-25.

<sup>12</sup> As noted, the Court generally did not award fees directly related to review of the Vaughn index, etc. Had the Court considered those fees properly awardable, the "degree of success" analysis would have changed, and a smaller percentage of the overall fee would have been awarded.

<sup>13</sup> The Court assumes there are "typographical errors" in the chart appearing in paragraph 3 of the Reply Declaration of Fredric D. Woocher. The totals in the "Lodestar" column increase compared to the chart in paragraph 12 of the original Woocher Declaration, while the totals in the "Hours" and "Rate" columns remain the same.

COMMENTS - NPRC FOIAs Part II

1. When the first response is NA Form 13038, Certification of Military Service, a delay may be experienced while technician obtains information required to prepare the 13038. NA Form 13038 is prepared primarily when a record was destroyed in the 1973 fire at NPRC. The technician may have to request information from both internal and external sources.
2. Delays are experienced when NA Forms 13055/75 are sent to the requester to obtain additional information when we cannot locate a record with the information initially provided by the requester.
