IN REPLY REFER TO:

A7221(2265)

March 17, 2008

In response to your FOIA request of March 5, 2008, I am enclosing a CD containing 365 park Collections Management Reports (CMR) and 1 Servicewide Summary CMR. The park CMRs are PDF files for which you will need Adobe Acrobat Reader. The Servicewide Summary has been saved as an object in a Microsoft Word file. I have also included an Excel file that lists park names and the corresponding acronyms that are used on the reports.

Sincerely,

Lynn Black
Acting Manager
Park Museum Management Program

Enclosure
cc: Diane M. Cook, FOIA Officer

A large history collection was purchased from Martha Day, a nearby resident. The approximately 550 objects include dishes, household objects, textiles, books and furniture. All items were originally from residents of Portsmouth village, now located within the park, and may be used in future exhibits in Portsmouth. About two-thirds of the collection was cataloged during FY07. An Archivist determined portions of the estimated eligible items to be duplicates or ineligible for the collections. Corrections are still being made to the converted records -- those entered when ANCS was a dBase program. Progress is slow as it requires revisiting all accessions and catalog records.

The Quarry Visitor Center, which exhibited and now stores approximately 1500 paleontological specimens embedded in a rock face, closed indefinitely on 12Jul2006 due to safety concerns associated with the structure of the building. The Quarry Visitor Center remained closed through FY07 and greatly impacted the amount of use the museum collection received by both NPS staff

Two top secret documents in the collection--both World War II travel itineraries for General Eisenhower--were officially declassified by the Department of Defense. All archeological artifacts in the collection were recataloged and re-housed. A small group of World War I military artifacts were deaccessioned and conveyed to the Adams County Historical Society with newspaper and television

Volunteer Gary Ernest has continued his work with the curatorial collection in 2007, by reviewing the hundreds of Civil War bullets in the FRSP museum collection. We have a large collection of musket balls, minie balls, cartridges, bullets, etc. of various shapes, sizes, and types. Gary has examined these specifically to determine the consistency of identification with nomenclature and has

Notable accessions acquired in FY2007 include two (2) wooden occasional tables, reputed to have been manufactured by Alcatraz inmates during the late 1920's. Other noteworthy accomplishments include the resolution of two (2) long term, expired loans. Incoming loan objects were deaccessioned and returned to the National Japanese American Historical Society and the US

In June the park opened a new visitor center. In the process of creating exhibits we had numerous donations to help balance out our collection. Many Confederate items such as swords, guns, spurs were added to the collection. Gettysburg donated the uniform of a soldier who fought at this battle as well. I also started to go through our interpretive files, finding items that should

Noteworthy action was the recent change of personnel managing the park's collection. Phil Slattery is no longer managing the collection. All museum collection responsibilities now fall under Division of Science and Resources Management; Chief, Science and Resources Management: Darrell L. Echols. Due to this recent change and the poor state of collection accession and catalog

This year records PORE 00001 through 00549 were merged with the main CR and NH directories. These records were converted by the National Catalog to electronic records 2 years ago and sent to us in temporary directories. The records were gone through and corrected as far as possible with the information in our files. The merged records caused some slight changes to appear in the

This year sees the completion of a 3 year archival processing and cataloging agreement with Humboldt State University Library Archivist Edie Butler. The project resulted in over 101 linear feet of archival items and 1970 maps being processed, described, and cataloged. The Finding Aid is available at no management cost to the park from the Online Archive of California at

Accessions 393 and 400 are Phase I and II of investigations of two sites on park property that are going to be destroyed as part of the Army Corps of Engineers San Antonio River Improvement Project. The mitigation phase should take place sometime in 2008. These collections represent some of the few known highly stratified sites ranging from Archaic-Spanish Contact that are recorded

WAPA's entire museum collection was evacuated from the Haloda building in December 2002 as a result of the building being decimated by Super typhoon Pongsona. From December 2002 to June 2007, all objects in the WAPA museum collection were in "dead storage". During this time period it was impossible to access, monitor, or inventory the museum artifacts. It was not until
