This summary email advises of the anticipated FOIA release of material concerning Lyndon B. Johnson (deceased) which may result in publicity.

The remaining four files will be processed for the final interim release. Two of these files contain similar material regarding the travels of the President to the USSR and the travels of the President and the First Lady to Mexico and the Virgin Islands. The third is a lab file regarding the restoration of faded writing in a bible that belonged to Pres. Johnson. The fourth file is a bribery file.

Subject: Thomas J. Dodd (FOIA #1133439)
~ 450 pages from files 58-HQ-6157 sections 1-2 and 47-HQ-52631-6 section 1.

Requester: Koskoff, David E., freelance representative of the news media

Background: Connecticut Senator Thomas J. Dodd died on May 24, 1971 of a heart attack in his home. Dodd was an FBI Special Agent from 1933-1934 who later became a United States Senator (1952-1970).

In February 1966, the late Senator Dodd requested of the Attorney General, a complete investigation of the charges and allegations made against him by columnists, Jack Anderson and Drew Pearson in a series of articles written in the 1960's. The charges against Dodd were in relation to his association with General Julius Klein, a public relations representative for various West German institutions and the West German Government. Dodd had a close relationship with General Julius Klein, who provided him with prepared speeches and written instructions of meetings with West German officials. Dodd also allegedly accepted expensive gifts, including a Persian rug; and that in a trip to Germany in his official capacity, Dodd allegedly acted as a representative of Klein. The Senator also asked that the FBI investigate the theft of documents and correspondence from government offices by several of his former employees. He believed the articles written by Anderson and Pearson were based on these stolen documents.

As a result, the Attorney General reviewed the requests and determined that a complete FBI investigation would not be conducted on the allegations made by the columnists. However, in March 1966, he approved the investigation into the alleged theft of documents and correspondence from the Senator's office. Private investigator and former SA James Lynch was hired by Dodd to investigate this case. This investigation led to further investigation of Senator Dodd and members of his office on conflict of interest, bribery violations and accounting and tax fraud which began in March 1967. Several of the files and documents stolen from Senator Dodd's Connecticut office were distributed to newspaper columnists Jack Anderson and Drew Pearson. This material later appeared in Pearson's column in The Washington Post, entitled "The Washington Merry-Go Round." The files taken from the office contained information on the Senator's actions in matters of embezzlement, conflict of interest, and bribery violations. A number of employees were accused of disclosing the information to the columnists. Anderson said that according to the files and sources, it was believed that Senator Dodd violated certain laws and that it was his duty and of those whom provided the information to report these matters to other agencies and outside persons as a loyalty to their country over loyalty to their employer.

Subject: Blanton, Thomas Edwin Jr.

Requester: Goldman, Adam (AP reporter)

Fee Waiver requested but denied*

First Interim Release

Sections

Section 1 of 89 file classification and sections 1 and 2 of 44 file classification

Total page count: 336 reviewed pages and 284 released pages

Summary: The subject of this request is Thomas Blanton Jr., who was 1 of 5 main suspects who participated in the 1963 Birmingham 16th Street Baptist Church bombing where 4 black girls were killed. The requester is an AP reporter who received a privacy waiver from Mr. Blanton. Through negotiation, it was determined that we would process 38 sections of file 44D-BH-45184 and one section of file 89-HQ-1123-June Mail (the requester specifically wanted the 89 file processed first, which it has been and will be on the first interim release).

In 1996, it was decided to reclassify this investigation from a Police Cooperation matter to a Civil Rights—Racial Discrimination matter in order to assist local Birmingham authorities in their effort to prosecute the remaining subjects involved in the bombing. The FBI's interest was also renewed when 9,000 documents and surveillance tapes were discovered in 1993 that had never been shared with prosecutors.

At the time of the bombing, a massive investigation by and FBI Task Force was conducted but no arrests were ever made by the FBI, and the investigation was closed in 1969. In 1977, the investigation was reopened by the Attorney General of the State of Alabama, which culminated in the conviction of Robert E. Chambliss, who died in prison in 1985. It was believed that there were five individuals that were directly involved in the bombing: Herman Cash, Robert Chambliss, John Hall, Bobby Frank Cherry, and Thomas Blanton. In 1996, Cherry and Blanton were the only primary suspects living and Chambliss had been the only one convicted. The intention of reclassifying and reopening this case in 1996 was to pursue convictions of Cherry and Blanton. In 2001, Blanton and Cherry were indicted and both were convicted and sentenced to life in prison. Cherry died in prison in 2004, and Blanton is still serving his sentence.

Believe this release will receive some media attention for a number of reasons: This bombing is an historical event and a significant factor in the Civil Rights Movement; and the requester is an AP reporter, and this incident has received significant media attention in the past, to include a Spike Lee documentary in 1997. In addition, in some of the serials in this file, there was mention that the US Attorney General, Janet Reno, wanted to be continuously briefed on the status of the investigation.

The 44 file begins in 1996 and is the investigation the FBI used to convict Cherry and Blanton. The 89 file is only one serial stating justification for a technical surveillance to be placed on Thomas Blanton in 1963.

The highest bidding company was awarded the contract but had inadequate machinery and manpower to do the job. The Executive personal of Spear Service contacted Congressman Dickinson to obtain his help into finding out why they were not the chosen company, stating the fact that they were the lowest bidding company. Even though Spear Service didn't have the equipment or trained personal to handle the job they were willing to purchase new equipment and have people trained to handle the refueling/fueling job. Congressman Dickinson met with two of Spear Services executive personal after a rally in Alabama to discuss their concerns pertaining to the awarded contract. Spear Services executive personal contributed a check in the amount of $1,000 to the Congressman campaign for his listening to there concerns. Syndicated columnist Jack Anderson from the local paper advised in a article that the money was to pay Congressman Dickinson for obtaining the refueling/fueling contract for Spear Services. Mr. Anderson also stated in his article the amount that Sear Services gave Congressman Dickinson's campaign $5,000. Spear Services obtained the contact for 5 months; the remaining months left on the year long contract; after the winning bidding contractor was terminated for lack of operational equipment. Greetings,

The Freedom of Information/Privacy Acts (FOIPA) Unit is currently processing FBI records pertaining to real estate developer Raffaello Follieri. The requester, Clare Deady, is an associate producer for Kurtis Productions in Chicago. Ms. Deady is seeking this material for use in an upcoming segment of the documentary program "American Greed" on A&E.

The responsive records consist of approximately 1,300 pages of material from a New York Field Office investigation conducted during the time period September 2007 - March 2009. This file documents Mr. Raffaello's attempts to defraud real estate investors through conspiracy, wire fraud, and money laundering. This case generated a great deal of media attention partly due to Mr. Raffaello's associations with high profile entertainers and politicians. Although many of these individuals are named in the file, very few were interviewed, and there is no indication that any of these people knew that Follieri was engaging in criminal behavior.

“COMMUNICATIONS RE ISLAM TRAINING MATERIALS”

FOIA LITIGATION
HI-VIZ MEMORANDUM
FOIA # 1185745-000

Subjects: 1) Communications/records regarding review of Islam Training Materials 2.) 2/8/12 meeting between Director Mueller and various Islamic Groups

Requester: Justin McCarthy of Judicial Watch, Inc.

Impending Release: On January 14, 2013, RMD/RIDS will release 196 pages in part or full (very few full), out of 266 pages reviewed. These 266 pages consist of FBIHQ material pertaining to communications and records concerning a February 8, 2012 meeting between Director Mueller and various Islamic Organizations; and records concerning the FBI's review, identification, and withdrawal of offensive Counterterrorism training material from the Islam Curricula.

b6
b7C

Background:

March 7, 2012 FOIA request seeks records concerning communications and records created in preparation for, during, or as a result of a February 8, 2012 meeting between Director Mueller and various Islamic organizations. Plaintiffs also requested records of communications between the FBI and various entities such as the White House, the Executive Office of the President, the Office of the Attorney General, CAIR, the National Iranian American Council, the Muslim Brotherhood, the Islamic Nahda of Tunisia, the Justice Party of Morocco, and any foreign governments. Finally, plaintiffs also seek records setting criteria or guidelines for FBI curricula on Islam; records identifying potentially offensive material within the FBI curricula on Islam; and records of directives to recall and withdraw FBI presentations and curricula on Islam.

Suit was filed in July 18, 2012 in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. Defendants filed their Answer on August 22, 2012.

RMD/RIDS initially identified 266 pages of responsive material. Per a September 19, 2012 briefing schedule set by agreement of the parties and approved by the Court, the FBI was to produce all responsive material by January 14, 2013. In December, during the processing of OGC material, RIDS became aware of additional responsive material in other FBI offices. The previous Search EC was revised and is being sent to those additional offices. Due to the expectation of additional material from INSD and OGC/PCLU, RIDS sought--and was granted by the Court--an extension until March 13, 2013, to obtain and process all remaining potentially responsive material. Therefore, the January 14, 2013 release will be an interim release.

REQUESTER: Griggs, Alan

BACKGROUND: The request consists of four (4) files 9-HQ-23741, 9-HQ-30795, 62-HQ-98307 and 67E-HQ-322586. File 9-HQ-23742 consists of three (3) pages, a two-page teletype titled "Frank Clement, Governor of Tennessee Victim - Extortion" and a memorandum titled "State Police Guard Around Home of Governor of Tennessee". Both documents are dated 1953 detailing the state police guarding Clements' home after perceived threats. File 9-HQ-30795 consists of five (5) pages titled [REDACTED] Frank G. Clement - Victim" recounts Clement having received a telegram from [REDACTED] perceived to be extortion, though investigation disclose no violation of any law had been committed.

b6

File 62-HQ-98307 consists of ninety-six (96) pages of cordial correspondences between Frank Clement and Director Hoover, memorandums and search slips. File 67E-HQ-322586 consists of fifty-two (52) pages of Clements' Bureau applicant file and personnel records.

PROPOSED RELEASE: The release reflects Clement was born June 2, 1920 in Nashville, Tennessee. He attended Cumberland University and Vanderbilt University, receiving a LLB and was admitted to the Tennessee Bar in 1943. He was a former Special Agent of the Bureau assigned to the Chicago and Cincinnati offices from July 13, 1942 to November 30, 1943 when he requested to be placed on military leave. Subsequently, on May 22, 1946 he submitted his resignation to seek political office serving two terms as Governor of Tennessee. In February 1956, SAC's of Memphis and Knoxville, while attending a Bureau conference advised, after having met Clement, they did not think very highly of him, found him to be outwardly friendly, but believed him to be an opportunist and so ambitious as to border on being dangerous. Neither SAC believed Clement was the sincere type and one indicated he recalled Clement stating he'd left his position as Special Agent during the war to enter military service solely to "get a war record" because it would help him someday become Governor of Tennessee. On January 19, 1959, Clements' term as Governor ended, and he entered into private practice of law. In 1962, Clement re-entered politics and was re-elected as the Governor of Tennessee. In 1966, Clement ran as the democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate.

No redactions were made in files 9-HQ-23742 and 9-HQ-30795. Information was redacted in the remaining files to protect third party information, the identities of confidential sources, and information identifying SAC Contacts. The following exemptions were used: b6, b7C, b7D and b7E.

FOIA # 1171668 – processed by LAS [REDACTED]

b7C

Summary: The documents processed concern the political activities of Coleman Young and track his involvement with a number of subversive-Communist oriented groups starting in 1942 and trace his rise to Michigan State Senator and eventually as Mayor of Detroit. Section 1 of this file in was previously processed in 2007 though the case was eventually closed due to nonpayment of fees. In the intervening time the file has become eligible for Auto-Declassification.

The vast majority of the file focuses on Mr. Young's involvement with various advocacy groups some of which were considered as subversive by the Government such as the National Negro Congress, the Progressive Party of Michigan and the Communist Party. In 1952 Mr. Young was subpoenaed to appear before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in which he refused to answer if he was a member of the Communist Party by invoking his 5th Amendment rights. Throughout his appearance he was considered to be an uncooperative and hostile witness. When approached by the FBI a number of times over the decades as to whether he was willing to discuss the Communist Party he would always refuse to do so and abruptly end the conversation.

Potentially derogatory information pertains to source information regarding potential infidelity and domestic abuse on the part of Mr. Young. Most of this information was released in 2007 in FOIA # 1003376.

Previously released information:

A rumor that Mr. Young and his wife were considering divorce due to his associating with a female member of the Communist Party is reported. The FBI made the observation that Mr. Young "from time to time...pursues the 'wine women and song' routine." In 1954 the FBI reports "marital difficulties between Coleman and his wife have again resulted in a physical brawl, and the antagonism between them is evidently very strong."

Previously unreleased information:

[REDACTED] information was redacted with the b7d exemption in 2007 and is similarly proposed to be withheld for the currently pending release.

Additional source information reveals it was an "open secret" that Young was carrying on an affair with the women who would eventually become his second wife. The identification of the women is withheld with exemptions b6 & b7c, but the fact that an affair was an open secret has been proposed to be released as allegations of alleged affairs have already been released.

No other derogatory information was found in this file.
