Re: National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB)
Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) No. FOIA-2012-00232

This letter responds to your FOIA request for a copy of the NTSB FOIA Case Log for the last four years.

Enclosed please find a Requests Report from 9/1/2008 and 12/5/2012 (7 Pages).

To the extent I have denied your FOIA request, you may appeal my decision by writing to: Mr. David L. Mayer, Managing Director, NTSB, Washington, DC 20594.

This is a final response and there is no charge for processing this case.

Sincerely,

Melba D. Moye

FOIA-2013-00014	10/23/2012	10/23/2012	Description of Request: I am seeking the cockpit voice recorder (CVR) transcripts from the crash of Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) Flight 1771 on December 7, 1987 near Paso Robles and Cayucos, San Luis Obispo County, California as a result of a murder-suicide scheme by one of the passengers. This transcript was prepared with technical assistance by the National Transportation Safety Board and was completed prior to a press conference held by the FBI in Los Angeles, CA on December 23, 1987 describing the contents of the transcript to reporters. The perpetrator and all passengers and crew perished in the crash so there are no living persons who may appear on the transcript other than incidental air traffic controllers in the course of their employment. The NTSB Brief of Accident for this incident was adopted on 01/04/1989 and is identified by the following: NTSB ID DCA88MA008 / File No. 1750. The Probable Cause synopsis identifies that the docket is stored on NTSB microfiche number 34799.	DCA88MA008	12/7/1987	SAN LUIS OBISPO, CA United States	12/06/2012

			2000 NTSB Identification WPR10FA440 N-67264 date 8/31/2010 For the NTSB clarification, is the below statement the position of the NTSB or the sole position of the Hiller representative Steven Palm? Cabin Door Transparencies and Latch Mechanisms According to the Hiller representative, Instead of being equipped with the standard flat or slightly curved transparencies, each cabin door incorporated a clear "bubble" or highly dished transparency, with its concave side towards the cabin interior. The bubble transparencies were commercially available as post-delivery modification options, and their purpose was to provide observers with a more-nearly-vertical downward view from the helicopter. Additionally, the concavity served to increase the physical width of the cabin, and could also serve as a convenient, albeit unintended, temporary resting location for certain articles in the cabin. In addition, the latch mechanisms that were used for normal hinged operation of the cabin doors had been modified with non-Hiller hardware, and they were not in accordance with any Hiller- or supplemental type certificate-approved modifications. The installed latches were operated by handle rotation. Examination of the installed latch mechanisms revealed that the handle appeared to be susceptible to inadvertent activation, which could occur either by being physically bumped by the person seated next to the door, or by the handle getting caught in/by that person's clothing sleeve, particularly if the clothing was loose fitting. The Hiller representative stated that, for those reasons, he considered that latch design to be unsafe.

FOIA-2013-00027	11/08/2012	11/07/2012	The recently released report NTSB/AAR-12/02 "Crash During Experimental Test Flight Gulfstream Aerospace Corporation GVI (G650), N652GD Roswell, New Mexico April 2, 2011" notes on page 20 that "A consultation report provided to the NTSB by the Office of the Armed Forces Medical Examiner concluded that the performance-impairing effects of the medication on the PIC could not be definitively determined in this case." As far as I can determine, this OAFME consultation report was not included in the docket for this accident. I would like to request a copy of this external (non-NTSB) report on which the NTSB apparently relied for its analysis. Additionally, the report notes on page 20 that "...caffeine and theobromine ... were also present in the PIC's blood," but does not note a source for this information. The toxicology testing performed by the FAA-CAMI toxicology laboratory for this accident (see docket document 57 - Human Performance 14 - Attachment 2, Toxicological Test Results for the PIC) does not note either substance, and as far as I can determine, no other toxicology findings are included in the docket. I would therefore like to request a copy of the materials on which the NTSB relied to determine that caffeine and theobromine were present in the PIC's blood. I am currently working over our Emergency Response Plan and I would like to obtain a manual or checklist of the things you will need from an airline in order to respond to an emergency situation. Even that in the airline that I work for we have a general idea of what is requested from the carrier, we also know that in United States, NTSB will take the lead in managing the situation, and we look forward to assist you in that matter in the best possible way. There is also one specific thing that I would like to get an answer. It is about the hotels where passenger's family members and crew members are going to be directed. These hotels are gotten by NTSB? Or is the airline responsible for getting the hotels emptied to accommodate families and crew members? I really appreciate your help with this matter.
