Charlotte,

We are starting to plan for our annual Southwest Investor tour, which will take place the week of September 10th. We would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Ferron and the other Commissioners (separately). Please let us know if Commissioner Ferron would be willing to meet with us and if he has availability that week. Shar Pourreza (copied) on our team will be planning the trip this year, so please include him in your reply.

Thank you.

Scott - thanks for the brief chat,

I have met with Commissioner Simon several times in the past, usually once a year. Was hoping to meet up with him for about 30 minutes or so (can even be informally over a cup of coffee) while at NARUC. I will be there from Sunday though Wednesday morning. Unlike prior meetings, I will likely be by myself. Probably best to chat right after one of his panels.

Issues to discuss:

- Renewable mandates
- SONGS
- Transmission development
- Overall tone on rates and returns

Hi Valerie,

Just noticed that you were copied on the last email Ditas sent to me. Just as a reminder, we have a meeting with Comr. Ferron from either 10:00 - 11:00, or 11:00 - 12:00. His schedule is flexible during that two hour period, so if you need one of those time slots please let me know. We also have a meeting with Comr. Simon from 2:00 - 3:00. It would be best if we could meet from 3:00 - 4:00, but we are still flexible at this point. Can you please send the meeting request form or direct me to where I can download it. Thank you.

Hi Valerie,

Just noticed that you were copied on the last email Ditas sent to me. Just as a reminder, we have a meeting with Comr. Ferron from either 10:00 - 11:00, or 11:00 - 12:00. His schedule is flexible during that two hour period, so if you need one of those time slots please let me know. We also have a meeting with Comr. Simon from 2:00 - 3:00. It would be best if we could meet from 3:00 - 4:00, but we are still flexible at this point. Can you please send the meeting request form or direct me to where I can download it. Thank you.

Hi John,

We are looking at scheduling this meeting on 9/11 in the morning (10-noon). Please confirm if this date and time frame will work on your end. Also, please note that Thursday, Sept. 13 is our Commission Meeting day, so Wednesday would probably not be an ideal day to meet as Comr. Ferron usually likes to devote that day to prepare for the meeting. However, please don't hesitate to let me know if Tuesday is a problem and I will work with you to figure out a solution.

Thanks,

Juliane

Unfortunately Commissioner Sandoval's schedule is pretty tight the week of September 10 in part because it is a Commission meeting week. However, she is scheduled to speak at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Power Association of Northern California on September 11. This meeting is open to the public. The Commissioner would be available for a coffee at the end of this meeting. You can find out more about the meeting at http://www.panc.org/meetings.shtml

Let me know if you would like to meet with her at the Ferry Building following the PANC meeting on September 11.

We have meetings with Comr. Ferron from 10-11, Comr. Florio from 11-12, and Comr. Simon from 2-3. What time would Comr. Sandoval be available for coffee? If we went to the Ferry Building to meet her for coffee would we need to register for the PANC event?

Dear Mr. Apgar,

Unfortunately Commissioner Sandoval's schedule is pretty tight the week of September 10 in part because it is a Commission meeting week. However, she is scheduled to speak at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Power Association of Northern California on September 11. This meeting is open to the public. The Commissioner would be available for a coffee at the end of this meeting. You can find out more about the meeting at http://www.panc.org/meetings.shtml

Let me know if you would like to meet with her at the Ferry Building following the PANC meeting on September 11.

We have meetings with Comr. Ferron from 10-11, Comr. Florio from 11-12, and Comr. Simon from 2-3. What time would Comr. Sandoval be available for coffee? If we went to the Ferry Building to meet her for coffee would we need to register for the PANC event?

Dear Mr. Apgar,

Unfortunately Commissioner Sandoval's schedule is pretty tight the week of September 10 in part because it is a Commission meeting week. However, she is scheduled to speak at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Power Association of Northern California on September 11. This meeting is open to the public. The Commissioner would be available for a coffee at the end of this meeting. You can find out more about the meeting at http://www.panc.org/meetings.shtml

Let me know if you would like to meet with her at the Ferry Building following the PANC meeting on September 11.

Hi Valerie,

We have meetings with Comr. Ferron from 10-11, Comr. Florio from 11-12, and Comr. Simon from 2-3. What time would Comr. Sandoval be available for coffee? If we went to the Ferry Building to meet her for coffee would we need to register for the PANC event?

Dear Mr. Apgar,

Unfortunately Commissioner Sandoval's schedule is pretty tight the week of September 10 in part because it is a Commission meeting week. However, she is scheduled to speak at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Power Association of Northern California on September 11. This meeting is open to the public. The Commissioner would be available for a coffee at the end of this meeting. You can find out more about the meeting at http://www.panc.org/meetings.shtml

Let me know if you would like to meet with her at the Ferry Building following the PANC meeting on September 11.

Great – I am putting you in Room 5305 as we discussed. This room will hold up to 25 people. But please do forward a list so we can make sure there are actual chairs in the room. I think though that you scheduled the other meetings in the same room so it shouldn't be an issue.

Confirm: Thursday September 11 at 3pm room 5305.

We have meetings with Comr. Ferron from 10-11, Comr. Florio from 11-12, and Comr. Simon from 2-3. What time would Comr. Sandoval be available for coffee? If we went to the Ferry Building to meet her for coffee would we need to register for the PANC event?

Dear Mr. Apgar,

Unfortunately Commissioner Sandoval's schedule is pretty tight the week of September 10 in part because it is a Commission meeting week. However, she is scheduled to speak at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Power Association of Northern California on September 11. This meeting is open to the public. The Commissioner would be available for a coffee at the end of this meeting. You can find out more about the meeting at http://www.panc.org/meetings.shtml

Let me know if you would like to meet with her at the Ferry Building following the PANC meeting on September 11.

Hi John,

We are looking at scheduling this meeting on 9/11 in the morning (10-noon). Please confirm if this date and time frame will work on your end. Also, please note that Thursday, Sept. 13 is our Commission Meeting day, so Wednesday would probably not be an ideal day to meet as Comr. Ferron usually likes to devote that day to prepare for the meeting. However, please don't hesitate to let me know if Tuesday is a problem and I will work with you to figure out a solution.

Thanks,

I don't think we'll have many more than 15 or so total. Most of the people we're bringing are well versed in California regulatory policy, so I don't think a presentation is necessary, we could just do Q&A. Most of the questions will center on PG&E, SoCal Edison, and SDG&E. If Paul would like a list of some specific questions/topics, we'd be happy to put something together and send it over.

Thanks John,
You are welcome to bring as many people as you would like, but your meeting (which is normally only scheduled for 30 minutes) is only 1hour. In my experience, the more people talking, the less productive it is.
What is the purpose of your meeting? To give a presentation or a Q&A from all attending to the Executive Director?
Or are you expecting Paul to give a presentation to YOUR group?
Obviously each has a very different outcome.
The room I have reserved holds 10 chairs at the table, 25 total in the room.

Hope this helps. Is there are any other questions, feel free to call me.

Hi Anna-Marie,

Just wanted to check in and confirm our meeting on Thursday. We have 21 people total signed up for the meeting. In addition to the list below, there will be 3 analysts from Citi attending, Brian Chin, Faisel Khan, and Mike Matus. Separately, do you know if the room we are meeting in will be open for the afternoon because we potentially have a meeting with Commissioner Florio from 2:30-3:00 and President Peevey after that. Please let me know if you need anything else from us.

Thanks.

I don't think we'll have many more than 15 or so total. Most of the people we're bringing are well versed in California regulatory policy, so I don't think a presentation is necessary, we could just do Q&A. Most of the questions will center on PG&E, SoCal Edison, and SDG&E. If Paul would like a list of some specific questions/topics, we'd be happy to put something together and send it over.

Thanks John,
You are welcome to bring as many people as you would like, but your meeting (which is normally only scheduled for 30 minutes) is only 1hour. In my experience, the more people talking, the less productive it is.
What is the purpose of your meeting? To give a presentation or a Q&A from all attending to the Executive Director?
Or are you expecting Paul to give a presentation to YOUR group?
Obviously each has a very different outcome.
The room I have reserved holds 10 chairs at the table, 25 total in the room.

Hope this helps. Is there are any other questions, feel free to call me.
Thank you,

Good morning Carol and Sepideh,

We are bringing a group of investors by this Thursday to meet with Paul Clanon from 1:30-2:30pm. EIX reached out on our behalf to arrange meetings with Commissioner Florio, who is available from 2:30-3:00pm and Carol, they said you had some availability in the afternoon. EIX mentioned there may be a space issue given that we have a group of 21. We don't need a formal setting and would be glad just to meet in the cafeteria if a conference room is not available in the afternoon. Please let me know what works best.

Subject: Citi meetings on 1/10/13

Good morning Carol and Sepideh,

We are bringing a group of investors by this Thursday to meet with Paul Clanon from 1:30-2:30pm. EIX reached out on our behalf to arrange meetings with Commissioner Florio, who is available from 2:30-3:00pm and Carol, they said you had some availability in the afternoon. EIX mentioned there may be a space issue given that we have a group of 21. We don't need a formal setting and would be glad just to meet in the cafeteria if a conference room is not available in the afternoon. Please let me know what works best.

Thank you, Brian—
130pm or 230pm look like those times work to meet Paul Clanon regarding meeting at the Summit.
I will book for 130 and if you could send me your cell number, I'll include it in Paul's calendar if anything changes.

Also, please include a request as to the subject of your meeting.

Hi Jean,

Congratulations on your new role at the CPUC. Brad Copithorne (cc'ed here) and I work at Environmental Defense Fund and are focused on On-Bill Repayment, in addition to other clean energy financial policies. We have been working closely with Jennifer and Jeanne and look forward to meeting you soon.

We would like to invite you to a conference on energy efficiency finance, co-hosted by Citigroup and EDF. The event is on February 28th, here in San Francisco. The official invitation and agenda are below, and we very much hope that you can make it.

Best,
Jessica

Hi Brad,

It's likely that the 3pm time slot will work; however, as noted in Comr. Ferron's note below, it's our Commission meeting day and the end time is unpredictable. Therefore, a later time, such as 3:30 or 4pm, might be advisable (if possible) to avoid any hindrances to the agenda schedule that day.

Please just let me know what you decide.

Thanks,
Juliane

Brad and Jessica

The agenda seems to be going well. I think that 15 min is the right amount of time and I think that hopefully we can fill in with the topic. I might suggest that we make it broad "Current California regulatory activities in EE Finance" (or something to that effect) so that way we can talk about as much progress as we have made and where we think we are going…

As it gets closer, we will need to ask if there is PPT capabilities, etc.

I defer to Juliane on the timing if that slot will work. I think that it should, but she controls the schedule.

Subject: FW: Save the Date: Innovations in Energy Efficiency Finance II

Michael and Juliane –

Planning is going well for the conference. We have the commissioner slotted in at 3 PM. I have him down for 15 minutes.

We have two other keynotes. Fmr Gov Bill Ritter of CO will be discussing his work on EE finance. Should we try to calendar a few minutes for the two of them to speak at the conference?

Sen Kevin de Leon will be the other keynote speaker.

Does this work for you?

Michael – I am thinking we have him speaking about the PUC's leadership in establishing some cutting edge EE finance programs and our collective need for industry focus on demand generation. I am happy to change that up as you see fit. Please let me know if I can be of assistance on drafting.

BTW – Will you be attending too? Are there others at PUC we should invite?

Cheers,

Brad

Brad,

Thanks for your flexibility. Michael should be your point person concerning content and format. Juliane is my executive assistant who can help with logistics.

thanks

Of course you may join when you free up for the day. We had been targeting to have you be one of the initial speakers, but I do not foresee a problem slotting you in at the end of the day.

Let me circle up w/ our co-sponsor (Citi) and figure out a revised agenda.

Who on your team should I coordinate with to set this up?

Hi Brad,

Thanks for the invitation to what I'm sure will be a very interesting event.

Unfortunately, the date coincides with one of our public meetings of the Commission. These meetings usually begin at 9:00am and can last for much of the day, with the final end time ranging from 1:00 to 3:00pm depending upon the number of items on the agenda, the volume of public speakers and the length of the debate. Would it be possible for me to join as a participant at some unspecified time during the day, and if you want to use me as a speaker, that it be towards the end of the day?

Thanks and regards

Mark

EDF and Citi are hosting a conference on EE and renewable finance on 2/28 in San Francisco.

The objective is to gather the key market participants to get updates on all of the business opportunities in EE in CA. We plan to profile the upcoming utility programs, the PACE programs and EE/renewable opportunities in general. We plan on panels for residential, small commercial and large commercial and are considering a panel on multifamily. We expect the audience to primarily consist of ESCOs, ESA companies, contractors, lighting companies, leasing companies solar installers and banks.

We would be interested in having you as one of the primary speakers.

Let us know if that would be of interest and if you are available. We can be pretty flexible on content and/or format.

Best,

Brad

We can do any date between 1/13/2014 and 1/15/2014 as we just started putting together the agenda for the trip. However, our goal is to have meetings with all Commissioners on the same date back-to-back, which is why we're keeping it flexible on our end. Re: Meeting Request Dated: 10/22/13

This will confirm that your meeting request for the above date has been set for (January 14, 2014, 3:00) with (Sepideh Khosrowjah, Marcelo Poirier),(Room 5305). Please check in at the Security Desk in the main lobby to obtain a security badge before proceeding to your meeting. If you did not do so in your original Meeting Request Form, please submit a complete list of attendees prior to your meeting date.

If you need to cancel or change this meeting time for any reason, please let us know at your earliest convenience. Thank you for your request, and we look forward to seeing you at the PUC.

Sophie, I'm sorry but due to other scheduling conflicts and the availability of a meeting room large enough to accommodate everyone, we need to schedule this meeting at 3:00 on January 14 instead of 11:00.--Joan

On 10/31/2013 Sophie Karp writes (using the Commissioner's Online Email Form):

Dear President Peevey, I hope this email finds you well. I am a Senior Associate in Equity Research at Citi and I work on Shar Pourreza's team covering electric utilities. Shar Pourreza is the Head of North American Power group. We are based in New York. We're currently planning our 2014 annual investors' trip to California where we expect to meet with CA PUC Commissioners and senior executives from CA-based utilities such as PG&E, Edison International and Sempra, and various other stakeholders. We expect to bring a group of 15-20 representatives of large institutional investors who will be accompanied by two Citi analysts, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan, and two of their associates including myself. Our priority is to meet with Commissioners and their advisors as our clients are extremely focused on the regulatory environment in the state, and found such meetings to be very helpful in the past. We currently have meetings with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron and Florio (advisors) on January 15 of 2015 at 10am, 11am and 1:30pm. We would really appreciate it if it would be possible for you to dedicate 30-40 minutes of your time on that day to meet with our group as well since our clients would really like to hear from you also. Perhaps, it would be possible to join us around noon in between our meetings for lunch, or around 9am-9:30am in the morning? Citi would be happy to provide lunch/breakfast. We understand that your schedule is very busy and we would greatly appreciate your time! I am attaching Shar's and Faisel's business bios for your reference. Subject: Following up - meeting with Citi

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Thank you for re-sending, I don't think I received it the first time around so really appreciate the follow up.

Is 4pm the only time Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier are available on 1/15? We can definitely work around it, but if they have any availability in the morning it would make scheduling much easier.

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Hi Joan,

Thank you for re-sending, I don't think I received it the first time around so really appreciate the follow up.

Is 4pm the only time Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier are available on 1/15? We can definitely work around it, but if they have any availability in the morning it would make scheduling much easier.

Best regards,

Sophie

Public Utilities Commission—San Francisco -

Re: Meeting Request Dated: 10/22/13—REVISED December 2, 2013

This will confirm that your meeting request for the above date has been set for (January 15, 2014, 4:00 PM) with (Sepideh Khosrowjah, Marcelo Poirier),(Room 5305). Please check in at the Security Desk in the main lobby to obtain a security badge before proceeding to your meeting. If you did not do so in your original Meeting Request Form, please submit a complete list of attendees prior to your meeting date.

If you need to cancel or change this meeting time for any reason, please let us know at your earliest convenience. Thank you for your request, and we look forward to seeing you at the PUC.

Please note that we have had to revise the time for this meeting due to the fact that Commissioner Florio has to attend a crucial All-Party meeting that conflicts with the originally scheduled time of 1:30 on January 15. We regret the inconvenience. Sincerely, Joan Dahlgren

Cheryl,

We will be bringing approximately 12 clients in addition to 2 Citi analysts (Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan) and myself. Below are the bios of Citi's analysts who will be attending. Thank you very much for your help.

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for Multi-Utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the Integrated Pipeline and Gas Distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in Engineering and a BA in Economics, with minors in Mathematics and Actuarial Mathematics. He is a CFA Charterholder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group.

Subject: Following up - meeting with Citi

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Best regards,

Hi Doris,

I wanted to follow up to confirm scheduling of this meeting.

Also, below are bios of Citi's analysts who would be attending, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan. We also expect to bring a group of approximately 12 investors – we expect to finalize the list in the next couple of weeks.

Best regards,

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for Multi-Utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the Integrated Pipeline and Gas Distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in Engineering and a BA in Economics, with minors in Mathematics and Actuarial Mathematics. He is a CFA Charterholder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group.

Hi Doris,

I wanted to follow up to confirm scheduling of this meeting.

Also, below are bios of Citi's analysts who would be attending, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan. We also expect to bring a group of approximately 12 investors – we expect to finalize the list in the next couple of weeks.

Best regards,

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for Multi-Utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the Integrated Pipeline and Gas Distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in Engineering and a BA in Economics, with minors in Mathematics and Actuarial Mathematics. He is a CFA Charterholder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group.

Hi Cheryl,

Thank you for looking into this, much appreciated. Could we do 3pm – 4pm? With respect to what we'd like to discuss, we usually like to let our clients drive the conversation, however we can anticipate what they're interested in and what they'd be asking. I believe that pipeline safety and rate reform are going to be the most interesting topics for our clients to discuss.

1. State renewable mandate, its impact on the grid and utilities
2. Impact of DG, rate reform and AB 327 implementation
3. Views on carbon market developments in CA
4. Impact of evolving EPA regulation (carbon, rule 360 b, etc.)
5. Future of nuclear generation in the state
6. Pipeline safety measures across utilities
7. Rising interest rates impact on CoC and rate payers
8. Rising cost of capital impact on investment in infrastructure
9. Discussion of electric and gas rate setting mechanisms in CA

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Nuria,

It was good talking to you on the phone earlier.

I am a Senior Associate in Equity Research at Citi and I work on Shar Pourreza's team covering electric utilities. Shar Pourreza is the Head of North American Power group. We are based in New York.

We're currently planning our 2014 annual investors' trip to California where we expect to meet with CA PUC Commissioners and senior executives from CA-based utilities such as PG&E, Edison International and Sempra, and various other stakeholders. We expect to bring a group of 15-20 representatives of large institutional investors who will be accompanied by two Citi analysts, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan, and two of their associates including myself. Our priority is to meet with Commissioners and their advisors as our clients are extremely focused on the regulatory environment in the state, and found such meetings to be very helpful in the past.

We currently have meetings with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron and Florio (advisors) on January 15 of 2015 at 10am, 11am and 1:30pm. We would really appreciate it if it would be possible for President Peevey to dedicate 30-40 minutes of his time on that day to meet with our group as well since our clients would really like to hear from him also. Perhaps, it would be possible for him to join us around noon in between our meetings for lunch, or around 9am-9:30am in the morning? Citi would be happy to provide lunch/breakfast.

We understand that President Peevey's schedule is very busy and we would greatly appreciate hist time!

I am attaching Shar's and Faisel's business bios for your reference.

Hi Cheryl,

Thank you for looking into this, much appreciated. Could we do 3pm – 4pm? With respect to what we'd like to discuss, we usually like to let our clients drive the conversation, however we can anticipate what they're interested in and what they'd be asking. I believe that pipeline safety and rate reform are going to be the most interesting topics for our clients to discuss.

Here's some high level topics of discussion that would be of interest to our clients. Thank you,

Sophie

1. State renewable mandate, its impact on the grid and utilities
2. Impact of DG, rate reform and AB 327 implementation
3. Views on carbon market developments in CA
4. Impact of evolving EPA regulation (carbon, rule 360 b, etc.)
5. Future of nuclear generation in the state
6. Pipeline safety measures across utilities
7. Rising interest rates impact on CoC and rate payers
8. Rising cost of capital impact on investment in infrastructure
9. Discussion of electric and gas rate setting mechanisms in CA

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Hi Doris,

I wanted to follow up to confirm scheduling of this meeting.

Also, below are bios of Citi's analysts who would be attending, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan. We also expect to bring a group of approximately 12 investors – we expect to finalize the list in the next couple of weeks.

Best regards,

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. Re: Meeting Request Dated: 10/22/13—REVISED December 2, 2013

This will confirm that your meeting request for the above date has been set for (January 15, 2014, 4:00 PM) with (Sepideh Khosrowjah, Marcelo Poirier),(Room 5305). Please check in at the Security Desk in the main lobby to obtain a security badge before proceeding to your meeting. If you did not do so in your original Meeting Request Form, please submit a complete list of attendees prior to your meeting date.

If you need to cancel or change this meeting time for any reason, please let us know at your earliest convenience. Thank you for your request, and we look forward to seeing you at the PUC.

Please note that we have had to revise the time for this meeting due to the fact that Commissioner Florio has to attend a crucial All-Party meeting that conflicts with the originally scheduled time of 1:30 on January 15. We regret the inconvenience.
Sincerely, Joan Dahlgren

Hi Sophie,

Thank you for your updated meeting list. As I explained in my earlier email, we needed to change the time for this meeting because both the Commissioner and Ms. Khosrowjah need to be present in a crucial All-Party meeting earlier in the day, and the Commission meeting room able to hold a group of this size is also booked earlier in the day as well. So, unfortunately, I would not be able to know of any schedule changes until the actual day of the meeting itself; as a result, your group should plan on meeting with us at 4:00 on the 15th. We look forward to seeing you then.

Hi Joan,

I apologize for bothering you again with the scheduling issues, but I just received a rescheduling request from the office of President Peevey.

Due to his travelling schedule he is no longer able to meet with us for lunch as originally scheduled, and is only able to meet at 4pm for 30 minutes.

I wanted to discuss scheduling options with you:

1. Could we meet with Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier during our lunch timeslot (we're free between 12pm and 2pm and we would provide lunch)
2. Could we meet earlier in the morning at 9am?
3. Is it an option to combine this meeting with President Peevey - would that be a comfortable setting for Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier?
4. Any other options I didn't think about?

I apologize again for the last minute request like this, I know how challenging scheduling is for everybody at the Commission. Would really appreciate your help on this!

Feel free to give me a call to discuss over the phone : 212 816 3366

Thank you,

Hi Sophie,

Thank you for your updated meeting list. As I explained in my earlier email, we needed to change the time for this meeting because both the Commissioner and Ms. Khosrowjah need to be present in a crucial All-Party meeting earlier in the day, and the Commission meeting room able to hold a group of this size is also booked earlier in the day as well. So, unfortunately, I would not be able to know of any schedule changes until the actual day of the meeting itself; as a result, your group should plan on meeting with us at 4:00 on the 15th. We look forward to seeing you then.

Re: Meeting Request Dated: 10/22/13—REVISED December 2, 2013

This will confirm that your meeting request for the above date has been set for (January 15, 2014, 4:00 PM) with (Sepideh Khosrowjah, Marcelo Poirier),(Room 5305). Please check in at the Security Desk in the main lobby to obtain a security badge before proceeding to your meeting. If you did not do so in your original Meeting Request Form, please submit a complete list of attendees prior to your meeting date.

If you need to cancel or change this meeting time for any reason, please let us know at your earliest convenience. Thank you for your request, and we look forward to seeing you at the PUC.

Please note that we have had to revise the time for this meeting due to the fact that Commissioner Florio has to attend a crucial All-Party meeting that conflicts with the originally scheduled time of 1:30 on January 15. We regret the inconvenience. Sincerely, Joan Dahlgren

Hi Joan,

I apologize for bothering you again with the scheduling issues, but I just received a rescheduling request from the office of President Peevey.

Due to his travelling schedule he is no longer able to meet with us for lunch as originally scheduled, and is only able to meet at 4pm for 30 minutes.

I wanted to discuss scheduling options with you:

1. Could we meet with Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier during our lunch timeslot (we're free between 12pm and 2pm and we would provide lunch)

2. Could we meet earlier in the morning at 9am?
3. Is it an option to combine this meeting with President Peevey - would that be a comfortable setting for Ms. Khosrowjah and Mr. Poirier?
4. Any other options I didn't think about?

I apologize again for the last minute request like this, I know how challenging scheduling is for everybody at the Commission. Would really appreciate your help on this!

Feel free to give me a call to discuss over the phone : 212 816 3366

Hi Doris,

I wanted to follow up to confirm scheduling of this meeting.

Also, below are bios of Citi's analysts who would be attending, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan. We also expect to bring a group of approximately 12 investors – we expect to finalize the list in the next couple of weeks.

Best regards,

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for Multi-Utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the Integrated Pipeline and Gas Distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in Engineering and a BA in Economics, with minors in Mathematics and Actuarial Mathematics. He is a CFA Charterholder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group.

I just got your email and wanted to touch base to see if we could do anything with the schedule to avoid the cancelation? We are already jn San Francisco with our group (so I don't have access to my voicemail at the moment) and our clients have already made costly arrangements in anticipation of this meeting, so i can imagine it would be very disappointing. i just tried calling you just now - but missed you. 1. State renewable mandate, its impact on the grid and utilities
2. Impact of DG, rate reform and AB 327 implementation
3. Views on carbon market developments in CA
4. Impact of evolving EPA regulation (carbon, rule 360 b, etc.)
5. Future of nuclear generation in the state
6. Pipeline safety measures across utilities
7. Rising interest rates impact on CoC and rate payers
8. Rising cost of capital impact on investment in infrastructure
9. Discussion of electric and gas rate setting mechanisms in CA

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

I've heard there is interest. Can you give me a list of issues that you are interested in discussing so that I can see if the right experts are available at those times – and that would also help us to be prepared. Thanks.

Subject: Following up - meeting with Citi

Dear Cheryl,

I hope this email finds you well. I left you a voice mail earlier today and wanted to follow up in the email.

I am a Senior Associate on the equity research team at Citigroup that covers Utilities. We are bringing a group of our clients (investors) and Citi's analysts to San Francisco on January 15, 2014 to meet with CPUC and rate payers advocates. We currently have meetings scheduled with Commissioners Peterman, Ferron, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio's advisors.

We would love to meet with the ORA representatives as there's very high demand from our clients to hear from consumer advocates on various issues. We would greatly appreciate if some members of the ORA Staff would be able to meet with our group for about 30 minutes. Please let me know if it would be possible and what would be the best way to proceed.

Best regards,

Hi Doris,

I wanted to follow up to confirm scheduling of this meeting.

Also, below are bios of Citi's analysts who would be attending, Shar Pourreza and Faisel Khan. We also expect to bring a group of approximately 12 investors – we expect to finalize the list in the next couple of weeks.

Best regards,

Sophie

Shahriar (Shar) Pourreza, CFA - Head of North American Power and lead analyst on the Global Alternative Energy team. He joined Citi in 2009 as a Senior Associate on the Electric Utilities team. He has more than ten years of experience in equity markets (Sell and Buy Side) with a primary focus on energy/commodities. Shar's career started at Merrill Lynch Asset Management in 1999. In the early years, his focus was mainly on global equities and EAFE (Europe, Asia, Far East). His career on the Buy Side concluded at GE Asset Management. Shar joined Credit Agricole in 2007, helping to cover the energy space. Shar is a CFA Charterholder and also holds Series 7, 63, and 87 licenses. He is an active member of the New York Society of Security Analysts and CFA Institute. He holds a BS degree from the University of Scranton in Business and Operations Management Science.

Faisel Khan is a Managing Director at Citi Research, covering the North American Integrated Oil, Refining and Pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 1 for 2011 and No. 2 for 2012, 2010, 2008 and 2007 in the Institutional Investor Survey in the Natural Gas sector. He received First Place in the 2012 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for Multi-Utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the Integrated Pipeline and Gas Distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in Engineering and a BA in Economics, with minors in Mathematics and Actuarial Mathematics. He is a CFA Charterholder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group.

He received an Associate of Arts Degree from Saddleback Junior College and attended Arizona State University prior to graduating from the University of Northern Colorado with a Bachelor's Degree in Business Management.

Commissioner Kenney was drafted as a quarterback in the National Football League by the Miami Dolphins in 1978. He went on to play professional football for 11 years, 10 with the Kansas City Chiefs. Among his many accomplishments were becoming the National Football League's fourth quarterback to ever throw for 4000 yards in a single season, Pro Bowl 1983 and Kansas City Chiefs Most Valuable Player in 1983.

Upon his retirement from football, Commissioner Kenney became a licensed real estate broker. He is president of Bill Kenney & Associates, a real estate brokerage and development company. He is also president of Bill Kenney Homes, a residential construction company.

Commissioner Kenney was elected to the Missouri Senate in 1994 and served the citizens of eastern Jackson County until 2002. In 2001, Commissioner Kenney was selected by Senate members to serve as the Majority Floor leader, the first Republican to hold this office in over 50 years. During a brief stint when neither party had an 18-seat majority, he became the first Republican in history to serve as co-floor leader.

In 1996, Commissioner Kenney was the Republican nominee for Lieutenant Governor. From January 2011 until accepting his current position, Commissioner Kenney was Chief of Staff for Missouri Lieutenant Governor Peter Kinder.

In August of 2013, Commissioner Kenny was appointed to the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners Committee on Gas.

Commissioner Kenney is married to Sandra (Ehrlich) Kenney. They reside in Lee's Summit and have four adult children.

Chairman Bob Stump
Arizona Corporation Commission

Commissioner Bob Stump was elected to the Arizona Corporation Commission in 2008 and re-elected in 2012 with the second-highest vote tally of any Arizona Republican candidate. He represented District 9 in the Arizona House of Representatives from 2002-2008.

Bob serves on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Regulatory Commissioners (NARUC), is a member of the Harvard Electricity Policy Group, and is an Advisory Council member of the Center for Public Utilities. Bob has also served on the faculty of Law Seminars International. He is Chairman of the Board of Phoenix Opera and served on the board of the Symphony of the West Valley.

The Arizona Republic says Bob is "cerebral...a candidate with depth...energetic...intelligent, hard-working and effective...a quick study [and] a strong fiscal conservative."
The Tucson Citizen has called Bob "an innovator" who has "strong experience with public policymaking, wise perspectives on energy use [and] a commitment to pursuing fairness for Arizona residents."

Bob was also deemed one of Arizona's three "Best State Representatives" by the Arizona Capitol Times, based on a survey of Arizona's government and civic leaders. He has received over a dozen awards in recognition of his efforts to improve Arizonans' health care and protect Arizona's taxpayers, including awards from the Alzheimer's Association, the Autism Society of America, and the March of Dimes.

Bob has a wide range of policy experience, having served as Chairman of the House Health Committee; Co-Chair of the Joint Select Committee to Investigate Operations and Conditions at the Arizona Veterans Home; Vice Chair of the Health and Rules committees; and as a member of Ways & Means, Commerce & Military Affairs, Water and Agriculture, Financial Institutions & Insurance, Education, the Interagency Council on Long-Term Care, the Interim Committee on Welfare Reform, and the House Ethics Committee.

Bob's policy proposals have made front-page news in USA Today and serve as model legislation for legislatures throughout the country. He has discussed key legislative initiatives on CNN; "Your World with Neil Cavuto," on the Fox News Channel; National Public Radio; as well as various national and international media. In 2006, Bob was a featured guest on C-SPAN's "Washington Journal" to discuss his policy ideas with a national audience.

Bob holds degrees from Harvard University, where he studied political philosophy with columnist George F. Will, and the University of California at Berkeley, where he studied philosophy and social thought, and from which he graduated with High Honors.

Ed,

It was a pleasure to meet you last week in San Francisco. Thank you very much for taking the time to meet with our group. We received overwhelmingly positive feedback from our clients and it was very helpful. We greatly appreciate your time!

I have a quick follow up question. Do you know how does Cal ISO is factoring in draught conditions in CA into their reliability forecast for 2014? I am trying to find any publication that speaks about that or the assumptions they've been using.

Thank you,

Sophie

Thanks for the introduction and I look forward to grabbing lunch next Tuesday.

Mark,

It is very nice to meet you by email. As a bit of background, I lead the Deutsche Bank renewable energy effort in North America and have been covering the sector since 2004. I would greatly appreciate the opportunity to meet and compare notes on the CleanTech sector. Please let me know if you have any time to meet during the weeks of April 25th or May 2nd.

I look forward to meeting you in the near future.

Dear Mr. Ferron,

Anshu Jain's office was kind enough to provide me with your new contact details in your position as Commissioner to the CPUC. Mr. Koch-Weser, Vice Chairman of Deutsche Bank Group and Chair of our Climate Change Advisory Board, will be in San Francisco on May 17 and 18 and would be delighted to meet with you.

Could you kindly let me know if a meeting on either May 17th in the afternoon or May 18th in the morning would be possible?

Many thanks and kind regards
Tanja

Adam, who is the Director of Clean Tech Investment Banking for Deutsche Bank Securities here in San Francisco, asked that I introduce you to him, given your background at Deutsche Bank overseas.

Adam - As you know, Mark is the new CPUC Commissioner. He brings a great background to the Commission, particularly in thinking about the financial implications of what the CPUC does and extensive management experience as well.

Hello Juliane. As discussed on the phone I was just wondering if Commissioner Ferron might have a few minutes free this week. I just found out that I'm going to be in San Francisco for some meetings and it seemed too good an opportunity to pass up without asking the question. By way of introduction I am the equity analyst responsible for coverage of the California utilities at Deutsche Bank. My team and I have developed close relationships at the CPUC over the years and we have typically brought a group of investors in to meet at least once a year - the most recent visit was just before the elections last year. I was in fact also responsible for inviting Commissioner Grueneich to present at our annual conference in New York last month - and she asked me if I had met Commissioner Ferron yet which I have not. In the event that he would like to meet I'm available to come to the commission on Tuesday afternoon (21st) or Wednesday morning (23rd). It could certainly be brief if needed - I'm just hoping to put a face to the name and establish a dialog going forward. Thank you for your help. Jonathan.

	SubjectMeeting with you Oct. 6-8

Caio,
Mark Ferron and Jonathan Wills have recommended that I contact you to see if you would be available to meet next week (Oct. 6, 7 or 8) when I am in London.

I have been deeply engaged in energy matters in California and the U.S. for over 30 years and most recently served as a Commissioner at the California Public Utilities Commission (2005-2010), the state agency where Mark now serves as a Commissioner. Earlier this year, I joined the international law firm, Morrison & Foerster, to help advise clients on energy matters. I will be in London next week (Oct. 6-8) and would like to meet with you if you are in town. The head of our London office, Trevor James, would join me. I would be delighted to give you a direct update on California and U.S. energy developments and the market for investments; in turn I would be very interested in your perspective on European developments. We would also like to introduce you to Morrison & Foerster, since it is heavily involved in energy matters both in Europe and worldwide.

Below is additional information on my background.
Please let me know if you would be available for a meeting.

Additional information on my background:
I served as a Commissioner with the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) from 2005-2010, involved in key areas of the State's clean energy activities. The CPUC is the lead California agency implementing the state's clean energy efforts on renewables, transmission, distribution generation, energy efficiency, demand response, smart grid, electric vehicles and energy storage. At the end of my 6 year term last December, I joined Morrison & Foerster, an international law firm. Prior to my appointment as a Commissioner, I practiced energy law for over 20 years, both with my own law and consulting firm, with a major international law firm, and in the first administration of California Governor Jerry Brown.

While at the CPUC, I was the lead Commissioner on transmission, energy efficiency and demand response. I oversaw the groundbreaking development of the California Long-Term Energy Efficiency Strategic Plan, which now guides the state's $3.1 billion efficiency program, the largest program in the US. I also oversaw smart meter rollouts at three of the state's utilities and California's demand response programs, and was the Commissioner representative on the State's Climate Action Team. I helped establish the California Renewable Energy Transmission Initiative, the parallel Western Renewable Energy Zone Initiative and the Western Interconnection's regional transmission planning process, and oversaw the successful permitting of three major new transmission lines in California.

I have advised the International Energy Agency on its Combined Heat & Power initiative and briefed staff and stakeholders in the European Union on the national U.S. transmission expansion effort. I also serve on the U.S. Department of Energy's Electricity Advisory Committee and its Smart Grid, Energy Storage Technology, and Transmission subcommittees.

Tanja,

My sincerest apologies but my trip this upcoming week to the U.K. and London has been delayed. An urgent business matter in San Francisco requiring my presence has arisen. I will be rescheduling my trip to the U.K. and very much hope I can then meet Caio.

In the meantime, if Caio or others at Duetsche Bank in the U.K. have any questions about energy developments in California and the U.S., please feel free to contact me. My colleagues in our London office, Sophie McGrath (smcgrath@mofo.com) and Alistair Maughan (amaughan@mofo.com), would also be delighted to provide any details regarding the firm's U.K. and European expertise, particularly in clean tech and energy matters.

My apologies again for the rescheduling and I look forward to meeting Caio at a later date.

Jonathan - Gabe Togneri put us in touch. My Commissioner, Mark Ferron (who has 25 years in banking) will be in NY on 10/28 and was wondering if there was a chance you could meet in NY that day to touch base on a number of energy topics, principally related to RPS and EE financing. If you're available, he'd like to talk to you. Thanks.

I could certainly make myself available that day. It will be a busy day with earnings reports and later in the morning would probably be best, but I will accommodate his schedule. I did meet with Commr Ferron in his office in San Francisco back in the spring he may recall and would be delighted to catch up on these topics. Jonathan Arnold.

Jon,

MFR will be hosting a welcome and reception next Thursday with CPUC Commissioner Sandoval next Thursday in New York.

In addition to a powerful group of banks, analysts and investors involved with the utility sector, also participating will be two New York State Commissioners. The panel will explore regulatory best practices from around the nation and how such decisions affect utility investment and cost of capital.

It would be my pleasure if you could attend however space is limited so let me know soon.

Warm regards,

Cliff

Hi Sarah. Following up on this discussion from late last year, I'm wondering whether Commr Ferron might be willing and available to meet with me and (potentially) a very small group of locally (i.e. California) based investors. I'm in San Francisco visiting clients on March 7 and was thinking of trying to work in a quick visit to with him as part of that trip. Could that work? Jonathan.

Hi Ditas,

I met you at the MFR event in New York and mentioned that I might reach out to you about a potential meeting with Commissioner Sandoval in early March. We are in fact planning a brief trip out and wanted to see if Commissioner Sandoval might be available on March 7. Ideally, we're looking for a fairly brief meeting that day – perhaps 10 or 11AM? From our side it would be a very small group, likely Jonathan (the Senior Utilities Research Analyst here at Deutsche Bank) and myself plus a small handful (3-5) of California-based, key investors in the sector. Do you think that might be possible? Thanks for your help!

Hi Carol,

I met with you and President Peevey in 2010 when we hosted an investor trip to your offices. We are planning a brief trip out to California and wanted to see if President Peevey might be available on March 7. Ideally, we're looking for a fairly brief meeting that day. From our side it would be a very small group, likely Jonathan (the Senior Utilities Research Analyst here at Deutsche Bank) and myself plus a small handful (3-5) of California-based, key investors in the sector. Do you think that might be possible? Thanks for your help!

Hi Sarah. Following up on this discussion from late last year, I'm wondering whether Commr Ferron might be willing and available to meet with me and (potentially) a very small group of locally (i.e. California) based investors. I'm in San Francisco visiting clients on March 7 and was thinking of trying to work in a quick visit to with him as part of that trip. Could that work? Jonathan.

Hi Carol,

I met with you and President Peevey in 2010 when we hosted an investor trip to your offices. We are planning a brief trip out to California and wanted to see if President Peevey might be available on March 7. Ideally, we're looking for a fairly brief meeting that day. From our side it would be a very small group, likely Jonathan (the Senior Utilities Research Analyst here at Deutsche Bank) and myself plus a small handful (3-5) of California-based, key investors in the sector. Do you think that might be possible? Thanks for your help!

Hi Joan,

I work in equity research at Deutsche Bank following electric utilities. We are planning a brief trip out to California and wanted to see if Commissioner Florio might be available on March 7. We have been in contact with President Peevey's office as well, and are hoping to line up consecutive meetings if possible. They offered us a 1:30PM slot, so would Commissioner Florio be available before or after that? From our side it would be a very small group, likely Jonathan (the Senior Utilities Research Analyst here at Deutsche Bank) and myself plus a small handful (3-5) of key investors in the sector. Subject: Potential Meeting (3/7)
Hi Carol,

I met with you and President Peevey in 2010 when we hosted an investor trip to your offices. We are planning a brief trip out to California and wanted to see if President Peevey might be available on March 7. Ideally, we're looking for a fairly brief meeting that day. From our side it would be a very small group, likely Jonathan (the Senior Utilities Research Analyst here at Deutsche Bank) and myself plus a small handful (3-5) of California-based, key investors in the sector. Do you think that might be possible? Thanks for your help!

Good morning Nuria. You may remember I visited with President Peevey last month when I was in San Francisco and many thanks for all your help setting that up. This morning I was invited by Credit Suisse to attend a sell side breakfast meeting with him in New York on May 15th. It so happens that May 14th and May 15th are the dates for the Deutsche Bank Clean Tech, Utilities and Power Conference here in New York. We're hosting it at the Waldorf Astoria this year and in past years we've had some high profile keynote speakers - last year Carol Browner spoke, for example, as did by then former Commissioner Grueneich. I wonder whether President Peevey might be interested in speaking at our if he's planning to be in New York those days anyway? We are a little under-represented by California utilities this year given that the dates clash with some of their annual meetings, and it would be a great opportunity to redress that imbalance and hear some perspective from the state which represents such a large share of the current opportunities for a lot of our Clean Tech companies. Let me know what you think? I can send the current agenda and company list if he might be interested. Jonathan Arnold.

Hi Nuria. Here's the latest agenda. We would likely move the lunch panel into a regular slot and then clear the lunch session for President Peevey to speak - potentially on either day. That would be most desirable as you'll notice we have three concurrent tracks at other times but at lunch the whole conference comes together in one room. Let me know what you think. Jonathan.

Good morning Nuria. You may remember I visited with President Peevey last month when I was in San Francisco and many thanks for all your help setting that up. This morning I was invited by Credit Suisse to attend a sell side breakfast meeting with him in New York on May 15th. It so happens that May 14th and May 15th are the dates for the Deutsche Bank Clean Tech, Utilities and Power Conference here in New York. We're hosting it at the Waldorf Astoria this year and in past years we've had some high profile keynote speakers - last year Carol Browner spoke, for example, as did by then former Commissioner Grueneich. I wonder whether President Peevey might be interested in speaking at our if he's planning to be in New York those days anyway? We are a little under-represented by California utilities this year given that the dates clash with some of their annual meetings, and it would be a great opportunity to redress that imbalance and hear some perspective from the state which represents such a large share of the current opportunities for a lot of our Clean Tech companies. Let me know what you think? I can send the current agenda and company list if he might be interested. Jonathan Arnold.

Hi Joan,

My name is Lauren Duke, and I work in equity research following electric utilities at Deutsche Bank. We are planning a trip to California to meet with the management teams from PG&E and Edison, as well as some of the other commissioners, and were hoping Commissioner Florio might also be available to meet with us. This is a trip we historically have done every year, but we did not make it out to California last year, so our last trip was in 2010. Specifically, we're looking at the morning of June 14. Is Commissioner Florio available any time that day? The meeting would be hosted by Jonathan Arnold, senior utilities research analyst at Deutsche Bank and would include several investors interested in California utilities. Thank you for your help.

Good morning Nuria. I'm just wondering whether President Peevey might have a slot available to meet with a group of investors I'm bringing to San Francisco in June. Specifically the morning of June 14th. This would be fairly typical group of institutional investor clients of our firm that would have broad interest in utility issues. We are scheduled to meet with senior management of the utilities that same week and this is something I have done each year for the past five or so. Would you be able to help with that? Good morning Sarah. You may recall we corresponded last year regarding a meeting with Commissioner Ferron in New York which was ultimately canceled. I am now reaching out to see if Commissioner Ferron might have a window on his schedule to meet with myself and a group of our instiutional investor clients on the morning of June 14th at your offices. We are coming to California to meet with the senior management teams of the three utilities and will also be spending time at the Commission. I expect the group to be about 10-15 people and given the high level of interest in California issues among the investment community I anticipate a high quality list. Jonathan Arnold.

Subject: June 14th investor visit

Good morning Sarah. You may recall we corresponded last year regarding a meeting with Commissioner Ferron in New York which was ultimately canceled. I am now reaching out to see if Commissioner Ferron might have a window on his schedule to meet with myself and a group of our instiutional invcstor clicnts on the morning of Junc 14th at your officcs. We are coming to California to meet with the senior management teams of the three utilities and will also be spending time at the Commission. I expect the group to be about 10-15 people and given the high level of interest in California issues among the investment community I anticipate a high quality list. Jonathan Arnold.

Hi Joan,

My name is Lauren Duke, and I work in equity research following electric utilities at Deutsche Bank. We are planning a trip to California to meet with the management teams from PG&E and Edison, as well as some of the other commissioners, and were hoping Commissioner Florio might also be available to meet with us. This is a trip we historically have done every year, but we did not make it out to California last year, so our last trip was in 2010. Specifically, we're looking at the morning of June 14. Is Commissioner Florio available any time that day? The meeting would be hosted by Jonathan Arnold, senior utilities research analyst at Deutsche Bank and would include several investors interested in California utilities. Thank you for your help.

Good afternoon Juliane. I'm just hoping to follow up on this meeting request for June 14th when I'm brining a select group of institutional investors who care about utility matters to California. We're hoping we might be able to spend a little time with Commissioner Ferron. Failing that, maybe one of his advisors on energy issues would have some time that day? Let me know if he would like any more information beyond what we have below. Regards, Jonathan Arnold.

Good morning Sarah. You may recall we corresponded last year regarding a meeting with Commissioner Ferron in New York which was ultimately canceled. I am now reaching out to see if Commissioner Ferron might have a window on his schedule to meet with myself and a group of our institutional investor clients on the morning of June 14th at your offices. We are coming to California to meet with the senior management teams of the three utilities and will also be spending time at the Commission. I expect the group to be about 10-15 people and given the high level of interest in California issues among the investment community I anticipate a high quality list. Jonathan Arnold.

Good afternoon. Good afternoon Commissioner Ferron. You may recall that we met when I came to visit you when you had recently joined the commission. I'm writing now to see whether you might be available to meet with me and a small group of institutional investors I'm bringing to California next month. Failing that, maybe we could meet with someone on your staff? I had tried to reach your office through Sarah Thomas who had reached out to me regarding a potential meeting with you in New York, but I understand she is no longer the right contact.

In any event, our trip currently comprises meetings with senior management from Sempra, Edison and PG&E, staff from President Peevey's office, Commissioner Florio in person and the DRA. It would be great if we could add a brief session with you to our list as I think for many of the investors I'm bringing it would be a first opportunity to hear from you at first hand. We are all highly focused on the key issues on the electric and gas sides of the utility business ... such as moving forward after San Bruno, how to finance ongoing infrastructure needs, meeting renewable mandates at a reasonable cost to ratepayers, cost of capital considerations, technology developments and sales outlooks, etc.. I wonder if you might have 30 minutes or so free on the morning of June 14th to meet with our group? While our attendance is still a little in flux I'm anticipating a group of about 10 investors - all with a utilities sector focus.

I hope to be able to meet with you on this trip - and if not, on a future visit.

Regards,

Jonathan Arnold.

Good afternoon Cody. Thanks so much for your time earlier. As discussed, we had been in discussions with Nuria regarding a potential meeting with President Peevey on the morning of June 14th and she had indicated he would not be available but referred me to you and Staff. My group will comprise myself along with 10-12 institutional investors with a particular focus on utilities and a specific interest in California regulatory matters. Areas of interest would include, but are not necessarily limited to the following:

- Outlook for investment and returns in the gas infrastructure business post San Bruno
- Propsects for moving forward and resolving the ongoing pipeline proceedings
- Outlook for renewable generation in view of potential legislative changes to the 33% mandate
- Investment opportunities and returns in the electric business - potential changes to cost of capital and/or mechanisms
- General investment climate for utilities - state budgetary considerations and priorities
- Smart Grid programs - experiences to date, energy efficieny opportunities, etc.
- Implementation of AB32 and carbon pricing regime

As discussed a meeting at 9am on June 14th would work perfectly with our current meeting schedule. We're also set to meet with Commissioner Florio that morning and with the DRA, and we have a couple of other pending meeting requests. During the week we will also meet with senior management of Sempra, PG&E and Edison International.

Assuming the 9am slot still works on your end can we confirm who might be in attendance from President Peevey's staff?

Best regards,

Jonathan Arnold.

Hi Jonathan,

Apologies for the delay in responding: I have been traveling and only now got to your email. Sarah Thomas has returned to her position in the Legal Division, so going forward, a better contact for you to have is my chief of staff, Charlotte TerKeurst, whom I have copied on this email.

I would be happy to meet with your group and it appears that the June 14th would work for me. Could you please confirm the details with my assistant, Juliane Banks, who is also copied on this email?

While I'd be happy to discuss general matters of interest to your clients, as the assigned Commissioner on the Sempra utilities rate cases and on the Consolidated Energy Utilities Cost of Capital proceeding, I am circumscribed on answering detailed question pertaining to these proceedings.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Failing that, maybe we could meet with someone on your staff? I had tried to reach your office through Sarah Thomas who had reached out to me regarding a potential meeting with you in New York, but I understand she is no longer the right contact.

In any event, our trip currently comprises meetings with senior management from Sempra, Edison and PG&E, staff from President Peevey's office, Commissioner Florio in person and the DRA. It would be great if we could add a brief session with you to our list as I think for many of the investors I'm bringing it would be a first opportunity to hear from you at first hand. We are all highly focused on the key issues on the electric and gas sides of the utility business .... such as moving forward after San Bruno, how to finance ongoing infrastructure needs, meeting renewable mandates at a reasonable cost to ratepayers, cost of capital considerations, technology developments and sales outlooks, etc.. I wonder if you might have 30 minutes or so free on the morning of June 14th to meet with our group? While our attendance is still a little in flux I'm anticipating a group of about 10 investors - all with a utilities sector focus.

I hope to be able to meet with you on this trip - and if not, on a future visit.

Jonathan Arnold.

Re: June 14th visit

Hi Jonathan,

Apologies for the delay in responding: I have been traveling and only now got to your email. Sarah Thomas has returned to her position in the Legal Division, so going forward, a better contact for you to have is my chief of staff, Charlotte TerKeurst, whom I have copied on this email.

I would be happy to meet with your group and it appears that the June 14th would work for me. Could you please confirm the details with my assistant, Juliane Banks, who is also copied on this email?

While I'd be happy to discuss general matters of interest to your clients, as the assigned Commissioner on the Sempra utilities rate cases and on the Consolidated Energy Utilities Cost of Capital proceeding, I am circumscribed on answering detailed question pertaining to these proceedings.

Looking forward to seeing you.

Regards

Mark

Good afternoon Commissioner Ferron. You may recall that we met when I came to visit you when you had recently joined the commission. I'm writing now to see whether you might be available to meet with me and a small group of institutional investors I'm bringing to California next month. Failing that, maybe we could meet with someone on your staff? I had tried to reach your office through Sarah Thomas who had reached out to me regarding a potential meeting with you in New York, but I understand she is no longer the right contact.

In any event, our trip currently comprises meetings with senior management from Sempra, Edison and PG&E, staff from President Peevey's office, Commissioner Florio in person and the DRA. It would be great if we could add a brief session with you to our list as I think for many of the investors I'm bringing it would be a first opportunity to hear from you at first hand. We are all highly focused on the key issues on the electric and gas sides of the utility business .... such as moving forward after San Bruno, how to finance ongoing infrastructure needs, meeting renewable mandates at a reasonable cost to ratepayers, cost of capital considerations, technology developments and sales outlooks, etc.. I wonder if you might have 30 minutes or so free on the morning of June 14th to meet with our group? While our attendance is still a little in flux I'm anticipating a group of about 10 investors - all with a utilities sector focus.

I hope to be able to meet with you on this trip - and if not, on a future visit.

Regards,

Jonathan Arnold.

Commissioner Ferron. Thank you very much for meeting with our group today - we really appreciated the discussion. As promised, I have asked my assistant to ensure that you are on our distribution list for U.S. utilities research so please let me know if you still don't receive anything from us. In the meantime, I attach the piece on regulated utility valuations that I wrote last week and mentioned today in our meeting. Thank you again. Jonathan Arnold.

Updating for time value, challenging macro picture

With this update we refresh regulated utility target valuations, raising our core target multiple a half turn from 12.5x to 13.0x 2014E. This partly reflects time value (2014 is now six months closer) but also acknowledges the market's more defensive tone in response to macro fears. Utility P/Es remain elevated by any longer-term historical measure, and our 13.0x number remains a discount to current trading averages (13.9x). While the multiple is largely a function of extreme low bond yields, a clear lesson of last summer was that investors will prioritize safety over valuation when macro issues dominate.

Raising average 2014E multiple to 13x on time value and risk-off tone

We view our revision as a mid-year time value adjustment rather than a call for multiple expansion. To wit, our target remains almost a turn below the current trading average, as we continue to believe this is the wrong point in the interest rate cycle to call for further expansion of an already elevated multiple. That said, with macro risk aversion back, and bond yields making new lows, we believe it makes some sense (as it did last year) to adjust our target P/E modestly higher. Individual target changes are summarized in Figure 1.

Multiples elevated, but supported by bond yields making new lows

On 12-month forward EPS, the S&P Utilities currently sport a 14.8x multiple. This is a premium of ~15% versus the sector's own long-run average (12.7x) and a premium of 25% versus the market (11.9x). Utilities have sustained a high relative multiple for over two years now, and we believe this can continue so long as the market multiple and (more importantly) bond yields remain close to historic lows. On a yield relative basis, the average utility dividend yield of 4.3% offers support, whether or not favorable dividend tax rates get extended.

Stock selection remains focused on catalysts and dividend growth

Our regulated Buys are generally names where we see value catalysts and better than average growth – particularly of dividends. This week we added POR to our list and raised NU from Hold to Buy on a post-merger growth outlook. Other Buys on the regulated list are CMS, ITC, PCG, and (Mission overhang notwithstanding) EIX. By focusing on dividend growth potential we believe investors can achieve some protection from two key risks, 1) eventual higher interest rates and 2) an ongoing trend towards higher dividend payouts in other sectors, particularly traditional growthier areas such as tech.

Capital structure trade idea – long utility stocks, short bonds

With the utility sector call – particularly for regulateds – once again mostly a macro call, we see an interesting capital structure idea in the spread of utility dividend yields (4.3%) over investment grade utility bonds (3.5%). This spread is 82bp positive versus a long-run average of 166bp negative and close to its prior wide of 91bp from last August. Unless your world view involves major deflation we do not see utility stocks yielding more than their bonds over the long run, particularly not by almost 100bp. With a capital structure trade investors could limit downside exposure in utility stocks from a return of risk appetite generally, while dampening exposure to macro tail risks in either direction. See margin charts at right and discussion on page 6.

This report changes ratings, price targets, and/or estimates for several companies under coverage. See pages 2-3 for details.

Regulated Utility Valuations Mid-Year Update

Updating for time value, challenging macro picture

With this mid-year update we are refreshing our regulated utility valuations including the regulated components of our Less Regulated or diversified coverage. In most cases we have not made material adjustments to the merchant and non-regulated businesses. At a high level our main change to raise our core target multiple for regulated utilities by a half turn from 12.5x 2014E to 13.0x. We view this primarily as a mid-year time-value update – reflecting 2014 being six months closer at hand – as opposed to a broad call for further expansion of a sector multiple which is already extended versus historical levels on both an absolute and a relative basis. That said, with macro risk aversion back on the agenda – just as it was going into last summer – and bond yields testing new lows, we believe it makes sense to adjust our P/E targets modestly higher. Our individual company target changes are highlighted in Figure 1.

Rainy day play: Favor DUK over ED, SO among go-to safety names

While we are uncomfortable recommending higher-value larger-cap regulated names (DUK, ED, SO) at current premiums, these go-to safety names may have further relative gains in a macro tail risk event (see page Figure 20). For those who are in "hide under the desk" mode, within this core regulated group we prefer DUK as reflected in our target (less downside vs. others). There is also favorable risk/reward around the ongoing PGN merger – if the deal breaks DUK may trade up on technicals, if it closes investors can look forward to a better chance of DUK earning at its allowed return level in the Carolinas.

Raising our target regulated multiple to 13.0x 2014E

As highlighted on page 1, we are raising our core target multiple for regulated utilities from 12.5x to 13.0x. This mostly reflects an additional six months of time value (2014 is now closer at hand) and we also implicitly capture some – but not all – of the relative multiple expansion seen in the group in its recent defensive rally versus the market.

One year on, a familiar story, but this time at even lower bond yields

Investors continue to chase utility valuations higher against backdrop of record low bond yields and falling market multiple

Close students of our written work might perhaps notice that we wrote a very similar piece at mid-year stage last year. Circumstances were uncannily similar with utilities having started to outperform an increasingly skittish market despite what were already extended relative P/E valuations. Then, as now, one of the primary drivers for the group was the risk-off trade and bond yields falling to new lows. Looking back to our report from last June we raised our target regulated multiple – at the time on 2013E rather than 2014E today – from 12.0x to 12.5x. Back then the S&P Utilities were trading at 13.3x on 12-month forward estimates or a 9% premium to the market at 12.1x. Utility forward dividend yields were 4.4% versus a 10-year bond yield of 2.9% and the pre-tax yield spread of 150-160bp was around 200bp wider than a more typical 50bp historical negative spread. Fast forward to today and the S&P utilities trade at a multiple of 14.8x next 12-month earnings, a full turn higher than a year ago and a premium of 25% to the broader market at a lower multiple of 11.9x. Meanwhile, the average utility dividend yield is only slightly lower (4.3%) but the spread over 10-year Treasuries yielding just 1.6% has grown to 260bps – as wide as it's been in recent memory.

Despite two years of premium valuations we still don't see a "new normal"

While we still wouldn't call for a new normal – we do believe utilities can sustain high relative valuations while bond yields remain low

We think it is important to acknowledge that utilities have now sustained high relative valuations for at least the past two years. Clearly this begs the question whether we have found a "new normal" of premium values for utility stocks versus the broader stock market. Factors such as demographics and the growing enthusiasm for yield among investors put forward a persuasive argument that this is indeed the case. From where we sit, however, we continue to view the current utility multiple mainly as a function of bond yields. And, to the extent that you believe yields eventually will move higher, we would be reluctant to get caught too overweight the most defensive utility names trading at the most pronounced premiums versus a group which is itself at or around at least a 25-year relative high. Given this view, we see an interesting capital structure arbitrage opportunity in utility stocks versus utility bonds (see page 7).

What worked in last summer's macro risk-off period? Large-cap regulated

Lessons from 2011 ... when macro risk dominates own large-cap regulated and don't worry too much about the valuations

Looking back to last year, utilities enjoyed by far their best annual performance versus the market in recent memory (+15% outperformance). Some of this came in the last couple of trading sessions of the year for sure – likely in large part due to window dressing – but the real sustained outperformance came from mid-April through early October when the S&P Utilities gained 4% against a 17% drop in the market (23% outperformance). While this outperformance was broad-based it was concentrated in the regulated group and particularly in the core larger-cap regulated names such as ED, SO, DUK and merger partner PGN. The best performer from our coverage over that period was in fact FE, although that largely reflected a post-merger upside surprise analyst meeting. Next strongest was D, a name we typically bracket with our Less Regulated coverage given its still-sizable merchant power segment, but which clearly acted more defensively last summer and could easily do so again.

DB Regulated Buys

CMS Energy (CMS): Raising PT from $23 to $24

We continue to view CMS as an attractive, relatively low risk regulated utility with a solid growth outlook (5%-7%). In our view, Michigan remains a constructive regulatory environment, with forward test years and file-and-implement rates allowed under the state's 2008 energy legislation. We are also confident that CMS can deliver on its growth outlook even in the event of a weakening economic scenario given management's strong execution track record and the utility's ability to file frequent rate cases to keep rates matched with costs and sales outlooks. We believe CMS remains an attractive value relative to larger-cap defensive peers, with a comparable dividend yield after a sizable increase earlier this year.

Edison International (EIX): Raising PT from $47 to $48.50

We view EIX as a regulated value play, with the regulated electric utility (Southern California Edison) contributing all of the value to our price target. We continue to expect the utility to grow at a rate higher than most peers given strong infrastructure investment needs in the state. We also see the potential for more meaningful dividend growth, potentially as early as late 2013, after capital spending at the utility peaks. We continue to expect clarity on EIX's plans for Edison Mission, its ring-fenced merchant generation subsidiary, by the end of 3Q12, which we believe will ease at least some of the overhang on the stock from the lingering uncertainty associated with that segment.

ITC Holdings (ITC): Raising PT from $80 to $81

We continue to expect ITC to deliver LT EPS CAGR of ~16% through 2016 that is nearly four times as fast as the regulated average driven by investments in new transmission. This should allow the company to also deliver above average DPS growth; we estimate ~11% through 2016. However, due to current concerns about the stability of FERC transmission ROEs, ITC is currently trading at a 9% discount to peers and pricing in a more than 200 basis point reduction in its base transmission ROE, an outcome we view as improbable and certainly unlikely to happen in the near-term given no existing challenge at FERC to ITC's ROEs. We also see the potential for additional upside should ITC succeed in its transaction with ETR, although this will largely depend on what conditions are required to secure regulatory approvals.

Northeast Utilities (NU): Upgraded to Buy; $39 PT

We believe NU is well positioned post-merger to deliver above average EPS CAGR of ~8% through 2016 off a 2012 base driven by investments in new transmission and realization of merger synergies. Coupled with a below average payout ratio, we would also expect NU to deliver above average DPS growth, which we estimate at 7% per year. Similar to ITC, we believe NU is pricing in a more than 200 basis point reduction to its transmission ROE. While the company is clearly facing heightened risk on this front given the current challenge to New England base transmission owner ROE, we believe it would be unlikely for NU's ROE to be reduced by 200 bps and see an opportunity at current levels with NU trading at a 2% discount to peers on 2014.

CPUC05291

Portland General Elec. (POR): Initiated at Buy

We rate POR a Buy, as we believe it has substantial growth investment opportunities in the coming years that could drive above-average EPS growth. We see potential positive catalysts over the next 6-12 months as the requests for proposals (RFPs) for new generation are approved by the Oregon PUC and winning projects are identified. We also expect progress on the Cascade Crossing transmission line, including a potential agreement with the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA). We see compound EPS growth potential of 7%-8% depending on POR's ability to own the winning projects from these RFPs. In the event that expected earnings growth from these projects does not materialize, we believe POR has flexibility to raise its dividend meaningfully, since the current payout ratio is at the low end of the company's targeted range.

PG&E Corp. (PCG): Raising PT from $46 to $48

We continue to see positive momentum in PCG's turnaround story, as the ongoing pipeline-related proceedings in California progress toward a resolution later this year or early next. In particular, we believe parties are looking to settle the current proceedings, which we believe would be a positive catalyst for the stock. A settlement would finally bring clarity to the ultimate costs associated with the 2010 San Bruno pipeline accident and provide PCG with the ability to move forward and outline new growth plans and provide some sort of longer-term outlook. On the settlement potential, as we have noted in the past, we believe key parties would like to see the cases resolved prior to the two-year anniversary of the San Bruno accident (September 9, 2012).

Capital structure trade idea – long utility stocks, short bonds

As a bond proxy sector the regulated utility call often feels like a macro call; now more than ever

One frustration for utility investors ever since the 2008 financial crisis has been that the sector call often seems to be primarily a function of the macro view. This is particularly the case for the more defensive regulated names which have clearly been bid up to unprecedented relative values in large part on their bond proxy status and the lack of decent income alternatives. Company fundamentals mattered briefly again in the early part of 2012, with value stocks doing better as macro fears subsided. This ended abruptly of course as European woes returned and economic data lost momentum.

Interesting capital structure trade opportunity with utility dividend yield spread over corporate bonds very close to a historic wide

In the spirit of hedging out macro risk we do see an interesting capital structure trade theme to be long regulated utility stocks versus a short position in their bonds. This is best illustrated in Figure 12 which shows the utility dividend yield spread versus the iBoxx investment grade utility bond index yield. This spread is currently 82bps positive versus a long-run average of 166bps negative. Looking back over our historical data to the mid-90s the spread has only once been lower (91bps) but that was last August, at which point the trade worked quite well – albeit briefly. Intuitively, however, unless your macro view involves something like a major deflationary episode, it makes no sense in the long-run for dividend yields on utility stocks to be higher than their bond yields, in any event not by almost 100bps. One aspect of this trade we particularly like is that it reduces exposure to macro tail risk, either on the upside or downside. In a Risk-On environment we would expect to profit on the short bond position while utility stocks at worst trade sideways and maybe higher, albeit less than the market. Our trade likely does less well in a major Risk-Off episode, although we imagine utility stocks trade sideways to down (but much less than the market) while compression in benchmark Treasury yields would likely be offset by widening corporate spreads. Largely for this reason – essentially the fact that Treasuries are apt to be used as the safest port in a major storm – we like this trade more versus corporate bonds despite the fact that the dividend yield spread over 10-Year Treasury bonds is at an all-time wide (Figure 13).

Valuation Update

Still expensive on earnings versus the market …

We last discussed utility valuations in detail in the context of our 2012 Outlook report at the end of last year. Since then the group initially saw the relative P/E drop fairly sharply from the 120% range to 110%, only to rebound more recently to a new 25-year high with the market weakness and return of macro fears with the combined headline risk out of Europe and evidence of a stalling domestic economic recovery. On a relative basis this has essentially brought us back to where we were last summer with the 12-month forward P/E relative on the S&P Utilities trading at a premium north of 20% versus the long-run average discount of 14% (Figure 5). This level has proved to be a high point twice before in the past five years, once in January 2008 (121%) and then again in December of 2011 (122%).

If we focus on the absolute numbers (Figure 4) instead of the relative, it is striking to note that utilities are now trading at 14.8x 12-month forward earnings which is a premium of 17% versus their own long-run average (12.7x) and not far shy of the long-run average for the market (15.2x). In the meantime the market clearly presents something of a mirror image, trading at 11.9x which is a discount of more than 20% to its long-run average and about a turn below where utilities have historically traded. More simply put, utilities are valued closer to their historic highs, while the market is valued not far off its historic lows. Unless we are poised to see negligible economic growth and rock-bottom interest rates indefinitely, this hardly looks like a great long-term risk/reward set-up for utilities in the broader market context.

What level of S&P earnings would normalize utility relative values?

Clearly one part of the utility relative value equation which could be most subject to uncertainty is the "E" on the market given the strong gains seen over the past couple of years and the recent stall in key economic data points. For sure, utility estimates could also be subject to revision – although on a one-year forward basis we believe the scope for utility earnings "misses" is much lower than for the market at large. Suffice to say, however, for the P/E relative to normalize at a long-run (25-year) average 14% discount, then the S&P 500 multiple would need to be 17x implying EPS downside to around $77 versus current bottom-up estimates of $106 for 2012 and $118 for 2013.

S&P 500 earnings would need to be sub-$80/sh to normalize utility valuations versus long-run average

CPUC05293

Focusing on a more current (5-year) average utilities have traded on average at around P/E parity with the market. Getting to parity from current levels would imply a market EPS of $90 or a little below the 2010 actual level – not entirely inconceivable, but again a fairly dramatic cut versus even DB equity strategy's top-down $105 for 2012 and $108 for 2013.

Revisiting case for an adjusted P/E relative excluding 1997-2002

Excluding 1997-2002 still makes some sense, but only narrows the average discount to 7% from 15%

As we have argued before, looking back at our 25-year history valuation charts, it's worth noting that utilities traded at their greatest relative discount in the five-year period from 1997-2002 when market multiples were peaking in the dotcom boom, while the utilities faced uniquely challenging times in the shape of the California energy crisis, Enron's bankruptcy and the subsequent merchant power market bust and tightening of credit standards. In many ways this period was the power sector's "2008 moment" and it happened to occur at a time of much higher P/Es in the broader market. Pulling out the 1997-2002 period from our relative value analysis we calculate a long-run utility relative multiple closer to a 7% discount versus the 15% discount including all years.

Short-run history vs. long-run … same average multiple, higher relative

Focusing on recent history (since 2008) utilities have averaged 12.7x and parity versus the broader market

Similarly, we could confine our analysis only to the more recent history (since 2008) to better approximate a period of lower rates and lower growth expectations – appropriate perhaps for the moment given the sluggish pace of economic recovery. Intriguingly, in this case the average S&P Utilities P/E is still 12.7x – i.e. no different from the long-run average – but the average market P/E is about the same and the utility relative is around parity. Either way we choose to normalize the analysis, however, it is hard not to view utilities as expensive on earnings trading at a ~25% premium to the current market.

Regulateds only … higher P/E, higher premium, same conclusion

In the charts below we focus on a shorter-term average (since 2006) for Regulated utilities only. While the numbers are slightly different – Regulateds are trading at an even higher premium than the broader sector given lower near-term multiples on the Less Regulated group which is still carrying above-market commodity hedges in their 2012 and 2013 numbers. For reference, however, while we show Less Regulateds on average trading at a premium over Regulateds in 2012 and 2013, by 2014 which is our current base valuation year, the average multiples for the two groups are more or less at parity as shown in our valuation comp sheet on page 17.

But inexpensive as ever on relative yield versus bonds

With yields falling again, utilities look as inexpensive as ever on relative yield

While utility P/E valuations are flirting with their long-run highs, utilities continue to appear well supported on any kind of yield relative analysis versus bonds. We show our customary charts starting with Figure 10 which highlights the continued slide in 10-Year Treasury yields to well under 2%, the more gradual slide in investment grade utility bond yields below 4% and the much more stable average utility dividend yield which is hovering around 4.3%. This has taken the pre-tax yield spread versus the 10-Year to a new low (Figure 11) and to a wider level than we saw either post-Enron (2001-2002) or post-Lehman (2008-2009).

Dividend yield spread over 10-Yr Treasury at new wide; utility equities now yield almost 100bps more than equivalent investment grade utility bonds

Case for a capital structure trade (long utility stocks, short utility bonds)

Versus investment grade utility bonds the average utility dividend yield spread is essentially back to a low seen in August of last year (Figure 12). Worth noting here might be that while dividend yields first dropped below the equivalent utility corporate bond yields in mid-2010, the current spread is now approaching 100bps pre-tax, making for a particularly compelling case either to own the stocks, short the bonds, and maybe both for those able to put on the capital structure trade and minimize tail risk from major macro developments (either good or bad).

With dividend yields almost 100bps over corporate bonds a capital structure trade looks interesting here

Even tax-adjusted stocks look inexpensive versus bonds on historical spreads

Investors and in particular utility investors are increasingly beginning to focus on the question of whether dividends and/or capital gains continue to see favorable tax treatment beyond the scheduled sunset of the Bush-era tax cuts at the end of 2012. The utilities industry is lobbying hard on this front primarily under a campaign heading of "Defend My Dividend". Clearly the least desirable outcome would be for tax rates on dividends to rise if capital gains rates were to stay low. Based on our analysis shown in Figure 14 and Figure 15 below, at current super-low bond yields there is some headroom for dividend tax rates to increase without eliminating the significant after-tax yield spread of utility stocks over either Treasury or corporate bonds.

Dividend tax issue looming – a key risk issue for regulated names

The above said, we would certainly expect some negative repercussions for utility valuations in the event that dividend taxes end up jumping to the full marginal 39.6% rate (43.4% including the 3.8% Medicare tax on investment income beginning in 2013 for households earning over $250,000). Exactly how much the hit to valuation might be is difficult to say with any precision. Based on simple math, however, the average utility stock trades at 14.8x 12M forward earnings and pays a pre-tax yield of 4.27% implying an average dividend payout ratio around 63%. At the current 15% dividend tax rate the effective after-tax yield is 3.6%. Maintaining this same level of after-tax yield given a 39.6% tax rate would require a near-30% lower stock price and an implied P/E in the mid-10x range all else equal. This simple analysis clearly overstates the actual risk to valuations, however, given several factors, most notably in our view that facts that 1) not all utility investors – particularly institutions – benefit from the 15% rate; 2) the stock market is presumably already pricing in some risk of higher dividend taxes; and 3) the high level of investor appetite for yield and lack of alternatives with similar lower-risk profiles (see comments above about corporate bond yields). It also seems improbable given the political environment that dividend tax rates would move all the way up to ordinary income rates in one step. We would discourage investors from becoming too complacent over this issue, however, as it is interesting to note that a mid-10x multiple would simply bring utilities back in line with their long-run relative valuation of a 15% discount P/E multiple versus the broader market.

On paper utility stocks would need to drop ~30% to keep after-tax dividend yields at current levels; in practice the impact would likely be less

Rising market dividend yield remains a key headwind to watch

While our discussion above focused primarily on yields relative to fixed income alternatives, an issue we are continuing to watch with interest is the upward creep in yields on the broader market. This has been fueled in part by weak stock prices, but more significantly by the increasing number of companies in other sectors – notably technology companies with significant cash flow – which are either including dividends in their investor value propositions for the first time, reinstating dividends or stepping up payouts to a higher level. As shown in Figure 16 and Figure 17, with the 12-month forward yield on the market now at 2.7%, utilities now offer a spread of only ~155bps over the average stock versus a long-run average of ~240bps. When we consider that the market average includes a decent number of companies with no dividend the spread versus the average dividend paying stock is likely somewhat narrower. As we continue to consider this valuation question we also wonder how many Boards outside of the utilities sector might consider instituting or raising their dividends if they had longer-term visibility on fiscal policy towards dividends. In other words, could there be a pent up dividend effect that might be unleashed by an extension of the favorable tax rate – which after the initial euphoria might leave utilities looking yet less competitive on yield versus other stocks. This would indeed be a clear case of "careful what you wish for" and likely thinking at least one step too far ahead for the average investment horizon. That said, with relative valuations as high as they are in large part due to low interest rates (i.e. yields) we believe investors should at least be thinking such risks.

2012 Performance Update

Utilities got off to a poor start in 2012, but then saw their relative performance turn around mid-March as macro fears out of Europe returned to the forefront followed by deterioration in the tone of domestic economic data. At one point the sector had lagged by around 16%, essentially giving up all of its calendar year 2011 outperformance (15%). Where we stand today utilities are about flat on the year Figure 19 and have lagged the market by around 4% with only Energy ranking lower on the year-to-date performance. This said utilities have had some strong weeks lately and there are uncanny similarities with last year's relative performance which also started out week (although less so) before turning when macro fears began to dominate in Q2 and then outperforming by around 15% over the course of the summer as a safe port in the macro storm.

What worked in last year's Risk-off trade

Highlighting this we are including two charts to highlight the relative performance of our regulated coverage in recent periods of significant divergent relative performance for the overall utilities sector (Figure 22 and Figure 23). The blue bars in Figure 22 show a performance ranking for last year's Risk-Off trade which we define as the start of the utility sector relative rally in early April through the sector relative peak in early October. We have highlighted larger-cap names in darker blue to show their relative strength at times when investors were clearly looking for safety at any price. The super-imposed diamonds show relative performance versus the market since the sector began to rally from mid-March. At the very least this might give investors some kind of a reference point as to which utilities delivered the best defensive performance in last year's market sell-off and how this year's relative rally stacks up against last year. Figure 23 looks at the same group of names and shows their relative performance versus the market – generally underperformance – in the Risk-On period which we define as having started when the utility relative peaked last October through the recent bottom in March.

Company updates

American Electric Power (AEP)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for AEP to $40 from $39. We value AEP by applying an 11.7x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate. Our multiple reflects a 10% discount versus our target 13x regulated utility P/E multiple, which we view as reasonable given the extreme level of uncertainty in Ohio, AEP's heavy reliance on coal generation, and less favorable service territories. These negative factors are partially offset by AEP's diversity in regulatory jurisdictions, above-average growth opportunities (primarily transmission), and large cap premium.

Risks

The main downside risk for AEP is a negative decision in the Ohio Electric Security Plan (ESP) case. Other downside risks for AEP include disallowance of capital spending projects or ROE adjustments in regulatory proceedings. A renewed economic downturn could also impact our estimates and slow growth at the utilities. AEP's mostly coal fleet is also is also heavily exposed to environmental regulations. Upside risks for AEP include greater capital investment opportunities than we assume, higher earned ROEs, and a more favorable outcome in the pending Ohio regulatory proceeding than we assume.

CMS Energy (CMS)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for CMS to $24 from $23. We value CMS by applying a 13.65x P/E multiple (a 5% premium to our target 13x regulated utility multiple) to our 2014 EPS estimate of $1.73. In our view, a slight premium for CMS is justified based on CMS' execution track record, Michigan's strong regulatory construct, and above-average growth partially offset by the impact of the less favorable Michigan economy and CMS' relatively high parent debt load.

Risks

The key downside risks for CMS include the disallowance of major capital spending projects, as we expect roughly $6.6B of spending for 2012-2016 to drive rate base growth, and the inability of the utilities to earn their authorized returns. A renewed deterioration in Michigan's economy is also a downside risk for CMS, even if it is not as directly exposed since a limited decoupling mechanism is expected to remain in place. A significant deepening of the recession in the state would likely further increase rate pressure and could restrict growth opportunities. Rising natural gas prices would also be a risk since they would push CMS' expected annual electric rate increases higher.

Consolidated Edison (ED)

Valuation – Raising PT to $54 from $52

Our $54 price target is based on a 14.0x P/E multiple applied to our 2014E of $3.85, which reflects an 8% premium to our target 13.0x regulated utility multiple. We believe this premium is appropriate given ED's lower risk business model (mostly regulated T&D), above average regulatory certainty, history of delivering on guidance, and strong environmental and financial position.

Risks

Upside risks to our valuation and financial projections include better-than-anticipated performance under current rate plans at Con Edison of New York, stronger-than anticipated earnings at the competitive business, faster-than-anticipated rate base growth/capital spending, lower-than-anticipated debt financing, reduced pension plan contribution requirements, and lower market interest rates. Downside risks include worse-than-expected rate case outcomes (particularly the risk of an ROE reset in CECONY's next rate cases) higher-than-expected financing needs, slower-than-anticipated rate base growth, weaker demand growth, and higher market interest rates.

Dominion Resources (D)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for D from $50 to $51. We value D on a 2014E sum-of-the-parts basis. We apply a 15x P/E multiple to D's Virginia Electric & Power Company subsidiary (electric distribution, transmission, and regulated generation), a 15% premium to our target 13x regulated multiple. We believe this is appropriate given the supportive regulatory environment and favorable recovery mechanisms in Virginia, as well as the state's mandate for D to invest in new generation. We apply an 8.5x EV/EBITDA multiple to D's gas distribution segment, a premium to the regulated average reflecting the regulatory construct in Ohio, and a 9x multiple to the gas transmission segment. We believe this is warranted given FERC's recovery mechanisms and above-average ROEs and D's strong growth outlook in the Marcellus and Utica shale basins. We apply a premium 8.75x multiple to the merchant generation fleet, reflecting D's net clean portfolio, its attractive market position in New England, exposure to future commodity/power improvements, and strong financial position as part of a large cap utility. We value the retail business using a 7x multiple, and Producer Services at 7.5x. Lastly, we apply an 8.75x multiple to the parent segment EBITDA.

Risks

The key downside risk for D would be the disallowance of major capital spending projects, which drive our earnings growth outlook. Unfavorable changes to Virginia's regulatory framework, which continue to be proposed periodically in the legislature, would also be a negative. An inability to manage earnings at the electric utility could also lead to a potential rate adjustment in 2013. At the merchant generation segment, weaker gas and/or power prices would negatively impact our estimates and D's consolidated growth rate. Upside risks include higher gas and/or power prices than we assume at the merchant generation segment and significant additional growth opportunities at the regulated segments, which we view as most likely at the gas transmission segment.

DTE Energy (DTE)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for DTE to $56 from $53.50. We apply a 14x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate for DTE excluding Energy Trading and the Reduced Emissions Fuel (REF) business. This multiple reflects an 8% premium to our 13x target regulated utility multiple, reflecting DTE's solid Michigan utilities with a strong regulatory construct plus DTE's premium midstream assets. For Energy Trading, we apply a 9.5x P/E multiple to our 2014 estimate, reflecting what we believe is a more appropriate multiple for that business versus a regulated utility. Lastly, we add in the value for DTE's REF business. This represents the NPV of $50M of earnings annually through 2021 since the earnings stream is only in place for 10 years.

Risks

Upside risks include stronger rate base growth than we assume and a stronger economic recovery, which could increase capital spending opportunities. A higher price than we assume for DTE's Barnett Shale assets would also be a positive risk and could reduce equity needs. Stronger-than-expected earnings from the Reduced Emissions Fuel (REF) business is also a risk. Downside risks include less favorable rate case outcomes than we assume, especially if they disallow capital spending, and a renewed economic downturn in Michigan.

Duke Energy (DUK)

Valuation – Raising PT to $22 from $21

Our $22 price target for DUK is based on a 13.9x P/E multiple applied to our 2014E of $1.55. We believe DUK deserves a premium (7%) versus regulated peers, which we value at 13.0x, reflecting its position as one of the largest market capitalization utilities in the sector with above-average regulatory diversity. These positive attributes are tempered by regulatory uncertainty facing its second largest utility in Indiana, although this has lessened with the company having reached a settlement concerning cost recovery on the soon-to-be-completed Edwardsport IGCC plant, a below average environmental position given a heavy reliance on coal-fired generation (48% of total capacity), and modestly below average growth potential.

Risks

Upside risks to our price target include better-than-expected regulatory outcomes in future rate cases, outperformance versus merger synergy targets and retention thereof, faster-than-anticipated economic recovery, and stronger-than-expected results from DUK's non-utility operations, which could be driven by higher power and PJM capacity prices or favorable foreign currency exchange rates. Downside risks include the potential for regulatory disappointments, especially in Indiana, and worse-than-anticipated margin compression at Commercial Power. Additionally, the company's international assets are subject to sovereign risk and foreign currency exchange volatility, which could negatively impact our current outlook.

Edison International (EIX)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for EIX from $47 to $48.50. We value EIX on a sum-of-the-parts basis. We apply a premium 13.9x P/E multiple to our 2014 estimate for Southern California Edison (SCE) to value the utility at ~$47.50 per share. Our multiple reflects a 7% premium to our target 13x regulated utility multiple, which we believe is appropriate given SCE's relatively favorable environmental position, above-average growth expectations, the utility's attractive Southern California service territory, and management's execution track record. We then subtract parent expenses of $1 per share. We value EME at zero plus the potential value we believe could be extracted from the business (~$1 per share). In our view, EME should not be valued at less than zero despite the fact that our estimate of its obligations (including future environmental spending) outweighs the value we see provided by EME's cash flows. This is because its debt is non-recourse to EIX, and we do not expect management to provide additional capital to the business while it faces such challenging conditions and until there is greater clarity on eventual environmental requirements.

Risks

In our view, the primary downside risk for EIX is disallowance or delays of major capital spending at SCE, which drives EIX consolidated EPS. We view this risk as most acute for SCE's transmission projects, which have historically had problems with delays throughout the regulatory review process. The inability of EIX management to extract or rebuild value from within EME or to add leverage on the wind assets (restricting cash flexibility) are also risks for EIX. We also view the regulatory uncertainty in California as a lingering concern for SCE as Governor Jerry Brown appointed three new commissioners last year, including two with consumer advocacy backgrounds.

Entergy Corp. (ETR)

Our price target for ETR is based on a sum-of-the-parts analysis that attributes $67 to the Utilities and less than $1 to Entergy Wholesale Commodities and Parent & Other. At this stage we have not incorporated any specific value for the proposed ITC transmission deal, which could represent a meaningful uplift if consummated as proposed. We calculate the Utility value by applying a 13.0x multiple, consistent with the average multiple we apply to US regulated utilities, to our 2014 EPS estimate of $5.13. Our valuation for Entergy Wholesale Commodities is based on 2014E adjusted EBITDA and 9.0x EV/EBITDA multiple. This represents a one turn premium to our target merchant EBITDA multiple, which we believe is warranted given ETR's portfolio of lower cost and net clean nuclear generation. Our EBITDA forecast for EWC is adjusted for the non-cash Palisades PPA accrual ($16M in 2014), and projected NYPA value sharing payments of $72M. The former is a non-cash revenue item while the latter is a cash expense booked in the investing section of the cash flow statement. Both relate to accounting treatment of the acquired assets and are not typically adjusted in company presentations of EBITDA. Given that in 2014 they represent around 22% of Entergy Wholesale Commodities' EBITDA we believe investors should adjust for them in valuation work. Finally, we subtract estimated non-utility net debt of $2.8B to get to our non-utility equity value of $172M or about less than $1/sh.

Risks

We see the following upside risks to our Hold rating and price target: securing approval for the deal with ITC, better-than-expected regulatory outcomes, stronger-than-expected power markets in the Northeast, a stronger-than-expected economy, the extension of a certificate of public good by the state of Vermont for Vermont Yankee, incremental share repurchases, and benefits from any future federal carbon pricing regime/stricter EPA regulations. Downside risks include: negative rate case decisions (especially in light of historical challenges in some of the company's jurisdictions), nuclear plant license renewal challenges, especially with regard to Indian Point 2 & 3 in New York, weaker-than-expected power prices, delays on major capital projects and a weaker economic environment.

FirstEnergy (FE)

Valuation

Our $49/sh price target for FE is based on our sum-of-the-parts valuation framework. We apply a 13.0x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate for the regulated distribution and transmission businesses. This is in line with our baseline multiple as FE's strong regulatory diversity and the absence of any plans to file rate cases in the near term is offset by potential over-earning risks in New Jersey. We apply a 9.0x EV/EBITDA multiple to our 2014 estimates for the competitive business and parent overhead. This is a premium to our baseline 8.0x multiple to reflect FE's significant leverage to a recovery in energy markets.

We also make two adjustments to our valuation for FE to better reflect the capacity uplift over the 2015-16 timeframe, as we view the capacity prices embedded in our 2014 valuation year ($85/MW-day RTO price) as artificially low. First, we have given FE credit for the YoY uplift in RTO (system-wide) capacity prices to more normalized levels in CY 2015 ($132/MW-day). Second, we have adjusted our valuation to give FE credit for the local reliability constraints and very high capacity price in the ATSI region in the 2015-16 auction. We have calculated the annualized net revenue uplift for FE at the $357/MW-day clearing price in ATSI, and applied a 2.0x multiple to this estimated "ATSI uplift". This reflects our view that ATSI is likely to price at a material premium once again in next year's 2016-17 auction, but that large regional premiums are unsustainable over the long run as transmission improvements are made and new generation is potentially added in the region.

Risks

Downside risks to our Buy rating include weak overall power demand, lower power prices, and a faster than expected improvement in reliability conditions in the ATSI region. Additionally, increased retail market competition creates a risk for FE's competitive margins, while an unfavorable outcome in the inquiry into JCP&L's earnings is a risk on the regulated side of the business.

ITC Holdings (ITC)

Valuation – Raising price target to $81 from $80

Our valuation for ITC continues to incorporate some of the risk that the company's premium FERC return on equity could be challenged, in light of the existing challenge to New England transmission owner ROEs. Our new price target of $81 is based on a weighted average of four different scenarios, where we have attempted to model the risk that ITC's premium return on equity might be reduced. We assign the highest weighting to our assumption that ITC's ROE will remain unchanged (40% x $87) as there is no current challenge to ITC's rate structure and it is far from certain that the challenge to New England transmission owner base ROE will ultimately prevail. We then assign 20% weightings to scenarios where ITC's ROE is lowered by 50, 100, and 200 basis points (20% x $83, 20% x $78, 20% x $70). Weighting these as described, we get to our price target of $81. In each scenario, we apply the same P/E multiple of 15.6x 2014E (20% premium vs. peers) to our various EPS estimates since ITC's long-term growth (~16% per year) does not change materially once earnings are rebased.

	Average ROE	2014 EPS	P/E Multiple	Valuation	Weighting
Scenario 1 - unchanged	13.0%	5.55	15.6x	87.00	40.0%
Scenario 2 - 50 bp ROE cut	12.5%	5.30	15.6x	83.00	20.0%
Scenario 3 - 100 bp ROE cut	12.0%	5.00	15.6x	78.00	20.0%
Scenario 4 - 200 bp ROE cut	11.0%	4.50	15.6x	70.00	20.0%
Weighted Average Valuation				81.00	100.0%

Source: Deutsche Bank

Risks

Downside risks to our price target include transmission project delays, challenges to ITC's favorable FERC formula rate plans and authorized ROE, lower than- anticipated spending on generator interconnects, greater-than-anticipated financing needs, and reduced support for transmission at FERC. Our earnings outlook is dependent on the company successfully acquiring all necessary regulatory approvals and permits in order to move forward with its projects and execute its capital plan. While we have attempted to account for the risk that ITC's ROE could be challenged and potentially reduced, a challenge to Midwest transmission owner ROE (similar to the one filed against New England TOs) would potentially require us to rethink our current weighting methodology.

NextEra Energy (NEE)

We are maintaining our 2012 EPS estimate for NEE of $4.55 and lowering our 2013 and 2014 estimates by $0.10 in each year to $4.95 and $5.05, respectively. Estimate changes reflect revised assumptions on capital spending, earned ROEs, and various other tweaks based on recent company disclosures.

Valuation

Our $60/sh price target for NEE is based on our sum-of-the-parts valuation framework and also gives NEE credit for the NPV of future PTCs and other renewable tax benefits. We apply a 14.5x P/E multiple to our 2014 estimates for the regulated FP&L and Lone Star businesses, which is a 12% premium to our baseline multiple to reflect a large capital base, historically constructive regulation in Florida, and above-average dividend growth. We apply an 8.75x EV/EBITDA multiple to our 2014 estimate for Energy Resources, which is a premium to our baseline merchant multiple of 8.0x given NEE's net clean fleet and the low-cost debt and quick equity payback period associated with renewable growth projects. We also give NEE credit for the NPV of future production tax credits (PTCs), CITC cash grants, and MACRS depreciation benefits (over $5/sh of value).

Business Segment	Valuation Metric	2014E	Multiple	Value
FP&L	P/E	$3.14	14.50x	19,194
Lone Star Transmission	P/E	$0.10	14.50x	638

Total Equity Value				25,103
Diluted Average Shares Outstanding				421
Equity Value Per Share				$60

Source: Deutsche Bank. (a) Includes proportional interest in debt for the Desert Sunlight solar project.

Risks

Downside risks to our view include a disappointing outcome in the pending rate case at FP&L, execution risks, the absence of public policy support for renewable development, and a potential improvement in gas/power prices that could lead to NEE losing its relative safety premium. Upside risks are a better than expected outcome in the FP&L rate case, a strong economic recovery in Florida, and an extension of the PTC beyond 2012.

Northeast Utilities (NU)

Valuation – Maintaining PT at $39

Our $39 price target is based on a 14.3x P/E multiple applied to an "ROE-adjusted" 2014E. We currently project 2014 EPS of $2.75, which assumes no change to NU's base transmission ROE. Since we believe a modest reduction is possible, we adjust our forecast for a 50 basis point change in ROE which results in an EPS estimate of $2.71. On our analysis, every 50 basis point reduction in transmission ROE equates to a $0.04 hit to EPS. We believe NU merits a 14.3x P/E multiple, representing a 10% premium vs. our regulated utility target multiple, given above average earnings growth potential, a lower risk business profile as a mostly T&D utility, above average exposure to FERC-regulated transmission, a strong management team, below average regulatory risk, and no need for new equity in the near future.

Risks

Downside risks include transmission project delays or cancellations, reduced support for transmission at FERC, a larger-than-anticipated reduction in base transmission ROEs, lower-than-expected synergies from the merger with NSTAR, lower-than-expected capital expenditures on growth investments, lower-than-anticipated sales, and higher-than-anticipated financing needs.

PG&E Corp. (PCG)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for PCG from $46 to $48. We value PCG by applying a 13.65x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate of $3.50. Our multiple reflects a 5% premium to our target regulated utility multiple of 13x. We believe this premium is justified based on our view that PCG will be able to begin to regain its historical premium valuation as pipeline-related proceedings are resolved. We also believe that our 2014 rate base growth assumption could prove conservative, as we currently assume 4-5% growth.

Risks

The key downside risks, in our view, are higher-than-expected penalties or unrecovered pipeline costs as a result of the San Bruno accident and a greater-than-expected downward ROE adjustment than we assume. A significant adjustment to the capital growth plan would also be a risk to our estimates.

Portland General Electric (POR)

Valuation

We value POR at $27.50 by applying a 13.4x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate of $2.05. This is a slight discount to where regulated electric utilities are currently trading and a 3% premium to our target regulated utility multiple of 13x. We believe POR's combination of strong growth opportunities with specific catalysts on the horizon, expected customer growth, slightly above-average dividend yield, and favorable environmental position should offset its historical small-cap discount. In our view, progress on POR's potential growth projects will narrow that valuation gap over the next 6-12 months.

Risks

The primary risk to our call would be POR's inability to grow its rate base through the generation RFPs. An inability to manage O&M expenses over the next few years would be negative to our EPS outlook, as would the underrecovery of fuel and purchased power expenses. POR's exposure to a single regulatory jurisdiction (Oregon) is also a risk. POR's small size could limit its access to financing in the event of a severe credit tightening in the economy.

PPL Corp. (PPL)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for PPL from $28.50 to $29. We value PPL based on a 2014E sum-of-the-parts analysis. We value the UK utility on a 13.7x P/E multiple, reflecting a 5% premium, and the KY utility on a 13.4x multiple, a 3% premium versus our target regulated utility multiple based on their attractive regulatory constructs. We value Pennsylvania Regulated on a 13x P/E multiple, in line with our target 2014E regulated multiple. We apply an 8.5x EV/EBITDA multiple to our 2014 EBITDA outlook for the Supply segment, which is a half-turn premium to our baseline merchant multiple. We believe PPL's generation portfolio merits a premium based on its net clean fleet and attractive market position in PJM. We calculate our price target using a year-end 2014 share count to reflect the full impact of expected dilution from the convertible securities PPL issued to fund its recent acquisitions.

Risks

Downside risks to our view include weaker power prices or higher coal prices than we assume, weaker-than-expected generation performance, and inability to contain and manage risks at the marketing and trading subsidiary. Further delays in capital projects (such as the Susquehanna-Roseland transmission line) or unfavorable rate case outcomes are also risks. Inability to execute on targeted UK acquisition synergies is another risk. Upside risks include higher power prices or lower coal prices than we assume and the ability to earn higher ROEs at the regulated utilities.

Progress Energy (PGN)

Valuation – Raising PT to $57 from $55

We value PGN as a function of our target value for Duke Energy (DUK) given their planned merger. Per the merger agreement, DUK will acquire PGN in an all stock transaction, paying 2.6125 DUK shares for each PGN share. We value DUK at $22/sh implying PGN value of $57 ($22 x 2.6125).

Risks

Downside risks to our view include the failure to complete their planned merger with DUK as we would value PGN lower absent the offer from DUK, a weaker-than-expected economic environment, which would put further pressure on the company's ability to earn its allowed returns, weaker-than-anticipated future rate case outcomes in Florida and the Carolinas, and failure to complete major capital projects in the Carolinas or to secure full cost recovery of the planned repair at Crystal River 3. Upside risks for PGN include better-than-expected regulatory outcomes, lower-than-expected costs, a faster-than- expected economic recovery in the Carolinas and Florida, and stronger-than-expected synergies associated with their merger with DUK.

Public Service Enterprise Group (PEG)

Valuation

Our $33/sh price target for PEG is based on our sum-of-the-parts valuation framework. We apply a 13.0x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate for the PSE&G utility, which is in line with our baseline multiple as potentially above-average growth is offset by a lack of regulatory diversity given exposure to only one state jurisdiction. We apply an 8.0x EV/EBITDA multiple to our 2014 EBITDA estimates for Power and Holdings/Parent, which is in line with our baseline merchant multiple. While we would normally award Power an above-average multiple given a diverse mix of nuclear, coal, and gas assets, we forecast that PEG will have the greatest YoY reduction in RPM capacity revenues of its peers in CY 2015, which is a negative when valuing off 2014 earnings.

Business Segment	Valuation Metric	2014E	Multiple	Value
PSE&G Utility	P/E	$1.31	13.00x	8,681

Total Equity Value				16,649
Diluted Average Shares Outstanding (2014E)				508
Equity Value Per Share				$33

Risks

Downside risks include lower gas prices, political and regulatory risks in New Jersey, and a reduction in the premium available in future BGS auctions. Upside risks include higher gas prices and improved supply/demand conditions in the Eastern PJM market, which would eventually lead to higher capacity prices. Incremental investment opportunities at the utility could also provide upside to earnings growth.

Southern Company (SO)

Valuation – Raising PT to $44 from $42

We calculate our $44 price target by applying a 15.0x P/E multiple to our 2014E of $2.95. We believe SO merits a 15% premium to peers, reflecting (1) above average regulatory certainty given favorable formula rate plans in Alabama and Mississippi, as well as a history of negotiating constructive rate plans in Georgia; (2) regulatory diversity with utilities in four states; (3) a better than average service territory; (4) strong growth prospects (4-7%); (5) a history of delivering on or exceeding management targets; and (6) a strong financial position.

Risks

Upside risks to our target include better-than-anticipated rate case outcomes, accelerations in construction schedules for major capital projects, higher-than-expected electric sales, lower-than-expected market interest rates, and lower-than-anticipated financing needs. Downside risks include worse-than-anticipated rate case outcomes, capital project delays, including SO's new nuclear project, lower-than-anticipated sales, higher interest rates, higher-than-anticipated financing needs, and reduced electricity demand.

TECO Energy (TE)

Valuation – Maintaining $16.50 PT

We continue to value TECO Energy using a sum-of-the-parts analysis, which is consistent with how we value most other stocks in our diversified utility coverage universe. However, our target price also attributes value to TE's above average and secure dividend yield of 5.0%, which significantly limits potential for a full downside case to be realized in the current low yield environment. In our sum-of-the-parts, we attribute $15.50 per share of value to TE's FL utilities by applying our average regulated utility P/E multiple target of 13.0x to our 2014E for Tampa Electric and Peoples Gas. We value TECO Guatemala at about $1/sh by applying a P/E multiple of 9x to our 2014E, a discount to the Florida utilities reflecting higher regulatory risk and lower visibility on the operations of this subsidiary. We calculate enterprise value of close to $750M for TECO Coal by applying an EV/EBITDA multiple of 6.0x to our 2014 EBITDA estimate of $125M. This is up a half turn from the multiple we previously incorporated but still on par with where coal stocks are trading. We value parent company overhead at -$15M by applying a 7x EV/EBITDA multiple to our estimate for corporate drag. We then subtract non-utility net debt of $994M to get to our total non-utility equity value of -$255M. Taken together this implies fundamental value of $15 per share. At this price TE's stock would have a dividend yield of 6.1%, which we believe is unlikely given 10- year treasury yields at 1.66% and average yields in the low 4% range for other utilities. We therefore add $1.50 to account for TE's dividend, which we view as secure.

Risks

We see the following upside risks to our valuation: faster-than-anticipated, economic recovery in Florida, faster-than-anticipated rate base growth at Tampa Electric and Peoples Gas, higher-than-forecast production and prices at TECO Coal, the sale of TECO Coal at a higher after-tax value than we have incorporated in our valuation, lower-than-expected operating expenses at all subsidiaries, lower-than-expected financing needs, and lower market interest rates. Downside risks include lower coal prices, a global recession, higher market interest rates, higher-than-anticipated operating expenses, higher-than-expected financing needs, and slower rate base growth at the FL utilities.

Xcel Energy (XEL)

Valuation

We are raising our price target for XEL from $27 to $28. We value XEL by applying a 14x P/E multiple to our 2014 EPS estimate of $2.00. Our multiple reflects an 8% premium to our target regulated utility multiple of 13x. In our view, XEL's service territory diversity helps reduce earnings volatility and reliance on a single regulatory agency and provides exposure to a variety of industries and economies. The different operating companies also allow XEL's capital spending program to not be dependent on any single project or state policy initiative. Among the various states in which XEL operates, we view their relationships with regulators to be generally constructive. We also believe that XEL's management team has established a solid track record of good execution and financial discipline. And we believe XEL merits a small premium for its proactive push to reduce the company's exposure to coal generation, though we acknowledge that XEL has the benefit of operating in states with attractive renewable development opportunities.

Risks

As a fully regulated utility, the most important downside risk we see is negative rate case decisions. XEL is also exposed to the general economic environment in its territories, and a continued sales decline would weaken earnings growth. Since XEL is fully regulated, we would view this as a risk more for the pressure it would put on regulators to find ways to mitigate potential rate impacts on customers. Upside risks include a faster or stronger economic recovery in XEL's service territories than we expect and better rate case outcomes than we forecast.

Aside from within this report, important conflict disclosures can also be found at https://gm.db.com/equities under the "Disclosures Lookup" and "Legal" tabs. Investors are strongly encouraged to review this information before investing.

2. Short-Term Trade Ideas

Deutsche Bank equity research analysts sometimes have shorter-term trade ideas (known as SOLAR ideas) that are consistent or inconsistent with Deutsche Bank's existing longer term ratings. These trade ideas can be found at the SOLAR link at http://gm.db.com.

3. Country-Specific Disclosures

Australia and New Zealand: This research, and any access to it, is intended only for "wholesale clients" within the meaning of the Australian Corporations Act and New Zealand Financial Advisors Act respectively.
Brazil: The views expressed above accurately reflect personal views of the authors about the subject company(ies) and its(their) securities, including in relation to Deutsche Bank. The compensation of the equity research analyst(s) is indirectly affected by revenues deriving from the business and financial transactions of Deutsche Bank.
EU countries: Disclosures relating to our obligations under MiFiD can be found at http://www.globalmarkets.db.com/riskdisclosures.
Japan: Disclosures under the Financial Instruments and Exchange Law: Company name - Deutsche Securities Inc. Registration number - Registered as a financial instruments dealer by the Head of the Kanto Local Finance Bureau (Kinsho) No. 117. Member of associations: JSDA, Type II Financial Instruments Firms Association, The Financial Futures Association of Japan, Japan Securities Investment Advisers Association. Commissions and risks involved in stock transactions - for stock transactions, we charge stock commissions and consumption tax by multiplying the transaction amount by the commission rate agreed with each customer. Stock transactions can lead to losses as a result of share price fluctuations and other factors. Transactions in foreign stocks can lead to additional losses stemming from foreign exchange fluctuations. "Moody's", "Standard & Poor's", and "Fitch" mentioned in this report are not registered credit rating agencies in Japan unless "Japan" or "Nippon" is specifically designated in the name of the entity.

It is not an offer or a solicitation of an offer to buy or sell any financial instruments or to participate in any particular trading strategy. Target prices are inherently imprecise and a product of the analyst judgement.

As a result of Deutsche Bank's March 2010 acquisition of BHF-Bank AG, a security may be covered by more than one analyst within the Deutsche Bank group. Each of these analysts may use differing methodologies to value the security; as a result, the recommendations may differ and the price targets and estimates of each may vary widely.

In August 2009, Deutsche Bank instituted a new policy whereby analysts may choose not to set or maintain a target price of certain issuers under coverage with a Hold rating. In particular, this will typically occur for "Hold" rated stocks having a market cap smaller than most other companies in its sector or region. We believe that such policy will allow us to make best use of our resources. Please visit our website at http://gm.db.com to determine the target price of any stock.

The financial instruments discussed in this report may not be suitable for all investors and investors must make their own informed investment decisions. Stock transactions can lead to losses as a result of price fluctuations and other factors. If a financial instrument is denominated in a currency other than an investor's currency, a change in exchange rates may adversely affect the investment. Past performance is not necessarily indicative of future results. Deutsche Bank may with respect to securities covered by this report, sell to or buy from customers on a principal basis, and consider this report in deciding to trade on a proprietary basis.

Good afternoon Commissioner Ferron. Hope all is well with you. I'm planning to be in San Francisco for some meetings next week - Tuesday specifically - including presenting on the utilities sector as an investment to some of the operational managers at PG&E. In any event I'm wondering whether you might have a small window of time to catch up on the electricity issues of the day. I might ask to bring John Kohli who manages the Franklin utility fund with me if you were amenable to that idea. I'm also trying to get an audience with your new colleague Commissioner Peterman so as to establish a dialog before bringing an investor group in next time. Regards, Jonathan Arnold.

MEETING REQUEST FORM

Today's Date: February 5, 2013
Person (and entity) requesting meeting: Jonathan Arnold, Managing Director, Deutsche Bank Securities
Docket # and Short Name:
Reason for the meeting: I am going to be in San Francisco next week and would be very interested in a brief meeting if Commissioner Peterman could spare a few minutes. By way of introduction I lead the Deutsche Bank equity research coverage of the California utilities and periodically bring groups of our institutional investor clients on fact finding/research visits to the Commission. On past visits we have met regularly with President Peevey, Commissioner Florio and more recently Commissioner Ferron as well as several of their predecessors. I anticipate hosting another such visit later in the year and would like to establish a dialog with Commissioner Peterman in advance of doing so. One of our top investor clients, John Kohli, who manages the $5B Franklin Utilities Fund out of San Mateo and is also responsible for another $8B of income funds would be interested in joining as well and is available Tuesday. John is one of the three largest active shareholders in all three of the major listed California utilities so certainly an interesting voice to hear and person to meet. We did something similar with Commissioner Ferron early in his tenure and I believe the meeting was of mutual benefit sharing views around key policy issues from the investor standpoint and establishing a dialog.

Hi Jonathan -

Good to hear from you.

I'd love to catch up, but unfortunately I will be in Sacramento on Tuesday next week and the rest of next week is very difficult (Wednesday is our regular public meeting, and I am out of the office on Thursday and Friday). I have copied my assistant, Juliane, to try to find a time slot in case you are still in SF on Monday or Wednesday.

I'm not sure when Commissioner Peterman will be in SF, but I most certainly can recommend that she meet with you and John (I have copied her and her assistant, Scott, as well).

Hope all is well with you.

Cheers

Mark

Subject: Re: Visiting SF next week

Hi Jonathan –

Good to hear from you.

I'd love to catch up, but unfortunately I will be in Sacramento on Tuesday next week and the rest of next week is very difficult (Wednesday is our regular public meeting, and I am out of the office on Thursday and Friday). I have copied my assistant, Juliane, to try to find a time slot in case you are still in SF on Monday or Wednesday.

I'm not sure when Commissioner Peterman will be in SF, but I most certainly can recommend that she meet with you and John (I have copied her and her assistant, Scott, as well).

Hope all is well with you.

Mark

Good afternoon Commissioner Ferron. Hope all is well with you. I'm planning to be in San Francisco for some meetings next week - Tuesday specifically - including presenting on the utilities sector as an investment to some of the operational managers at PG&E. In any event I'm wondering whether you might have a small window of time to catch up on the electricity issues of the day. I might ask to bring John Kohli who manages the Franklin utility fund with me if you were amenable to that idea. I'm also trying to get an audience with your new colleague Commissioner Peterman so as to establish a dialog before bringing an investor group in next time. Regards, Jonathan Arnold.

Hi Carol and Nuria,

I'm hoping you both still work with President Peevey and might be able to help me! I've spoken to you both a number of times setting up meetings when Jonathan Arnold and I travel to San Francisco for visits with the Commission. I was wondering if President Peevey would be willing to do a conference call with Jonathan (Deutsche Bank's Senior Utilities and Power Research Analyst) and me on California regulatory issues that would be relevant to electric utility investors. It would just be the two of us – no investors – and we would of course be mindful of the ex parte rules and regulations and would not expect our discussion to meet that standard. Would this be something President Peevey would be willing to do? Thank you in advance!

I'm hoping you both still work with President Peevey and might be able to help me! I've spoken to you both a number of times setting up meetings when Jonathan Arnold and I travel to San Francisco for visits with the Commission. I was wondering if President Peevey would be willing to do a conference call with Jonathan (Deutsche Bank's Senior Utilities and Power Research Analyst) and me on California regulatory issues that would be relevant to electric utility investors. It would just be the two of us – no investors – and we would of course be mindful of the ex parte rules and regulations and would not expect our discussion to meet that standard. Would this be something President Peevey would be willing to do? Thank you in advance!

Good afternoon Juliane. Attached is a meeting request form for March 3. I realize this is short notice, but it so happens that I have to be in San Francisco and I thought I would see if Commissioner Picker would be willing to meet with me – primarily purpose would be to get acquainted and exchange some high level views on regulatory perspectives and emerging issues in the electric utility arena. You may recall that I did something similar with Commissioner Ferron shortly after his arrival. Copying Charlotte here too who attended at least one of those meetings. Best regards, Jonathan Arnold.

Paul,

My name is Scott Senchak and I recently met with you a couple months ago with an investor group. I'm trying to figure out how much of your $2.25b penalty recommendation was already disallowed in the PSEP orders. I noticed that there was an amendment order on 5/2/13 that added some requirements to the PSEP for PG&E. Do you envision those new requirements to be a part of the $2.25b penalty?

Additionally, if you can answer this question... how much of the $2.25b penalty was already disallowed or spent by the PSEP?

Thanks,
Scott

Audrey,

My name is James Heckler and I had the opportunity to meet you in San Francisco earlier this year as part of a group of investors who were meeting with several members of the CPUC. I focus on investing in utility companies and, among others, I cover the utilities in California as well as regulatory developments in the state. I was wondering if you might have 15-20 minutes to chat with me regarding the SONGs situation?

I was hoping to discuss: a) the current thinking regarding its future viability, b) plans for alternative power sources, and how the plant will be treated while a final disposition is determined, c) the mechanics of California Public Utilities Code Section 455.5 if employed, to remove the unit(s) from rate base if this occurred, d) precedents on the use of Section 455.5 in the past (I think there was an instance when some portion of Palo Verde was removed from rate base temporarily), and d) when actions to remove the unit(s) from rate base can reasonably occur.

I am generally available at most times throughout the remainder of the week except between 12:00-2:00 PM ET on Thursday, August 16th.

Many thanks for your time and I look forward to speaking with you.

Kind regards,
James Heckler

Mr. Como,

My name is James Heckler and I work for a small New York based investment manager. Our team focuses on utility investments and we have been following California utility-related regulatory issues closely. We were wondering if you might have 10-15 minutes to speak with us regarding the 10/23/12 letter to Senator Mitchell requesting he decline the offer to mediate negotiations regarding fines for the tragic explosion that occurred in San Bruno in 2010. We would simply like to better understand the DRA's view regarding other potentially qualified mediators and what the CPUC could have done better in this process.

We are generally available today except between 11:00 AM 12:00 PM PT.

We look forward to speaking with you.

Hey Stephen,

How are you doing? How's life at CPUC?

Saw that there's a big conference in Denver called WCPSC on June 12-15.

Was wondering if you planned on heading out there, and/or if CPUC commissioners were planning to make the trip.

Was considering going out there as well, but not sure at this time.

Please let me know.

Hi, Michael,
I was out of the office today, so I was unable to read or respond to your e-mail until now.
The Western Conference of Public Service Commissioners is one of my favorite meetings. Last year is was at Ojai, California. This year in Denver. It is sort of a more intimate NARUC meeting, focused more on the West and less on National issues.
I do not know if I will attend -- two reasons: First, I have not yet been picked up by any of the commissioners. I did have an interview this week, so it is possible that within a few days I will be "back in the saddle," so to speak. But who knows. Second, we are under very tight travel restrictions at the CPUC, and in California government in general. It is worst for out-of-state travel. So it may be that only Commissioners will attend.
I will let you know.

Carol,

Thanks for taking the time to chat with me on the phone today.

To summarize, my name is Michael Goldenberg. I work at Luminus Management, a utility-focused investment firm.

We have invested in California Utilities for about a decade. We currently have well over $150 million invested in California Utilities. President Peevey and I have met on numerous occasions.

Carol, you may remember - I was with a group of investors from Macquarie visiting your offices several months ago.

I heard President Peevey is planning to attend WSPSC in Denver, CO on June 12-15.

I was wondering if you President Peevey would have a window of 20-30 minutes, so we could meet and discuss issues facing CPUC today.

I am very flexible, schedule-wise. So, almost any time window, in any location at or near hotel, would work for me.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you very much.

Subject: Meeting at WSPSC

Carol,

Thanks for taking the time to chat with me on the phone today.

To summarize, my name is Michael Goldenberg. I work at Luminus Management, a utility-focused investment firm.

We have invested in California Utilities for about a decade. We currently have well over $150 million invested in California Utilities. President Peevey and I have met on numerous occasions.

Carol, you may remember - I was with a group of investors from Macquarie visiting your offices several months ago.

I heard President Peevey is planning to attend WSPSC in Denver, CO on June 12-15.

I was wondering if you President Peevey would have a window of 20-30 minutes, so we could meet and discuss issues facing CPUC today.

I am very flexible, schedule-wise. So, almost any time window, in any location at or near hotel, would work for me.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you very much.

Michael,

I'm sorry you have been wasting your time. Ken Koss, Commissioner Simon's Chief of Staff has returned to retirement, so he will not be returning your messages. I am surprised he did not leave a forwarding e-mail address. Here is the new situation:

The new Interim Chief for Commissioner Simon is Cristhian Escobar.

Full Name: Escobar, Cristhian
Job Title: Interim Chief to Commissioner Simon
Business Address: 505 Van Ness Ave, San Francisco, California 94102
Business: (415) 355-5490

Second, you should also have info on the support staff, for they don't turn over as often as the professional staff. So you can also call Ann-Christina Rothchild (acr@cpuc.ca.gov) at 415-703-3712.

Sorry, this is a crazy place, and people are moving around!

Carol,

Thanks for taking the time to chat with me on the phone today.

To summarize, my name is Michael Goldenberg. I work at Luminus Management, a utility-focused investment firm.

We have invested in California Utilities for about a decade. We currently have well over $150 million invested in California Utilities. President Peevey and I have met on numerous occasions.

Carol, you may remember - I was with a group of investors from Macquarie visiting your offices several months ago.

I heard President Peevey is planning to attend WSPSC in Denver, CO on June 12-15.

I was wondering if you President Peevey would have a window of 20-30 minutes, so we could meet and discuss issues facing CPUC today.

I am very flexible, schedule-wise. So, almost any time window, in any location at or near hotel, would work for me.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you very much.

Juliane,

My name is Michael Goldenberg. I work at Luminus Management, a utility-focused investment firm.

We have invested in California Utilities for about a decade. We currently have well over $150 million invested in California Utilities.

I have met with Commissioners at your CPUC offices on a number of occasions. I quickly met Commissioner Ferron at your offices as well, during one meeting prior to his official appointment.

I heard Commissioner Ferron is planning to attend Western Power Trading Forum at The Villagio Inn & Spa in Yountville (Napa Valley), CA on Friday, June 24.

I was wondering if you Commissioner Ferron would have a window of 20-30 minutes, so we could meet and discuss issues facing CPUC today.

I am very flexible, schedule-wise. So, almost any time window, in any location at or near hotel, would work for me.

I've attached the official meeting request form.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you very much.

Hi Michael,

No worries, I understand you are eager to finalize your plans.

Comr. Ferron's prefers to not have a lunch meeting and would like to meet with you sometime after his speech.

The best way to reach him on Friday should you need assistance would be through me. I have copied my information below.

Subject:	New PG&E Investigation -- per your call

Michael,

Sorry this slipped my mind during our telephone conversation. I believe this has hit the news already. It is not directly related to the San Bruno investigation. What has been discovered (by PG&E itself as well as by the CPUC) is that in some cases, PG&E has not followed CPUC rules regarding appropriate gas-pressure rules that are set for different levels of development, such as "high consequence areas." So, this is an investigation to follow up. Attached.

Here's the Dow Jones take:

Dow Jones Newswires - California Regulators Consider New Penalties For PG&E Over Pipelines
By Cassandra Sweet, Nov. 10

California regulators launched a new case against PG&E Corp. (PCG) Thursday to determine whether to impose penalties on the utility for allegedly violating safety rules in its operation of natural gas pipelines, following a fatal explosion last year.

The California Public Utilities Commission said it plans to determine whether PG&E failed to classify its pipelines correctly and whether the utility failed to comply with federal standards requiring that it regularly study, patrol, and survey pipelines that run through densely populated areas.

On Sept. 9, 2010, PG&E's gas pipeline in San Bruno, Calif., exploded, igniting a fireball that killed eight people, injured 58, destroyed 38 homes and damaged 70 others.

After a yearlong investigation, the National Transportation Safety Board concluded in August that welding defects, which weakened the pipeline over time, caused it to rupture. The board also blamed widespread flaws in PG&E's pipeline operations and poor government oversight.

A study commissioned by the CPUC showed that PG&E had misclassified some pipelines that traverse populated areas and that the company had likely been operating those sections of pipe at higher pressures than allowed, the CPUC said.

The probe could result in penalties levied against PG&E of up to $20,000 for each day the utility violated the law, the agency said.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Order Instituting Investigation on the Commission's Own Motion into the Operations and Practices of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Natural Gas Transmission Pipeline System in Locations with Higher Population Density.	FILED PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION NOVEMBER 10, 2011 SAN FRANCISCO I.11-11-009

ORDER INSTITUTING INVESTIGATION

I. INTRODUCTION AND STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

The Commission institutes this formal investigation to determine whether the named Respondent, Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E"), violated any provisions of the California Public Utilities Code, Commission rules, general orders, or decisions, federal regulations, or other applicable rules or requirements pertaining to the operation of its natural gas transmission pipeline system in or near locations of higher population density. This Order Instituting Investigation ("OII") will determine whether PG&E's natural gas transmission pipeline system was safely operated in areas of greater population density or other areas identified as High Consequence Areas ("HCAs") pursuant to 49 Code of Federal Regulations ("C.F.R."), §§ 192.5 et seq.

This investigation will also review and determine whether PG&E properly and safely reviewed, on a regular basis, its natural gas transmission pipelines to identify areas of increased population density so as to modify its maximum allowable operating pressures (taking pressure gradient into account) commensurate with the actual class location, to replace pipeline segments with stronger pipe commensurate with the actual class location, to review and study changes in population density affecting pipeline design, construction, and testing procedures, and to review the physical condition of pipeline segments including the operation and maintenance history of pipeline segments.

The Commission enforces a variety of federal and state laws that impose safety requirements pertaining to the design, construction, inspection, testing, operation, and maintenance of the intrastate natural gas transmission pipeline systems of California utilities. The purpose of the federal Pipeline Safety Act is "to provide adequate protection against risks to life and property posed by pipeline transportation and pipeline facilities." (49 U.S.C. § 60102(a)(1).) "To accomplish this purpose, the federal Pipeline Safety Act establishes minimum safety standards." (Northwest Gas Ass'n v. Washington Utilities & Transportation Commission (2007) 141 Wn.App. 98, 103, 168 P.3d 443 review denied, Northwest Gas Ass'n v. Washington Utilities & Transportation Commission (2008) 163 Wn.2d 1049; see also 49 C.F.R. § 192.1.) The Commission is free to adopt more strenuous safety standards.

The Respondent in this proceeding is PG&E, a privately owned public utility subject to the safety and rate jurisdiction and regulation of this Commission, California law, and the Commission's general orders, rules, and decisions, and the minimum federal standards for the transportation of natural gas by pipeline previously mentioned. (See 49 C.F.R. §§ 192.5 et seq.) PG&E operates approximately 6,438 miles of natural gas transmission pipeline which includes 1,059 miles of HCAs[1]—50 miles in class 1 locations,[2] 29 miles in class 2 locations,[3] 945 miles in class 3 locations,[4] and

[2] A Class 1 location generally is any class location unit with 10 or fewer buildings intended for human occupancy. A unit is defined as a location extending 220 yards on either side of the centerline of any continuous 1-mile length of pipeline. (49 C.F.R. § 192.5(b)(1).)

[3] A Class 2 location generally is any class location unit having more than 10 but fewer than 46 buildings intended for human occupancy. (49 C.F.R. § 192.5(b)(2).)

4 miles in class 4 locations.[5] Class location designations and their definitions are discussed infra. Federal minimum standards for natural gas transmission pipelines at 49 C.F.R. §§192.5 et seq., apply to these locations on PG&E's gas transmission pipeline system. Federal transmission pipeline safety standards were first adopted by the United States Department of Transportation ("U.S.D.O.T.") in 1970.

The Commission's General Order ("G.O.") 112 "Governing the Design, Construction, Testing, Operation, and Maintenance of Gas Gathering, Transmission, and Distribution Piping Systems" was adopted in 1960. Following the passage of federal pipeline safety regulations in 1970, G.O. 112 was modified to "automatically incorporate all revisions to the Federal Pipeline Safety Regulations, 49 C.F.R. Parts 190, 191, 192, 193, and 199 with the effective date being the date of the final order as published in the Federal Register." (G.O. 112-E § 104.)

However, even before the Commission issued the original version of G.O.112 and the U.S.D.O.T. adopted minimum safety standards, pipeline operators relied on consensus standards from industry organizations such as the American Standards Association and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers ("ASME"), particularly ASME standard B31.1.8, Standard Code for Gas Transmission and Distribution Piping Systems. This ASME standard B31.1.8 would have applied to PG&E's pipeline system before government regulations were adopted. It was modified in 1955 to include the four-tier population density-based class location system set forth in 49 C.F.R. §§ 192.5 et seq., described above. (See the NTSB's San Bruno Accident Report at p. 47.)

II. SUMMARY OF PRELIMINARY FINDINGS

Following the September 9, 2010 fire and explosion resulting from the rupture of PG&E's pipeline L-132 at San Bruno, California, the Commission ordered

[5] A Class 4 location is any class location unit where buildings with four or more stories above ground are prevalent. (49 C.F.R. § 192.5(b)(4).) CPUC05520

PG&E to "review the classification of its natural gas transmission pipelines and determine if those classifications have changed since the initial designation." (Resolution L-403, adopted September 23, 2010, Ordering Paragraph 18 (Attachment 1).) Further, the Commission ordered PG&E to "report the results of its review of the classification of its natural gas transmission lines and any subsequent changes to those classifications since PG&E's initial designation to the Executive Director within ten (10) days of the date of this Resolution." (Resolution L-403, Ordering Paragraph 19.) On October 4, 2010, PG&E responded to Resolution L-403 stating that it had "completed the review of its gas transmission pipelines operating at pressures greater than 60 pounds per square inch (PSIG) totaling approximately 6,700 miles of pipeline as directed. PG&E's review utilized its gas transmission pipeline database to compare the classification recorded at initial installation to the current classification…[and] identified 1,057 miles of pipeline where the current classification is different from the initial classification." (PG&E's Oct. 4, 2010 Letter to the Commission's Executive Director (Attachment 2).)

On January 3, 2011, the NTSB issued urgent recommendations to PG&E to determine "the valid maximum allowable operating pressure" for its natural gas transmission lines "in class 3 and class 4 locations that have not had a maximum allowable operating pressure established through prior hydrostatic testing" through a "traceable, verifiable, and complete" search of its "as-built drawings, alignment sheets, and specifications, and all design, construction, inspection, testing, maintenance, and other related records." ((P-10-2) (Urgent) and (P-10-3) (Urgent))[6] The search required, among other things, that PG&E have in its possession, and readily available, complete and up-to-date records of the class designations of all segments of its transmission pipeline system.

[6] See the NTSB's five page Safety Recommendation P-10-2 and -3 (Urgent) and P-10-4) to Mr. Christopher Johns, President, PG&E, dated January 3, 2011, signed by Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman, NTSB, (Attachment 3) and the Commission's Executive Director's Letter to PG&E's President, Christopher Johns, dated January 3, 2011, directing PG&E to comply with all of the NTSB's Safety Recommendations (Attachment 4).

CPUC05521

A more thorough search was conducted by PG&E which resulted in the "CPUC Class Location Study" ("Class Location Study") dated June 30, 2011 (Attachment 5). However, PG&E informed the Commission in that Study that PG&E was continuing to review its records to confirm "the appropriate MAOP[7] for approximately 100 miles (less than 2%) of the transmission system that, according to information in PG&E's GIS database, may be operating at a higher pressure than appropriate for their current class designation." (Class Location Study at p. 7.) Attachment A to PG&E's Class Location Study provided 54 segments requiring pressure reductions that had no immediate customer impact and Attachment B which contained a list of 13 segments requiring pressure reductions that might impact customers.

Because PG&E has admitted that its class designations are in error for at least some of its transmission pipeline segments, PG&E appears to have failed to comply with federal regulations concerning the protection of persons and property in areas with higher concentrations of human occupancy and activity. Prior to the June 30, 2011 Class Location Study, PG&E does not appear to have reduced the pressure in existing pipeline segments in class 3 and 4 locations as required by 49 C.F.R. § 192.611 or, in the alternative, to replace existing pipeline segments with stronger pipe in these locations as required by that federal regulation.

The Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Administration ("PHMSA") of the U.S.D.O.T. has safety jurisdiction over natural gas transmission pipelines in the United States. (49 U.S.C. § 60101(a)(6)(B).) PHMSA's safety regulations specify minimum safety standards which the states must meet or exceed.[8] (See Northwest Gas Ass'n v. Washington Utilities & Transportation Commission, supra.) Among other things PHMSA's pipeline design standards require consideration of the pipeline's proximity to

[7] Maximum Allowable Operating Pressure ("MAOP").

[8] 49 U.S.C. § 60105(b)(2) provides that a State may be granted safety jurisdiction over its natural gas transmission pipelines so long as the State adopts each safety standard prescribed by the federal government under 49 U.S.C. § 60101 et seq.

population density. Class location designations are reflective of population density in the immediate vicinity of the pipeline. For example, a class 1 location, defined supra, is the least densely populated location adjacent to the pipeline while a class 4 location is the most densely populated location adjacent to the pipeline segment. Pipeline segments near the more densely populated areas require stronger pipe or reduced gas pressure to mitigate the potential dangers to those populated areas.

Class Location	Minimum Yield Strength[2] For Pipeline Segments at MAOP
1	MAOP shall not exceed 72% of yield strength
2	MAOP shall not exceed 60% of yield strength
3	MAOP shall not exceed 50% of yield strength
4	MAOP shall not exceed 40% of yield strength

PG&E's potential failure to provide adequate safety and protection in violation of the federal minimum standards include the following.

[2] Pressure is derived from the design formula for steel pipe in 49 C.F.R. §192.105. [$P = (2St/D) \times F \times E \times T$.] Using the outside pipe diameter, wall thickness of the pipe in inches, the design factor set forth in 49 C.F.R. § 192.111, the longitudinal joint factor set forth in 49 C.F.R. § 192.113, and a temperature factor set forth in 49 C.F.R. § 192.115, and steel properties in accordance with 49 C.F.R. § 192.107. For example, generally the Maximum Allowable Operating Pressure (MAOP) in a pipeline segment in a class 1 location, with all de-rating factors considered, can produce a hoop stress not exceeding 72% of the pipe Specified Minimum Yield Strength (SMYS). The MAOP for a pipeline segment may not exceed this percentage of minimum yield strength for each of the four class locations. The fact that a segment is one class out-of-class may not result in the segment exceeding the maximum percentage of SMYS. To meet class change conditions, a system operator may either replace the existing pipe with stronger pipe or reduce the pressure in the pipe thereby reducing the stress on the pipe to a level which meets 49 C.F.R. § 192.611.

A. PG&E Has Conceded that it Misidentified the Class Locations of 172.1 Miles of Its Natural Gas Transmission Pipelines

PG&E indicated in its June 30, 2011 Class Location Study that 172.1 miles of its natural gas transmission lines were identified as being located in areas of lower population density than was actually the case. The Class Location Study also identified 54.2 miles of natural gas transmission pipeline that were erroneously classified as class 1 when they were actually class 2 locations. (Class Location Study at p. 4.) The Class Location Study identified 52.1 miles of pipeline that were erroneously classified as class 1 when they were actually class 3 locations. The Class Location Study identified 0.4 miles of pipeline segments that were erroneously classified as class 1 when they were actually class 4 locations. (Ibid.) The Class Location Study also identified 64.4 miles of pipeline that were erroneously classified as class 2 when they were actually class 3 locations. (Ibid.) Lastly, the Class Location Study identified 1.0 miles of pipeline segments that were erroneously classified as class 3 when they were actually class 4 locations. (Ibid.)

B. PG&E's Class Location Study Indicates that PG&E May Have Failed to Have Replaced Pipeline Segments with Stronger Pipe Material, or Reduced the Segment's Maximum Allowable Operating Pressure, When a Segment Designation Changed—Which Would Be a Violation of 49 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 192.611

As mentioned above, federal safety regulations protecting persons and property in areas near natural gas transmission pipelines demand increasing levels of pipeline strength or reduced operating pressures as the human habitation or occupation[10] in those areas increases. PG&E identified 172.1 miles of natural gas transmission

[10] Human habitation and/or occupancy include more than just residential, commercial, or industrial development. Under 49 C.F.R. § 192.903, the concept of population density incorporates other kinds of human development such as public assembly areas at beaches, playgrounds, recreational facilities, camping grounds, outdoor theaters, stadiums, recreational areas near a body of water. It includes areas outside a rural building such as a religious facility, community centers, general stores, 4-H facilities, or pipeline segments in the Class Location Study that were erroneously classified under 49 C.F.R. §192.5. These locations indicated population densities that were lower than actual population densities. Further, PG&E neither increased the strength of its pipeline segments nor reduced the MAOP for portions of the 52.5 miles of pipeline segments it had misclassified as class 1 when the actual class location designation was class 3 or class 4. Wherever the misclassified pipeline segment required a reduction in MAOP gas pressure, or a replacement with higher strength pipe, the segment may have been operating above federally-mandated maximum levels. Under those circumstances, PG&E would have violated 49 C.F.R. § 192.611.

For instance, where PG&E operated its pipeline system segments at certain class designations lower than the actual existing class designations under 49 C.F.R. §192.5 (e.g., segments operated by PG&E as a class 1 location when, in fact, it was actually a class 3 or class 4 location as identified in PG&E's Class Location Study), the MAOP of those segments' may have exceeded the maximum MAOP permitted under 49 C.F.R. § 192.611—a serious violation. As an example, SMYS for the class 1 locations which may have been limited to 72% would be reduced to a value no higher than 60% of SMYS for a location which became class 3, and no higher than 50% of SMYS for one that became a class4. If PG&E operated a pipeline segment at a class 3 location at an MAOP permitted for a class 1 location), PG&E's MAOP for that particular segment may have significantly exceeded that permitted by 49 C.F.R. § 192.611. Attachments A and B to PG&E's Class Location Study indicated that as of June 30, 2011, PG&E needed to reduce maximum allowable gas pressure for 67 natural gas transmission pipeline segments in order to comply with 49 C.F.R. § 192.611. If PG&E exceeded the maximum allowable operating pressure at these locations for any roller skating rinks, and includes hospitals, prisons, schools, day-care facilities, retirement facilities or assisted-living facilities.

period of time, PG&E would have exposed nearby populations to an increased risk of pipeline failure in violation of federal and state safety regulations.

C. A Failure by PG&E to Conduct Class Location Studies Whenever an Increase in Population Density Indicated a Change in Class Location for a Segment of Pipeline Operating at More Than 40 Percent of SMYS Is a Potential Violation of 49 Code of Federal Regulations, Part 192.609

Title 49 C.F.R. § 192.609 requires that PG&E make a study to determine the actual class location of the pipeline segment "whenever" there is a change in population density. The study must compare the design, construction, and testing procedures used in the original construction to the requirements for the new increased class location level. PG&E is required to consider the physical condition of the segment to the extent ascertainable from available records, the operating and maintenance history of the segment, the maximum actual operating pressure and the corresponding hoop stress, taking pressure gradient into account, for the pipeline segment, and the actual area affected by the population density increase including physical barriers or other factors which may limit further expansion of the more densely populated area. (See 49 C.F.R. § 192.609.)

PG&E appears to have failed to conduct these class location studies whenever the class location, previously identified by PG&E for the segment, changed, i.e., a change in class location due to an increase in population density. PG&E's admission in its Class Location Study of June 30, 2011, that 172.1 miles of its transmission pipeline segments were misclassified at too low a class designation, may evidence a failure to comply with the class study requirement under 49 C.F.R. §192.609 at the time population density actually changed. To date, PG&E has not provided evidence that studies were conducted whenever a change in class location occurred. To the contrary, the Class Location Study seems to indicate that a change in class in some class 3 and class 4 locations went undetected by PG&E until June 30, 2011, when the Class Location Study was performed at the direction of the Commission in Resolution L-403, Ordering Paragraphs 18 and 19 (Sept. 23, 2010).

D. PG&E's Admission that Some Class 3 and Class 4 Locations and Class 1 and Class 2 Locations Were Not Properly Designated Evidences a Potential Failure by PG&E to Adequately Patrol its Natural Gas Transmission System under 49 Code of Federal Regulations Part 192.705.

In order to operate natural gas transmission pipelines commensurate with the strength of the pipe based on the requirements of 49 C.F.R. § 192.611, federal regulations require that pipeline system operators have a patrol program to observe surface conditions on and adjacent to the transmission line right-of-way for indications of leaks, construction activity, and other factors affecting safety and operation. The frequency of patrols is determined by the size of the line, the operating pressures, the class location, terrain, weather, and other relevant factors, but intervals between patrols may not be longer than 15 months (but at least once each calendar year) for Class 1 and 2 up to 4 times each calendar year at intervals not exceeding 4.5 month, in Class 4 locations. (See 49 C.F.R. § 192.705.) The patrolling methods can include walking, driving, flying or other appropriate means of traversing the right-of-way.

PG&E's Class Location Study identifyimg 172.1 miles of pipeline which were misclassified, sometimes two or more classes or levels out-of-class, demonstrates a possible lack of regular and/or adequate patrolling required under 49 C.F.R. § 192.705 to adequately identify changes in class locations on its general system of natural gas pipelines.

E. PG&E's Admission that Some Class 2, Class 3, and Class 4 Locations Were Not Properly Designated Evidences a Potential Failure to Provide Continuing Surveillance of its Pipeline System under 49 Code of Federal Regulations Part 192.613.

Federal regulations require a natural gas transmission pipeline operator to have a procedure for continuing surveillance of its facilities to determine and take appropriate action related to changes in class location, failures, leakage history, corrosion, substantial changes in cathodic protection requirements, and other unusual operating and maintenance conditions. (See 49 C.F.R. § 192.613.) PG&E's misidentification of 172.1 miles of pipeline segments evidences a possible failure to adequately surveil its transmission pipeline system for the above-mentioned issues, particularly changes in class location designation.

F. Any Failure by PG&E to Furnish and Maintain Such Adequate, Efficient, Just, and Reasonable Service, Instrumentalities, Equipment, and Facilities, Including Such Service, Instrumentalities, Equipment, and Facilities to Individuals with Disabilities, as Are Necessary to Promote the Safety, Health, Comfort, and Convenience of its Patrons, Employees, and the Public Is A Potential Violation of California Public Utilities Code Section 451.

A failure by PG&E to comply with any of the above-mentioned federal safety regulations for the operation of its natural gas transmission pipeline system may establish a failure on its part to provide Californians in PG&E's service territory with safe, healthful, comfortable, and convenient natural gas transmission service, instrumentalities, equipment, and facilities and, therefore, may constitute a violation of California Public Utilities ("Cal. Pub. Util.") Code § 451.

For instance, a failure to replace pipeline segments with higher-strength pipe or reduce the MAOP on segments in areas of higher population density pursuant to 49 C.F.R. § 192.611, could place persons working or living nearby at serious risk. Allowing pipeline segments to operate at pressures above the federally mandated safety levels under 49 C.F.R. §192.611, would constitute a serious violation of Cal. Pub. Util. Code § 451.

Likewise, a failure by PG&E to commence class location studies under 49 C.F.R. § 192.609 "whenever" the segment's population density increased by another factor, e.g., an increase from class 1 to class 2, or class 1 to class 3, would violate minimum federal safety standards, place nearby workers and occupants at risk, and could be a serious violation of Cal. Pub. Util. Code § 451.

III. PRELIMINARY SCOPING MEMO

Within 30 days of the mailing date of this order, PG&E shall file and serve a response to this OII. If additional time is needed by PG&E, PG&E shall meet and confer with Staff prior to requesting an extension from the Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ").

The assigned ALJ will set a schedule for the Prehearing Conference ("PHC"). The PHC will address scoping and scheduling issues. Shortly thereafter, the Assigned Commissioner will issue a scoping memo setting forth the scope of the proceeding, establishing a procedural schedule and determining the category of this proceeding.

IV. PROCEEDING CATEGORY AND NEED FOR HEARING

Rule 7.1(c) of the Commission's Rules specifies that an Order Instituting Investigation will preliminarily determine the category of the proceeding and the need for hearing. We determine that this proceeding is adjudicatory as defined in Rule 1.3(a), and evidentiary hearings may be necessary. The categorization is appealable under Rule 7.6 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

V. EX PARTE COMMUNICATIONS PROHIBITED

Article 8 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure applies to all communications with decision makers and advisors regarding the issues in this proceeding. This proceeding is categorized as adjudicatory and Rule 8.3(b) prohibits ex parte communications.

VI. PG&E SHALL COMPLETE ITS RESPONSES TO STAFF'S INQUIRIES INTO THE POTENTIAL VIOLATIONS IN THIS PROCEEDING BEFORE COMMENCEMENT OF ITS OWN DISCOVERY INTO STAFF'S INVESTIGATION

In Resolution L-403 the Commission explicitly noted that "public utilities in California are statutorily required to report any facts or expert opinions as to the cause of accidents to the Commission under the Public Utilities Code section 315." ((Resolution L-403 (Sept. 23, 2010) at p. 7).) Further, the Commission provided that

CPUC05529

PG&E "shall provide full cooperation to Commission staff and the Panel during the investigation into the cause of the San Bruno explosion and the safety of PG&E's gas transmission pipelines in general." (Id. at p. 5.) "Even without the compulsion of a subpoena, the Commission hereby confirms that under Public Utilities Code §§ 313, 314, 314.5, 315, 581, 582, 584, 701, 702, 771, 1794, and 1795, the Commission staff may obtain information from utilities and is already deemed to have the general investigatory authority of the Commission." (Id. at p. 6.)

The Commission also noted that it "expect[ed] that PG&E will not withhold facts or expert opinions under the guise of attorney-client privilege or the work product doctrine." (Id. at p. 7.) The Commission stated in Resolution L-403 that PG&E was:

> on notice that it must promptly make available its employees and independent contractors for interviews requested by federal investigators (e.g., the National Transportation Safety Board ("NTSB")) and state investigators (e.g., Commission staff or the Panel), including examinations under oath pursuant to Public Utilities Code section 314.

(Ibid.)

Consequently, the staff's investigation in this proceeding must be completed before PG&E commences its own inquiries into the results and analysis of staff's report and/or allegations to this Commission. PG&E will be accorded all of the traditional judicial safeguards in the adjudicative hearings in this proceeding that will follow the completion of staff's investigation.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED that:

1. An investigation on the Commission's own motion is hereby instituted to determine whether the Pacific Gas and Electric Company ("PG&E") violated any provision or provisions of the California Public Utilities Code, Commission rules, general orders, or decisions, federal regulations, or other applicable rules or requirements pertaining to the operation of its natural gas transmission pipeline system in class 2 locations, class 3 locations, class 4 locations, or near High Consequence Areas ("HCAs").

2. PG&E is named as the Respondent in this investigation.

3. Staff's investigation in this proceeding shall be completed before PG&E commences its discovery into the results and analysis of staff's investigation.

4. Respondent PG&E is directed to show at hearings why the Commission should not find it in violation of provisions of the Public Utilities Code (Pub. Util. Code), Commission rules, general orders, decisions, federal regulations, or other applicable rules or regulations, and why the Commission should not impose penalties. If any violation by PG&E is found, PG&E is directed to show why penalties and/or any other form of remedial relief should not be applied.

5. PG&E is hereby given notice that fines may be imposed in this matter pursuant to Public Utilities Code §§ 2107 and 2108.

6. Pursuant to Rule 7.1(c) of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, this proceeding is categorized as adjudicatory, deemed to require evidentiary hearings. Ex parte communications are prohibited. The determination as to the category is appealable under Rule 7.6 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

7. A prehearing conference shall be convened before an Administrative Law Judge ("ALJ") for the purpose of establishing a schedule in this matter, including the dates, time, and location of an evidentiary hearing, and for good cause shown the ALJ and/or Assigned Commissioner may extend the report deadlines specified herein, for any particular responses required.

8. The Executive Director shall cause a copy of this Order to be served electronically and by certified mail on the Respondent, PG&E, at:

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION SECTION

Operator: Good afternoon. My name is Gabrielle, and I will be your conference operator today. At this time, I would like to welcome everyone to the Edison International Second Quarter 2012 Financial Teleconference. All lines have been placed on mute to prevent background noise. After the speakers' remarks, there will be a question-and-answer session. [Operator Instructions] Today's call is being recorded. If you have any objections you may disconnect at this time.

And I would know like to turn the call over to Mr. Scott Cunningham, Vice President of Investor Relations. Thank you, Mr. Cunningham, you may begin your conference.

Scott S. Cunningham
Vice President-Investor Relations

Thanks, Gabrielle, and good afternoon, everyone. Our principal speakers today will be Chairman and CEO, Ted Craver; and Chief Financial Officer, James Silacci. Also with us are other members of the management team.

The presentation that accompanies Jim's comments, the earnings press release and our 10-Q filings are available on our website at www.edisoninvestor.com. Tomorrow afternoon we will issue our regular quarterly business update presentation that will use these and other slides for our ongoing Investor discussions.

During this call we will make forward-looking statements about the financial outlook for Edison International and its subsidiaries and about other future events. Actual results could differ materially from current expectations. Important factors that could cause different results are set forth in our SEC filings. We encourage you to read these carefully.

The presentation includes certain outlook assumptions as well as reconciliation of non-GAAP measures to the nearest GAAP measure. When we get to Q&A, please limit yourself to one question and one follow-up. If you have further questions, please return to the queue.

With that, I will turn the call over to Ted Craver.

Theodore F. Craver

Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer

Thank you, Scott, and good afternoon, everyone. Today Edison International reported second quarter GAAP earnings of $0.23 per share and core earnings of $0.32 per share. As expected, this was below last year's $0.54 per share in GAAP earnings and $0.56 per share in core earnings. Second quarter results reflect unrecovered costs at Southern California Edison due to the delayed General Rate Case decision. In addition, we have continued inspection and repair costs related to the outage at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station. SCE will look to recover these costs in the future. We also saw additional losses at EMG this quarter, primarily reflecting low power prices. This further underscores the need to restructure and stabilize our competitive generation business, as I will talk about in a few minutes.

There are several important developments at Southern California Edison this quarter. I will spend most of my time on the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station, or SONGS as we call it.

Both units at SONGS remain safely shut down for inspections, analysis and testing following the January 31 Unit 3 steam generator tube leak. SCE has retained several outside industry experts, consultants and steam generator manufacturers, and in addition to heavy -- Mitsubishi Heavy Industries which designed and manufactured our steam generators, to analyze the causes of the unique tube-to-tube wear and potential remedial actions.

On July 19, the NRC released its detailed findings from its augmented inspection team. It summarized its findings by saying that faulty computer modeling inadequately predicted conditions in the steam generators, and manufacturing issues contributed to excessive wear of the components. The report states that the excessive wear arose from tube-to-tube contact caused by vibration in the tubes in certain areas of the steam generators. The excessive vibration is due to a phenomenon called fluid elastic instability, which is discussed in detail in the report.

The NRC has identified a number of outstanding issues that it still is reviewing. To date the inspection and repair effort is focused on a substantial amount of technical analysis work and preventative plugging of tubes where appropriate, based on indications of prior or potential future wear, both in areas where there was tube-to-tube contact and tube-to-support contact. Each of the four steam generators has over 9,700 heat transfer tubes and is designed to include sufficient tubes to accommodate a need to remove some from service for a variety of reasons. And the tubes that SCE has preventively removed from service are all well within this margin.

SONGS will not be restarted until SCE determines that it is safe to do so, and when startup has been approved by the NRC pursuant to the terms of a Confirmatory Action Letter. Any remedial action that will permit restart of one or both of the units will need to ensure that the fluid elastic instability phenomenon does not reoccur. Because Unit 2 experienced considerably less tube-to-tube wear it could restart months in advance of Unit 3.

Any restart of Unit 2 would likely operate at reduced power levels and with mid-cycle scheduled outages to provide for additional inspection and testing to ensure safe operation. Inasmuch as Unit 3 had more tube-to-tube than Unit 2 it is not clear at this time whether Unit 3 will be able to restart without extensive additional repairs.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05537

SCE is also looking longer-term at what repairs, if any, could allow the steam generators to operate safely at full power as originally specified.

At this time SCE has not determined what those repairs might be or whether the generators will need to be replaced for the units to operate at full output.

In the interim SCE is reviewing its O&M and capital expenditures at SONGS with a view to reducing expenditures to mitigate the added cost pressures from both units being out of service. I would like to clear up some confusion that has arisen in the past regarding potential dates for submitting our response to the Confirmatory Action Letter.

We have never released a specific date for our submittal. Under the California Independent System Operator rules we are required to post an estimated restart date on their website whenever we have a generating unit down for an outage, but these are only rough estimates and not formal forecast timelines. We will not be forecasting specific timelines for a Confirmatory Action Letter submittal or potential startup dates. As we have said many times, there is no timeline for safety, and to forecast dates is inconsistent with prudent decision-making.

Turning to the regulatory review at the state level, there are several mechanisms in place for the California Public Utilities Commission to provide oversight and review the reasonableness of expenditures related to the outage. First, the steam generator project costs remain subject to a CPUC reasonableness review once SCE submits final cost for the project.

As of June 30, SCE has spent $593 million on the project compared to the inflation-adjusted authorized spend of $665 million for SCE's 78% ownership share. Second, power purchased to replace SONGS generation is recoverable through the ERRA balancing account, which is also subject to an annual reasonableness review. Third, the California Public Utilities code has rules governing outages. Once either of the units has been out of service for nine consecutive months, which would be November 2012 for Unit 3 and December 2012 for Unit 2, SCE is required to notify the CPUC.

Within 45 days the CPUC is required to initiate a review to determine whether to remove from customer rates all or part of the revenue requirement associated with what is out of service. Any rate adjustment is made after hearings conducted as part of future General Rate Cases.

In addition, CPUC's pending proposal to initiate an order instituting investigation regarding the impact of the extended outage is scheduled for consideration at their Thursday meeting. Jim will cover the financial impacts and recovery of costs incurred in his comments.

My remaining SCE comments will be brief. We still have no indication of the timeline for receiving a General Rate Case proposed decision, but are hopeful this could be concluded in the third quarter. We recognize the significant workload on the Commission and staff at this time, but remain hopeful that we can soon gain the clarity we need to run the utility efficiently.

Turning to Edison Mission Energy, we remain focused on developing clarity on the best approach for financially stabilizing EME. There has been continued progress this year across several self-help initiatives to improve liquidity and operating cash flow. One was to accelerate the closing of uneconomic plants and transferring Homer City to the owner-lessors. Another has been to reduce operating and overhead costs to the extent possible, including another workforce reduction to be completed by the end of 2012. A third is minimizing capital spending on environmental retrofits, while complying with all state and federal emissions laws. However, our greatest focus has been on the need to restructure the $3.7 billion of unsecured debt. This is because despite EME's efforts at managing liquidity our internal forecasts anticipate that EME's liquidity will rapidly decline in future quarters, and absent a restructuring of its obligations, EME will not have sufficient liquidity to repay the $500 million in unsecured debt due in June 2013.

For EME to be viable it must have a clear path to adequate liquidity, particularly over the near term when it will have the cash cost of retrofits and the tightest operating cash flows. A successful restructuring will require at least two things. First, it will require a reduction of debt sufficient to obtain credit metrics that will enable EME to access capital markets to refinance the remaining debt well in advance of future maturities, based on a reasonable set of assumptions.

Second, it will require conserving cash wherever possible, especially over the next couple of years during the retrofit period and the severe trough in capacity payments to provide a margin of safety in a continuing uncertain market. Given the fact that EME and Midwest Generation are intertwined, this may result in the need for revisions in Midwest Generation's Powerton and Joliet leveraged lease financing as well. EME and Edison International are engaging on a confidential basis with advisers representing certain of EME's unsecured bondholders to discuss EME's financial condition. Should we be unsuccessful in negotiating a debt restructuring adequate to stabilize EME as part of Edison International, and in accordance with the requirements I just outlined, then EME would need to be reorganized under new ownership.

Our objectives remain the same: Eliminate the overhang of uncertainty about EME; restore EME to a healthy financial condition that would position it for future success; and act with a purpose and a sense of urgency. While the exact path forward to success is not clear at this point, we are engaged with bondholders, and we plan on moving our discussions along as rapidly as we can.

Despite some of the challenges that I have touched on, when I step back the investment thesis in Edison International is very much intact. I'm optimistic that we can resolve some important issues this year. At SCE we continue to have a sustained need for capital investment and system reliability and meeting public policy mandates with the potential for sustained mid- to high-single-digit rate base growth.

Finally, as we move beyond SCE's 2012 capital spending peak and get the rate case and cost of capital decisions, we will seek to return our dividend in steps over the subsequent years to our target payout ratio range of 45% to 55% of SCE's earnings. The earnings power at SCE, along with getting clarity on EME, provide the key value drivers for Edison International shareholders.

I will now turn the call over to Jim Scilacci.

W. James Scilacci

Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

Thanks, Ted. Good afternoon, everyone. Please turn to page two, which summarizes the quarter's results that Ted just touched on. I will not duplicate Ted's comments, but will add one note that EIX parent company costs were unchanged quarter-over-quarter.

Page three highlights the key drivers of SCE's earnings. As in the first quarter, CPUC revenues were largely based on 2011 authorized revenues. As a result, higher costs are not currently being recovered, including higher depreciation and new debt and preferred stock costs. This impact totaled $0.09 per share. When SCE receives its final General Rate Case decision it will record the authorized revenues retroactively through January 1.

CPUC05539

During the second quarter inspection and repair costs related to the San Onofre outage reduced earnings by $0.05 per share. These costs were offset by timing differences and other cost savings, which amounted to $0.08 per share. As many of you are aware, on June 15 the CPUC set the schedule and the approach for the 2013 cost of capital proceeding for SCE and the other major California utilities.

The Commission has separated the case into two phases, the first addressing the allowed returns and capital structure, which will be decided in December, and a second phase to review the cost of capital trigger mechanism that has been in place since 2007. SCE did not propose any changes to the existing trigger mechanism, except to reset the starting point of the index to the period ending September 2012. We would expect the Moody's PAA Utility Bond Index to continue to be the appropriate index for SCE based on its current credit ratings.

Please turn to page four. I would like to pick up on Ted's discussion on SONGS with some more color on costs and our current investment. Year-to-date SCE's share of the pre-tax cost of SONGS-related inspection and repairs totaled $48 million. It was $20 million during Q1 and $28 million during Q2.

As a reminder, we continue to flow these costs through core earnings. You may recall that last quarter we estimated that SCE's share of the total incremental inspection and repair cost associated with returning both units to service was then projected to be in the range of $55 million to $65 million pre-tax. We now believe that SCE's share of incremental cost to commence startup of just Unit 2 at the reduced power levels that Ted outlined previously is expected to be approximately $25 million pre-tax. Of course, this estimate remains subject to NRC review and any new developments that result from further analysis and testing.

Based on additional knowledge gained regarding Unit 3 over the past three months, we have concluded it is premature to estimate the incremental repair costs associated with returning this unit to service. We are also evaluating the cost of returning both units to full capacity. The market cost for substitute energy and capacity, net of avoided nuclear fuel, for SONGS are being recorded in the fuel and purchased power balancing account, with no impact on earnings.

As of June 30 these costs, which are subject to CPUC reasonableness review, totaled $117 million. Because of the uncertainties associated with when and at what levels the units will or may return to service, total potential substitute power costs cannot be estimated at this time.

The slide on page four also summarizes key financial metrics related to SONGS. SCE requested annual revenue requirement of approximately $650 million in its 2012 General Rate Case to cover direct operation and maintenance costs, depreciation and return on its investment. SONGS' rate base at the end of the second quarter was $1.2 billion.

Please turn to page five. As Ted indicated, at this time our focus remains on the technical analysis to return the units to service safely, although we are assessing all available remedies for cost recovery.

The steam generators are warranted for an initial period of 20 years from acceptance. The manufacturer is contractually obligated to repair or replace defective items and to pay specified damages for certain repairs, with stated liability under the purchase agreement limited to $137 million. These limitations are subject to applicable exceptions. There may also be potential recoveries under insurance issued by Nuclear Electric Insurance Limited, known as NEIL. And we have placed NEIL on notice of potential claims, although insurance recoveries remain uncertain. I would like to come back to the rate case decision timing and the impacts on SCE's capital spending plan.

CPUC05540

Please turn to page six. SCE has not changed its capital spending forecast pending a final rate case decision. However, the GRC delay will likely change the three-year forecast of actual spending which, depending upon the final timing, could bring 2012 capital spending at or below the low end of the forecast range. Actual capital spending will likely catch up with CPUC authorized spending in the later years of the three-year rate case cycle. This timing mismatch will primarily affect distribution and generation CapEx.

Please turn to page seven which covers EMG's results. Keep in mind these results almost entirely reflect the activities of EME. We continue to wind down Edison's capital and its ongoing earnings are immaterial. As we told you last quarter, Homer City is reported in non-core earnings in both periods. Midwest Generation continues to face weak power markets and higher delivered coal costs, resulting in an $0.08 per share higher loss.

The EMMT's trading results were down $0.02 per share. The results also reflect a $0.02 per share decrease related to certain wind projects that are consolidated in EMG's results. This relates largely to the Capistrano Wind Partners transaction completed in February. While the transaction provided an important source of liquidity to EME it effectively lowered EME's ownership interest and therefore its share of earnings. Comparisons were also impacted by lower distributions from the DOAA project, which largely caused $0.03 per share reduction from the natural gas-fired fleet. EMG's EBITDA was $9 million in the quarter and $50 million year-to-date.

Our usual supplemental information on EMG's EBITDA, capital spending and operating hedge summaries, as well as year-to-date financial results, are included in the presentation appendix. Please turn to page 8 and we will review liquidity. As of June 30, EME and its subsidiaries had slightly over $1 billion of cash and short-term investments. Cash and cash equivalents, not subject to contractual dividend restrictions, were $879 million, which includes $177 million of Midwest Gen cash.

With a June 29 expiration of the Midwest Generation credit facility the contractual dividend restriction on movement of cash under this agreement is now eliminated. As a side note, EME's environmental retrofit plan is essentially unchanged from last quarter, although EME continues to look for opportunities to optimize spending while remaining in compliance with applicable state and federal rules.

EME's deferred tax asset remains an important source of future liquidity under an intercompany tax allocation agreement. This tax asset increased modestly to $961 million as of June 30 from $908 million in the first quarter. Future payments under the tax allocation agreement are only available to EME if it remains part of the consolidated Edison International tax filing entity, which requires EIX ownership of at least 80% of EME.

A final point on liquidity is that SCE and EIX replaced their credit facilities during the second quarter. More details are included in our disclosures.

Page nine is a summary of EME's financial status, which Ted has substantially addressed, and is included in EME and EIX disclosures.

Lastly, page 10 of the presentation highlights some of the key operating variables consistent with what we have introduced last quarter. As we have said previously, we will not provide earnings guidance until after we receive a final rate case decision.

With that, I would like to turn it over to the operator to begin the Q&A portion of the call.

QUESTION AND ANSWER SECTION

Operator: [Operator Instructions] And our first question does comes from Dan Eggers with Credit Suisse. Your line is now open.

Dan L. Eggers
Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC (Broker)

Q

Thank you. Good afternoon. Ted, I was wondering if you could just share a little more thought on the EME situation. Clearly, the case is being made for liquidity and survivability of the business, but how do you put this decision in context of you preserving equity value for shareholders demonstrate there is ongoing equity value, but just kind of going into your concern.

Theodore Craver

Yes, it's a great question. And I think at this point like most decisions of this sort it's going to be a matter of relative value. Generically there are going to be two choices, either EME will make sense as a continuing part of the EIX family. And I have tried to be clearer over the last few earnings calls about the markers that we have in mind that would really provide us and our equity investor's sufficient clarity around the viability of EME as part of EIX.

If we are unable to really gain that clarity or unable to really see a viable entity that ultimately can return to providing value to EIX, delivering on its underlying mission, then it really won't make sense to be part of Edison International and will need to be owned by others. So at this point it is too early to tell really what is the art of the possible. We are -- as I mentioned, we are beginning the process of engaging with bondholders to determine that. And if we get sufficient clarity, get sufficient certainty, and we can really see a path for EME to be a value-adding part of EIX then that is the way we will go; if not, then it is not going to be part of EIX.

Dan L. Eggers

Q

And I know your negotiations are starting now, but is there a timeline you guys have set as to how quickly you want to have this resolved or how long you think would take to get to clarity?

Theodore Craver

Yes, we chose the words carefully in my opening comments trying to indicate that the time is now. We need to engage. We need to get these conversations going. We are doing it with a sense of purpose and a sense of urgency, and we want to resolve this. The uncertainty I don't think is doing anybody any good. I don't think it is doing EIX equity holders any good. I don't think it is doing EME any good. We have got important operations. We have safety that we have to have in mind. All of these things I think really say we need to reach a conclusion here with dispatch.

Dan L. Eggers

Q

Okay, thank you.

A

You're welcome.

Operator: And our next question does come from Michael Lapides with Goldman Sachs. Your line is now open.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Q

A couple of questions, first on Mission. I know you've talked about not having liquidity to meet the $500 million maturity next year, but you have got some decent-sized bond payments coming towards the back-end of this year, I think, late in the fall. I am just curious, are those bond payments kind of the trigger date we should think about, meaning that you kind of want to make a decision before those payment dates show up, or is it something that could go into next year?

Theodore Craver

A

It is Ted. The short answer is yes. I think those interest payments are very important, and even waiting out until November when those interest payments are due is in my mind not moving with dispatch.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Q

Okay. And you have talked a number of times over the last 6 to 12 months about wanting EIX to have competitive generation, meaning, not wanting solely to be a regulated utility holding company. I am just curious, if it comes to that, and that merchant generation company is not Edison Mission, how would you get it off the ground? How would you get started?

Theodore Craver

Maybe I'll -- sorry, this is Ted again -- maybe I'll just reshape your words a little bit here. I think what we have stated in the past is we believe that it's important to have both a regulated and competitive business platform.

Competitive generation in my mind is a subset of a competitive business platform. So just one clarification on that point. I think in general we'd have to admit that things like the potential for distributed generation or more retail-related services or even other competitive business activities that would be outside of our regulated footprint at Southern California Edison, but those are more futuristic.

We think there is some important opportunities that we want to continue to track and continue to focus some attention on. But it would be better, I think, to make use of some existing skills and an existing platform than to create those from scratch -- from whole cloth. But that's probably an advantage on the margin, and I don't think it is one that really drives our thinking at this point.

Yeah.

Operator: And our next question comes from Jonathan Arnold with Deutsche Bank. Your line is now open.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

Hey. Good afternoon guys.

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

Hi, Jonathan.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

I had a quick question on -- for the 48 million that you incurred so far at SONGS. Can you give us an idea of how much of that was Unit 2 and how much was Unit 3 versus, I guess, the 25 million future spend that you have earmarked for getting Unit 2 back at reduced power?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

No, I don't have a breakdown here, and we haven't disclosed the breakout between the two separate units, Jonathan.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

Okay. Is there anything else you can do for us to, sort of, try and frame what the terminology -- I think you used extensive as the possible additional repair work that might be needed on Unit 3 could mean. Is this actually multiples of Unit 2 or just moderately more? Anything you can -- any additional framing you can put on that?

Theodore Craver

Jonathan, this is Ted. Just a quick part on that. I think the main thing we're really trying to signal there is we probably can't address entirely the issue of keeping this phenomenon, this fluid elastic instability phenomenon, from reoccurring by simply operating at reduced power in the case of Unit 3.

So what we're really trying to signal is it needs more than reduced power types of operations. So, that's really what we're referring to. We haven't gone far enough down the road at this point with Unit 3 to really come up with anything more definitive than that in terms of exactly what would be required to restore it.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05544

Okay. Can I just try one other thing on this topic, Ted? Is there any -- when you analyze the scenarios around what's the best deal for customers? The costs you're looking at, is there really any question that fixing it is the right option?

Theodore Craver — A

Well, I think at this stage you would expect us to have all the options on the table. At this juncture we're just trying to do this in the most disciplined, systematic kind of step-by-step approach. And these are complex technical issues.

It is a first of a kind type of issue that we are dealing with, meaning, this tube-to-tube wear. So we're just taking it one step at a time without trying to get too far ahead of ourselves.

But, yes, at this point of course all options are on the table. We are focused mostly on getting Unit 2 restored, if we believe we can do it safely. And as we said, it is pretty clear to us initially that would be at reduced power with a relatively short operating window so that we can take it down and go through reinspections. And all of that will help inform us in terms of our future actions as well.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc. — Q

Great, thank you.

A

Welcome.

Operator: And our next question comes from Paul Fremont with Jefferies. Your line is now open.

Paul B. Fremont
Jefferies & Co., Inc. — Q

Thank you. I guess two questions. One, you talk about a targeted payout of 45% to 55%. If Mission were no longer – if Mission were to file for bankruptcy, should we assume that you would be targeting the same level of payout or would that potentially change?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP — A

Paul, it is Jim. We have based the dividend for EIX on the earnings of the utility. That is the way we've always done it, so I don't foresee that any action in and around EME would affect our payout policy.

Paul B. Fremont
Jefferies & Co., Inc. — Q

Okay. And then the second question that I have is if EMG were to file could you give us a sense of how we should think about the 961 million of tax benefit that sits there? Is there any precedent in other filings as to what would happen? Would EIX be forced to repurchase that or how should we think about it?

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05545

W. James Scilacci

This is Jim, again, Paul. I think that is a complicated issue, and it would be certainly embroiled in any kind of negotiation with bondholders or during a bankruptcy process. I don't think we could predict at this point in time what ultimately would occur.

It is clear that as long as EME is part of the consolidated family, and that might be during the period of a bankruptcy, and we would have to monetize tax benefits. But ultimately where it plays out in the end, that's harder to say.

So there would be a point in time when ultimately the clock could stop ticking and you would cut off ultimately the monetization of tax benefits. But that will take a lot to get resolved and it could take a period of time. I couldn't predict at this point in time how long.

Paul B. Fremont
Jefferies & Co., Inc.

Q

And are there any precedents that we could look at in terms of other companies where this has been ruled on?

W. James Scilacci

A

Yes, I think the only one that comes to mind from when we previously saw this, and it is going to be dated, so there was some discussion around the BG bankruptcy when their competitive generation business went into bankruptcy. But again, remember that was back in 2001, 2002, so I would be careful looking at that precedent given the passage of time.

Paul B. Fremont
Jefferies & Co., Inc.

Q

Thanks.

W. James Scilacci

All right, Paul.

Operator: And our next question comes from Steve Fleishman with Bank of America Merrill Lynch. Your line is now open.

Steve I. Fleishman
Banc of America Securities-Merrill Lynch

Q

Yeah, hi guys. Good afternoon.

A

Hi, Steve.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05546

Steve I. Fleishman

Q

A couple of just logistical question on the SONGS. Is there a way to break out the rate base between Unit 2 and Unit 3?

A

At this point in time it is not – we haven't provided it. And so, again, in future filings we may have to do that, but at this point in time I think that's something for the future Steve.

Steve I. Fleishman

Q

Okay. And then, also, on the comments you made on the rate base related to the GRC, and that for '12 you will probably be at the low-end or below on your CapEx?

A

The CapEx, yes.

Steve I. Fleishman

Q

Yeah. But then just to clarify, you will expect to make up for most of that in '13, '14, so that imply that the '13, '14 could be toward the upper or above the upper-end, so that it's kind of equal over the three years?

A

Yeah. And so that's exactly what would occur. We've had this pattern before when you get a late GRC that your actual capital expenditures will differ than authorized. And so actual capital expenditures will lag, then they will go above. But remember on the rate making basis we get paid and our revenues are based on authorized. So we are just trying to draw attention to that phenomena.

Steve I. Fleishman

Q

Okay. And I guess one last question on the Edison Mission situation. I think at times there has been talk about the potential that if you do and if it does end up going under different ownership that there could be this worthless stock deduction. Could you just comment on whether that would be likely and at what point in time would that potentially be deducted, so to speak?

A

We haven't put in the public domain what, if any, worthless stock deduction there would be. And it's always taken at the conclusion of a bankruptcy process. And the fact that there is a worthless stock deduction could get dragged into the negotiations in some type of bankruptcy proceeding. So I couldn't even begin to tell you what the breadbasket is.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

And there is a number that changes constantly each quarter based on the earnings or losses, and the monetization of tax benefits can change a worthless stock deduction. So it's constantly .Changing so we've been taking a position not to put it into the domain until we actually get further down the road.

Steve I. Fleishman

Q

Okay. Thank you.

A

Okay.

Operator: And our next question does come from Ali Agha with SunTrust. Your line is now open.

Ali Agha

Q

Thank you, good afternoon.

A

Good afternoon, Ali.

Ted, coming back to your thoughts on EMG and what you see as the viable entity – stable entity going forward. Assuming it doesn't file for bankruptcy, and you get what you're looking for through this restructuring. How should we be thinking about the underlying earnings or positive earnings power of that entity?

Should we think that coming out of bankruptcy this is a profitable entity from an earnings perspective, or should we think that this is really driven by these capacity payments and forward curves, maybe profitability is a couple of years out? How should we think about that as far part of the equity value proposition if you do stick with EMG?

Theodore Craver

It's a great question, unfortunately, I don't have a great answer. Certainly it will depend on what power prices and capacity prices will be. We've got a little more clarity on the capacity price side than we do on the power price side as we go forward, but that's really going to be the determinant.

I would have to say based on current pricing and that type of stuff I don't know that we would expect to see anything close to robust earnings in the subsequent years. But frankly I am kind of throwing darts here at this point. It will depend on what comes out of any negotiation, and it will certainly depend heavily on what the actual prices are once you come out of the restructuring process.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

Ali Agha — Q

And the second question, just coming back to SONGS again, just a bigger picture issue there. The first quarter when you guys laid out what is going on there, the expectation at least was that the cost that you were incurring, you are very confident you would basically recoup those either through warranty payment or regulatory process. I just want to be clear, is that still your view right now? And how should we think about the point you make about the amounts that are in your current GRC, the rate base? And is that a scenario unfolding that the Commission takes out SONGS from rate base and from customer rates, and hence that could be they have negative earnings implications to think about from our end?

Theodore F. Craver
Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer — A

Again -- well, you are two for two, two great questions. And I am going to be two for two, not two great answers. I don't think we really know at this point. What we tried to do in the discussion here is outline what the proceedings were. What we can anticipate roughly in terms of the timing of those proceedings, and which costs or what costs will be part of those proceedings.

That's about as definitive as we can be at this point in time. Not the least of which we don't yet really know ourselves what the potential fixes or outcomes are for the two units. So I would say at this point there's more that we don't know than we do around what those specific numbers would look like.

Ali Agha — Q

Thank you.

Theodore F. Craver
Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer — A

You're welcome.

Operator: And our next question comes from Greg Gordon with ISI Group. Your line is now open.

Greg Gordon — Q

Thanks. Two questions. One, just on – Jim, on the comments you made relative to capital expenditures, relative to projected rate base growth. So presuming that you get a General Rate Case decision that validates the CapEx plan and the rate base growth profile that you project in these slides, what you're basically telling us is that you would book your revenue requirement as if you were spending on plan, but the cash flow profile would actually be slightly more middle to back-end loaded on the actual expenditures. So that on a GAAP basis to what I can see slightly higher earned ROE in the front and then it smooths out towards the end. Is that right?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP — A

I think you hit it completely on – nail on head.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

Greg Gordon

Q

Okay, great. Second question, am I correct that this is the first time that you talked with investors explicitly about making a NEIL filing for insurance recovery? And can we talk about the process there and what you think you're covered for?

W. James Scilacci

A

It is the first time. We have always had insurance from NEIL. That's something that all nuclear facilities – it's a mutual. And in terms of the process we haven't provided any additional information on what that will be. That will unfold over time and as we actually make the claims. And we will include it in future disclosures around San Onofre.

Q

But are you expecting to file for outage insurance as well as for the cost of repair?

W. James Scilacci

Just let me go back -- the way it works just for further clarification, for -- there is a period of time -- there is a deductible, and the disclosures get into more detail on this, and so you have to read it carefully. There is a period of time when we cannot recover replacement power then it kicks in. And there are certain limitations associated with it. And there are certain limitations on it if there are one or two units out. So read that carefully, and I think it is pretty clear. And there are limits on the total amount of insurance that we could ultimately recover from an outage. And I'm going to go back and pause again and let you re-ask your question, because I wanted to fill in that gap piece.

Q

Right. Well, it says here on page five of your deck that you have a 12-week adjustable period.

W. James Scilacci

A

Yes.

Q

And then after that you can file for outage from damage. And then you also have accidental property damage. I guess, my question is whether you going to file for accidental property damage, outage or both?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

Yes, is the answer.

Greg Gordon

Q

Okay, thank you.

Operator: And our next question comes from Kit Konolige with BGC Financial. Your line is now open.

Kit Konolige

Thank you. Ted, a question back to your discussion of the dividend. I wrote down the notes here that we have some challenges, but we are optimistic. I guess, to the effect of after we resolve the challenges then we will look to grow the dividend again. Can you be more specific about what has to be overcome before the dividend starts to grow at this more robust rate?

Theodore Craver

More specific -- well, maybe just to reiterate what I said is we see 2012 as basically being around the peak of the capital spending at SCE. We have talked a little bit in some of the comments that Jim made, as well as the Q&A up to this point that the exact shape of that's a little tricky to completely predict. But I still think the basic point stands that we are probably close to the peak in capital spending in 2012. So while rate base will continue to grow in subsequent years, it's growing at a decreasing rate. And that phenomenon in utility rate making causes kind of a -- I referred to it as a bow wave of cash that builds up. So I think that certainly starts to set up the conditions for being able to look at moving our dividend back into the targeted payout ratio range, which is based on SCE earnings entirely. So we have fallen out the bottom of that range. And so in kind of a step-by-step manner we would expect to try to address that to move it back up towards the targeted payout ratio range.

We have indicated that we have some important regulatory decisions right in front of us here this year, namely a rate case and the cost of the capital decision. And both of those remain outstanding, so we certainly would need to get decisions on those two things to really know what we're looking at in the near-term around the dividend. But I think the direction is the way we've stated it here the last several earnings calls that we see the day where we can start tuning up the dividend payout and move it back towards our payout target ratio.

Kit Konolige

And just to follow on that, are you at a stage now with SONGS where you'd feel that that needs more clarity or some kind of resolution before the next stage of the dividend is addressed or would that just be taken in stride?

A

Well, I think it would be a consideration, but the types of things I'm talking about here are fairly long-term and directional, so it will be like other issues, it will be things that you certainly take into account when you're trying to set a responsible dividend and follow our financial disciplines. But, I think it's – take it in stride, I guess, is more in the neighborhood.

CPUC05551

Kit Konolige

Q

Thank you.

A

Welcome.

Operator: And our next question comes from Hugh Wynne with Sanford Bernstein. Your line is now open.

Hugh Wynne

Hi. Ted, I know that you can't predict how the CPUC is going to respond to the SONGS outage, but I was hoping you might be able to reiterate the schedule, on which the CPUC would make its determination, and perhaps give us a little bit of guidance as to the degree of discretion that they have in making their decision. You had mentioned that after nine months of outage you have to notify them. Can you take us from there as to what the steps are on the regulatory calendar?

Theodore Craver

A

Yeah, I'm actually going to probably turn it over to the folks who are a little closer to all those specifics. But we have tried to identify the three main proceedings that will have some impact on cost recovery around San Onofre. But, Ron, you want to pick that up?

Ronald Litzinger

A

Yeah. Hugh, this is Ron. With regards to the PUC section 455.5, when we've been out of service for nine months, we would have to notify the commission on Unit 3 in November. They have 45 days to respond. That will look at our revenue requirements and focus on the O&M costs. The reasonableness review, if the commission elects to do it on the steam generator replacement project that would be initiated when we complete the project. We currently estimate that we'll complete the disposal later this year of the units, and that would be the trigger for that. And then the ERRA proceeding, that will be April of next year.

Hugh Wynne

Q

Okay. So on the first proceeding, the section 455.5, what is being reviewed there is simply the direct O&M or the recovery of depreciation and return on investment as well on the delayed unit?

Ronald Litzinger

A

The rate base, the depreciation and recovery, it's basically a review of the rate base which would include your O&M and then your depreciation and return.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05552

Hugh Wynne

Q

Right, so we're basically looking at possibly half of the 650 million that you estimate here as the annual revenue requirement?

Linda Sullivan

Full revenue requirement.

Ronald Litzinger

A

They would review the whole revenue requirement based on the conditions that we have at the time.

Hugh Wynne

Q

Right, okay. Thank you very much.

Operator: And our next question comes from Jay Dobson with Wunderlich Securities. Your line is now open.

Jay Dobson

hey, good afternoon, Ted, maybe just finishing on that last one with Ron. If they do elect to start an OII this Thursday would that Section 455.5 proceeding be sort of set into that or are these just – it would be two separate proceedings?

Theodore Craver

A

I think the short answer is at this point we don't know. I think there's some benefit – this is – I'm stating an opinion here. I think there will be some benefit to have some of these things consolidated instead of having multiple proceedings. But anyway, presumably that's what the Commission will consider later this week. But we really can't predict how all that would flow out at this point.

Ronald Litzinger

A

And just for clarification purposes, if you get into a 455.5 situation it's on a unit by unit basis. So they're looking at the revenue requirement for each unit. So if SONGS 2 were to come back up, SONGS 3 stays down, then you could actually have a separate proceeding for Unit 3.

Jay Dobson

Got you. Okay, now, that's great. And then, Ted, maybe going back to EMG, and I'll apologize in advance for doing this to you. I think I heard you respond in an earlier question that you sort of sounded like November was too late to respond.

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05553

And I think on earlier conference calls you had – maybe the word committed is too strong, but suggested that an answer might or should be given by September, just using the clock, the 6 to 12 months clock you started a year ago in September. Is September too aggressive to assume that we'd have an answer by then, given the complexities of the situation and where we stand now on July 31st?

Theodore Craver

Again, I really don't know. Now we're kind of getting into fine cutting on the days, but from my perspective you can make these things drag on forever and ever and complicate the heck out of them. I think it's actually going to end up being reasonably straightforward about what will be sufficient to have a viable entity on a go forward basis.

And if we can't reach that then we go to other options. So from my standpoint sooner is better. I think the data is being made available. We ought to be able to sit down and work through this thing and figure out if we've got a good mutual approach that works for all parties.

Jay Dobson

Q

Got you. So something like November is probably the right sort of timeframe to think about, understanding it's rough and sort of mirroring your response to an earlier question.

Theodore Craver

Well, since I'll probably only get in trouble by trying to predict dates, I'll just let you – I'll let you work with your dates. But we're focused on it right now.

Jay Dobson

Great. Thanks for the clarity.

Thank you, Dobson.

Operator: And our next question comes from Angie Storozynski with Macquarie. Your line is now open.

Angie Storozynski

Q

Thank you. Two questions. First, when I look at your parent cost how much of the parent cost is being now covered by EMG? So in other words, if EMG were to cease to exist, how much of incremental expense and should I account for when I look at the parent and utility earnings?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

CPUC05554

That is an excellent question. We haven't put anything out in the public domain. There would certainly be some amount of cost that we allocate to that side that would not be potentially recoverable if it went down the road that way. But that would be -- we will incorporate it in some kind of future disclosures, but we don't have anything now.

Angie Storozynski

Q

But can you give us any sense? Is this $0.50 or is this a diminimis amount?

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

I think it is a relatively small amount. Because we said already that the holding company cost is about $0.01 a month is what we -- generally we have indicated it is about $0.12 a year. So it is not a large amount of money when it is all said and done.

Angie Storozynski

Q

Okay. And the second question is about the NEIL recovery. It seems like there are so many companies seeking recovery from NEIL, should we worry that NEIL is going to run out of capacity to actually provide insurance coverage?

W. James Scilacci

A

I don't know if I can answer that. NEIL has been around for quite a long period of time. It is a mutual. There are quite a bit of reserves associated with it. There is mechanisms for them to go out and get additional funds should you exceed certain calls on their capital. So I think that is a question you can direct to NEIL, but I don't think there is a concern at this point in time.

Angie Storozynski

Q

Okay, thank you.

W. James Scilacci
Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer & Executive VP

A

Okay, Angie.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION SECTION

Operator: Good morning, and welcome to the PG&E Corporation Second Quarter Earnings 2012 Conference Call. All lines will be muted during the presentation portion of the call with an opportunity for questions and answers at the end.

At this time, I would like to introduce your host, Gabe Togneri with PG&E. Thank you and enjoy your conference. You may proceed, Mr. Togneri.

Gabriel B. Togneri
Vice President-Investor Relations

Thank you, [ph] Jackie. Hello everyone and thanks for joining our call. Before you hear from Tony Earley, Chris John, and Kent Harvey, I'll remind you that our discussion is going to include forward-looking statements based on assumptions and expectations reflecting information currently available to management. Some of the important factors that could affect the company's results are described in Exhibit 1 located in the appendix of today's slides. We also encourage you to review the discussion of risks factors that appears in our 2011 Annual Report and in the Form 10-Q that will be filed with the SEC later today.

And with that, I'll hand it over to Tony.

Anthony F. Earley

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

Good morning everyone, and thank you for joining us. I'm going to provide some opening remarks, and then I'll turn it over to Chris and Kent to cover operations and financials in more detail. On slide two, you see the three key objectives that we have been talking about this year. I'll speak to the first resolving gas issues. We have been in settlement discussions regarding the regulatory proceedings. These are multiple proceedings, they are multiple parties, and they are complex issues.

And beyond that, given where we are in the discussions, I just don't think it's helpful to go into any more detail about where we are. But I will say that if and when we have news to share, we will in fact share that at the appropriate time. We continue to believe that resolving the regulatory issues sooner rather than later would be beneficial for PG&E, our regulators and our customers. So we will continue to push forward on that.

I do want to comment on third party liability on civil cases. We're making lots of progress in resolving new claims. We've settled several more of the most serious cases. And our intent continues to be that we provide victims with fair compensation and doing that as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, we continue to make good progress on our work in the field. As we've done this and as we've added new experienced leaders, we've identified some new work that we need to accomplish, and given all that we're currently doing, it's probably going to take several years to finish this new work as well. And Chris, is going to describe that in more detail shortly.

As I've indicated in the past, there's no quick fix, but we're going to do whatever it takes to meet the commitments we've made related to the system safety. With respect to our second objective for the year positioning the company for long-term success, last month we filed our 2014 general rate case notice of intent and it reflects the important work we should be doing over the next several years. So we'll spend some time discussing that in this call as well.

We've also introduced a new planning process. It's one that I've used in the past more effectively manage the business. This process focuses first on developing a long-term strategy in identifying the critical objectives that we want to accomplish. Once the team has clear alignment on this, we develop tactical plans and budgets, as it then can be implemented on a company wide basis. And I think this is a process that will keep us focused on our key objectives and ultimately help us deliver results for many years to come.

Finally, shifting to our third objective, rebuilding relationships. We've seen a slight uptick in customer satisfaction, but I think it's a little too soon to predict that is a consistent trend. In the last month, we launched a major new customer outreach campaign. This effort combines advertising, social media, online information, community outreach and a variety of other elements. It will feature our own employees and provide concrete examples of the work we're doing to improve safety and reliability. And, we anticipate that this is going to be a multiyear educational effort as we continue to work on our system.

Our research had told us that our customers really like the work that our employees are doing and they respect them, but they do want to know what specifically that the company is doing to make our system safer. This multichannel communications campaign will underscore the message that this is a new PG&E that's serious about making improvements. And ultimately we believe that this educational campaign is an investment in our relationship with our customers and our communities and part of the recovery plan that's essential to our long term success.

We are focused on these key objectives, resolving our gas issues in the near term, positioning the company for success and rebuilding relationships. And, I believe we are making good progress. It's going to take some time, but the long term prospects for the company are positive.

So, with that let me turn it over to Chris to discuss our operations in more detail.

Christopher P. Johns

President & Director, Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

All right, thanks Tony, and good morning everyone. I'm going to provide the regulatory and then the operational updates that are summarized on slide three. I'll start with our general rate case notice of intent filing, which covers the gas and electric distribution, and electric generation parts of business. You recall that the gas transmission and electric transmission are handled in other proceedings.

The key themes in the general rate case filing are investing in our infrastructure and leveraging technology in order to improve operation and achieve significant gains in safety and reliability performance. The 2014 proposed revenue increase of $1.25 billion represents the funding necessary to cover operating expenses and provide for the annual cost associated with roughly $4 billion of infrastructure improvements. The capital expenditures in the general rate case should represent two-thirds of the total CapEx in 2014. The biggest percentage increase in the GRC filing is in the gas distribution area where we would be replacing a substantially greater number of order gas distribution lines than in the past, improving the technology we use to detect gas leaks and significantly upgrading asset management capabilities.

For electric distribution we'll be replacing more overhead electric lines based on their operating performance and installing more automation to limit the impact in duration of outage. The next step in the process is a full review of the filing by the division of rate payer advocates followed ultimately by the filing of our formal application before the year.

Turning to the operation side as you can see on the slide in the appendix we are on track for many of our high level operational performance metrics. We've also made substantial progress this quarter on several of our key initiatives. We validated and documented the Maximum Allowable Operating Pressure or the MAOP of over 1,300 miles of our gas transmission pipe in the second quarter and that brings our year-to-date total to almost 2,000 miles out of the 3,400 miles planned for this year. We've completed 41 miles of hydrostatic tests during this quarter and remain on track to test 160 miles during the year. And we've installed 24 new automated safety valves on our gas transmission system and plan to have 46 by year-end. We've also been doing some follow-up field work on path location and related issues and this is where we've identified the additional work that Tony referred to earlier.

Specifically, we've found vegetation in structures that are encroaching on our [indiscernible] over our transmission pipeline. As a result, we'll be conducting a comprehensive survey of the entire gas transmission system to identify all of the encroachment, asses the cost and scope of the work and begin taking action.

We've also identified additional integrity management work that's necessary. And this includes completing more internal pipeline assessments and other types of inspection to confirm the quality of our pipeline. And most of this work will ramp-up next year, and we expect that addressing these issues may take several years to complete.

Next, you'll recall that we identified roughly $200 million in incremental work that we decided to undertake across the utility this year and next. To date, we've made solid progress in clearing out that work. In the electric operations, we've increased maintenance and repair work on both our overhead lines and underground cables and structures. We've also increased our patrolling of poles by tens of thousands of units and have taken appropriate corrective maintenance actions to reduce fire risk and improve safety.

CPUC05560

On the gas side, we've completed more repairs to lower grade distribution leaks, as we've shortened our recheck intervals and to perform more maintenance work on our gas distribution lines. In putting together our 2014 general rate case filing, we've identified some additional work, mainly in the gas distribution area that we expect to undertake going forward. It includes a higher volume of gas meter and service work, as well as some mark and locate work. Consistent with our commitment to safety and compliance, we're not going to be able to wait until 2014 to begin some of this work. This will result in an increase in the annual incremental spend from about $200 million to about $250 million. However, there are some other areas like the late storm season we experienced earlier this year that createearlier this year that created headwind for us to maintain our 2012 guidance for earnings from operations. Finally, I know a number of you have an interest in our progress on the Diablo Canyon seismic study. There are a couple of authorizations that are pending to allow us to conduct the offshore seismic mapping. We're hopeful that we'll receive these authorizations in the next few months to allow us to complete the work by the end of this year.

And with that, I'll turn it over to Kent.

Kent M. Harvey

Chief Financial Officer & Senior Vice President

Thanks, Chris, and good morning. As usual I may go through the results for the second quarter and discus our outlook for the rest of 2012. I also plan to provide some observations about post 2012.

I'm going to start on slide four, which summarizes our results for the quarter. Earnings from operations were $0.81 per diluted common share while GAAP results were $0.55 per share. The difference between the two is the item impact and comparability for natural gas matters which totaled $0.26 for the quarter. The components of that are broken out in the table at the bottom in pre-tax dollars. The pipeline related costs totaled a $128 million during the quarter and include the pipeline validation and sprint testing work in the field, as well as our legal costs. In general the field work has been on plan, although we continue to experience higher than planned vehicle cost.

We also took an $80 million accrual during the quarter for third-party liability and this reflects the results of the recent settlements on our reach, which Tony discussed as well as the latest information that we have about the remaining claims. It brings our total accrual for third-party liability claims since the accident to $455 million. The upper end of our estimate for third-party liability remains at $600 million. Finally we booked insurance recoveries of $25 million for the quarter bringing us to $135 million of insurance recovery books since the accident.

We continue to believe that a significant portion of the cost incurred for third party claims will be recovered through insurance, but we wait until, we've resolved claims with each carrier [indiscernible] booking through future recoveries.

Moving to slide five, you can see the quarter-over-quarter comparison for earnings from operations including the primary factors that take us from $1.02 in Q2 last year to $0.81 in Q2 this year. First half results for the period last year reflected two quarters of incremental revenues due to approval of the 2011 general rate case and gas transmission and storage case, which were both retroacted to January 1st.

So, there is a $0.13 adjustment in normalized the timing of those decisions last year. There was also $0.09 reduction due to our planned incremental spending this year to improve our operational performance across the utility. And then finally, share dilution accounted for $0.06 reduction and this reflects the share issuance during the quarter, as well as the full affect of our equity offering completed late in Q1.

CPUC05561

Those items were partially offset by a $0.05 increase due to higher authorized rate based investments this year compared to last year. And then, we had another $0.02 positive due to other smaller items.

Slide six summarizes our 2012 guidance, the guidance range for earnings from operations remains at 310 to 330 per share. The range for the item impact and comparability for natural gas matters has been updated to reflect the accrual this quarter, a third party liability and our insurance recovery.

In the table at the bottom you can see the ranges for each component of the natural gas matters in pre-tax dollars. The range for pipeline related cost is unchanged at 450 to 550 for the year. However, we continue to trend towards the upper end of that range primarily due legal costs. So we're continuing to watch this one. The range of the third party liability claim is now 80 to 225 million the lower and reflect accrual taking in the quarter and the upper-end is unchanged.

For insurance recoveries, you see the $36 million we booked during the first and second quarters. As in the past, we were not providing guidance for future insurance recoveries or for additional penalties beyond what we've already accrued.

In terms of the equity issuance, we continue to expect roughly $700 million this year based on our guidance assumption. To the end of the second quarter, our total issuance was $572 million, so we're well along with our plan. Obviously, our actual issuance during the year will depend on a variety of things most significantly, of course, developments related to the GAAP matters.

At this point, I thought I'd also provide some observations to help you think about our profile beyond 2012. Clearly, 2013 looks to be a down year for earnings from operations, primarily due to year-over-year dilution and some reduction in our authorized ROE. And of course, 2014 is going to be a key year for us since that's the start of our next general rate case period.

As I go through this, I expect that you'll have some questions for which you want quantitative answers. However, much of what I'm going to say will be more directional, a more qualitative than quantitative. We fairly want to be transparent with you all, but we won't be in a position to provide guidance for future years until at least we have more visibility around the outcome of our debt issues. In the meantime, there is somewhat qualitative approach into the best option.

I'm going to start on slide seven and there you can see that we've listed some factors for you to consider in thinking about our future year of earnings from operations. In terms of capital expenditures, this year we expect to be approaching $4.8 billion.

In 2013, we should be at or above that level, since we have important investments planned throughout our business. As on a side, if bonus depreciation is not extended next year that would cause us to be somewhat above our authorized rate base in 2013 and we'd intend to through that up in the 2014 general rate case.

Our capital expenditures in 2014, we proposed a higher level in the next general rate case. In terms of our authorized rate base, which we earn on, we expect it could increase from around $24.5 billion this year to about $26 billion in 2013. Based on our last general rate case and other proceedings including the pipeline safety enhancement plan request, which obviously hasn't been decided yet.

Our authorized rate base for 2014, will be reset in the upcoming general rate case as well as other proceedings. Because we intend to true up historic rate base in the general rate case, we'd expect a more significant increase in authorized rate base in 2014. Maybe in the 10% range or so, based on our general rate case and our pipeline safety enhancement plan request. But, we'd expect rate based growth after that to return to more normal levels during the attrition years.

Our authorized ROE and equity ratio for 2013 will obviously be set in the cost of capital proceedings, which is now underway. We've proposed a reduction in ROE from 11.35% to 11% next year and we propose maintaining our common equity ratio at 52%.

In addition to deciding those levels, the PUC is also going to consider a mechanism for adjusting ROE in 2014 and beyond, but we don't expect them to address that until the early part of next year.

Next is the incremental spend. As Chris discussed, we expected to total about $250 million across the utility this year and to continue next year. As you know, these costs are not currently reflected in our way. However, we will be seeking cost recovery in our general rate case starting in 2014.

Next is earnings on CWIP, our construction work in progress. You remember that we accrued AFUDC on CWIP. And our 2012 guidance assumes that about half of that is offset by below the line cost that are not recovered from customers and those are things like charitable contributions, advertising, public affairs work and so forth.

Of course that reflects the minimal advertising we have done in the last few years. And, given the recovery plan that Tony talked about including the customer outreach campaign, we expect that we'll have higher below the line cost, which will largely offset our CWIP earnings in the future. So, we want to keep that in mind.

Finally, we've seen significant equity issuance this year, much of which has been driven by unrecovered gas pipeline cost. You'll see our equity need estimate of roughly $700 million for 2012.

Our equity issuance beyond this year is expected to continue to be significantly higher than would be satisfied by our internal programs, our 401-K and dividend reinvestment plan. Some of the key drivers for this are capital expenditure levels, year-over-year differences in our cash flows that potential expiration of bonus depreciation, which I mentioned, our planned incremental spend across the utility and then the level of future gas pipeline cost.So let's go to slide eight now. And here, we've shown some factors to consider in estimating future uncovered pipeline related costs. Let's start with 2012. At the top, you can see our current guidance for uncovered pipeline related costs of $450 million to $550 million. That includes the four components you see listed. The Pipeline Safety Enhancement Plan expenses, which we've been seeking recovery of, for which a final decision isn't expected until late in the year. The pipeline costs that we're not seeking recovery of, such as work on post-1960 type and then other work that's been identified since the PSEP filing last summer and then legal and other costs.

In 2013 and 2014, the PSEP expenses we are seeking recovery of are shown as to be determined, pending a decision by the PUC. And of course, you can go back to our PSEP filing from last summer to see our original request over this timeframe. The PSEP costs we're not requesting recovery of will continue in 2013 and 2014, but the level of expenditure is expected to decline after this year. That's why we show it as lower.

Other work refers to the pipeline rights of way and integrity management work that Chris will discuss which we're in the process of scoping out. We do expect it to ramp-up next year and it takes several years to complete. So we show it has higher next year.

Finally, we expect our legal costs to decline significantly after this year. So we show it as lower in both years. Obviously, that profile will depend on how quickly the various proceedings have included.

Down below you see the other components of our item impacting comparability for our natural gas matters, penalties, third party liability and insurance recoveries along with some commentary there. In particular, I think we've made good progress in resolving a number of significant third party claims, and we hope to be able to resolve many of the remaining claims in a timely manner. I'd expect the timing of insurance recovery to generally follow from that, but it's hard to predict exactly when that will occur. So, that's an overview of some of the major factors likely to affect our earnings from operations and our unrecovered natural gas costs going forward. I know it's a lot to digest, but I do hope my comments are helpful to you in keeping track of the various pieces that will likely influence our results over the next few years. Tony?

Anthony F. Earley
Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer

Thanks, Ken. We have a number of challenges and uncertainties that we're working our way through. And, I know it can be frustrating that we can't be more specific about timetables or predictions for all of the different regulatory proceedings, but that is the nature of the regulatory process. But, I do believe we're making good progress.

We're focused on resolving our outstanding issues and running the business well, so we can be successful in the long run. We continue to get positive feedback from many of our constituents regarding the direction that we've been moving in. As a result, I believe the company has a promising future and an attractive value proposition over the long run.

So, with that let me open it up for your questions.

Q

I wanted to get a better understanding on the equity issuance that you mentioned significantly higher versus 401(k) and DRIP. Can you provide some color as to how much of that is related to the substantially higher capital expenditures in the following rate case that you preliminarily fought for versus expenses and other things that are running above previous expectations that now will have to be plus the equity?

A

Michael, this Kent. We are not at the point of providing any guidance for the future years, but I think you should be able to get a general sense of our CapEx levels and to determine from that sort of how much of that is driving year-over-year equity needs as compared to where you end up with looking at unrecovered costs and those obviously hit our equities, so they drive our equity needs in order to maintain the balanced capital structure.

Michael Goldenberg
Luminus Management LLC
Q

Got it, okay. Thank you.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. Goldenberg. Our next question comes from the line of Mr. Greg Gordon with ISI Group. Please proceed.

Greg Gordon
International Strategy & Investment Group, Inc.
Q

Thanks, first a quick follow up on that question, in the normal course of business Kent, what is the amount of the equity that you issued through those programs?

Kent M. Harvey
Chief Financial Officer & Senior Vice President
A

For the 401(k) and given reinvestment plan, we typically have issued between $200 million and $300 million up for year.

Greg Gordon
International Strategy & Investment Group, Inc.
Q

Okay. So you're telling us that given the level of capital expenditures and everything else that in the future to maintain your cap structure, you would expect to issue more than that?

Kent M. Harvey
Chief Financial Officer & Senior Vice President
A

Yes, significantly more, that's right.

Greg Gordon
International Strategy & Investment Group, Inc.
Q

Okay. Thanks. And then, is there anything that you all can tell us about the possibility, anything more you can talk about the possibility of resolving some are all of the outstanding pipeline matters via settlement at some point this year or should we presume that it's just too complicated and we're going to have to see a litigated outcome?

Thomas Bottorff

Greg, this is Tony. It's still my objective to try and wrap up all of those issues through a settlement by the end of the year, but as I said this is one of the more complex proceedings I have been involved in. We got three investigations, one rulemaking and we've got multiple parties. We've got the Attorney General, the U.S. Attorney and several other prosecutors involved. So, it Ii oved e investigations e?t this year or should we presume line matter just takes time to work through the issues as each has their own agenda. They want to make sure it gets covered in the agreement, but I think where we are here in August, I still think that we can accomplish my stated objective of trying to get it wrapped up by yearend.

Greg Gordon
International Strategy & Investment Group, Inc.

Thank you, Tony.

Operator: Thank you Mr. Gordon. Our next question comes from the line of Hugh Wynne with Sanford C. Bernstein. Please proceed.

Hugh N. Wynne
Sanford C. Bernstein & Co., Inc.

Hi, I wonder if you might just help me sort through some of the strands of your disclosure here regarding factors effecting EPS. Just two quick questions on that the incremental spend that you mentioned on page three or rather I should say increased scope in incremental work that you mention on page three – is the implication of that solely the increase in incremental spend that you show on page seven from an anticipated 200 to an anticipated 250 continuing on that into 2013 or is there something else and we need to be look out for by way of the incremental CapEx or incremental cost that are somehow not reflected here.

Kent M. Harvey
Chief Financial Officer & Senior Vice President

Hugh, this is Kent. The mention that is on slide 3 which talks about right away issues identified, that actually ties to page – to slide 8 and that's the incremental, that's new spend in the pipeline area having to do with rights away and integrity management. Also on slide 3 and this maybe what you're referring to the increased scope of incremental work. That relates to slide 7 and the item that is mentioned as incremental spend and that is the work we're doing across the utility that's not specific to pipeline which we previously estimated at $200 million this year and next year and we're saying that's going to be $250 million.

Hugh N. Wynne
Sanford C. Bernstein & Co., Inc.

Good, okay. I think that's clear. And then on page 7, you mentioned that you've requested PSAP to be included rate base over 212 to 214 and you give the annual amounts, is that included in this authorized rates based number that you show up in 2012 and 2013?

Kent M. Harvey
Chief Financial Officer & Senior Vice President

It is yes. So you will – so you want to keep that in mind and that's why we provided you the details down below in the footnote.

Hugh N. Wynne
Sanford C. Bernstein & Co., Inc.

Okay, so that point that you're making is that you have spent this money, but your asset don't have the rate based revenues at this point.

A

Correct.

Hugh N. Wynne
Sanford C. Bernstein & Co., Inc.

Q

Okay and then just final quickly. You mentioned or Tony mentioned that the Attorney General of State of California and U.S. Attorney were involved in the settlement discussions, are the Feds and the California authorities then continuing to proceed with the criminal investigation of the case, what we should read into that?

Kent M. Harvey

A

They've<A>: They have been involved – they have interviewed employees, obviously, it's not as high on their priority list, because there are hours to get this done, they've got lots of other things, so they have gone and [indiscernible] involved and have reached that to try and get everybody involved in an overall settlement.

Q

All right. Thanks very much.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. Wynne. Our next question comes from the line of Michael Lapides with Goldman Sachs. Please proceed.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Q

Yeah, hi, maybe a few questions for Kent. Just curious, at the end of the quarter, how were -- some of your key balancing – how were some of your key balancing metrics, meaning like, how much short-term debt did you have outstanding? What was debt to cap? And then, when we think about kind of cash requirements going forward, how much of what's been accrued for third party liabilities have actually been paid and what are your expectations for things like, either simply related payments in the next – or CapEx related items in the next few years et cetera?

Kent M. Harvey

A

Michael, in terms of – sort of major changes in cash and our balance sheet, I don't think there's anything very significant there. I think our amount of commercial paper outstanding is down by a few hundred million dollars since the end of last quarter, that's kind of normal course of weakness for us. In terms of the cash requirements associated with – with things like third party liabilities and stuff, we've accrued $455 million to date. I think the actual payments that we made through the end of the second quarter were $145 million. And then again on the insurance side, we booked $135 million of insurance. So we tend to pay those settlements as the settlements are concluded and some of those are fairly recent.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Q

Got it. And Tony, just I'm seeing a lot of the items in page seven and in page eight. And, just want to kind of get a feel, I think going back to the third quarter call, you may've made some comments about the goal is to get closer to earning your authorized ROE by 2014. Do you still view that as the goal and are there any items that have been outlined here, which clearly won't be recoverable in rates by 2014?

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

A

Well, that is still our goal, I think the big driver the 2014, is going to be how the GRC the General Rate Case come down. That's a large number $1.25 billion, and we think that we are able to justify that level of spending, but the results of that are going to dictate a large part our ability to achieve ROI returns then.

Kent M. Harvey

A

And, this is Kent. The only other thing I would add obviously the general rate case covers electric and gas distribution and electric generation. In terms of gas transmission that rate case is not until 2015. So, our opportunity through our cost there that are outside of the piece of proceeding is really a year later in 2015.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Q

So, does that imply there is a little bit of drag or a little bit of regulatory lag on the gas pipeline side?

A

I think that would be a reasonable expectation.

Michael J. Lapides
Goldman Sachs & Co.

Okay. Thank you, Kent.

Quick question on the $250 million number that you're now giving for incremental spend that's to continue into 2013. Did I hear you correctly that you think you can offset that partly because you've had the low trend storm costs in 2012, but that we shouldn't necessarily assume that offset will continue into 2013 or do you have some other offset to the kind of incremental $50 million since last quarter.

Christopher P. Johns
President & Director, Pacific Gas & Electric Co.
A

Hey Jonathan, this is Chris. And you are right, when we look at this year we've had the lighter storm seize and we've also had some tax benefits and some other savings that we focused on and that's been able to offset that. And we anticipated that level of spend will continue into next year. Obviously, we are always looking for ways to continually improve on their but we wanted to make sure that you are all very alerted to that higher level.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.
Q

So the higher level continues with the offset unless something else materializes, it doesn't necessarily.

Christopher P. Johns
President & Director, Pacific Gas & Electric Co.
A

Yeah, that's true.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.
Q

Okay. And then secondly on – in the first quarter you had $7 million – $0.07 of share of miscellaneous items that were positive that you said you thought would reverse over the course of 2012 and obviously that didn't show up as a driver in the second quarter? Is it, do you still anticipate that through the balance of the year and any comment on that?

Kent M. Harvey
A

Yeah, Jonathan this is Kent. We do still have the same view on that and now with a lot of number of small items that many of which were timing in nature. So we do anticipate that trending down during the rest of the year.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.
Q

Okay. And then finally Kent if I may just on your comments around equity, are those sort of premised on the 52% that you requested in the cost of capital case and I would presume, firstly is that correct and secondly does that comment change significantly depending on where that shakes out?

Kent M. Harvey
A

Yeah, I know I think that's reasonable. I think that would be a driver if we ended up with a different authorized equity ratio. There really are indications that is going to be the case at this point. We filed obviously for 52. We think it makes a lot of sense from credit perspective and otherwise. And, we noticed last night when the interveners filed their testimony I think everyone did 52% common equity as well. So, we are at least in alignment on that dimension of the case. Certainly, we are not at alignment in terms of the recommended ROEs that they proposed. And, but that's no surprise.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

Okay. So just one final thing the – there was a date in the schedule in the [ph] OIR proposed decision, I think yesterday as well. Is it a reasonable working assumption that given you said you're still in settlement talks that there will not be PD in the meantime or any kind of help you can give us on what to expect?

Thomas Bottorff

A

Yeah, this is Tom Bottorff from Regulatory Relations. We haven't heard anything different from the TUC on the schedule from when that proposed decision would come out. And, we have no indication that it's scheduled to come out on that date either.

Jonathan Arnold
Deutsche Bank Securities, Inc.

Q

Okay. Thank you.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. Arnold. Our next question comes from the line of Tom O'Neil [ph] with Green Arrow [ph] . Please proceed.

Q

Good morning. I'm just curious if you could revisit the longer term dividend policy and just whether we should recalibrate that if CapEx levels are approved as proposed?

A

Well, I think just to reiterate we're committed to the dividend if you believe that important part of the value proposition for our company like ours, but in terms of policy, we can't revisit what we're going to do until we get some major things behind us likely the gas proceedings, we've got cost of capital, we've got to take a look at some indication where the general rate case is going to be going before we would be able to say anymore about policy going forward. So, what we've been saying is we're committed to the dividend, but are going to have to resolve a couple of major issues before we start to give you some guidance on what you might expect.

Okay, understood. Thanks.

Operator: Thank you Mr. [ph] O'Neil. Our next question comes from the line of Steve Fleishman with Bank of America. Please proceed.

A

Yeah Steve, yeah

Steven Fleishman
Banc of America Securities-Merrill Lynch Research

Q

Yeah Tony. Just one clarification on the settlement discussions, when you say you're targeting to have resolution by the end of the year, are you targeting a settlement by then or approval by the PUC have a settlement by then?

Thomas Bottorff

I think you are cutting too fine a line there, but it could be several three, four, five months. It could or it could go very quickly. It probably depends on how many parties you can get to sign on. Is it a heavily contested settlement or is that the one way you have got a number of parties. So I have said, I want to try and get them wrapped up by yearend either one of those would be real progress, if we just got an agreement even if it wasn't yet approved by the commission.

Steven Fleishman

Q

At one point you had mentioned the two year anniversary of [indiscernible] as a potential kind of goal post on this is that should we not really focus on that as a potential goal post stays on this?

Thomas Bottorff

A

It certainly continues to be a driver of trying to move things along. Here, we are about a month away. It may not be – well certainly you are not going to get total resolution by then but it continues to be in everyone's mind that we would like to make a lot of progress by then.

Steven Fleishman

Q

Thank you.

Operator: Thank you Mr. Fleishman. Our next question comes from the line of Travis Miller with Morningstar Research. Please proceed.

Travis Miller
Morningstar Research

Q

All right, thanks. With the backwith the docket right now – all the dockets right now on the CPUC, what's your sense for where you stand for each of these proceedings in mind in the queue and how would you rank each one of the – the four outstanding in the regulatory calendar that you guys give there?

Thomas Bottorff

Copyright © 2001-2012 FactSet CallStreet, LLC

This is Tom Bottorff again. The rule making is the further along and it has again post decisions scheduled for release this month. That hasn't happened yet. We're not sure when it will happen. But it calls for a final decision this early September, but again I don't see add on attract for this likely to happen, but that's what the current schedule calls for. The three investigations are all on similar timelines right now. PG&E filed its responses. We expect we bite all testimony from the staff in August and hearings will probably take place either in late August or early September. So the procedural timeline for the three investigations have probably proposed decisions by the end of this year or early January and final decisions in the first quarter of 2013.

Travis Miller
Morningstar Research

Q

And as a reason do you expect that those will be on time?

A

As of now, they've been on schedule. Yes, if they absent settlement I'd expect those schedules to proceed on that time line.

Travis Miller
Morningstar Research

Okay, great. Thanks a lot.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. Miller. Our next question comes from the line of Anthony [indiscernible] with Jefferies. Please proceed.

Q

Good morning. You may have addressed this already, but I was wondering if the company could comment if they have been successful in maybe getting all of the OII's wrapped into like one settlement discussion. Maybe on the previous earnings call, you mentioned that was your goal and that was your hope. Could you give any status on that?

A

As I said before, these are complex issues we're trying to get a global settlement, but I really don't want to get into the details of the discussions.

Great. Thank you.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. [indiscernible] . Our next question comes from the line of Ashar Khan with Visium Asset Management. Please proceed.

Ashar Khan

Hi, how are you doing? I just wanted to as you were trying to point out directionally the earnings, is it fair you're saying if what I've heard 2013 is down versus 2012 of course because of the ROE issue. And, even the rate increase and everything is not going to offset the rate base increase not going to offset of course lower ROE what's your predicting, but then you're expecting 2014 to be higher than 2013. And, can you point out whether you expect 2014 to be equal to 2012 higher or lower can you give any kind of indication from that perspective?

Are you referring to overall like earnings from operations?

Ashar Khan

That's correct.

A

Well, I think the key drivers in 2013 that I mentioned were the fact that there will be some reduction in the ROE that's authorized. And then in addition to that we do have the cumulative impact of dilution some year-over-year dilution because of the equity issuance that's happening throughout this year for example and will be outstanding for all of next year. That probably wanted the bigger factors in 2014 is that it's the general rate case, which will affect our authorized rate base and it will affect our ability to earn an authorized return given that we're doing incremental spend this year and next year in the $250 million range. So, we are looking to the general rate case as a way for us to address a lot of the activities that we're doing over the next few years and to make sure that our revenues are aligned with what we think we ought to be doing on our system.

Q

Okay, understood. But is there any guidance that you can give in terms of I know I guess we don't know what will come out in the rate case, but are you pointing that 2014 any directionally guidance of 2014 versus 2012?

We're not providing guidance for either year at this point.

Q

Okay, okay. Thank you.

Operator: Thank you, Mr. Khan. [Operator Instructions] .

Hope you had a good Father's Day.

Unfortunately, I will not be able to travel to California tomorrow due to illness. However, my colleagues James Heckler and Mark Struk will be visiting CPUC offices in my place.

Would they be able to stop by your office (Room #4205) at ~2:30pm tomorrow to meet with you. (in my place)? I think you will find that they are gregarious gentlemen and you will enjoy meeting with themJ They are also very knowledgeable about California regulation, so I think the meeting will be mutually beneficial.

Please let me know if the arrangement works for you. Thank you very much.

Brian and Scott,

My flight into SF has been delayed and I will miss the 130PM meeting. We have another meeting at 230PM so we could meet right after that at 330PM.

Does 330PM work for you both?

Thanks,

James and Brian can meet as planned at 130 (it will be good to at least have the in person introduction).

Then, Scott, James and I can meet at 330 for a bit more discussion.

Thanks for being flexible. See you later today.

Brian and Scott - James is filling in for Michael Goldenberg (who was not able to make the trip last minute).

Due to flight delay, I am not expected to land until 1:45PM. If moving the meeting to 3:30PM does not work then please go ahead and meet with James at 1:30PM.

Thanks,

Hi Tim,

I know you are quite busy, but I wanted to highlight to your attention an invitation your office received from Macquarie to keynote a meeting with investment fund representatives. As you can see from the email message I received below, this event would give you an opportunity to meet with investment funds from across the country, as opposed to a more limited scope you may have had on prior trips to New York City.

I hope your schedule allows you to accept. In any event, you will have a great opportunity to meet the Macquarie folks later next month.

See you at the next NPC meeting.

Bob

Below please find an official invite to our event (California corporate day). As you will see we are hoping to have Comm. Simon as our keynote speaker on March 15th around noon. Our meetings will be held at Le Meridien and utility managements are not going to be present during Comm. Simon's session. If he would prefer a different time slot, we will accommodate it as long as it is between 8:00am and 1:00pm.

As I mentioned on the phone, Comm. Simon attended a meeting with investors in NY back in January. This time around he will be able to see all large investment funds from across the country. The following funds have already signed up for the event:

- Fidelity,
- TRowe Price,
- Capital Group,
- JPMorgan,
- AIM/Invesco,
- Franklin Templeton,
- Columbia,
- UBS,
- Thrivent,
- Nuveen/FAF,
- SAC.

I have filed a meeting request with his office, but I have yet to hear back from them. I would appreciate any help.

Thanks

Hi Tim,

I know you are quite busy, but I wanted to highlight to your attention an invitation your office received from Macquarie to keynote a meeting with investment fund representatives. As you can see from the email message I received below, this event would give you an opportunity to meet with investment funds from across the country, as opposed to a more limited scope you may have had on prior trips to New York City.

I hope your schedule allows you to accept. In any event, you will have a great opportunity to meet the Macquarie folks later next month.

See you at the next NPC meeting.

Best,
Bob

Bob

Below please find an official invite to our event (California corporate day). As you will see we are hoping to have Comm. Simon as our keynote speaker on March 15th around noon. Our meetings will be held at Le Meridien and utility managements are not going to be present during Comm. Simon's session. If he would prefer a different time slot, we will accommodate it as long as it is between 8:00am and 1:00pm.

As I mentioned on the phone, Comm. Simon attended a meeting with investors in NY back in January. This time around he will be able to see all large investment funds from across the country. The following funds have already signed up for the event:

- Fidelity,
- TRowe Price,
- Capital Group,
- JPMorgan,
- AIM/Invesco,
- Franklin Templeton,
- Columbia,

- UBS,
- Thrivent,
- Nuveen/FAF,
- SAC.

I have filed a meeting request with his office, but I have yet to hear back from them. I would appreciate any help.

Thanks

Commissioner Simon,

Thank you very much for accepting our invitation, we really look forward to hearing your thoughts and opinions on key issues. All of the funds represented at our meeting have a large equity exposure to California electric utilities. We believe that you would make an ideal key-note speaker during lunch on March 15th. Ideally, we'd like you to give a brief introduction and overview of some key topics, and then open the floor to Q&A for the bulk of the sessions. Particular issues that we and investors are most interested in include:
- energy policy of Governor Brown and the new Commissioners, and the impact on CPUC's decision making,
- potential changes to allowed ROEs for electric utilities,
- rate-basing of renewables vs. PPAs,
- AB32,
- smart meters,
- regulatory treatment of cash flows from accelerated depreciation,
- San Bruno accident and need for investment in gas pipelines in CA

Thanks again, and please let us know if you have any questions for us. We'll send you more details as the date approaches.

Kind regards,
Angie

Hi Tim,

I know you are quite busy, but I wanted to highlight to your attention an invitation your office received from Macquarie to keynote a meeting with investment fund representatives. As you can see from the email message I received below, this event would give you an opportunity to meet with investment funds from across the country, as opposed to a more limited scope you may have had on prior trips to New York City.

I hope your schedule allows you to accept. In any event, you will have a great opportunity to meet the Macquarie folks later next month.

See you at the next NPC meeting.

Below please find an official invite to our event (California corporate day). As you will see we are hoping to have Comm. Simon as our keynote speaker on March 15th around noon. Our meetings will be held at Le Meridien and utility managements are not going to be present during Comm. Simon's session. If he would prefer a different time slot, we will accommodate it as long as it is between 8:00am and 1:00pm.

As I mentioned on the phone, Comm. Simon attended a meeting with investors in NY back in January. This time around he will be able to see all large investment funds from across the country. The following funds have already signed up for the event:

- Fidelity,
- TRowe Price,
- Capital Group,
- JPMorgan,
- AIM/Invesco,
- Franklin Templeton,
- Columbia,
- UBS,
- Thrivent,

- Nuveen/FAF,
- SAC.

I have filed a meeting request with his office, but I have yet to hear back from them. I would appreciate any help.

Commissioner Simon,

Thank you very much for accepting our invitation, we really look forward to hearing your thoughts and opinions on key issues. All of the funds represented at our meeting have a large equity exposure to California electric utilities. We believe that you would make an ideal key-note speaker during lunch on March 15th. Ideally, we'd like you to give a brief introduction and overview of some key topics, and then open the floor to Q&A for the bulk of the sessions. Particular issues that we and investors are most interested in include:
- energy policy of Governor Brown and the new Commissioners, and the impact on CPUC's decision making,
- potential changes to allowed ROEs for electric utilities,
- rate-basing of renewables vs. PPAs,
- AB32,
- smart meters,
- regulatory treatment of cash flows from accelerated depreciation,
- San Bruno accident and need for investment in gas pipelines in CA

Thanks again, and please let us know if you have any questions for us. We'll send you more details as the date approaches.

Kind regards,
Angie

Hi Tim,

I know you are quite busy, but I wanted to highlight to your attention an invitation your office received from Macquarie to keynote a meeting with investment fund representatives. As you can see from the email message I received below, this event would give you an opportunity to meet with investment funds from across the country, as opposed to a more limited scope you may have had on prior trips to New York City.

I hope your schedule allows you to accept. In any event, you will have a great opportunity to meet the Macquarie folks later next month.

See you at the next NPC meeting.

Best,
Bob

Below please find an official invite to our event (California corporate day). As you will see we are hoping to have Comm. Simon as our keynote speaker on March 15th around noon. Our meetings will be held at Le Meridien and utility managements are not going to be present during Comm. Simon's session. If he would prefer a different time slot, we will accommodate it as long as it is between 8:00am and 1:00pm.

As I mentioned on the phone, Comm. Simon attended a meeting with investors in NY back in January. This time around he will be able to see all large investment funds from across the country. The following funds have already signed up for the event:

- Fidelity,
- TRowe Price,
- Capital Group,
- JPMorgan,
- AIM/Invesco,
- Franklin Templeton,
- Columbia,
- UBS,
- Thrivent,
- Nuveen/FAF,

Good afternoon,

When your office has a moment, can I please ask for the registration details to be completed via the attached site (www.macquarie.com/vailconference). Im looking to confirm the Commissioners accommodation dates and book his ground transfers.

Also, when his bio has been updated, would you mind emailing me a copy with a photo (or direct me to where I might download it).

Many thanks for your assistance. Please don't hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Kind regards,
Alisa

Subject: Meeting Request - March 14th 2011

Dear Mr. Clanon,

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York.

We are visiting the CPUC on March 14th for a meeting with Commissioner Florio and representatives of 20 large investment funds, including T. Rowe Price, Franklin Templeton, and Capital Group. Our meeting should end around 4:00 or 4:15pm, and we would be honored if you could meet with us around 4:00pm for up to 30 minutes. Interest in California regulatory developments is extremely high, as we already have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this event.

I am currently traveling in Europe, and will follow up with a phone call on Monday. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Kind regards,

Angie Storozynski

Attachments:	Preliminary Website Agenda_ 1 March 2011_6478086_1 (CFFP_NewYork).DOC

We appreciate your agreeing to participate on a discussion panel on Monday, March 28th at 9-10amRMT entitled " Does Utility Regulation Support Value Creation and Economic" (Panel 2A) . In advance of our upcoming Vail conference, we thought it would be a good idea to get the panelists on a phone conference call to discuss your participation with your co-panelists. We are proposing the following alternative times for a Conference Call:

-Wednesday, March 16th at 10 to 11amET (likely to take less time, but wanted to have contingency time); or
-Friday, March 18th at 11am to noonET

Please let me know if either date proposed does not work. From your responses, I will select best time for group and send around a dial-in and some information on the format and panel discussion topics. But to alleviate, any concerns, the format for the conference panels will be moderated Q and A (no prepared remarks, no PowerPoint). Please note that I have attached the Draft Conference Agenda and the key themes we seek to develop during each panel.

I would also appreciate if you could send your Bio for distribution to your co-panelists and for inclusion in the Conference reference materials.

We look forward to a great Conference and we truly appreciate your willingness to share your expertise with the Group.

Peter

Hi Jovi

Hope all is well. If you recall we are vesting the CPUC on March 14th. We are scheduled to meet with Comm. Florio at 3:00pm and then Executive Director Clanon. I was just wondering if Comm. Sandoval is feeling better. I understand that most likely she will not be present at the CPUC on March 14th, but would it be possible to have a 10-minute call with her on that day? The investors we are bringing are really hoping to hear from Comm. Sandoval. Please let me know if that would be possible.

I will call you on Friday.

Thanks
Angie

Dear Mr. Clanon,

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York.

We are visiting the CPUC on March 14th for a meeting with Commissioner Florio and representatives of 20 large investment funds, including T. Rowe Price, Franklin Templeton, and Capital Group. Our meeting should end around 4:00 or 4:15pm, and we would be honored if you could meet with us around 4:00pm for up to 30 minutes. Interest in California regulatory developments is extremely high, as we already have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this event.

I am currently traveling in Europe, and will follow up with a phone call on Monday. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Kind regards,

Angie Storozynski

We are meeting with both gentlemen in room 5305 at the CPUC. I'm told that the room has conf call equipment and so maybe we could call from there.

Thanks again

Subject: Meeting Request - March 14th 2011

Dear Mr. Clanon,

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York.

We are visiting the CPUC on March 14th for a meeting with Commissioner Florio and representatives of 20 large investment funds, including T. Rowe Price, Franklin Templeton, and Capital Group. Our meeting should end around 4:00 or 4:15pm, and we would be honored if you could meet with us around 4:00pm for up to 30 minutes. Interest in California regulatory developments is extremely high, as we already have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this event.

I am currently traveling in Europe, and will follow up with a phone call on Monday. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Kind regards,

Angie Storozynski

Hi Angie--
Thank you for the list. Unfortunately, Paul has been called by our President to accompany him to an urgent meeting outside of the PUC from the Governor's office.
He will not be in the office Monday through Wednesday. I do apologize for this late notice.

I would happy to set up another meeting, should your schedules allow and if you are available Thursday or Friday afternoon.

We have just landed in San Francisco. Do you know what time Comm. Sandoval is available to talk to us? As a reminder, we are meeting with Comm. Florio at 3:00pm and hope to talk to Comm. Sandoval some time between 4:00 and 5;00pm. We will need your assistance:
- to manage our meeting with Comm. Florio, ie we simpy need to know when to end in time for our call with Comm. Sandoval;
- to dial Comm. Sandoval's phone number.

My cell phone is 6465755761 of you need to get in touch with me.

Thanks

Thank you for the list. Unfortunately, Paul has been called by our President to accompany him to an urgent meeting outside of the PUC from the Governor's office.
He will not be in the office Monday through Wednesday. I do apologize for this late notice.

I would happy to set up another meeting, should your schedules allow and if you are available Thursday or Friday afternoon.

Dear Mr. Clanon,

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York.

We are visiting the CPUC on March 14th for a meeting with Commissioner Florio and representatives of 20 large investment funds, including T. Rowe Price, Franklin Templeton, and Capital Group. Our meeting should end around 4:00 or 4:15pm, and we would be honored if you could meet with us around 4:00pm for up to 30 minutes. Interest in California regulatory developments is extremely high, as we already have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this event.

I am currently traveling in Europe, and will follow up with a phone call on Monday. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Kind regards,

Angie Storozynski

Good afternoon all,

Thank you for agreeing to participate in our upcoming Utilities Power and Gas Conference, being held in Vail Colorado March 27 - 29. I would like to organise a call for next week to briefly discuss content and logistics for the panel discussion you are participating in, entitled "Regulators Roundtable Breakfast - Should Regulators Lead or Follow?", being held on Tuesday March 29, 7.00am - 8.00am.

Some suggested talking points on the panel are:

- Clean Energy or RPS?
- Technology innovation
- Growth, renewal and interconnection
- Energy efficiency – balancing the Interests of utilities, customers and policy

Can you please let me know your availability for March 21 - 25 for this call.

Best regards,

Alan

I'm sorry that we never managed to meet or talk to Paul. Our flights to NY/Boston/Chicago left around 3:00pm PT and that's why we were not available for a call around 4:00pm your time.

Anyway, I really appreciate your willingness to set up a meeting and hopefully we will meet with Paul next time we are in San Francisco.

Thanks again
Angie

Dear Commissioner Simon,

This is to confirm your upcoming reservation at the Seventh Annual Utilities, Power and Gas Conference, March 27 - 29, Vail, Colorado.

Your accommodation confirmation number is 40K5FT. We currently have you checking into the Vail Cascade Resort and Spa on March 27 and departing on March 29. If this is incorrect please let me know as soon as possible so we can amend your reservation.

Your transfer from Vail Eagle Airport is confirmed. Vail Eagle Airport is quite small, please look for the person holding the Macquarie sign near the baggage claim when you arrive. You'll receive a note in your hotel room prior to departure indicating what time you should be in the hotel lobby to meet your departure transfer back to Vail Eagle Airport.

Should you have any questions onsite please contact Erica Robins +1 646 886 2595 or Alisa Zammit +1 646 732 8700.

We look forward to seeing you in Vail.

Good afternoon all,

Trying to find a time to suit all to have this call is proving quite difficult. I propose having two calls for those who are not able to attend this call. Please decline if you are unable to and let me know an alternate time that works and I'll endeavour to find one that suits most if not all.

Suggestion discussion points for the panel are:

* Clean Energy or RPS?
* Technology innovation
* Growth, renewal and interconnection
* Energy efficiency - balancing the Interests of utilities, customers and policy

Thank you again for your assistance and participation.
Best regards,
Alisa

Subject: Reqyest for a conference call with President Peevey
Attachments: CA Utilities 031611.pdf

Dear Ms. Gonzalez

Last month we spoke about a meeting with President Peevey and a group of investors on March 14th or 15th(please see the email below). Unfortunately President Peevey was unavailable to meet with us then, and we saw Commissioners Florio, Sandoval and Simon instead. I'm attaching a note summarizing key takeaways from those meetings. We would love to hear President Peevey's stance on many of the issues discussed in the note, especially as some investors left those meetings a little concerned. Would President Peevey be open to a conference call with our investors? We are open to your suggestions about the timing of such as a call, but the sooner the better for us.

Please let me know.

Thanks
Angie

Subject: Meeting request - President Peevey - March 15th
Importance: High

Dear Ms. Gonzalez

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York. We plan to bring a small group of investors to San Francisco to meet with members of senior management from the three major investor-owned utilities on March 15th. We would really appreciate if President Peevey could attend this mini-conference as our keynote speaker at a lunch.

We have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this meeting, based on the hope that President Peevey will join us. Each of the three utilities has committed, and we would be honored if Commissioner Florio could attend as well. Macquarie also has a top-notch conference planning team that will ensure all of the logistics are taken care of.

I have attached our official meeting request form for your review, and am happy to provide additional information.

Kind regards,
Angie Storozynski

Regulated utilities

Meetings with California regulators

Event

- Regulated earnings of EIX and PCG should grow much faster than those of peers, and their market valuations remain attractive after the recent sell-offs. We acknowledge increased risk given negative media coverage (PCG in particular), a new makeup of the CPUC and pending rate cases (EIX, PCG), but their nuclear risks are overblown. We reiterate Outperform ratings though reduce TPs.
- On 14-15 March in San Francisco we hosted meetings with Commissioners from the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), as well as the California ISO. We also met with managements of EIX and PCG.

Impact

- CA remains supportive of utility capex: Each of the three Commissioners we met described a need for high capex spending to support ambitious renewable mandates, and to ensure safe and reliable electric/gas service. Despite a weak economy and concerns over keeping customer bills reasonable, rate bases of CA utilities should see up to 10%pa growth, roughly twice the national average.
- However, future allowed ROEs may come down: While the Commissioners clearly have not decided future ROEs yet, a 50–100bp reduction seems likely. The Commissioners recognize the need of CA utilities to compete for funding with utilities from other states, especially given their high capex and debt imputed from PPAs, but question the higher risk of operating in CA. Importantly, we believe that equity valuations seem to already price this reduction in.
- PG&E demonized by media; CPUC seems poised for at least a slap on the wrist: The Commissioners acknowledged a negative bias against PG&E by a small but vocal minority of ratepayers and the local media in Northern California. Between bad press from smart meters and the San Bruno accident, the CPUC seems to be under a lot of pressure to "punish" PCG. The company is focused on improving its operations and public perception going forward, but it will take a while.
- CA nukes well-prepared for natural disasters; crucial for electric grid: According to the CPUC, the Cal-ISO and utility managements, EIX's and PCG's nuclear plants are well equipped to withstand earthquakes/tsunamis. As the plants are vital to maintain a reliable electric service in CA and based on statements from regulators, we do not expect problems with extensions of their useful lives currently pending for Diablo Canyon and to be filed in 2013 for San Onofre. If any additional investments are required to reinforce the plants, we expect the capex to be recoverable.

Outlook

- We continue to recommend shares of EIX and PCG, as the recent selloff has created attractive valuations even despite the elevated near-term regulatory risks.

PCG (Outperform, US$ 43.00,TP: US$50 from US$54)
EIX (Outperform, US$35.81, TP: US$41 from US$42)

Takeaways from meetings with California utility regulators

New CPUC Commissioners face very active regulatory calendar, Senate confirmation

Between pending rate cases for all three investor-owned electric utilities, San Bruno investigation, modifications to smart meter rollouts, and updates to allowed ROEs for water utilities, 2011 is a busy year for the CPUC. It will be an interesting year with three new Commissioners (the third one to be named any day) seeking Senate confirmations while California struggles to balance its budget.

Renewable targets remain intact, despite rising electric bills in CA

There was a clear consensus that CA will continue to pursue its goal of producing 33% of electricity from renewable resources by 2020. This won't be easy given the high cost of developing and integrating renewable capacity, though the state seems committed. The Commissioners seem indifferent between utilities owning the capacity vs. procuring from developers through long-term contracts, as any increase in competition should be a good thing. Other key concerns include interconnections, in-state vs. out-of-state resources (we may have seen the end of imports), and backup spinning reserves or ancillary services.

Nuclear concerns seem overdone in CA

There is little concern that an earthquake or tsunami could cause damage to CA's two nuclear plants, San Onofre (majority owned by SoCalEd) and Diablo Canyon (owned by PG&E).

Starting with San Onofre, the facility has a 30 foot wall (vs. a projected maximum tsunami of 25 feet); in Japan, the tsunami was 23 feet tall. The backup diesel generators are underground, and as such aren't at risk of flooding, as happened at the Fukushima units. Lastly, the plant is designed to sustain ground movement of 0.67g (gravity) vs. 0.35g in Japan.

Diablo Canyon is located on a bluff 85 feet above sea level, making tsunami risk negligible. That plant also has underground backup generation, and can withstand ground movement of 0.8g, higher than San Onofre given the higher seismic activity in Northern California.

Each plant is yet to be relicensed, though we see little risk of pushback given appropriate safety measures and reliability issues. San Onofre is licensed through 2022, and expects to begin the relicensing process only in 2013. That plant recently completed steam engine replacements, and sees little incremental capex needs. Diablo Canyon is licensed through 2024/2025, but had preemptively started the relicensing process before the Japanese tragedy. We believe that any potential capex for either plant would be fully recoverable.

ROEs may be under pressure, but cost recovery shouldn't be a big worry

Though the CPUC has historically granted c11–12% ROEs, we believe that a 50–100bp reduction may be likely in the next round of rate cases. This is a function of new Commissioners seeming to have a bias toward consumers and ongoing weakness in the CA economy. Importantly, we believe that shares of PCG and EIX already price this in. Our models assume 10.5% distribution ROEs in '13 and beyond.

None of the Commissioners would comment on what specifically would be an appropriate authorized ROE. Commentary suggested however that, while the CPUC recognizes the importance of credit ratings and utilities' ability to keep the cost of equity down, risks of operating in CA may not be meaningfully higher than other states. To keep rates from escalating too quickly, the CPUC will have to evaluate the sharing of costs between utility investors and ratepayers. The CPUC is also evaluating ways to incorporate performance evaluation in determining allowed ROEs (within a pre-set range).

Still, each Commissioner seemed to recognize the need for utility investments in order to achieve environmental needs while maintaining system safety and reliability. Prudently incurred costs should be recoverable as usual. We believe that above-average capex plans should be maintained.

CPUC05804

PG&E's public perception has taken a big hit

No one denied that PG&E's reputation has been hit hard, though we attribute this, at least in part, to our belief that Northern California is a tough environment. As such, we believe there is higher risk that the CPUC may be tougher on this utility vs. its peers to the South, at least in the near-term. The setback in perception was generally attributed to a combination of backlash to smart meters over the past two years, Prop. 16 and the San Bruno natural gas pipeline explosion.

Starting with the smart meters, most agreed that the opposition is tough to justify given that EIX's smart meter rollout faces limited to no complaints. Key concerns are health issues, interference with other items that share the radio frequency (such as baby monitors and garage door openers) and the accuracy of readings. Each has been scientifically refuted. Still, the CPUC feels the need to appease this very vocal minority – and the local media. PG&E is currently evaluating ways for customers to opt out of receiving an RF-transmitting smart meter and instead getting either a wired smart meter or a manually-read "dumb meter," though the customer would likely have to bear the cost.

As for San Bruno, there was a range of reactions. The Commissioners all agreed that no judgment should be passed until the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) issues their reports on the cause of the blast. However, it was clear that they believe to varying degrees that PG&E was at least partly responsible, and suggested that some form of punishment may be likely. While there was much discussion over record-keeping, all agree that there should be more emphasis on pipeline safety given an aging infrastructure. If PG&E is found to be in compliance with existing rules and regulations, future costs should be recoverable, though this is yet to be determined.

Valuation and risks

- EIX: Our US$41 (down from US$42) price target is based on a combination of 12.5x '12 regulated EPS. Risks include: pending rate case in CA, future allowed ROEs in CA, a potential credit default at EME, and margins from coal-fired plants coming in lower than expected.
- PCG: We base our US$50 price target (down from US$54) on a 12.75x '12 EPS. Risks include: the outcome of PCG's pending rate cases in CA, future allowed ROEs in the state, penalties associated with the San Bruno accident, execution on the +US$10bn capital plan, and the level of market interest rates, inflation and credit spreads,.

Gentlemen and Angie-- Based on our call on Friday, I have revised the proposed set of Questions and bracketed proposed responders. I will plan to call audible if necessary to keep the conversation moving smoothly. Objective is 45 minutes of Q&A and then leave 15 minutes for questions from the audience or questions by co-panelists. Please plan to hold responses to no longer than one minute (to keep conversation lively and flowing). Thanks for agreeing to participate on the panel. Should you have any questions, comments or proposed edits to list below, please feel free to call me at 212-231-1355. Safe travels to Vail. Regards, Peter

Dear Ms. Gonzalez

Last month we spoke about a meeting with President Peevey and a group of investors on March 14th or 15th(please see the email below). Unfortunately President Peevey was unavailable to meet with us then, and we saw Commissioners Florio, Sandoval and Simon instead. I'm attaching a note summarizing key takeaways from those meetings. We would love to hear President Peevey's stance on many of the issues discussed in the note, especially as some investors left those meetings a little concerned. Would President Peevey be open to a conference call with our investors? We are open to your suggestions about the timing of such as a call, but the sooner the better for us.

Please let me know.

Thanks

Dear Ms. Gonzalez

My name is Angie Storozynski and I head the utilities and alternative energy equity research team for Macquarie Capital in New York. We plan to bring a small group of investors to San Francisco to meet with members of senior management from the three major investor-owned utilities on March 15th. We would really appreciate if President Peevey could attend this mini-conference as our keynote speaker at a lunch.

We have about 15 investors from some of the largest funds across the country willing to travel to San Francisco for this meeting, based on the hope that President Peevey will join us. Each of the three utilities has committed, and we would be honored if Commissioner Florio could attend as well. Macquarie also has a top-notch conference planning team that will ensure all of the logistics are taken care of.

I have attached our official meeting request form for your review, and am happy to provide additional information.

Kind regards,
Angie Storozynski

Subject:	Macquarie Seventh Annual Utilities Power and Gas Conference --- Agenda, Speaker Bios and Sunday Ski Information
Attachments:	BIO_Book.pdf; VAIL _MiniAgenda_revised.pdf

Vail Panelists--

Greetings! Attached please find information on the Conference, including the Agenda and the Bios of Speakers and Panelists.

While some have told me that they will not be able to ski on Sunday, if you are able to ski please contact me so I have the appropriate lift ticket count. We will meet for Breakfast at 8am at the Vail Cascade Restaurant and then venture out to Ski about 9ish. If you are renting equipment, Macquarie has arranged for rentals thru the ski shop at the hotel.

Ski report calls for weather in Vail Village in the low to mid 30's during the day and there is plenty of snow.

We look forward to a great event and we appreciate your participation. Safe travels.

Best,

Peter

MACQUARIE

Andrew Chapman

Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets

Andrew joined Macquarie in 2006 and is a Senior Managing Director in Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets. As a utility sector expert for MIP I and MIP II, Andrew provides operational expertise and oversees the utility businesses.

Andrew has more than 27 years experience managing and financing infrastructure in the U.S. and joined Macquarie after 17 years in the water utility industry. Most recently, Andrew served as Vice President of Strategy and Regulation for American Water, which provides water and wastewater services in 23 states. In 2003, he served as president of the National Association of Water Companies. Additionally, Andrew served both as Chief Financial Officer and President of Elizabethtown Water Company, a NYSE-listed water utility, from 1989 until 2003. Andrew led the sale of Elizabethtown to Thames Water in 2000 and later combined Elizabethtown Water Company with New Jersey American Water, forming a company serving a population of more than 2 million. From 1985-1989, Andrew directed all capital funding activities for the State of New Jersey and its numerous independent authorities.

Alicia Moy

Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets

Alicia is a senior member of the Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets asset management team. Alicia has been at Macquarie Group for over nine years with over six years asset management experience in the utility and energy sectors. Alicia is currently the asset director for a gas utility in Hawaii, a water utility serving the Northeast region and a district energy business in Chicago and Las Vegas. Prior to joining Macquarie, Alicia worked at Morgan Stanley in the investment banking group focused on private equity.

Chris Leslie

Macquarie Infrastructure and Real Assets

Chris Leslie is a Senior Managing Director with the Macquarie Group in New York and has been with Macquarie for 18 years. He is the Chief Executive Officer of Macquarie Infrastructure Partners I & II, unlisted funds which have $5.5 billion invested or committed to invest in US and Canadian infrastructure projects. Chris moved to New York in 1999 to expand Macquarie's infrastructure advisory business in the United States and has been particularly active in the utilities and telecommunications infrastructure sectors including the acquisition of Global Tower Partners, the largest private cell tower owner in the United States in 2007 ($1.5 billion) and the $7bn take-private of Puget Energy in 2009. Chris also has direct experience in the development and/or acquisition of gas pipelines, gas distribution systems, toll roads, airports, heliports, fixed base operations, water and wastewater systems, airport car parks and power generation assets.

Chris holds a Bachelor of Commerce with Honors from the University of Melbourne and is a member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia.

Robert Faitell

Macquarie Energy LLC.

Robert heads Sales, Origination and Structured Finance for the Americas. Prior to joining Macquarie, Robert spent 14 years with Morgan Stanley's Commodities Group, last overseeing Corporate Client Business - Americas.

Roberta Konicki

Macquarie Energy LLC.

Ms. Konicki is Senior Vice President of Macquarie Energy LLC responsible for its structured retail power supply business in the U.S. Ms. Konicki joined Macquarie's Houston office in 2009 and has nearly eleven years of industry experience. Her responsibilities also include power and gas origination in the Northeast markets. Prior to joining Macquarie, Ms. Konicki was Vice President of Power Origination at Sempra Energy Trading, LLC.

Mr. Mupparapu is a Managing Director based in New York. He works with public and private clients to help manage commodity risk and optimize capital structure through long-dated, asset-backed derivatives and credit structures leveraging investment banking and trading activity. He is responsible for power and gas origination activities in the Northeast and is the primary interface between FICC and Macquarie Capital for commodity solutions. Prior to 2008, Mr. Mupparapu was at Credit Suisse where he worked to bring critical hedging and financing tools to the merchant energy asset development space to achieve larger goals within the capital structure.

Sherri Brudner

Macquarie Energy LLC.

Sherri Brudner joined Macquarie in 2006 as one of a five-person team hired to launch its North American power trading business. She now leads the sales and origination team covering Midwest and Mid-Atlantic power markets, with a purview expanding to include natural gas in those regions as well as the southeast US. She has been responsible for introducing and executing numerous customer transactions to build the Macquarie Energy portfolio - including physical tolls on gas-fueled generation; power purchase agreements on biomass, waste coal and hydro generators; variable volume power sales to utilities; and a large transaction integrating credit augmentation facilities with a commodity purchase. Sherri began her career in commodities markets reporting on crude oil trading for London-based Petroleum Argus. More recently, she has worked in natural gas trading and then power trading for Dynegy, and in sales and management for Duke Energy's merchant generation affiliate.

CPUC05830

In 1999 Ben left Macquarie to join Goldman Sachs. Based in London, Ben was a structured derivatives salesman covering commodities for a diverse range of customers in the Middle East, Europe and Africa. In 2000 Ben was promoted to Executive Director.

Ben rejoined Macquarie in June 2001 in his current role. He oversaw the growth of the London office from a staff complement of 12 to approximately 100. He has been responsible for the establishment and oversight of the Bank's energy derivatives business and for the establishment of derivative joint ventures with both the Royal Bank of Scotland and Abu Dhabi Commercial Bank.

Ben transferred to his current role in August 2007.

Charlie Fenner

Macquarie Energy LLC.

Charlie joined Macquarie in 2008. He is responsible for power fundamentals for Macquarie Energy in the US. Charlie analyzes load growth, retirements, new builds, fuel prices, ISO rules, environmental regulations and other variables to help shape Macquarie's views for energy prices, capacity prices and reserve margins. Charlie splits his efforts between providing views on the liquid part of the energy curve and providing fundamental price analysis for less liquid energy and capacity tenors and products.

Charlie entered the power industry in 2001 at Mirant, focusing on the PJM market. He then worked in equity research covering the power sector first at Prudential Equity Group and then as a Vice President at Morgan Stanley, where he worked immediately prior to joining Macquarie. He has an AB in Economics from Princeton and an MBA with a concentration in Finance from Vanderbilt.

James Caron

Macquarie Energy LLC.

James first joined Macquarie in 2008, as part of Macquarie Energy, and was primarily responsible for building a weather research group that provides historical as well as forecast weather reports for energy traders.

James and his team build hourly, weekly, monthly and seasonal temperature/precipitation forecasts for major cities across North America, Europe and Asia in support of energy commodity trading.

He also provides risks to forecasts, interpretation of external weather vendor forecasts and potential market reactions to changes in weather.

During tropical season, James researches and develops tropical cyclone forecasts across the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico which allows traders to see risks to the key Gulf Production Region.

Jan Stuart

Macquarie Energy LLC.

Jan Stuart, is Macquarie's Global Oil Economist. In this role, Mr Stuart serves mostly Macquarie's equity franchises around the world and he teams up with parts of the firm's FICC business, Mr.Stuart adds significantly to the global reach of Macquarie's already formidable research and equity platform for energies, resources and infrastructure. Mr.Stuart has been analyzing oil markets since the mid-1980s. After starting at the International Energy Agency in Paris, he wrote for and edited several publications in London and New York for the Energy Intelligence Group, before heading up energy commodities research at ABN-Amro and later Societe Generale's, Fimat. Mr. Stuart was the Global Oil Economist for UBS before joining Macquarie early in 2009.

Mark Sidran

Mark Sidran Consulting

Mark Sidran served as chairman of the Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission between 2005 and 2009. During his tenure, he also served on the National Association of Regulatory Commissioners Board of Directors, on NARUC's Electricity Committee and on the Advisory Council of the New Mexico State University Center for Public Utilities.

Prior to serving on the commission, he practiced law for 30 years, including three terms as Seattle's elected city attorney, overseeing a staff of 70 attorneys and 100 staff, which among other things provided legal services to Seattle's municipally-owned utilities, including electricity, water, and solid waste.

Mark's civic activities include serving on the board of the Downtown Emergency Service Center, Washington state's largest social service agency for the homeless.

Born and raised in Seattle, he is a graduate of Harvard College and the University of Washington Law School. Mark and his wife, Anais Winant, reside on Vashon Island near Seattle, where he 'works' as a consultant.

Boucher personally negotiated the key concessions with Energy and Commerce Committee Chairman Henry Waxman which resulted in the major investor owned utilities endorsing house passage of the Waxman-Markey Legislation. Through the spring months of 2009, Rick worked directly and extensively with the CEOs of the major coal-fired investor owned utilities, including American Electric Power Co., Duke Energy and Dominion Energy, and with the CEO of the Edison Electric Institute, the leading trade association for investor-owned utilities, in achieving major changes to the Waxman-Markey legislation. These negotiated changes brought the bill the support from the business community needed to achieve House passage of the legislation.

During the Energy and Commerce Committee Debate on the 1990 Clean Air Act Amendments, Rick was the major proponent of provisions enabling electric utilities to have a choice of installing scrubbers or switching to coal with lower sulfur content in meeting new sulfur dioxide emission requirements. In subsequent years, fuel switching became a preferred lower-cost means of meeting the requirements of the 1990 law.

Rick enjoys a broad range of outdoor activities, including skiing, backpacking, biking and jogging. Rick and his wife Amy, a newspaper and independent book editor, reside in Abingdon, VA.

Commissioner Robert M. Clayton III was appointed by Governor Bob Holden to a six-year term on the Public Service Commission, receiving Senate confirmation on May 8, 2003. He was appointed chairman by Gov. Jay Nixon on January 13, 2009. He served as chairman until Feb. 9, 2011.

Prior to his appointment to the PSC, Commissioner Clayton was an attorney in private law practice in Hannibal as a partner in the general practice firm, Clayton & Curl L.L.C. Commissioner Clayton formerly served Marion and Shelby County constituents in the Missouri General Assembly as the state representative from the 10th District. He was first elected to the Missouri House in 1994 and served four consecutive terms.

As a state legislator, he chaired the House Ethics Committee and the Joint Committee on Legislative Research and was Vice-Chairman of the Committee on Criminal Law. He also served on additional House committees including, Appropriations-Transportation, Agriculture and the Judiciary. While in the General Assembly, Clayton served on the Executive Committees of the Council of State Governments and the Southern Legislative Conference.

Commissioner Clayton is an active member of the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC). He is a former Chairman of the Committee on International Relations, which included serving as the NARUC representative appointed to attend the Presidium of the Energy Regulators Regional Association (ERRA) of Eastern and Central Europe. He has worked with several member nations of the African Forum for Utility Regulation (AFUR) including the nations of Rwanda and Uganda. He has also offered presentations on energy regulation in Azerbaijan, Hungary and before the Organization of Caribbean Utility Regulators.

Commissioner Clayton was also appointed to chair the Program Advisory Committee for the World Forum on Energy Regulation III, held in October 2006, in Washington, DC. The third triennial conference of its kind (the prior events were held in Montreal, Canada, and Rome, Italy), the World Forum hosted energy regulators, investors and stakeholders from 84 countries. As Chair of the Program Advisory Committee, Clayton's committee developed the comprehensive program agenda by coordinating topics of interest for all regulators, regardless of the maturity level of a nation's economy. The program highlighted 125 speakers with 28 different sessions of energy regulatory topics.

Commissioner Clayton also serves as a general member of the NARUC Telecommunications Committee and is involved in various organizations charged with the regulation and monitoring of telephone utilities. Clayton served as chairman of the Missouri Universal Service Board and is a state commission member of the FCC appointed North American Numbering Council. Commissioner Clayton received his Bachelor of Arts in History from Southern Methodist University in 1991 and earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Missouri-Kansas City in 1994.

Commissioner Clayton and his wife Erin have two daughters, Olivia and Paige.

Bill Myers

National Center for Atmospheric Research

Bill Myers is a Senior Software Engineer at NCAR/RAP. He studied mathematics at Dartmouth College (B.A. 1980) and the University of Washington (M.A. 1982). He earned his Computer Science Ph.D. at the University of Colorado in Boulder in 1999. Bill began work at NCAR in 1987 working on the development of the Terminal Doppler Weather Radar (TDWR) windshear detection system. He gained expertise in real-time 3-dimensional graphics and developed a system known as the Three Dimensional Terminal Viewer (3DTV), which was the basis for several patents. During the following years, he performed research in the optimal routing of aircraft around dynamic weather hazards. This algorithmic route-finding work coupled with novel visualization techniques formed the basis for his Ph.D. thesis.

Over the past ten years, Bill has led the development of the Dynamic Integrated ForeCast (DICast) system. This system combines data from a variety of sources using statistical and fuzzy logic techniques to produce forecasts that are superior to NWS forecast guidance. On this project, Bill has been responsible for engineering oversight, software development, and algorithmic research. The original sponsor of this work has made the DICast system central to their commercial operations, a testament to its robustness.

During those ten years, Bill has led efforts to build Decision Support Systems driven by DICast data. These efforts span road weather, agriculture, and, most recently, wind energy. For the wind energy system, developed for Xcel Energy, Bill adapted the DICast system to predict wind speed at turbine hub height and integrated this with advanced power conversion algorithms.

Recently, Bill has become the Chief Architect of Global Weather Corporation, a precision weather forecasting company.

Robert E. Curry

New York Public Services Commission

Robert E. Curry, Jr. was appointed Commissioner of the New York State Public Service Commission on June 22, 2006. His term runs through February 1, 2012. Subject:	Thank you for your participation at Vail Conference!

Gentlemen and Angie:

I would like to thank each of you for your participation at our Vail Conference! The feedback on the panel discussions has been very positive. We would not have been able to pull together such an interesting set of dialogues without your involvement and contributions. We hope that you enjoyed the Conference, your time in Vail and traveled home safetly.

Should you have any feedback that you would like to share, please email or call.

We look forward to having you join us again next year. If we can be of any help to you or your teams, please let us know.

Regards and Thanks,

Peter

Ishwar,

Thank you again for your offer to meet with Commissioner Florio. He made two suggestions that I hope you find agreeable. First, we'd like to focus the meeting on how the financial institutions you're representing assess risk in California's renewable market. Second, he'd like to include Commissioner Ferron, who has agreed to join the meeting if his schedule allows. What do you think?

If that approach works for you, please work with Ernesto Melendez (Commissioner Florio's scheduler) and Juliane Banks (Commissioner Ferron's scheduler), both cced, to identify a convenient time. Michael Colvin (cced), Commissioner Ferron's advisor, will also join us.

If you'd like, I'd be happy to discuss the agenda in more detail. Feel free to give me a call at your convenience.

Dear Matthew Tisdale,

Thank you for your time to chat during Commissioner Florio's All Party meeting on RPS last Friday in San Francisco.

As discussed, I am following up regarding potential meeting between the Financial Institutions (FIs) and Comm. Florio. The intent is to share perspectives on regulatory policies and challenges in the state of California faced by the energy industry in general and power in specific and how it impact investments, prices, liquidity, financial risk, and long term economic benefits to the state (ratepayers) in context of CPUC regulations.

I shared the idea with Commissioner Florio and he showed interest in the meeting.

Could you please advise with:

- Confirmation from Commissioner Florio for this meeting
- Input on the potential agenda items of interest to the Commission's staff
- The timeline

Feel free to give me a call for any questions. Thank you and look forward to hearing back from you.

MEETING REQUEST FORM

Party requesting meeting: Clean Coalition
Today's date: 3 March 2011
Docket or proceeding # Not Applicable
Reason for the meeting: The Clean Coalition, formerly known as the FIT Coalition, is a non-profit focused on making Clean Local Energy Accessible Now, and is leading several initiatives to solve the three primary barriers to bringing timely and cost-effective renewables online: 1) The utility resistance to Power Purchase Agreements (PPAs) for small-and-medium sized wholesale projects. 2) The virtual project blockade that results from existing interconnection procedures. 3) Timely and cost-effective financing due to the convoluted contract structures required by IOUs. The Clean Coalition will be joined by international executives from Scatec, which is a Norwegian-based multinational energy company that has its US subsidiary, Scatec Solar, based in Mountain View, CA. Scatec Solar has multiple solar PV projects of 50MW and smaller that are ready to be built within the next 12 months if they can simply get a PPA with PG&E. The projects have secured their Conditional Use Permits and interconnection agreements with PG&E, and the energy is priced at or below California's Market Price Referent (MPR). Despite these compelling facts, PG&E is introducing delay after delay in accepting these viable alternatives to using its flexible compliance work-arounds rather than achieving its RPS requirements. The Clean Coalition and Scatec believe that the above story will provide empirical insights into urgent improvements of California's RPS-related programs.

Ishwar,

Thank you again for your offer to meet with Commissioner Florio. He made two suggestions that I hope you find agreeable. First, we'd like to focus the meeting on how the financial institutions you're representing assess risk in California's renewable market. Second, he'd like to include Commissioner Ferron, who has agreed to join the meeting if his schedule allows. What do you think?

If that approach works for you, please work with Ernesto Melendez (Commissioner Florio's scheduler) and Juliane Banks (Commissioner Ferron's scheduler), both cced, to identify a convenient time. Michael Colvin (cced), Commissioner Ferron's advisor, will also join us.

If you'd like, I'd be happy to discuss the agenda in more detail. Feel free to give me a call at your convenience.

Dear Matthew Tisdale,

Thank you for your time to chat during Commissioner Florio's All Party meeting on RPS last Friday in San Francisco.

As discussed, I am following up regarding potential meeting between the Financial Institutions (FIs) and Comm. Florio. The intent is to share perspectives on regulatory policies and challenges in the state of California faced by the energy industry in general and power in specific and how it impact investments, prices, liquidity, financial risk, and long term economic benefits to the state (ratepayers) in context of CPUC regulations.

I shared the idea with Commissioner Florio and he showed interest in the meeting.

Could you please advise with:

Subject: MACQUARIE ENERGY | Research dinner Series | California Carbon Market and Regulatory Update, April 19th 2011

Michael,
Thank you for your call today . It was pleasure speaking with you.

As discussed, you are invited to attend Macquarie Energy's Workshop on Cap & Trade program in Sacramento, CA on April 19, 2011.

Representatives from CEC and CAISO are attending along with someone from most California Utilities (Muni and Regulated) and some out of state utilities and developers. We will be discussing the current state of affairs and market for CO2 (AB32) in California, lessons learned from other markets, overlap between Allowances and Offsets, the customer perspective and then have a roundtable discussion among all the participants.

If someone else from your organization should or would like attend, please feel free to invite them.

Agenda:
Reception
California Cap and Trade Program and update
Global carbon markets and lessons learned
Market impact: power and emissions
Round Table on alternative perspectives
Q&A
Dinner

Further details are shown in the invite below. Thank you and look forward to hearing from you.

Best regards,

Ishwar Saini

Ishwar,

Thank you again for your offer to meet with Commissioner Florio. He made two suggestions that I hope you find agreeable. First, we'd like to focus the meeting on how the financial institutions you're representing assess risk in California's renewable market. Second, he'd like to include Commissioner Ferron, who has agreed to join the meeting if his schedule allows. What do you think?

If that approach works for you, please work with Ernesto Melendez (Commissioner Florio's scheduler) and Juliane Banks (Commissioner Ferron's scheduler), both cced, to identify a convenient time. Michael Colvin (cced), Commissioner Ferron's advisor, will also join us.

If you'd like, I'd be happy to discuss the agenda in more detail. Feel free to give me a call at your convenience.

Dear Matthew Tisdale,

Thank you for your time to chat during Commissioner Florio's All Party meeting on RPS last Friday in San Francisco.

As discussed, I am following up regarding potential meeting between the Financial Institutions (FIs) and Comm. Florio. The intent is to share perspectives on regulatory policies and challenges in the state of California faced by the energy industry in general and power in specific and how it impact investments, prices, liquidity, financial risk, and long term economic benefits to the state (ratepayers) in context of CPUC regulations.

I shared the idea with Commissioner Florio and he showed interest in the meeting.

Could you please advise with:
- Confirmation from Commissioner Florio for this meeting
- Input on the potential agenda items of interest to the Commission's staff
- The timeline

Feel free to give me a call for any questions. Thank you and look forward to hearing back from you.

Hi Alisa,

My name is Juliane and I am assisting Cristine Fernandez with processing Comr. Simon's Macquarie reimbursements.

Alan James advised me that you were the contact person to submit Comr. Simon's expenses, which I have attached to this email.

Comr. Simon attended another event in Washington, D.C. directly after leaving Colorado, so you will notice that the airline receipt and airport parking charges include dates after the conclusion of the Macquarie conference. As a result, I have given a breakdown of the reimbursement amounts we are requesting below:

AIRFARE:
SFO to Denver	$224.13
Denver to Eagle	$561.55
Eagle to WDC	$675.04/2=337.52
AIRFARE TOTAL	$1,123.20
AIRPORT PARKING:
3 days @ 12.99/day+ tax	$40.01
TOTAL AMOUNT REQUESTED:	$1,163.21

Please confirm receipt of this email and also the amount authorized to be reimbursed to Comr. Simon.

Thank you so much for your help and please don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions.

Thank you for sending this through. I just need a couple of things from you in order for me to process the reimbursement, could I please ask you to complete the attached New Vendor Form and W9 form so I can have have the Commissioner set up in our accounting system. I'll also need an Invoice from you made out to Macquarie Capital (USA) Inc that has your breakdown below on it.

Once I have those I can go ahead and process this for you.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: Comr. Simon's Macquarie Expenses

Hi Alisa,

My name is Juliane and I am assisting Cristine Fernandez with processing Comr. Simon's Macquarie reimbursements.

Alan James advised me that you were the contact person to submit Comr. Simon's expenses, which I have attached to this email.

Comr. Simon attended another event in Washington, D.C. directly after leaving Colorado, so you will notice that the airline receipt and airport parking charges include dates after the conclusion of the Macquarie conference. As a result, I have given a breakdown of the reimbursement amounts we are requesting below:

AIRFARE:
SFO to Denver	$224.13
Denver to Eagle	$561.55
Eagle to WDC	$675.04/2=337.52
AIRFARE TOTAL	$1,123.20
AIRPORT PARKING:
3 days @ 12.99/day+ tax	$40.09
TOTAL AMOUNT REQUESTED:	$1,163.29

Please confirm receipt of this email and also the amount authorized to be reimbursed to Comr. Simon.

Thank you so much for your help and please don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions.

Juliane

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on Line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Employer identification number

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the Certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 4.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),

2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or

3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.

The person who gives Form W-9 to the partnership for purposes of establishing its U.S. status and avoiding withholding on its allocable share of net income from the partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States is in the following cases:

- The U.S. owner of a disregarded entity and not the entity,

CPUC05898

- The U.S. grantor or other owner of a grantor trust and not the trust, and
- The U.S. trust (other than a grantor trust) and not the beneficiaries of the trust.

Foreign person. If you are a foreign person, do not use Form W-9. Instead, use the appropriate Form W-8 (see Publication 515, Withholding of Tax on Nonresident Aliens and Foreign Entities).

Nonresident alien who becomes a resident alien. Generally, only a nonresident alien individual may use the terms of a tax treaty to reduce or eliminate U.S. tax on certain types of income. However, most tax treaties contain a provision known as a "saving clause." Exceptions specified in the saving clause may permit an exemption from tax to continue for certain types of income even after the payee has otherwise become a U.S. resident alien for tax purposes.

If you are a U.S. resident alien who is relying on an exception contained in the saving clause of a tax treaty to claim an exemption from U.S. tax on certain types of income, you must attach a statement to Form W-9 that specifies the following five items:

1. The treaty country. Generally, this must be the same treaty under which you claimed exemption from tax as a nonresident alien.

2. The treaty article addressing the income.

3. The article number (or location) in the tax treaty that contains the saving clause and its exceptions.

4. The type and amount of income that qualifies for the exemption from tax.

5. Sufficient facts to justify the exemption from tax under the terms of the treaty article.

Example. Article 20 of the U.S.-China income tax treaty allows an exemption from tax for scholarship income received by a Chinese student temporarily present in the United States. Under U.S. law, this student will become a resident alien for tax purposes if his or her stay in the United States exceeds 5 calendar years. However, paragraph 2 of the first Protocol to the U.S.-China treaty (dated April 30, 1984) allows the provisions of Article 20 to continue to apply even after the Chinese student becomes a resident alien of the United States. A Chinese student who qualifies for this exception (under paragraph 2 of the first protocol) and is relying on this exception to claim an exemption from tax on his or her scholarship or fellowship income would attach to Form W-9 a statement that includes the information described above to support that exemption.

If you are a nonresident alien or a foreign entity not subject to backup withholding, give the requester the appropriate completed Form W-8.

What is backup withholding? Persons making certain payments to you must under certain conditions withhold and pay to the IRS 28% of such payments. This is called "backup withholding." Payments that may be subject to backup withholding include interest, tax-exempt interest, dividends, broker and barter exchange transactions, rents, royalties, nonemployee pay, and certain payments from fishing boat operators. Real estate transactions are not subject to backup withholding.

You will not be subject to backup withholding on payments you receive if you give the requester your correct TIN, make the proper certifications, and report all your taxable interest and dividends on your tax return.

Payments you receive will be subject to backup withholding if:

1. You do not furnish your TIN to the requester,

2. You do not certify your TIN when required (see the Part II instructions on page 3 for details),

3. The IRS tells the requester that you furnished an incorrect TIN,

4. The IRS tells you that you are subject to backup withholding because you did not report all your interest and dividends on your tax return (for reportable interest and dividends only), or

5. You do not certify to the requester that you are not subject to backup withholding under 4 above (for reportable interest and dividend accounts opened after 1983 only).

Certain payees and payments are exempt from backup withholding. See the instructions below and the separate Instructions for the Requester of Form W-9.

Also see Special rules for partnerships on page 1.

Penalties

Failure to furnish TIN. If you fail to furnish your correct TIN to a requester, you are subject to a penalty of $50 for each such failure unless your failure is due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

Civil penalty for false information with respect to withholding. If you make a false statement with no reasonable basis that results in no backup withholding, you are subject to a $500 penalty.

Criminal penalty for falsifying information. Willfully falsifying certifications or affirmations may subject you to criminal penalties including fines and/or imprisonment.

Misuse of TINs. If the requester discloses or uses TINs in violation of federal law, the requester may be subject to civil and criminal penalties.

Specific Instructions

Name

If you are an individual, you must generally enter the name shown on your income tax return. However, if you have changed your last name, for instance, due to marriage without informing the Social Security Administration of the name change, enter your first name, the last name shown on your social security card, and your new last name.

If the account is in joint names, list first, and then circle, the name of the person or entity whose number you entered in Part I of the form.

Sole proprietor. Enter your individual name as shown on your income tax return on the "Name" line. You may enter your business, trade, or "doing business as (DBA)" name on the "Business name" line.

Limited liability company (LLC). Check the "Limited liability company" box only and enter the appropriate code for the tax classification ("D" for disregarded entity, "C" for corporation, "P" for partnership) in the space provided.

For a single-member LLC (including a foreign LLC with a domestic owner) that is disregarded as an entity separate from its owner under Regulations section 301.7701-3, enter the owner's name on the "Name" line. Enter the LLC's name on the "Business name" line.

For an LLC classified as a partnership or a corporation, enter the LLC's name on the "Name" line and any business, trade, or DBA name on the "Business name" line.

Other entities. Enter your business name as shown on required federal tax documents on the "Name" line. This name should match the name shown on the charter or other legal document creating the entity. You may enter any business, trade, or DBA name on the "Business name" line.

Note. You are requested to check the appropriate box for your status (individual/sole proprietor, corporation, etc.).

Exempt Payee

If you are exempt from backup withholding, enter your name as described above and check the appropriate box for your status, then check the "Exempt payee" box in the line following the business name, sign and date the form.

Generally, individuals (including sole proprietors) are not exempt from backup withholding. Corporations are exempt from backup withholding for certain payments, such as interest and dividends.

Note. If you are exempt from backup withholding, you should still complete this form to avoid possible erroneous backup withholding.

The following payees are exempt from backup withholding:

1. An organization exempt from tax under section 501(a), any IRA, or a custodial account under section 403(b)(7) if the account satisfies the requirements of section 401(f)(2),

2. The United States or any of its agencies or instrumentalities,

3. A state, the District of Columbia, a possession of the United States, or any of their political subdivisions or instrumentalities,

4. A foreign government or any of its political subdivisions, agencies, or instrumentalities, or

5. An international organization or any of its agencies or instrumentalities.

Other payees that may be exempt from backup withholding include:

6. A corporation,

7. A foreign central bank of issue,

8. A dealer in securities or commodities required to register in the United States, the District of Columbia, or a possession of the United States,

9. A futures commission merchant registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission,

10. A real estate investment trust,

11. An entity registered at all times during the tax year under the Investment Company Act of 1940,

12. A common trust fund operated by a bank under section 584(a),

13. A financial institution,

14. A middleman known in the investment community as a nominee or custodian, or

15. A trust exempt from tax under section 664 or described in section 4947.

The chart below shows types of payments that may be exempt from backup withholding. The chart applies to the exempt payees listed above, 1 through 15.

IF the payment is for . . .	THEN the payment is exempt for . . .
Interest and dividend payments	All exempt payees except for 9
Broker transactions	Exempt payees 1 through 13. Also, a person registered under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 who regularly acts as a broker
Barter exchange transactions and patronage dividends	Exempt payees 1 through 5
Payments over $600 required to be reported and direct sales over $5,000[1]	Generally, exempt payees 1 through 7[2]

[1] See Form 1099-MISC, Miscellaneous Income, and its instructions.

[2] However, the following payments made to a corporation (including gross proceeds paid to an attorney under section 6045(f), even if the attorney is a corporation) and reportable on Form 1099-MISC are not exempt from backup withholding: medical and health care payments, attorneys' fees, and payments for services paid by a federal executive agency.

Part I. Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. If you are a resident alien and you do not have and are not eligible to get an SSN, your TIN is your IRS individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN). Enter it in the social security number box. If you do not have an ITIN, see How to get a TIN below.

If you are a sole proprietor and you have an EIN, you may enter either your SSN or EIN. However, the IRS prefers that you use your SSN.

If you are a single-member LLC that is disregarded as an entity separate from its owner (see Limited liability company (LLC) on page 2), enter the owner's SSN (or EIN, if the owner has one). Do not enter the disregarded entity's EIN. If the LLC is classified as a corporation or partnership, enter the entity's EIN.

Note. See the chart on page 4 for further clarification of name and TIN combinations.

How to get a TIN. If you do not have a TIN, apply for one immediately. To apply for an SSN, get Form SS-5, Application for a Social Security Card, from your local Social Security Administration office or get this form online at www.ssa.gov. You may also get this form by calling 1-800-772-1213. Use Form W-7, Application for IRS Individual Taxpayer Identification Number, to apply for an ITIN, or Form SS-4, Application for Employer Identification Number, to apply for an EIN. You can apply for an EIN online by accessing the IRS website at www.irs.gov/businesses and clicking on Employer Identification Number (EIN) under Starting a Business. You can get Forms W-7 and SS-4 from the IRS by visiting www.irs.gov or by calling 1-800-TAX-FORM (1-800-829-3676).

If you are asked to complete Form W-9 but do not have a TIN, write "Applied For" in the space for the TIN, sign and date the form, and give it to the requester. For interest and dividend payments, and certain payments made with respect to readily tradable instruments, generally you will have 60 days to get a TIN and give it to the requester before you are subject to backup withholding on payments. The 60-day rule does not apply to other types of payments. You will be subject to backup withholding on all such payments until you provide your TIN to the requester.

Note. Entering "Applied For" means that you have already applied for a TIN or that you intend to apply for one soon.

Caution: A disregarded domestic entity that has a foreign owner must use the appropriate Form W-8.

Part II. Certification

To establish to the withholding agent that you are a U.S. person, or resident alien, sign Form W-9. You may be requested to sign by the withholding agent even if items 1, 4, and 5 below indicate otherwise.

For a joint account, only the person whose TIN is shown in Part I should sign (when required). Exempt payees, see Exempt Payee on page 2.

Signature requirements. Complete the certification as indicated in 1 through 5 below.

1. Interest, dividend, and barter exchange accounts opened before 1984 and broker accounts considered active during 1983. You must give your correct TIN, but you do not have to sign the certification.

2. Interest, dividend, broker, and barter exchange accounts opened after 1983 and broker accounts considered inactive during 1983. You must sign the certification or backup withholding will apply. If you are subject to backup withholding and you are merely providing your correct TIN to the requester, you must cross out item 2 in the certification before signing the form.

CPUC05900

3. Real estate transactions. You must sign the certification. You may cross out item 2 of the certification.

4. Other payments. You must give your correct TIN, but you do not have to sign the certification unless you have been notified that you have previously given an incorrect TIN. "Other payments" include payments made in the course of the requester's trade or business for rents, royalties, goods (other than bills for merchandise), medical and health care services (including payments to corporations), payments to a nonemployee for services, payments to certain fishing boat crew members and fishermen, and gross proceeds paid to attorneys (including payments to corporations).

5. Mortgage interest paid by you, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, qualified tuition program payments (under section 529), IRA, Coverdell ESA, Archer MSA or HSA contributions or distributions, and pension distributions. You must give your correct TIN, but you do not have to sign the certification.

What Name and Number To Give the Requester

For this type of account:	Give name and SSN of:
1. Individual	The individual
2. Two or more individuals (joint account)	The actual owner of the account or, if combined funds, the first individual on the account [1]
3. Custodian account of a minor (Uniform Gift to Minors Act)	The minor [2]
4. a. The usual revocable savings trust (grantor is also trustee)	The grantor-trustee [1]
b. So-called trust account that is not a legal or valid trust under state law	The actual owner [1]
5. Sole proprietorship or disregarded entity owned by an individual	The owner [3]
For this type of account:	Give name and EIN of:
6. Disregarded entity not owned by an individual	The owner
7. A valid trust, estate, or pension trust	Legal entity [4]
8. Corporate or LLC electing corporate status on Form 8832	The corporation
9. Association, club, religious, charitable, educational, or other tax-exempt organization	The organization
10. Partnership or multi-member LLC	The partnership
11. A broker or registered nominee	The broker or nominee
12. Account with the Department of Agriculture in the name of a public entity (such as a state or local government, school district, or prison) that receives agricultural program payments	The public entity

[1] List first and circle the name of the person whose number you furnish. If only one person on a joint account has an SSN, that person's number must be furnished.

[2] Circle the minor's name and furnish the minor's SSN.

[3] You must show your individual name and you may also enter your business or "DBA" name on the second name line. You may use either your SSN or EIN (if you have one), but the IRS encourages you to use your SSN.

[4] List first and circle the name of the trust, estate, or pension trust. (Do not furnish the TIN of the personal representative or trustee unless the legal entity itself is not designated in the account title.) Also see Special rules for partnerships on page 1.

Note. If no name is circled when more than one name is listed, the number will be considered to be that of the first name listed.

Secure Your Tax Records from Identity Theft

Identity theft occurs when someone uses your personal information such as your name, social security number (SSN), or other identifying information, without your permission, to commit fraud or other crimes. An identity thief may use your SSN to get a job or may file a tax return using your SSN to receive a refund.

To reduce your risk:

- Protect your SSN,
- Ensure your employer is protecting your SSN, and
- Be careful when choosing a tax preparer.

Call the IRS at 1-800-829-1040 if you think your identity has been used inappropriately for tax purposes.

Victims of identity theft who are experiencing economic harm or a system problem, or are seeking help in resolving tax problems that have not been resolved through normal channels, may be eligible for Taxpayer Advocate Service (TAS) assistance. You can reach TAS by calling the TAS toll-free case intake line at 1-877-777-4778 or TTY/TDD 1-800-829-4059.

Protect yourself from suspicious emails or phishing schemes. Phishing is the creation and use of email and websites designed to mimic legitimate business emails and websites. The most common act is sending an email to a user falsely claiming to be an established legitimate enterprise in an attempt to scam the user into surrendering private information that will be used for identity theft.

The IRS does not initiate contacts with taxpayers via emails. Also, the IRS does not request personal detailed information through email or ask taxpayers for the PIN numbers, passwords, or similar secret access information for their credit card, bank, or other financial accounts.

If you receive an unsolicited email claiming to be from the IRS, forward this message to phishing@irs.gov. You may also report misuse of the IRS name, logo, or other IRS personal property to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration at 1-800-366-4484. You can forward suspicious emails to the Federal Trade Commission at: spam@uce.gov or contact them at www.consumer.gov/idtheft or 1-877-IDTHEFT(438-4338).

Visit the IRS website at www.irs.gov to learn more about identity theft and how to reduce your risk.

Privacy Act Notice

Section 6109 of the Internal Revenue Code requires you to provide your correct TIN to persons who must file information returns with the IRS to report interest, dividends, and certain other income paid to you, mortgage interest you paid, the acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA, or Archer MSA or HSA. The IRS uses the numbers for identification purposes and to help verify the accuracy of your tax return. The IRS may also provide this information to the Department of Justice for civil and criminal litigation, and to cities, states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. possessions to carry out their tax laws. We may also disclose this information to other countries under a tax treaty, to federal and state agencies to enforce federal nontax criminal laws, or to federal law enforcement and intelligence agencies to combat terrorism.

You must provide your TIN whether or not you are required to file a tax return. Payers must generally withhold 28% of taxable interest, dividend, and certain other payments to a payee who does not give a TIN to a payer. Certain penalties may also apply.
