On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors . This symposium, "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California," will be held May 7 & 8 in downtown San Francisco and focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah Hersman, Chair of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Just click on this symposium registration website and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium.

Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.

As Director of the Safety & Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop "win-win" solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

Chief Joanne Hayes-White: San Francisco Fire Department

White was sworn in by Mayor Newsom as the 25th Chief of the San Francisco Fire Department on January 16, 2004. San Francisco is now the largest urban fire department in the world with a fema chief. Chief Hayes-White oversees a department of approximately 1,800 members and an operati budget of $250 million. Hayes-White, a San Francisco native, came to the department after gradu from the University of Santa Clara with a degree in business. She was hired as a firefighter in April 1990, promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in 1993 and to the rank of Captain in January 1996. In M 1996 she was made acting Battalion Chief with oversight of the department's dispatch and communications systems. She oversaw the installation of the computer-aided system (CAD) and automated information systems and by doing so, streamlined and improved the department's dispatch and records management capabilities.

Also accomplished during her tenure as the Battalion Chief for Dispatch and Communications, Hay White spearheaded the unification of City dispatch operations into the single Emergency Communications Department, a process that combined Fire, EMS, and police dispatch communications under one roof, improving response times and service to the community, as well strengthening interagency cooperation and collaboration.

Promoted to Assistant Deputy Chief in 1998, she was responsible for the Division of Support Servi the Bureau of Communications, the Bureau of Equipment, the Bureau of Engineering and Water Supply, Management Information Systems, and all facility repairs, maintenance and renovations.

Prior to her appointment as Chief, Hayes-White served as the Director of Training for the Fire Department, where she supervised recruit training, in-service training, continuing education, and firefighter-paramedic cross training. She developed the Battalion-Based In-Service Training Progra process that virtually tripled the number of formal training hours for all members of the departme with no fiscal or financial impact on the City.

Chief Hayes-White is very proud of the fact that she has, either as a Firefighter or Officer, worked every one of San Francisco's forty-two fire stations.

Chief Hayes-White is considered to be a hands-on, collaborative and team-oriented leader. She pr herself on knowing most of the Department members by name. During her tenure as Chief, the Liza, do you have the final invite letter? And, is this the latest version, attached, of the agenda that you know of?

I have the list of email addresses so I can send the agenda and letter out as soon as you tell me they are final (I know there will be a few TBDs on the agenda that still need to be filled in, of course).

Thanks!

DRAFT Symposium Invitation letter from Gen Hagan – agenda and logistics sheet would be attached (put on CPUC letterhead)

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within Californiaa's utility services and infrastructure sectors ~~'s public utility sector~~. This symposium, "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California," will be held May 7 & 8 in downtown San Francisco and~~.~~ ~~This symposium will~~ focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions ~~on the first day~~ will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue~~.~~ ~~The second day we will move to the California Public Utilities Commission auditorium at 505 Van Ness Avenue., just a block away from the Johnson Building.~~

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture~~, which~~ that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah Hersman, Chair of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow ~~her~~ Chairman Hersman's introduction ~~on~~ to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Just click on this symposium registration website and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium.

Formatted: Font: 12 pt

Note that aAn optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1. ~~Additional details are provided in the attached brochure.~~

As Director of the Safety & Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop "win-win" solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

STATE OF CALIFORNIA EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

Subject: Symposium update

Today's core group on the 1:30 call got to hear the great news from Peter that Tom Kemp from Alaska Air is confirmed for the first session! Big relief. Thanks Peter.

The other good news is that the invitations (sent yesterday by the CPUC) appear to have successfully reached everybody who was on the list. Please remember to register yourselves on the very easy system embedded in the invitation letter. Also make your hotel reservations as there is limited availability in SF that week.

Still to come:

1. Confirmation of all moderators. Likely to be Senator Mark Leno for Panel 1 and Elizabeth Ashford of the Governor's Office for Panel 2. CPUC needs to finalize that. [Paul Clanon is confirmed for Panel 3.] We have tentative confirmation of Assemblymember Joan Buchanan to introduce Captain Sullenberger at the Tuesday dinner. (Sullenberger lives in her district.)
2. Panel issues/questions. Laura is trying to coordinate with CPUC re Panel 3. Bob Chipevich will contact his panel and lay out format, i.e., 10 min introductory comments followed by moderator and audience questions.
3. Agenda. We talked about some changes in Day 1 to allow more time for Panel 1. Laura will provide a more detailed version of the working agenda.
4. Logistics. We are waiting for the contract from the Marines' Memorial Club to finalize the dinner arrangements. We know we have the space, just need to pay the deposit and sign the contract.
5. Monday dinner with Hagan and utility execs. We know who's coming, but we don't have the location yet. Laura is working on it.

More next week!
Thanks everyone.

Hi Terrie,

Thanks for the invite to this Symposium. I see from the agenda that I am listed as a speaker. I did have one brief conversation a month ago or so about that possibility, but have heard nothing else since. Will more information be provided soon about expectations, format, etc?

Thanks

Good Afternoon –

I am writing on behalf of Chairman Hersman and the invitation to speak at your upcoming May 7th symposium. Unfortunately, over the last several weeks, with sequestration and the continuing resolution, the Chairman was cancelling travel plans because of financial uncertainties. At this time, it does not appear that the Chairman is going to be able to make the May 7th date. I note in the March 26th letter, President Peevey wrote that this was the first in a series of events. The Chairman would like to know whether she could reschedule for a future symposium date and in particular, whether any dates are available in late August as there are other speaking invitations in California. Please advise how you would like to proceed.

Thanks,

Tom

Good morning – hope all is going well in Boston.
Chair Hersman can't come out because of sequestration. Jim Hall thinks he can get her to do a video.
If she agrees to that, how about trying to get Peevey to speak after the video? That way the "keynote" would consist of Hersman's video and Peevey's in-person message, and then we'd move into the panel.

Liza – can you see if Peevey is even available the afternoon of the 7th to do this?

Hi,

Let's take a quick pause. I reached out to Peevey and he said that he has another event on May 7th, but can do both that and the safety symposium. I think we are still ok. I'll follow-up to make sure that Peevey is available when we need him, but I think we are fine.

Love you!!
We will, for now, proceed with trying to get Hersman to agree to do a video, and we'll await confirmation from Gen Hagan that he's ok with that.

Hi,

Let's take a quick pause. I reached out to Peevey and he said that he has another event on May 7th, but can do both that and the safety symposium. I think we are still ok. I'll follow-up to make sure that Peevey is available when we need him, but I think we are fine.

All,

President Peevey is confirmed for the following times:

- May 7th at approximately 2pm (after chairman Hersman's virtual address)
- May 8th at approximately 12pm for concluding remarks

I'm assuming that we are back on track for the original dates. We will now work on making the arrangements to have Chairman Hersman to speak virtually.

Sorry to ask you to do this, but could you shoot Carl Wood an email saying that you knew that Kim had reached out to him about being on a panel for the safety symposium but that the agenda subsequently changed?
Since it came from the CPUC, I think the clarification also should come from the CPUC.
Carl is a former Commissioner (as you may know) and I just don't want this loose end and potential awkwardness.

Thanks – and thanks again for saving the day today.

Subject: Natural Gas Safety Symposium May 7-8

Carl, Jerry, Tim and Chief Hayes-White,

Thank you all for agreeing to participate on a panel at the Natural Gas Safety Symposium scheduled for May 7and 8 in San Francisco. The focus of this symposium is Forging a New Vision of Safety in California and you should have received an invitation from General Hagan through an email from Terrie Prosper at the California Public Utilities Commission on April 4 to register. Please be sure to register, there is no fee - and also please sign up for the dinner the evening of May 7 if you would like to attend. A reservation for the dinner needs to be completed by May 1. Following is the link provided in the invitation letter to register http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium .

Your panel - "Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response" is scheduled for May 8, beginning at 8:30 am, in the Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Elizabeth Ashford of the Governor's Office has been asked to moderate the panel and expressed interest to do so, the CPUC is awaiting confirmation. Following are the names and titles of the members of your panel:
Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust
Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SowthWest Gas
Tim Butters, Deputy Administrator, Pipeline and Hazardous Safety Administration
Chief Joanne Hayes-White, San Francisco Fire Department

Each panelist will be given 10-15 minutes to provide comments followed by approximately 30 minutes scheduled for questions. Equipment will be available for PowerPoint, please let us know if you have any special needs.

Suggested topics of discussion for panel 3 are:

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.

- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.
- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.
- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

We will advise you when your moderator has been confirmed. I look forward to seeing each of you at the symposium. If you have any question, I will be happy to direct you to the right person or get an answer for you. You may contact me by email or my cell phone at 202-320-6313 at any time, and I will get back to you as soon as possible.

Thanks, Bob Chipkevich

Good morning – hope all is going well in Boston.
Chair Hersman can't come out because of sequestration. Jim Hall thinks he can get her to do a video.
If she agrees to that, how about trying to get Peevey to speak after the video? That way the "keynote" would consist of Hersman's video and Peevey's in-person message, and then we'd move into the panel.

Liza – can you see if Peevey is even available the afternoon of the 7th to do this?

Thanks

10:15 – 12:00 Panel 3: Leading Safety – What Does Regulatory Leadership Look Like?

Moderator: Paul Clanon, Executive Director, CA PUC

Commissioner Mike Florio, CA PUC

Commissioner Paul J. Roberti, Rhode Island PUC

Chris Johns, President, PG&E

Dennis Arriola, President & COO, So Cal Gas

Panel concept: Bring together two regulators and two utility company presidents for a discussion about safety leadership and what each would like to see in the other.

- From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility? Is this an abstract or an empirical objective?
- How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?
- Is public safety really a shared responsibility for both the regulated companies and the regulators? If so, what is the appropriate balance between the parties for this shared responsibility to the public?
- How can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs? What are the largest barriers to that success?
- How can regulators do a better job of defining what will be needed from the utilities with a common objective of improving productivity and reporting?

This will be important to nail down ahead of time.
I expect one or two videos and then possibly a couple PowerPoints.

And perhaps when people aren't PowerPointing you might want to leave up some cool CPUC slide with the name of the conference on it?

STATE OF CALIFORNIA EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III
Brigadier General (CA)

Provided crisis communications support to BP executives in Houston, Texas during the Deepwater Horizon oil spill, across media and audiences globally. Developed communications strategy to support BP's legal defense during the largest set of investigations in U.S. history.

Biography

Elizabeth Ashford is a communications and public affairs strategist who has served as a senior advisor and spokesperson for California governors Jerry Brown and Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Ashford has also worked abroad extensively, helping Fortune 500 and FTSE 100 companies navigate complex political and media challenges.

As an on-the-record spokesperson for Governor Brown from 2011–2013, Ashford developed communications strategies and worked with reporters to promote his policy, litigation and legislative goals. She also oversaw press relations across California's state agencies and departments. Her work supported the Governor's successful efforts to balance the state budget, implement public safety realignment and bring renewable energy online.

In 2012, she helped pass Governor Brown's Proposition 30 initiative to fund public schools.

From 2009–2011 Ashford was chief of staff at Brunswick Group, a public affairs firm headquartered in London, England, where she helped manage global operations and advisory work for major companies, with a focus on crisis communications. Clients included BP during the Deepwater Horizon spill; Kraft Foods throughout its acquisition of Cadbury chocolates; and the government of Dubai following the emirate's debt crisis.

From 2006–2008 she served as chief deputy communications director and then chief deputy cabinet secretary for Governor Schwarzenegger. In this capacity, Ashford developed strategies to respond to California's massive wildfires in 2007 and 2008, promote healthcare reform and pass the California Global Warming Solutions Act (AB 32).

She has also supported communications for non-profits and schools, including Save the Children and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music.

Ashford earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in comparative religion from the University of California Los Angeles and a Master of International Affairs degree from Columbia University. She is a third generation Californian.

I would add one question:

How do you handle the first press conference of an incident in area where there has been a death and/or serious injuries?

Carl, Jerry, Tim and Chief Hayes-White,

Thank you all for agreeing to participate on a panel at the Natural Gas Safety Symposium scheduled for May 7and 8 in San Francisco. The focus of this symposium is Forging a New Vision of Safety in California and you should have received an invitation from General Hagan through an email from Terrie Prosper at the California Public Utilities Commission on April 4 to register. Please be sure to register, there is no fee - and also please sign up for the dinner the evening of May 7 if you would like to attend. A reservation for the dinner needs to be completed by May 1. Following is the link provided in the invitation letter to register http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium .

Your panel - "Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response" is scheduled for May 8, beginning at 8:30 am, in the Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Elizabeth Ashford of the Governor's Office has been asked to moderate the panel and expressed interest to do so, the CPUC is awaiting confirmation. Following are the names and titles of the members of your panel:
Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust
Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SowthWest Gas
Chief Joanne Hayes-White, San Francisco Fire Department

Each panelist will be given 10-15 minutes to provide comments followed by approximately 30 minutes scheduled for questions. Equipment will be available for PowerPoint, please let us know if you have any special needs.

Suggested topics of discussion for panel 3 are:

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.
- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.
- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.
- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

We will advise you when your moderator has been confirmed. I look forward to seeing each of you at the symposium. If you have any question, I will be happy to direct you to the right person or get an answer for you. You may contact me by email or my cell phone at 202-320-6313 at any time, and I will get back to you as soon as possible.

Thanks, Bob Chipkevich

Well give me a couple hours and I'm sure ill think of something ... :).
Thanks for reviewing the panel stuff and putting together the panel 1 questions.

Paul says the cpuc can't pay for coffee and its impossible to have segregated facilities. I'm going to go over to the building and see if we might be able to bring in a vendor to sell coffee. Don't know if the bldg would allow that, but thought I'd check.

Hope you're getting good stuff out of JFK.

This will be important to nail down ahead of time.
I expect one or two videos and then possibly a couple PowerPoints.

And perhaps when people aren't PowerPointing you might want to leave up some cool CPUC slide with the name of the conference on it?

Laura,

When you click on the symposium website, there is nothing on the agenda. Sorry if I missed the conversation on this, but is it intentional because we are waiting to finalize or is the site broken?

STATE OF CALIFORNIA — EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Captain Bridges
I just left you a voicemail but want to follow up about your travel to San Francisco for the May 7-8 symposium.

The combined gas utilities will be paying your expenses (PG&E, Southern California Gas, and Southwest Gas Corp) and PG&E will coordinate the payment. It is easiest for us if you make your own arrangements: air, hotel, etc. Keep receipts and then submit them afterward, through me, and we will get you reimbursed.

You should have received the email invitation sent out by the CPUC last seek. You need to register on-line so we have a detailed headcount.
The Marine's Memorial Club has some rooms available, and that might be a good location for you as the Tuesday night dinner is there and it's conveniently located and I assume they have a government rate. Just contact them directly at 1.800.562.7463, or at www.marineclub.com. We'll be paying for the Tuesday night dinner directly, but there is a cash bar beforehand. All other meals will be on your own, and we will reimburse you for reasonable charges (which I have no doubt you are used to!)

Hope this clears things up.
Let me know if you need anything further on the travel side of things. Someone, probably Peter Goelz, will be contacting you to talk about the panel format and provide some questions to consider. Basically, you'll have about 10 minutes to make some brief remarks following Ted Kemp from Alaska Air. Then we'll open it up to questions.

Looking forward to meeting you in May!

Bob

I'm following up on your previous communications with General Jack Hagan about the upcoming CPUC Safety Symposium May 7 & 8 in San Francisco. I hope you received the invitation (below and attached) last week from the CPUC, and I hope you have had an opportunity to register on-line. There is a link in the attachment to this email. As everything is paperless for this event, we really need the digital registration list for an accurate headcount.

The combined gas utilities will be paying your expenses (PG&E, Southern California Gas, and Southwest Gas Corp) and PG&E will coordinate the payment. It is easiest for us if you make your own arrangements: air (which I assume you do not need), hotel, etc. Keep receipts and then submit them via invoice afterward, through me, and we will get you reimbursed.

You may stay anywhere you like. The Marine's Memorial Club has some rooms available, and that might be a good location for you as the Tuesday night dinner is there and it's conveniently located. Just contact them directly at 1.800.562.7463, or at www.marineclub.com. We'll be paying for the Tuesday night dinner directly, but there is a cash bar beforehand. All other meals will be on your own, and we will reimburse you for reasonable charges (which I have no doubt you are used to!)

Peter Goelz, who's copied on this email, will be in touch with you about the panel format and questions to focus the discussion. The plan for your panel is that Alaska Air will open the discussion with about a 20 minute presentation of their transformation, and then panelists will speak for about 10 minutes each before we open it to questions.

Again, we look forward to your participation.

Laura,
Thanks for the email. I haven't received the email invitation as of yet.

FYSA, Based on Joint Ethics Regulations (JER), if a non-federal entity is paying for my travel I need approval through my travel approving authority. Have asked the Office of General Counsel for legal recommendation to ensure I am in compliance with the JER. Should not be an issue but they have not yet gotten back to me.

Captain Bridges

I just left you a voicemail but want to follow up about your travel to San Francisco for the May 7-8 symposium.

The combined gas utilities will be paying your expenses (PG&E, Southern California Gas, and Southwest Gas Corp) and PG&E will coordinate the payment. It is easiest for us if you make your own arrangements: air, hotel, etc. Keep receipts and then submit them afterward, through me, and we will get you reimbursed.

You should have received the email invitation sent out by the CPUC last seek. You need to register on-line so we have a detailed headcount.

The Marine's Memorial Club has some rooms available, and that might be a good location for you as the Tuesday night dinner is there and it's conveniently located and I assume they have a government rate. Just contact them directly at 1.800.562.7463, or at www.marineclub.com. We'll be paying for the Tuesday night dinner directly, but there is a cash bar beforehand. All other meals will be on your own, and we will reimburse you for reasonable charges (which I have no doubt you are used to!)

Hope this clears things up.

Let me know if you need anything further on the travel side of things. Someone, probably Peter Goelz, will be contacting you to talk about the panel format and provide some questions to consider. Basically, you'll have about 10 minutes to make some brief remarks following Ted Kemp from Alaska Air. Then we'll open it up to questions.

Looking forward to meeting you in May!

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

I'd like a meeting with General Hagan during the week of April 21. I understand that's when he returns to SF.
The purpose is to go over the safety symposium agenda and details.
Can you find an hour or 1/12 hours to set aside? We don't have much time before May 7&8.

Thanks

I know you are moving!
It's quite a process, and I hope yours goes well.

Turns out I need two meetings with General Hagan that week.
So I'd like to give Tom Bottorff the 9:30 am slot on April 23, and then some other time for my symposium discussion. Even dinner on Monday the 22nd would work for me – I know his days get filled up.

When you come up for air, let me know.
In the meantime, don't overexert in the move!

Thanks

Dear Commissioner Florio;

My name is Bill Scott and I work with Hall and Associates, a group consulting to PG&E on Safety Culture. A portion of this responsibility includes supporting the effort to succcessfully complete the May 7/8th CPUC Safety Symposium which is entitled "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California".

I have attached some detailed information to assist your preparation as a panelist.

If I may be of any assistance to you or your staff as you prepare please feel fee to contact me. I have included phone and email information in the attachment.

Thank you and I look forward to meeting you in San Francisco.

April 11th, 2013

Mr. Mike Florio
Commissioner
California Public Utilities Commission

Dear Commissioner Florio;

Thank you for agreeing to participate on a panel at the First Natural Gas Safety Symposium sponsored by the California Public Utilities Commission scheduled for May 7th and 8th in San Francisco. The Title for the Symposium is "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California. You should have received an invitation from General Hagan at the PUC through an email dated April 4th, 2013. Please ensure that you or your staff registers for the event so that we have an accurate headcount of attendees. In addition, you are invited to attend the dinner on May 7th at 7PM, following a reception beginning at 6PM at the Marines' Memorial Club and Hotel located at 609 Sutter Street in San Francisco.

Your panel "Safety Leadership-What does the Commission need from Industry and What does Industry need from the Commission in order to improve Public Safety in the State of California"? is scheduled for May 8th beginning at 10:15AM in the Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Avenue in San Francisco. The panel will conclude at 12PM. The panel's moderator will be Paul Clanon, Executive Director of the CPUC.

The other members of the Panel beside you include;

. Dennis Arriola, President and COO, Southern California Gas
. Paul J. Roberti, Commissioner, The Rhode Island Public Utilities Commission
. Chris Johns, President, Pacific Gas and Electric Company

Each panelist, in turn, will be provided 10-15 minutes to individually address the audience with the balance of the time being allowed for questions.

As an aid to assist you in your preparation we have prepared some suggested topics for discussion. You are not limited to these topics but for the sake of consistency and in the interest of promoting follow on questions we would ask each of you to address the topics below with as much specificity as possible. The purpose of the Symposium is to further open a dialog between the Regulated Gas Utilities and the Regulator(CPUC) about issues and concerns that when positively addressed can result in improved communications, greater efficiency and understanding between the parties- ultimately to benefit the Citizens of California.

Suggested topics for this panel;

. How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?

. From your perspective how can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs and what are the barriers to doing so?

. From your perspective how can the Commission and its staff do a better job of communicating what they need, why and by when to the companies?

. From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility?

. Is public safety really a responsibility that is shared by both the regulated companies and the regulators?

. How can the public safety performance of the gas utilities in California be measured and communicated effectively to the public in a way that crystalizes their understanding of the risks inherent to operations and the company's performance to mitigate those risks?

The CPUC would like to publish a brief bio/photo of you on their website for the conference. If you could send these items to me in the next couple of business days I will forward to them for inclusion. Finally, I just want to let you know that Paul Clanon, Executive Director of the CPUC will reach out to you for panel coordination sometime prior to the Symposium.

I will look forward to seeing each of you at the Symposium. Should you or your staff have questions or desire more background please feel free to call me at 404-354-2777 or email me at wdsatlanta@aol.com and I will be glad to help or I will direct you to the right person who can.

Thank you again for your participation and I look forward to meeting you.

I'm following up on your previous communications with General Jack Hagan about the upcoming CPUC Safety Symposium May 7 & 8 in San Francisco. I hope you received the invitation (below and attached) last week from the CPUC, and I hope you have had an opportunity to register on-line. There is a link in the attachment to this email. As everything is paperless for this event, we really need the digital registration list for an accurate headcount.

The combined gas utilities will be paying your expenses (PG&E, Southern California Gas, and Southwest Gas Corp) and PG&E will coordinate the payment. It is easiest for us if you make your own arrangements: air (which I assume you do not need), hotel, etc. Keep receipts and then submit them via invoice afterward, through me, and we will get you reimbursed.

You may stay anywhere you like. The Marine's Memorial Club has some rooms available, and that might be a good location for you as the Tuesday night dinner is there and it's conveniently located. Just contact them directly at

1.800.562.7463, or at www.marineclub.com. We'll be paying for the Tuesday night dinner directly, but there is a cash bar beforehand. All other meals will be on your own, and we will reimburse you for reasonable charges (which I have no doubt you are used to!)

Peter Goelz, who's copied on this email, will be in touch with you about the panel format and questions to focus the discussion. The plan for your panel is that Alaska Air will open the discussion with about a 20 minute presentation of their transformation, and then panelists will speak for about 10 minutes each before we open it to questions.

Again, we look forward to your participation.

Subject: Moderator for first panel

Hi there –
I left you a voice message because I wanted to talk to you about the first panel moderator.

Paul seemed to have some concerns about Leno, and I have been concerned as well because I don't know that he will "get" what this symposium is about. I really think it's hard for an elected official to be in the role of trying to keep on message and draw things out of panelists he doesn't know.
There are a lot of people on that first panel, and it needs to move pretty efficiently. The Alaska Air presentation should be at least 20 minutes, and then the four panelists will have 10-15 and then questions.
Anyway, Jim Hall (former NTSB Chair) could do a good job with the panel. So could Paul Levy.
I think we need to keep you as the emcee for the whole symposium rather than have you trying to run a panel.
So give it some thought and let me know?

Thanks

I am wondering if you could make 3 changes to the agenda?

1. Title of panel 3. For reasons that would only annoy and bore you, the symposium team has made a change in the title of the 3rd panel. This question was posed by Gen Hagan and so it has become the title.

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from Industry and what does Industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

2. Promote Nick Stavropoulous to EXECUTIVE Vice President.
3. Italicize Chris Johns' PRESIDENT.

I am going to have some tweaky changes in the TIMES as well, but I think I need to wait at least over the weekend before I ask for those.

And then could we talk about what we might be able to print out to hand to people on May 7 & 8? I'm thinking the agenda and the speaker bios all in one doc? Is that even possible do you think?

And how is your ARM????

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from Industry and what does Industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

2. Promote Nick Stavropoulous to EXECUTIVE Vice President.
3. Italicize Chris Johns' PRESIDENT.

I am going to have some tweaky changes in the TIMES as well, but I think I need to wait at least over the weekend before I ask for those.

And then could we talk about what we might be able to print out to hand to people on May 7 & 8? I'm thinking the agenda and the speaker bios all in one doc? Is that even possible do you think?

And how is your ARM????

Hi Laura:

Unfortunately I do not have a list of rules for the Marks auditorium at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. I recommend contacting David Glass.

In regards to tables, serving food and the adjacent area, I do not know about this either. My involvement in the Marks auditorium has been strictly technical.

Please ask David Glass about the projection screen, projector, etc. In the past the auditorium had a large drop down screen, a projector and I don't recall the arrangement with the microphones.

If I can be of further assistance please contact me at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely Yours,
Robert Stanford

Good morning everybody!

I was in the neighborhood and so I went into the building to check it out. I was told that David Glass is indeed the person in charge of the building.
Apparently there is a long list of rules surrounding use of the auditorium.
Do one of you have that list? I'm especially interested in rules around providing coffee.
There are signs saying no food or drink in the auditorium, and that's fine. But there are two places just outside the auditorium that would work well for tables to be set up and coffee to be served. We just need to know what is allowable so we can make the proper arrangements.
I know that the CPUC doesn't have money for this (per Paul), but we were thinking that the utilities could pay for it and then just put up an "honor system" jar where folks could put a dollar in if they have coffee or water.

I had forgotten that the auditorium arrangement is with the stage just inside the doors as you enter, down low. And the seats bank up from there. It's nice. We'll need to have tables set up for the panelists, a screen for the video and powerpoint presentations, and a podium - all with microphones. Does anyone on this list know if that has been communicated to David Glass and his team?

In exactly one month . . . this will all be over!

Thanks
Laura

This will be important to nail down ahead of time.
I expect one or two videos and then possibly a couple PowerPoints.

And perhaps when people aren't PowerPointing you might want to leave up some cool CPUC slide with the name of the conference on it?

12:00	Concluding remarks by President Peevey and General Hagan
12:30	Adjourn

Notes on Safety Symposium Discussion Themes

4.11.13 rough draft

Day 1

Hagan welcome

- Excited about the first of these; emcee
- Intent of "Forging a New Vision of Safety in CA"
- Structure of program over two days
- Governor video?

Hersman video

- Jim Hall introduces her
- National safety perspective from NTSB: pipelines are critical
- She is pleased about CA's approach to safety as a shared responsibility

Peevey remarks

- Hagan introduces?
- Personal experience with energy crisis etc., but now safety has moved to the forefront of regulation in CA
- Challenges: limited CPUC resources, utility resources; low consumer confidence, high fear; Commission must balance new approach to safety with affordability
- But we have to make it work and can only do so together; agrees with Hersman

Panel 1: Building a Climate and Culture of Safety

- Moderator: TBD [Sen Mark Leno? Jim Hall?]
- Ted Kemp, Alaska Airlines
- Captain Jody Bridges, USN, Director, School of Aviation Safety, Pensacola, FL
- Robert C. Figlock, President, Advanced Survey Design, LLC
- Paul Levy, former Chair of the MA Dept of Public Utilities and former CEO of Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
- Nick Stavropoulos, Executive VP, Gas Operations, PG&E

Panel 1 Questions

- What is climate?
- What is corporate culture?

- How do climate and culture affect safety in an organization?
- Who sets the climate and culture in the organization?
- Who is the "real" Safety Officer in an organization?
- How does a two-track investigation system work? One investigation is only about safety and is privileged information that is walled off from the punitive investigation.

Dinner

Sullenberger introduction?

Sullenberger topic – "Miracle on the Hudson" [Safety is No Miracle?]

Day 2

Hagan welcome and introduction of Elizabeth Ashford

Panel 2: Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response

- Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Deputy Press Secretary for Governor Jerry Brown
- Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SouthWest Gas
- Joanne Hayes-White, Chief, San Francisco Fire Department
- Tim Butters, Deputy Administrator, PHMSA
- Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust

Panel 2 Questions/Topics

- How do you handle the first press conference of an incident in the area where there has been a death and/or serious injury?

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.
- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.
- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.

- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from industry and what does industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

- How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?
- From your perspective how can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs and what are the barriers to doing so?
- From your perspective how can the Commission and its staff do a better job of communicating what they need, why and by when to the companies?
- From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility?
- Is public safety really a responsibility that is shared by both the regulated companies and the regulators?
- How can the public safety performance of the gas utilities in California be measured and communicated effectively to the public in a way that crystalizes their understanding of the risks inherent to operations and the company's performance to mitigate those risks?

Concluding Remarks

Do you want to get together or just have a phone call to talk about Mike's potential remarks at the Safety Symposium on May 7? I know that Hagan is out all next week. I'm attaching the agenda, and can walk you through how I think that part of the afternoon will work. Maybe 15 minutes would do it?

I can't recall when you are leaving but I want to be sure to make it happen before you do!

Also Mike needs to get registered (link in Hagan's letter) and indicate whether he will go to the dinner Tuesday night.

Thanks

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

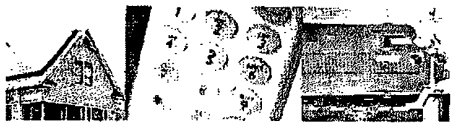
This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III
Brigadier General (CA)
Director, Safety and Enforcement Division
California Public Utilities Commission



California Public Utilities Commission

Forging a New Vision of Safety in California

Natural Gas Safety Symposium

May 7-8, 2013, San Francisco

What: The first-ever gathering of California natural gas industry and regulatory leaders for a dialog about safety culture, the regulatory role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

Keynote speakers:

- Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman, National Transportation Safety Board
- Captain Chesley Sullenberger, former US Air Captain

Plus, panel discussions by industry and regulatory leaders

Where: Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco

Hi Michelle!
How are you??

Gorgeous day and I hope you are outside enjoying it.

But if you're working today, do you by any chance have the contract between the CPUC and the Johnson Building for the safety symposium on May 7-8?
I need to see the rules about providing coffee, arranging for AV stuff, etc.

Really missing you on yet another CPUC conference!! ☺

I will contact the Building Manager over there.

Hi Laura:

Unfortunately I do not have a list of rules for the Marks auditorium at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. I recommend contacting David Glass.

In regards to tables, serving food and the adjacent area, I do not know about this either. My involvement in the Marks auditorium has been strictly technical.

Please ask David Glass about the projection screen, projector, etc. In the past the auditorium had a large drop down screen, a projector and I don't recall the arrangement with the microphones.

If I can be of further assistance please contact me at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely Yours,
Robert Stanford

Good morning everybody!

I was in the neighborhood and so I went into the building to check it out. I was told that David Glass is indeed the person in charge of the building.
Apparently there is a long list of rules surrounding use of the auditorium.
Do one of you have that list? I'm especially interested in rules around providing coffee.
There are signs saying no food or drink in the auditorium, and that's fine. But there are two places just outside the auditorium that would work well for tables to be set up and coffee to be served. We just need to know what is allowable so we can make the proper arrangements.
I know that the CPUC doesn't have money for this (per Paul), but we were thinking that the utilities could pay for it and then just put up an "honor system" jar where folks could put a dollar in if they have coffee or water.

I had forgotten that the auditorium arrangement is with the stage just inside the doors as you enter, down low. And the seats bank up from there. It's nice. We'll need to have tables set up for the panelists, a screen for the video and powerpoint presentations, and a podium - all with microphones. Does anyone on this list know if that has been communicated to David Glass and his team?

In exactly one month . . . this will all be over!

Thanks
Laura

It will get added to, but it does have all the panel questions in once place, and some thoughts about what Mike and Hagan might say, etc.
I'm trying to meet with Carol Brown next week to make sure she is clear on Mike's role.

Notes on Safety Symposium Discussion Themes

4.11.13 rough draft

Day 1

Hagan welcome

- Excited about the first of these; emcee
- Intent of "Forging a New Vision of Safety in CA"
- Structure of program over two days
- Governor video?

Hersman video

- Jim Hall introduces her
- National safety perspective from NTSB: pipelines are critical
- She is pleased about CA's approach to safety as a shared responsibility

Peevey remarks

- Hagan introduces?
- Personal experience with energy crisis etc., but now safety has moved to the forefront of regulation in CA
- Challenges: limited CPUC resources, utility resources; low consumer confidence, high fear; Commission must balance new approach to safety with affordability
- But we have to make it work and can only do so together; agrees with Hersman

Panel 1: Building a Climate and Culture of Safety

- Moderator: TBD [Sen Mark Leno? Jim Hall?]
- Ted Kemp, Alaska Airlines
- Captain Jody Bridges, USN, Director, School of Aviation Safety, Pensacola, FL
- Robert C. Figlock, President, Advanced Survey Design, LLC
- Paul Levy, former Chair of the MA Dept of Public Utilities and former CEO of Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
- Nick Stavropoulos, Executive VP, Gas Operations, PG&E

Panel 1 Questions

- What is climate?
- What is corporate culture?

- How do climate and culture affect safety in an organization?
- Who sets the climate and culture in the organization?
- Who is the "real" Safety Officer in an organization?
- How does a two-track investigation system work? One investigation is only about safety and is privileged information that is walled off from the punitive investigation.

Dinner

Sullenberger introduction?

Sullenberger topic – "Miracle on the Hudson" [Safety is No Miracle?]

Day 2

Hagan welcome and introduction of Elizabeth Ashford

Panel 2: Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response

- Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Deputy Press Secretary for Governor Jerry Brown
- Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SouthWest Gas
- Joanne Hayes-White, Chief, San Francisco Fire Department
- Tim Butters, Deputy Administrator, PHMSA
- Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust

Panel 2 Questions/Topics

- How do you handle the first press conference of an incident in the area where there has been a death and/or serious injury?

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.
- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.
- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.

- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from industry and what does industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

- Moderator: Paul Clanon, Executive Director, California Public Utilities Commission
- Commissioner Mike Florio, CA PUC
- Commissioner Paul Roberti, Rhode Island PUC
- Chris Johns, President, PG&E
- Dennis Arriola, President and Chief Operating Officer, Southern California Gas Co.

Panel 3 Questions

- How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?

- From your perspective how can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs and what are the barriers to doing so?

- From your perspective how can the Commission and its staff do a better job of communicating what they need, why and by when to the companies?

- From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility?

- Is public safety really a responsibility that is shared by both the regulated companies and the regulators?

- How can the public safety performance of the gas utilities in California be measured and communicated effectively to the public in a way that crystalizes their understanding of the risks inherent to operations and the company's performance to mitigate those risks?

Concluding Remarks

Subject: Symposium prep?

Carol
Do you want to get together or just have a phone call to talk about Mike's potential remarks at the Safety Symposium on May 7? I know that Hagan is out all next week. I'm attaching the agenda, and can walk you through how I think that part of the afternoon will work. Maybe 15 minutes would do it?

I can't recall when you are leaving but I want to be sure to make it happen before you do!

Also Mike needs to get registered (link in Hagan's letter) and indicate whether he will go to the dinner Tuesday night.

Thanks
Laura

Lisa,

This is a good check list. I want to take charge of taking care on the logistics on the Symposium with Laura. I want SED or CPUC on the front desks, name tags etc. PG&E can be in a support role, behind the scenes, and beforehand, but I want the face of the symposium to CPUC/SED to be the face.

Keep me posted and let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks, Laura, looks good.

Here are a few other thoughts off the top of my head.

If we want any of the PowerPoints posted online, then you can send them to me for posting the first day of the event. That way, if people ask for them you can tell them they can print them online.

Needed
* Someone(s) to man a "welcome" table that has:
  - Agenda/bios handout (if attendees want to bring handouts, such as their PowerPoint) these would go there)

- Sign-in sheets (attendees and press)
- Name tags (if applicable?)

* Roaming mics and someone to(s) to hold them and hand them out to speaking audience members (if applicable?)
* Someone to control the PowerPoints and ensure they are displaying
* Is someone going to play MC at the event?

Graphic Design Needs (I will take care of these)
* Welcome Poster
* Welcome PowerPoint Slide
* Name plates/tent cards (if applicable?)

But I had to put together a "flow" description for myself to try to picture the two days.
It will get added to, but it does have all the panel questions in once place, and some thoughts about what Mike and Hagan might say, etc.
I'm trying to meet with Carol Brown next week to make sure she is clear on Mike's role.

Less than 4 weeks. Oh my, I'll want to go into a bar and never come out on May 8, 2:00 pm.

Subject: The current working list of discussion topics

Here, for your contemplation, are the notes I have put together on the symposium themes and flow, with the questions you gave me. Each panel has already received their respective list.

Notes on Safety Symposium Discussion Themes
4.15.13 draft

Day 1
Hagan welcome

- Excited about the first of these; emcee
- Intent of "Forging a New Vision of Safety in CA"
- Structure of program over two days
- Governor video?

Hersman video

- Jim Hall introduces her?
- National safety perspective from NTSB: pipelines are critical
- She is pleased about CA's approach to safety as a shared responsibility

Peevey remarks

- Hagan introduces?
- Personal experience with energy crisis etc., but now safety has moved to the forefront of regulation in CA
- Challenges: limited CPUC resources, utility resources; low consumer confidence, high fear; Commission must balance new approach to safety with affordability
- But we have to make it work and can only do so together; agrees with Hersman

Panel 1: Building a Climate and Culture of Safety

- Moderator: Susan Kennedy, former Chief of Staff to Governor Schwarzenneger and former CPUC Commissioner
- Ted Kemp, Alaska Airlines
- Captain Jody Bridges, USN, Director, School of Aviation Safety, Pensacola, FL
- Robert C. Figlock, President, Advanced Survey Design, LLC
- Paul Levy, former Chair of the MA Dept of Public Utilities and former CEO of Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
- Nick Stavropoulos, Executive VP, Gas Operations, PG&E

Panel 1 Questions

- What is climate?

- What is corporate culture?
- How do climate and culture affect safety in an organization?
- Who sets the climate and culture in the organization?
- Who is the "real" Safety Officer in an organization?
- How does a two-track investigation system work? One investigation is only about safety and is privileged information that is walled off from the punitive investigation.

Dinner
Sullenberger introduction?
Sullenberger topic – "Miracle on the Hudson" [Safety is No Miracle?]

Day 2
Hagan welcome and introduction of Elizabeth Ashford
Panel 2: Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response

- Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Deputy Press Secretary for Governor Jerry Brown
- Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SouthWest Gas
- Joanne Hayes-White, Chief, San Francisco Fire Department
- Tim Butters, Deputy Administrator, PHMSA
- Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust

Panel 2 Questions/Topics

- How do you handle the first press conference of an incident in the area where there has been a death and/or serious injury?

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.
- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.
- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.
- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from industry and what does industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

- Moderator: Paul Clanon, Executive Director, California Public Utilities Commission

- Commissioner Mike Florio, CA PUC
- Commissioner Paul Roberti, Rhode Island PUC
- Chris Johns, President, PG&E
- Dennis Arriola, President and Chief Operating Officer, Southern California Gas Co.

Panel 3 Questions

- How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?
- From your perspective how can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs and what are the barriers to doing so?
- From your perspective how can the Commission and its staff do a better job of communicating what they need, why and by when to the companies?
- From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility?
- Is public safety really a responsibility that is shared by both the regulated companies and the regulators?
- How can the public safety performance of the gas utilities in California be measured and communicated effectively to the public in a way that crystalizes their understanding of the risks inherent to operations and the company's performance to mitigate those risks?

Subject: Marks Auditorium

Good morning everybody!

I was in the neighborhood and so I went into the building to check it out. I was told that David Glass is indeed the person in charge of the building.
Apparently there is a long list of rules surrounding use of the auditorium.
Do one of you have that list? I'm especially interested in rules around providing coffee.
There are signs saying no food or drink in the auditorium, and that's fine. But there are two places just outside the auditorium that would work well for tables to be set up and coffee to be served. We just need to know what is allowable so we can make the proper arrangements.
I know that the CPUC doesn't have money for this (per Paul), but we were thinking that the utilities could pay for it and then just put up an "honor system" jar where folks could put a dollar in if they have coffee or water.

I had forgotten that the auditorium arrangement is with the stage just inside the doors as you enter, down low. And the seats bank up from there. It's nice. We'll need to have tables set up for the panelists, a screen for the video and powerpoint presentations, and a podium – all with microphones. Does anyone on this list know if that has been communicated to David Glass and his team?

In exactly one month . . . this will all be over!

Thanks
Laura

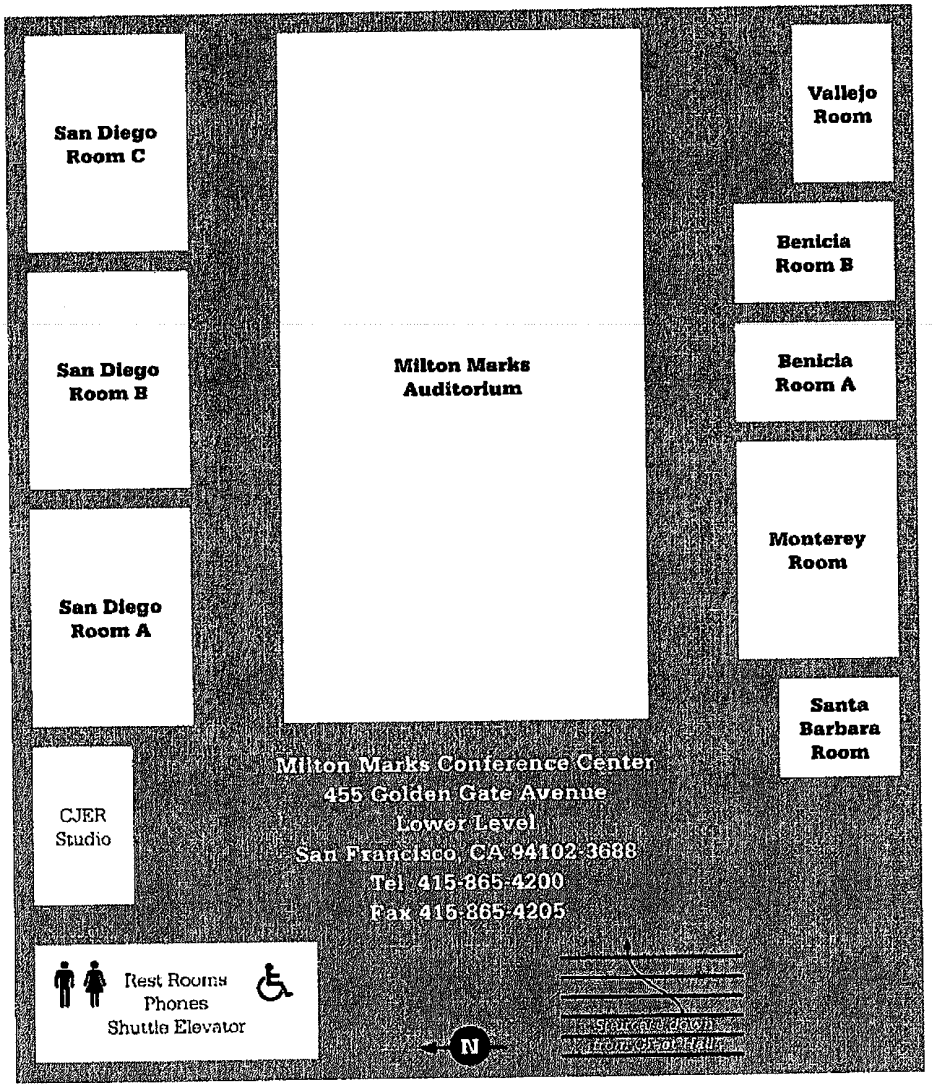
Milton Marks
Conference Center and Great Hall

Rates, Rules, Policies, and Procedures

(Conference Center Manual)



The Milton Marks Conference Center and the area known as the Great Hall are managed by the Administrative Office of the Courts to serve the needs of the tenants of the Hiram W. Johnson State Office Building and other state agencies. When possible, and for a rental fee, the facilities are made available for use by other eligible groups.

The conference center may never be used for commercial purposes.

Eligible Groups: Rent-free (Official business of the state)

- Building tenants (including tenant employee associations);
- California state agencies;
- Political party central committees designated by the California Elections Code

Eligible Groups: Rental and Service Fees apply (Not official business of the state)

- Local and federal government agencies;
- Nonprofit groups (e.g. blood banks, the American Cancer Society) or other groups that provide a benefit to the tenants in the building or to the community immediately surrounding the building; and
- Non-profit sponsored events:
  - These sponsored events are worthwhile activities conducted with the approval of a building tenant (sponsor), but are not official business of the State of California, conducted by state employees. In sponsoring a non-profit group's use of the conference center, the sponsor must authorize, in writing, the use of state space and resources for the specific event.

Reservations

Reservations by tenants, other state agencies, and sponsored groups are on a first-come, first-served basis with preference given to building tenants.
All other reservations, while also on a first-come, first-serve basis

- May use the Conference Center only during normal business hours (7:30 am – 5:30 pm, Monday through Friday). The conference center is closed to all users on the weekends.
- Cannot be requested more than 30 days before the event date.
- May not request any portion of the Conference Center for more than two consecutive days.

Reservations are placed with the AOC by calling or e-mailing the conference center at 415-865-7840 or ConferenceCenter@jud.ca.gov. A reservation form is attached. The requester must complete and return the form to the conference center.

Management will assign conference space to best meet the needs of all users, and has the right to reassign space or cancel a reservation, as necessary.

Due to the volume of requests received, we are unable to reserve or hold a room without the submission (and subsequent confirmation) of a reservation form.

All room requests are tentative and subject to change until official written confirmation from conference center staff.

Rental Fees and After-Hours Service Fees

Rental Fees:
Effective January 1, 2008, rental fees are as follows in minimum four hour increments:

Room		Rate (Hrs/$$)
Great Hall		0-4 hrs/$375 4-8 hrs/$750
Auditorium		0-4 hrs/$500 4-8 hrs/$920
San Diego Rm. A		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. B		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. C		$250 $400
2 San Diego Rooms Connected		$400 $700
3 San Diego Rooms - Connected		$500 $900
Monterey Rm.		$300 $440
Benicia Rm. A		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. B		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. A/B		$300 $440
Vallejo Rm.		$100 $180
Santa Barbara Rm.		$250 $400

After-hours service fee: Except for tenants, all users eligible to use the conference center after-hours will be charged appropriate service fees for after-hours activities. "After-hours" is defined as before 7:30 a.m. and after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Milton Marks Conference Center is not open on weekends (Saturdays or Sundays). Potential fees include energy use, janitorial services, and security costs.

The energy use fee is $22.00 an hour;

The janitorial service fee is a minimum four-hour charge of $212.68 plus $53.17 for every hour or portion thereof after four hours.

Security fees are determined by and paid to Securitas Security Services and/or the California Highway Patrol (CHP) as described in the security section of this document.

Fee Payment Process

- Conference center staff will inform the requester of any rental or services fee due.
- Rental and service fees must be paid by check or money order no later than five working days before the event;
- A check or money order made payable to "State of California" must be given to the conference center staff, who will forward it to the building manager.
- If the payment is not received on time, the customer will be given notice via e-mail, that the reservation has been withdrawn for canceled.

Important After-hours Information:

- The event organizer/sponsor is required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and bring all letters and permits with you and check-in with the guard on duty. Your attendees will not be allowed to enter the building and your event will not be allowed to begin until this happens.

- A State employee must be present for the entirety of all after-hours events; this includes both official State business functions as well as sponsored events.

Permits

Events conducted in or around the building, or the adjoining Earl Warren State Office Building, which is located at 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102, may require a Permit for Activity on State property from the CHP.

- State agencies conducting state business in or on any portion of these state properties are not required to submit permit applications except under any of the following circumstances:
  - Alcohol will be served;
  - The event is open to the public;
  - More than 150 attendees are expected;
  - The event will be held outside of normal business hours.
- All other agencies, even if sponsored by a building tenant, are required to submit a permit application.
- A permit application, with instructions, is attached and must be completed and submitted to the designated CHP office no later than 10 business days before the event.
- Notification of approval or denial of the permit application will be sent by the CHP to the requestor, the building manager, and the conference center coordinator.

Insurance/Insurance Waiver:

- All state agencies may make reservations without a certificate of insurance. However, each reservation is made with the specific agreement that the agency making the reservation assumes liability for damage to the facility or injuries resulting from their activities.
- Non-state agencies wishing to use the conference center must submit a certificate of insurance one week before their scheduled event. The minimum amount of commercial general liability insurance required is $1 million per occurrence.
- All non-state agencies must additionally agree in writing to indemnify the state against all claims for injury or loss resulting from their activities on state property.
- The requirement for a certificate of insurance will be waived for non-state agencies sponsored by a building tenant if the sponsoring building tenant stipulates in the reservation form that it is assuming all liability for the event.

Security

- Some events may require additional security, the cost of which is the responsibility of the agency using the facility, as are any associated costs.
- All events held outside of normal business hours require additional security.
- Events open to individuals who are not state employees may require additional security. An event for up to 50 persons requires one security officers. Normally, for each 50 additional attendees, one additional security officer is required.

- Agencies responsible for events held outside normal business hours or in some instances, events open to non-state employees must contract directly with Securitas Security Services for the required additional security service. Securitas Security Services requires payment in advance for all agencies and persons who have not established credit accounts with them prior to the scheduled event. The Securitas Security Services on-site manager may be contacted as follows:

  James Ward
  Securitas Security Account Manager
  415-355-5462
  james.ward@dgs.ca.gov

- Events at which alcohol is served also may require the presence of the CHP. The agency sponsoring such an event is responsible for direct payment to the CHP for any required security services.

Conference center staff, in consultation with the CHP and Securitas Security Services, reserves the right to determine when additional security is required for circumstances not addressed or anticipated in this manual.

Please Note: All events which take place after-hours must be scheduled with Securitas Security Services in advance and approved by the CHP. Arrangements must be made to specify the time and point of entry as well as use of the loading dock. There will be no entry to the building without making these arraignments in advance. The event organizer and/or sponsor are required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and must bring all letters and permits to the event at that time.

Room Setup

- Conference center staff will provide the following room setup for the conference center:
  - Setting up of all tables and chairs to a mutually agreed-upon configuration;
  - Opening and closing of any movable partitions; and
  - Assisting with available audiovisual equipment.
- All room setup and audio/visual requests must be made in writing at least 72 hours in advance.
- Under the management of conference center staff, the user agency or group is responsible for the set-up of the Great Hall. The use and quantity of tables and chairs for the Great Hall is never guaranteed; rentals may be required.

Posters, Signs, and Notices

- All meetings and events will be posted on the daily reader boards located throughout the building by conference center staff.
- All additional notices, signs, and posters must be preapproved by conference center management, and in some instances building management, before posting.
- Unapproved signage may be removed.
- Materials may not be delivered in advance (for storage or distribution purposes) or left after the conclusion of an event. Anything left in the room after the event is over is done so at the owner's risk of loss or damage.
- Tack strips have been provided in all of the conference rooms to display posters or charts. With the exception of "Post-it" notes, taping, tacking, or tying notices to the walls, columns, or any other surface of the rooms is not permitted. Any materials posted on the walls must be removed by the user prior before leaving the facility at the end of the event.

Artwork

- Do not disturb any of the artwork on display in the Conference Center, Great Hall or any other common area of the Hiram Johnson State Office Building.
- Do not hang any artwork anywhere without previous authorization from building or conference center management.

Emergency Evacuation Information

It is the user's responsibility to be familiar with the attached Emergency Evacuation Information and bring it to the attention of the attendees. The information is also posted on the back of event room doors.

Breach of Rules

Failure to comply with the rules, policies, and procedures of this manual or those regulations set forth by the California Highway Patrol may result in the revocation of an agency's or group's permission to use the conference center.

Room Capacities

The following are the capacities of the rooms in the Conference Center.

WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY

Be prepared!

Familiarize yourself with the emergency evacuation map and procedures.

In any emergency, CALL

- 911. Say, "I am calling to report an injury/illness/fire/police emergency. I am calling from 455 Golden Gate Avenue, between Polk and Larkin, on the lower level." Wait for instructions from the 911 dispatcher.
- 703-3333 to tell building management that a 911 emergency call has been made. Tell them where you are so they can escort arriving emergency personnel to your location.

In a FIRE emergency, ALSO

- Activate the nearest fire alarm. The alarm will sound as a loud horn and the wall-mounted strobe lights will flash.
- Listen to the public address system for announcements and instructions.
- In the event of an evacuation, persons with disabilities should go to the nearest stairwell and wait for assistance.

Hi Laura:

Unfortunately I do not have a list of rules for the Marks auditorium at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. I recommend contacting David Glass.

In regards to tables, serving food and the adjacent area, I do not know about this either. My involvement in the Marks auditorium has been strictly technical.

Please ask David Glass about the projection screen, projector, etc. In the past the auditorium had a large drop down screen, a projector and I don't recall the arrangement with the microphones.

If I can be of further assistance please contact me at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely Yours,
Robert Stanford

Good morning everybody!

I was in the neighborhood and so I went into the building to check it out. I was told that David Glass is indeed the person in charge of the building.
Apparently there is a long list of rules surrounding use of the auditorium.
Do one of you have that list? I'm especially interested in rules around providing coffee.
There are signs saying no food or drink in the auditorium, and that's fine. But there are two places just outside the auditorium that would work well for tables to be set up and coffee to be served. We just need to know what is allowable so we can make the proper arrangements.
I know that the CPUC doesn't have money for this (per Paul), but we were thinking that the utilities could pay for it and then just put up an "honor system" jar where folks could put a dollar in if they have coffee or water.

I had forgotten that the auditorium arrangement is with the stage just inside the doors as you enter, down low. And the seats bank up from there. It's nice. We'll need to have tables set up for the panelists, a screen for the video and powerpoint presentations, and a podium - all with microphones. Does anyone on this list know if that has been communicated to David Glass and his team?

In exactly one month . . . this will all be over!

Thanks
Laura

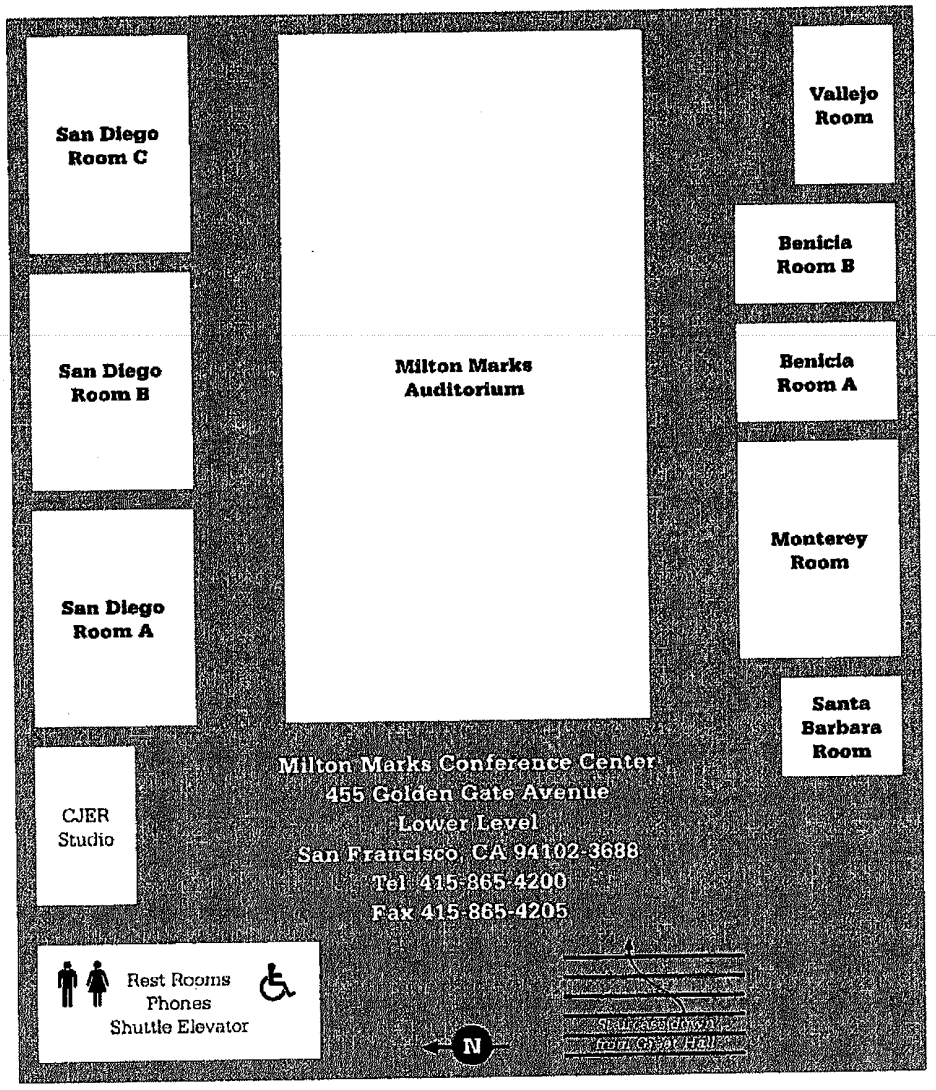
Milton Marks
Conference Center and Great Hall

Rates, Rules, Policies, and Procedures

(Conference Center Manual)



The Milton Marks Conference Center and the area known as the Great Hall are managed by the Administrative Office of the Courts to serve the needs of the tenants of the Hiram W. Johnson State Office Building and other state agencies. When possible, and for a rental fee, the facilities are made available for use by other eligible groups.

The conference center may never be used for commercial purposes.

Eligible Groups: Rent-free (Official business of the state)

- Building tenants (including tenant employee associations);
- California state agencies;
- Political party central committees designated by the California Elections Code

Eligible Groups: Rental and Service Fees apply (Not official business of the state)

- Local and federal government agencies;
- Nonprofit groups (e.g. blood banks, the American Cancer Society) or other groups that provide a benefit to the tenants in the building or to the community immediately surrounding the building; and
- Non-profit sponsored events:
  - These sponsored events are worthwhile activities conducted with the approval of a building tenant (sponsor), but are not official business of the State of California, conducted by state employees. In sponsoring a non-profit group's use of the conference center, the sponsor must authorize, in writing, the use of state space and resources for the specific event.

Reservations

Reservations by tenants, other state agencies, and sponsored groups are on a first-come, first-served basis with preference given to building tenants.
All other reservations, while also on a first-come, first-serve basis

- May use the Conference Center only during normal business hours (7:30 am – 5:30 pm, Monday through Friday). The conference center is closed to all users on the weekends.
- Cannot be requested more than 30 days before the event date.
- May not request any portion of the Conference Center for more than two consecutive days.

Reservations are placed with the AOC by calling or e-mailing the conference center at 415-865-7840 or ConferenceCenter@jud.ca.gov. A reservation form is attached. The requester must complete and return the form to the conference center.

Management will assign conference space to best meet the needs of all users, and has the right to reassign space or cancel a reservation, as necessary.

Due to the volume of requests received, we are unable to reserve or hold a room without the submission (and subsequent confirmation) of a reservation form.

All room requests are tentative and subject to change until official written confirmation from conference center staff.

Rental Fees and After-Hours Service Fees

Rental Fees:
Effective January 1, 2008, rental fees are as follows in minimum four hour increments:

Room		Rate (Hrs/$$)
Great Hall		0-4 hrs/$375 4-8 hrs/$750
Auditorium		0-4 hrs/$500 4-8 hrs/$920
San Diego Rm. A		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. B		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. C		$250 $400
2 San Diego Rooms Connected		$400 $700
3 San Diego Rooms - Connected		$500 $900
Monterey Rm.		$300 $440
Benicia Rm. A		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. B		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. A/B		$300 $440
Vallejo Rm.		$100 $180
Santa Barbara Rm.		$250 $400

After-hours service fee: Except for tenants, all users eligible to use the conference center after-hours will be charged appropriate service fees for after-hours activities. "After-hours" is defined as before 7:30 a.m. and after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Milton Marks Conference Center is not open on weekends (Saturdays or Sundays). Potential fees include energy use, janitorial services, and security costs.

The energy use fee is $22.00 an hour;

The janitorial service fee is a minimum four-hour charge of $212.68 plus $53.17 for every hour or portion thereof after four hours.

Security fees are determined by and paid to Securitas Security Services and/or the California Highway Patrol (CHP) as described in the security section of this document.

Fee Payment Process

- Conference center staff will inform the requester of any rental or services fee due.
- Rental and service fees must be paid by check or money order no later than five working days before the event;
- A check or money order made payable to "State of California" must be given to the conference center staff, who will forward it to the building manager.
- If the payment is not received on time, the customer will be given notice via e-mail, that the reservation has been withdrawn for canceled.

Important After-hours Information:

- The event organizer/sponsor is required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and bring all letters and permits with you and check-in with the guard on duty. Your attendees will not be allowed to enter the building and your event will not be allowed to begin until this happens.

- A State employee must be present for the entirety of all after-hours events; this includes both official State business functions as well as sponsored events.

Permits

Events conducted in or around the building, or the adjoining Earl Warren State Office Building, which is located at 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102, may require a Permit for Activity on State property from the CHP.

- State agencies conducting state business in or on any portion of these state properties are not required to submit permit applications except under any of the following circumstances:
  - Alcohol will be served;
  - The event is open to the public;
  - More than 150 attendees are expected;
  - The event will be held outside of normal business hours.
- All other agencies, even if sponsored by a building tenant, are required to submit a permit application.
- A permit application, with instructions, is attached and must be completed and submitted to the designated CHP office no later than 10 business days before the event.
- Notification of approval or denial of the permit application will be sent by the CHP to the requestor, the building manager, and the conference center coordinator.

Insurance/Insurance Waiver:

- All state agencies may make reservations without a certificate of insurance. However, each reservation is made with the specific agreement that the agency making the reservation assumes liability for damage to the facility or injuries resulting from their activities.
- Non-state agencies wishing to use the conference center must submit a certificate of insurance one week before their scheduled event. The minimum amount of commercial general liability insurance required is $1 million per occurrence.
- All non-state agencies must additionally agree in writing to indemnify the state against all claims for injury or loss resulting from their activities on state property.
- The requirement for a certificate of insurance will be waived for non-state agencies sponsored by a building tenant if the sponsoring building tenant stipulates in the reservation form that it is assuming all liability for the event.

Security

- Some events may require additional security, the cost of which is the responsibility of the agency using the facility, as are any associated costs.
- All events held outside of normal business hours require additional security.
- Events open to individuals who are not state employees may require additional security. An event for up to 50 persons requires one security officers. Normally, for each 50 additional attendees, one additional security officer is required.

- Agencies responsible for events held outside normal business hours or in some instances, events open to non-state employees must contract directly with Securitas Security Services for the required additional security service. Securitas Security Services requires payment in advance for all agencies and persons who have not established credit accounts with them prior to the scheduled event. The Securitas Security Services on-site manager may be contacted as follows:

  James Ward
  Securitas Security Account Manager
  415-355-5462
  james.ward@dgs.ca.gov

- Events at which alcohol is served also may require the presence of the CHP. The agency sponsoring such an event is responsible for direct payment to the CHP for any required security services.

Conference center staff, in consultation with the CHP and Securitas Security Services, reserves the right to determine when additional security is required for circumstances not addressed or anticipated in this manual.

Please Note: All events which take place after-hours must be scheduled with Securitas Security Services in advance and approved by the CHP. Arrangements must be made to specify the time and point of entry as well as use of the loading dock. There will be no entry to the building without making these arraignments in advance. The event organizer and/or sponsor are required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and must bring all letters and permits to the event at that time.

Room Setup

- Conference center staff will provide the following room setup for the conference center:
  - Setting up of all tables and chairs to a mutually agreed-upon configuration;
  - Opening and closing of any movable partitions; and
  - Assisting with available audiovisual equipment.
- All room setup and audio/visual requests must be made in writing at least 72 hours in advance.
- Under the management of conference center staff, the user agency or group is responsible for the set-up of the Great Hall. The use and quantity of tables and chairs for the Great Hall is never guaranteed; rentals may be required.

Posters, Signs, and Notices

- All meetings and events will be posted on the daily reader boards located throughout the building by conference center staff.
- All additional notices, signs, and posters must be preapproved by conference center management, and in some instances building management, before posting.
- Unapproved signage may be removed.
- Materials may not be delivered in advance (for storage or distribution purposes) or left after the conclusion of an event. Anything left in the room after the event is over is done so at the owner's risk of loss or damage.
- Tack strips have been provided in all of the conference rooms to display posters or charts. With the exception of "Post-it" notes, taping, tacking, or tying notices to the walls, columns, or any other surface of the rooms is not permitted. Any materials posted on the walls must be removed by the user prior before leaving the facility at the end of the event.

Artwork

- Do not disturb any of the artwork on display in the Conference Center, Great Hall or any other common area of the Hiram Johnson State Office Building.
- Do not hang any artwork anywhere without previous authorization from building or conference center management.

Emergency Evacuation Information

It is the user's responsibility to be familiar with the attached Emergency Evacuation Information and bring it to the attention of the attendees. The information is also posted on the back of event room doors.

Breach of Rules

Failure to comply with the rules, policies, and procedures of this manual or those regulations set forth by the California Highway Patrol may result in the revocation of an agency's or group's permission to use the conference center.

Room Capacities

The following are the capacities of the rooms in the Conference Center.

Auditorium:
Fixed theater seating for 225.

San Diego Rooms A, B, and C
Each room is appropriate for up to 18 attendees in U-shape, 22 in a hollow square, or 25-30 in classroom or union style or rounds. The rooms may be combined.

Hi Laura:

Unfortunately I do not have a list of rules for the Marks auditorium at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. I recommend contacting David Glass.

In regards to tables, serving food and the adjacent area, I do not know about this either. My involvement in the Marks auditorium has been strictly technical.

Please ask David Glass about the projection screen, projector, etc. In the past the auditorium had a large drop down screen, a projector and I don't recall the arrangement with the microphones.

If I can be of further assistance please contact me at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely Yours,
Robert Stanford

Subject: Marks Auditorium

Good morning everybody!

I was in the neighborhood and so I went into the building to check it out. I was told that David Glass is indeed the person in charge of the building. Apparently there is a long list of rules surrounding use of the auditorium. Do one of you have that list? I'm especially interested in rules around providing coffee.

There are signs saying no food or drink in the auditorium, and that's fine. But there are two places just outside the auditorium that would work well for tables to be set up and coffee to be served. We just need to know what is allowable so we can make the proper arrangements.
I know that the CPUC doesn't have money for this (per Paul), but we were thinking that the utilities could pay for it and then just put up an "honor system" jar where folks could put a dollar in if they have coffee or water.

I had forgotten that the auditorium arrangement is with the stage just inside the doors as you enter, down low. And the seats bank up from there. It's nice. We'll need to have tables set up for the panelists, a screen for the video and powerpoint presentations, and a podium - all with microphones. Does anyone on this list know if that has been communicated to David Glass and his team?

In exactly one month . . . this will all be over!

Thanks
Laura

This will be important to nail down ahead of time.
I expect one or two videos and then possibly a couple PowerPoints.

And perhaps when people aren't PowerPointing you might want to leave up some cool CPUC slide with the name of the conference on it?

Aaron/Liza
Now I have gone through this form.
Two questions:

1. Are we sure the AUDITORIUM is reserved? The form is not specific, and the heading says "conference center and great hall." Yes, I may be a little paranoid. Aaron, did you have a conversation with someone over there?
2. I don't see anything in the form about bringing in refreshments (except alcohol, which requires special approval ☺); we need to know how it will work for an outside vendor to bring in coffee and drinks.

We have to provide all audiovisual and room setup requests IN WRITING at least 72 hours in advance. So we will need to specify tables for registration, tables for coffee, and how we want the panels set up on stage.

Shall we arrange a meeting on-site to go over this?

Thanks

FYI, Andy Kotch from my office will attend the dry run to see where to place the media sign-in sheet, see if there's a place for reporters to plug into the sound feed, etc. He will also attend the first day (at least the beginning) to assist any reporters. Chris Chow from my office will attend the second day of the Symposium to do the same.

You should invite Robert Stanford instead of me. And perhaps the audio/visual folks from the Milton Marks auditorium. One of our Information Officers will definitely be in attendance, at least for the first part of each day, to assist any reporters who may show up. Do you think it would be beneficial for that person to attend this dry run with you?

Hi Terrie,

I have canceled CPUC10E164 for Linda Limberg.

Her other registration CPUC10E106 remains and is still in the system.

Hi Kathie!

This has been taken care of.

Have a great day all!

Andrea

Terrie:

Sorry to bother you, I tried to cancel this reservation in the system but it wouldn't let me. Then I called your voice mail but it doesn't give an option (a name) of who I can contact in your absence so I'm sending you this email.

I wasn't aware that my boss already registered for the Safety Symposium in May and I went ahead and registered her again. Please cancel registration CPUC10E164 for Linda Limberg of PG&E... but we need to make sure she stays on the RSVP list as she is attending both the symposium and dinner.

Thank you so very much!

Do you want to get together or just have a phone call to talk about Mike's potential remarks at the Safety Symposium on May 7? I know that Hagan is out all next week. I'm attaching the agenda, and can walk you through how I think that part of the afternoon will work. Maybe 15 minutes would do it?

I can't recall when you are leaving but I want to be sure to make it happen before you do!

Also Mike needs to get registered (link in Hagan's letter) and indicate whether he will go to the dinner Tuesday night.

Thanks

Chairman Hersman,

Thank you for taking time from you very busy schedule to meet with me yesterday. I really appreciated it. I enjoyed meeting Jackson. He is quite delightful young man.

I have gotten some feedback from my symposium coordinators, that the NTSB video crew indicated they were going to be able to do the video of you for the symposium. I don't know why. I hope that is not true, because your presentation however brief it maybe will be value added to what we are trying to accomplish. So, I hope you will be able to find time to do it for us.

Look forward to seeing you in California in August and thank you for sharing some of your valuable time with me.

Warm regards,

Jack

You should invite Robert Stanford instead of me. And perhaps the audio/visual folks from the Milton Marks auditorium. One of our Information Officers will definitely be in attendance, at least for the first part of each day, to assist any reporters who may show up. Do you think it would be beneficial for that person to attend this dry run with you?

Here are some new and updated documents for your review.

1. A draft "to do" list for us all.
2. A draft AV/Milton Marks list so that we can nail this down and get it officially requested next week.
3. An updated "Notes" writeup that now reflects that we have Susan Kennedy for Panel 1, and a new Alaska Air person.
4. A "directory" of speakers with contact info.

I will get Terrie a list shortly, hopefully our final, of changes to the posted Agenda so that we can get that reposted on the website next week.

As of yesterday we had 67 registrants, and that seems good for now. I'm sure we'll get some more.

Notes on Safety Symposium Discussion Themes

4.20.13 draft

Day 1

Hagan welcome

- Excited about the first of these; emcee
- Intent of "Forging a New Vision of Safety in CA"
- Structure of program over two days
- Governor video?

Hersman video

- Hagan introduces her?
- National safety perspective from NTSB: pipelines are critical
- She is pleased about CA's approach to safety as a shared responsibility

Peevey remarks

- Hagan introduces?
- Personal experience with energy crisis etc., but now safety has moved to the forefront of regulation in CA
- Challenges: limited CPUC resources, utility resources; low consumer confidence, high fear; Commission must balance new approach to safety with affordability
- But we have to make it work and can only do so together; agrees with Hersman

Panel 1: Building a Climate and Culture of Safety

- Moderator: Susan Kennedy, former Chief of Staff to Governor Schwarzenneger and former CPUC Commissioner
- Dana Floyd, Director, Flight Safety, Alaska Air Group
- Captain Jody Bridges, USN, Director, School of Aviation Safety, Pensacola, FL
- Robert C. Figlock, President, Advanced Survey Design, LLC
- Paul Levy, former Chair of the MA Dept of Public Utilities and former CEO of Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center
- Nick Stavropoulos, Executive VP, Gas Operations, PG&E

Panel 1 Questions

- What is climate?

- What is corporate culture?
- How do climate and culture affect safety in an organization?
- Who sets the climate and culture in the organization?
- Who is the "real" Safety Officer in an organization?
- How does a two-track investigation system work? One investigation is only about safety and is privileged information that is walled off from the punitive investigation.

Dinner

Sullenberger introduction by Assembly Member Joan Buchanan (represents Danville, where Captain Sully lives)

Who introduces Buchanan?

Day 2

Hagan welcome and introduction of Elizabeth Ashford

Panel 2: Effectively Managing Pipeline Emergency Response

- Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Deputy Press Secretary for Governor Jerry Brown
- Jerry Schmitz, Vice President, Engineering, SouthWest Gas
- Joanne Hayes-White, Chief, San Francisco Fire Department
- Tim Butters, Deputy Administrator, PHMSA
- Carl Weimer, Executive Director, Pipeline Safety Trust

Panel 2 Questions/Topics

- How do you handle the first press conference of an incident in the area where there has been a death and/or serious injury?

- Elements that make a response to a gas pipeline emergency successful.
- Preparing for gas emergencies: the importance of preparing before a gas pipeline emergency; how planning, establishing professional working relationships, and developing good communications between pipeline operators and emergency responders before an accident can improve the timeliness and effectiveness of responses.
- Training and exercises: the importance of training and joint exercises - and how these activities can improve the effectiveness of responses to events.
- Knowledge of gas systems: the importance of accurate pipeline system maps, including pipe size, normal operating pressure ranges, characteristics such as transmission or distribution lines, and the location of valves that can be used to isolate a failed section.

- Timely responses to reported gas leaks and odors
- Public safety at an incident site- effectively evaluating conditions on scene; assessing potential gas migration paths and measuring gas levels at critical locations; and timely determining evacuation needs.
- Timely isolating gas leaks: importance of having a system capable of quickly identifying a failure location, having adequate valves at appropriate locations to isolate a failed section, and having remote or automatic shut-off valves to improve the timeliness of stopping the flow of gas.
- Public education: educating the public to report gas leaks and odors and on the appropriate actions to take such as when to evacuate a building; educating contractors to immediately report to 911 any damage to a pipeline that results in a release of gas and also to promptly report to a pipeline operator any strike or damage to a pipeline that may not result in an immediate release.

Panel 3: Safety Leadership: What does the Commission need from industry and what does industry need from the Commission to improve public safety in California?

- Moderator: Paul Clanon, Executive Director, California Public Utilities Commission
- Commissioner Mike Florio, CA PUC
- Commissioner Paul Roberti, Rhode Island PUC
- Chris Johns, President, PG&E
- Dennis Arriola, President and Chief Operating Officer, Southern California Gas Co.

Panel 3 Questions

- How specifically can the Commission and the utilities improve their working relationships in the interest of public safety for gas operations in California?
- From your perspective how can the companies do a better job of meeting regulator needs and what are the barriers to doing so?
- From your perspective how can the Commission and its staff do a better job of communicating what they need, why and by when to the companies?
- From your perspective, what constitutes "safe enough" as it relates to the public safety performance of a gas utility?
- Is public safety really a responsibility that is shared by both the regulated companies and the regulators?
- How can the public safety performance of the gas utilities in California be measured and communicated effectively to the public in a way that crystalizes their understanding of the risks inherent to operations and the company's performance to mitigate those risks?

Concluding Remarks by Peevey (?) and Hagan

AV and other requirements for Milton Marks Auditorium

In going over the registration list for the symposium (now at 67) I note a few serious omissions.

Please register online so we can get an accurate count. Yes, even though you are a panel moderator or an SED deputy, or you are emceeing the whole event, and we all know you'll be there. We have our rules, oh yes we do.

Also indicate whether you will be able to attend the dinner. I'm currently estimating the cost at $75 per person; will try to make it less for those who don't drink wine.

Do you think Frank might come too?

Here are the current CPUC registrants:
Traci Bone
Phil Enis
Loreen McMahon
Karen Miller
Ed Randolph
Lynn Sadler
Linda Serizawa (DRA)
Richard White

STATE OF CALIFORNIA EDMUND G. BROWN JR., Governor

505 VAN NESS AVENUE
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

Subject: Agenda changes - to your most recent version

1. On this version, perhaps put Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Ave. at the top of the page, below the date? And then take out the highlights of Hersman and Sullenberger and just have them in the agenda??
   In other words, just have this be THE AGENDA, without the intro bullets.
   And take off the 4:45 reference as I expect we are really ending at 5:00. (with any luck!!)

2. Add VIDEO MESSAGE (or whatever wording you like) to Hersman's Keynote.

3. Change times as follows:
   a. Hersman at 1:45
   b. Peevey at 2:15
   c. Break from 2:45 – 3:00
   d. Panel 1 at 3:00
4. Panel 1
   a. Moderator: Susan Kennedy, former Chief of Staff to Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger and former Commissioner, California Public Utilities Commission (?? Sound right?)
   b. Replace Kemp with: Dana Floyd, Director, Flight Safety, Alaska Airlines Group
5. Add to Evening Event: (Optional By Reservation Only – *MUST REGISTER BY MAY 1) Does that sound ok??
6. Add to Evening Keynote: Introduction by Assembly Member Joan Buchanan (D-Alamo)
7. Panel 2
   a. Add Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Chief Press Secretary, Office of Governor Jerry Brown
   Make Jerry Schmitz's company: Southwest Gas Corp.

That's it for now!

Thank you so so so much.

Cyprus and Robert,

There recently was a string of e-mails on audio/visual equipment for the Safety Symposium May 7th and 8th. I want to make sure that we are on track with getting everything set-up and that you have what you need. Here is a draft list of requirements that we have:

- Podium with microphone – fixed AND lavalier?
- Ability to show DVDs
- Ability to show PowerPoint presentations
- Lavalier mikes for panelists (6 mikes on a panel)
- Roaming microphones – at least 2

In addition, we have a few questions about who manages the following:

- Panel setup – comfortable chairs vs people sitting at tables?
- Who manages room temp?
- Lighting?
- Any special safety info we need to convey?

Also, we are planning to have a "dry run" on May 6th. We'll need to have some AV support to make sure that everything is functioning properly. Please let us know what we need to do to get all the details finalized.

Subject: AV Equipment for Safety Symposium

Cyrus and Robert,

There recently was a string of e-mails on audio/visual equipment for the Safety Symposium May 7th and 8th. I want to make sure that we are on track with getting everything set-up and that you have what you need. Here is a draft list of requirements that we have:

- Podium with microphone – fixed AND lavalier? – Yes, we will provide a podium wired microphone & wireless lavalier microphone,
- Ability to show DVDs – Yes, there will be access to a DVD player in the Auditorium connected to the house projector.
- Ability to show PowerPoint presentations – Yes, we can help connect your laptop to the projector.
- Lavalier mikes for panelists (6 mikes on a panel) - No, the panelists microphones will need to be wired table top microphones. Usually one per every two panelists. Please let us know how many they have.
- Roaming microphones – at least 2 – No, we only have one wireless handheld microphone available.

In addition, we have a few questions about who manages the following:

- Panel setup – comfortable chairs vs people sitting at tables?
- Who manages room temp?
- Lighting?
- Any special safety info we need to convey?

Also, we are planning to have a "dry run" on May 6th. We'll need to have some AV support to make sure that everything is functioning properly. Please let us know what we need to do to get all the details finalized.

Kind Regards,

Liza

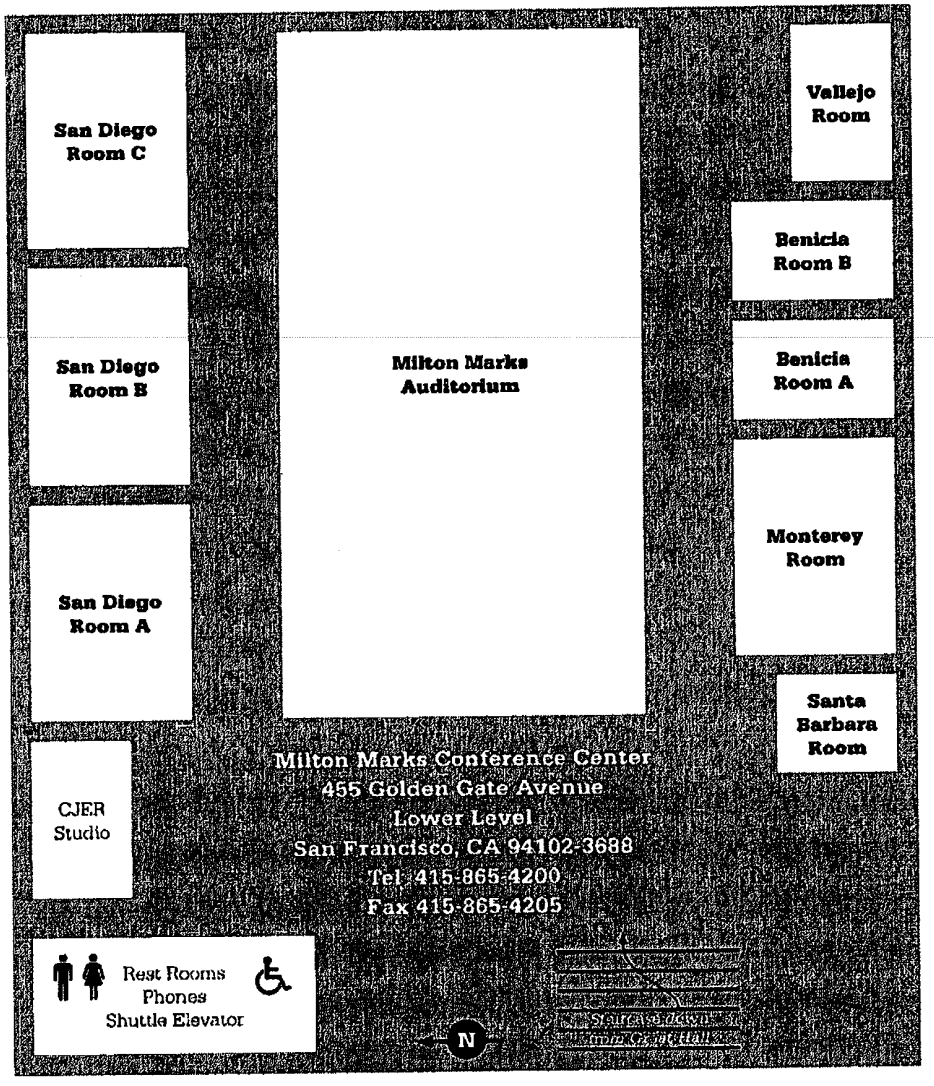
Milton Marks
Conference Center and Great Hall

Rates, Rules, Policies, and Procedures

(Conference Center Manual)



The Milton Marks Conference Center and the area known as the Great Hall are managed by the Administrative Office of the Courts to serve the needs of the tenants of the Hiram W. Johnson State Office Building and other state agencies. When possible, and for a rental fee, the facilities are made available for use by other eligible groups.

The conference center may never be used for commercial purposes.

Eligible Groups: Rent-free (Official business of the state)

- Building tenants (including tenant employee associations);
- California state agencies;
- Political party central committees designated by the California Elections Code

Eligible Groups: Rental and Service Fees apply (Not official business of the state)

- Local and federal government agencies;
- Nonprofit groups (e.g. blood banks, the American Cancer Society) or other groups that provide a benefit to the tenants in the building or to the community immediately surrounding the building; and
- Non-profit sponsored events:
  - These sponsored events are worthwhile activities conducted with the approval of a building tenant (sponsor), but are not official business of the State of California, conducted by state employees. In sponsoring a non-profit group's use of the conference center, the sponsor must authorize, in writing, the use of state space and resources for the specific event.

Reservations

Reservations by tenants, other state agencies, and sponsored groups are on a first-come, first-served basis with preference given to building tenants.
All other reservations, while also on a first-come, first-serve basis

- May use the Conference Center only during normal business hours (7:30 am – 5:30 pm, Monday through Friday). The conference center is closed to all users on the weekends.
- Cannot be requested more than 30 days before the event date.
- May not request any portion of the Conference Center for more than two consecutive days.

Reservations are placed with the AOC by calling or e-mailing the conference center at 415-865-7840 or ConferenceCenter@jud.ca.gov. A reservation form is attached. The requester must complete and return the form to the conference center.

Management will assign conference space to best meet the needs of all users, and has the right to reassign space or cancel a reservation, as necessary.

Due to the volume of requests received, we are unable to reserve or hold a room without the submission (and subsequent confirmation) of a reservation form.

All room requests are tentative and subject to change until official written confirmation from conference center staff.

Rental Fees and After-Hours Service Fees

Rental Fees:
Effective January 1, 2008, rental fees are as follows in minimum four hour increments:

Room		Rate (Hrs/$$)
Great Hall		0-4 hrs/$375 4-8 hrs/$750
Auditorium		0-4 hrs/$500 4-8 hrs/$920
San Diego Rm. A		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. B		$250 $400
San Diego Rm. C		$250 $400
2 San Diego Rooms Connected		$400 $700
3 San Diego Rooms - Connected		$500 $900
Monterey Rm.		$300 $440
Benicia Rm. A		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. B		$150 $220
Benicia Rm. A/B		$300 $440
Vallejo Rm.		$100 $180
Santa Barbara Rm.		$250 $400

After-hours service fee: Except for tenants, all users eligible to use the conference center after-hours will be charged appropriate service fees for after-hours activities. "After-hours" is defined as before 7:30 a.m. and after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Milton Marks Conference Center is not open on weekends (Saturdays or Sundays). Potential fees include energy use, janitorial services, and security costs.

The energy use fee is $22.00 an hour;

The janitorial service fee is a minimum four-hour charge of $212.68 plus $53.17 for every hour or portion thereof after four hours.

Security fees are determined by and paid to Securitas Security Services and/or the California Highway Patrol (CHP) as described in the security section of this document.

Fee Payment Process

- Conference center staff will inform the requester of any rental or services fee due.
- Rental and service fees must be paid by check or money order no later than five working days before the event;
- A check or money order made payable to "State of California" must be given to the conference center staff, who will forward it to the building manager.
- If the payment is not received on time, the customer will be given notice via e-mail, that the reservation has been withdrawn for canceled.

Important After-hours Information:

- The event organizer/sponsor is required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and bring all letters and permits with you and check-in with the guard on duty. Your attendees will not be allowed to enter the building and your event will not be allowed to begin until this happens.

- A State employee must be present for the entirety of all after-hours events; this includes both official State business functions as well as sponsored events.

Permits

Events conducted in or around the building, or the adjoining Earl Warren State Office Building, which is located at 350 McAllister Street, San Francisco, CA 94102, may require a Permit for Activity on State property from the CHP.

- State agencies conducting state business in or on any portion of these state properties are not required to submit permit applications except under any of the following circumstances:
  - Alcohol will be served;
  - The event is open to the public;
  - More than 150 attendees are expected;
  - The event will be held outside of normal business hours.
- All other agencies, even if sponsored by a building tenant, are required to submit a permit application.
- A permit application, with instructions, is attached and must be completed and submitted to the designated CHP office no later than 10 business days before the event.
- Notification of approval or denial of the permit application will be sent by the CHP to the requestor, the building manager, and the conference center coordinator.

Insurance/Insurance Waiver:

- All state agencies may make reservations without a certificate of insurance. However, each reservation is made with the specific agreement that the agency making the reservation assumes liability for damage to the facility or injuries resulting from their activities.
- Non-state agencies wishing to use the conference center must submit a certificate of insurance one week before their scheduled event. The minimum amount of commercial general liability insurance required is $1 million per occurrence.
- All non-state agencies must additionally agree in writing to indemnify the state against all claims for injury or loss resulting from their activities on state property.
- The requirement for a certificate of insurance will be waived for non-state agencies sponsored by a building tenant if the sponsoring building tenant stipulates in the reservation form that it is assuming all liability for the event.

Security

- Some events may require additional security, the cost of which is the responsibility of the agency using the facility, as are any associated costs.
- All events held outside of normal business hours require additional security.
- Events open to individuals who are not state employees may require additional security. An event for up to 50 persons requires one security officers. Normally, for each 50 additional attendees, one additional security officer is required.

- Agencies responsible for events held outside normal business hours or in some instances, events open to non-state employees must contract directly with Securitas Security Services for the required additional security service. Securitas Security Services requires payment in advance for all agencies and persons who have not established credit accounts with them prior to the scheduled event. The Securitas Security Services on-site manager may be contacted as follows:

  James Ward
  Securitas Security Account Manager
  415-355-5462
  james.ward@dgs.ca.gov

- Events at which alcohol is served also may require the presence of the CHP. The agency sponsoring such an event is responsible for direct payment to the CHP for any required security services.

Conference center staff, in consultation with the CHP and Securitas Security Services, reserves the right to determine when additional security is required for circumstances not addressed or anticipated in this manual.

Please Note: All events which take place after-hours must be scheduled with Securitas Security Services in advance and approved by the CHP. Arrangements must be made to specify the time and point of entry as well as use of the loading dock. There will be no entry to the building without making these arraignments in advance. The event organizer and/or sponsor are required to arrive half an hour before the start of the event and must bring all letters and permits to the event at that time.

Room Setup

- Conference center staff will provide the following room setup for the conference center:
  - Setting up of all tables and chairs to a mutually agreed-upon configuration;
  - Opening and closing of any movable partitions; and
  - Assisting with available audiovisual equipment.
- All room setup and audio/visual requests must be made in writing at least 72 hours in advance.
- Under the management of conference center staff, the user agency or group is responsible for the set-up of the Great Hall. The use and quantity of tables and chairs for the Great Hall is never guaranteed; rentals may be required.

Posters, Signs, and Notices

- All meetings and events will be posted on the daily reader boards located throughout the building by conference center staff.
- All additional notices, signs, and posters must be preapproved by conference center management, and in some instances building management, before posting.
- Unapproved signage may be removed.
- Materials may not be delivered in advance (for storage or distribution purposes) or left after the conclusion of an event. Anything left in the room after the event is over is done so at the owner's risk of loss or damage.
- Tack strips have been provided in all of the conference rooms to display posters or charts. With the exception of "Post-it" notes, taping, tacking, or tying notices to the walls, columns, or any other surface of the rooms is not permitted. Any materials posted on the walls must be removed by the user prior before leaving the facility at the end of the event.

Artwork

- Do not disturb any of the artwork on display in the Conference Center, Great Hall or any other common area of the Hiram Johnson State Office Building.
- Do not hang any artwork anywhere without previous authorization from building or conference center management.

Emergency Evacuation Information

It is the user's responsibility to be familiar with the attached Emergency Evacuation Information and bring it to the attention of the attendees. The information is also posted on the back of event room doors.

Breach of Rules

Failure to comply with the rules, policies, and procedures of this manual or those regulations set forth by the California Highway Patrol may result in the revocation of an agency's or group's permission to use the conference center.

Room Capacities

The following are the capacities of the rooms in the Conference Center.

Auditorium:
Fixed theater seating for 225.

San Diego Rooms A, B, and C
Each room is appropriate for up to 18 attendees in U-shape, 22 in a hollow square, or 20 in classroom or union style or rounds. The rooms may be combined for a max 65 attendees

Santa Barbara Room:
Appropriate for up to 22 attendees in U-shape, 25 in a hollow square or 25 in classroom or union style rounds.

Monterey Room:
Appropriate for up to 26 attendees in U-shape, 30 in a hollow square, or 30 in classroom or union style rounds.

Benicia Rooms A and B:
Each room is appropriate for up to 12 attendees in U-shape, 14 in a hollow square, or 20 Classroom. The two rooms may be combined; if so, union style rounds become an option, seating 30.

Vallejo Room:
Appropriate for up to 16 attendees at a fixed conference table.

WHAT TO DO IN AN EMERGENCY

Be prepared!

Familiarize yourself with the emergency evacuation map and procedures.

In any emergency, CALL

- 911. Say, "I am calling to report an injury/illness/fire/police emergency. I am calling from 455 Golden Gate Avenue, between Polk and Larkin, on the lower level." Wait for instructions from the 911 dispatcher.
- 703-3333 to tell building management that a 911 emergency call has been made. Tell them where you are so they can escort arriving emergency personnel to your location.

In a FIRE emergency, ALSO

- Activate the nearest fire alarm. The alarm will sound as a loud horn and the wall-mounted strobe lights will flash.
- Listen to the public address system for announcements and instructions.
- In the event of an evacuation, persons with disabilities should go to the nearest stairwell and wait for assistance.

1. On this version, perhaps put Hiram Johnson State Building, Milton Marks Auditorium, 455 Golden Gate Ave. at the top of the page, below the date? And then take out the highlights of Hersman and Sullenberger and just have them in the agenda??
   In other words, just have this be THE AGENDA, without the intro bullets.
   And take off the 4:45 reference as I expect we are really ending at 5:00. (with any luck!!)

2. Add VIDEO MESSAGE (or whatever wording you like) to Hersman's Keynote.

3. Change times as follows:
   a. Hersman at 1:45
   b. Peevey at 2:15
   c. Break from 2:45 – 3:00
   d. Panel 1 at 3:00
4. Panel 1
   a. Moderator: Susan Kennedy, former Chief of Staff to Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger and former Commissioner, California Public Utilities Commission (?? Sound right?)
   b. Replace Kemp with: Dana Floyd, Director, Flight Safety, Alaska Airlines Group
5. Add to Evening Event: (Optional By Reservation Only – *MUST REGISTER BY MAY 1) Does that sound ok??
6. Add to Evening Keynote: Introduction by Assembly Member Joan Buchanan (D-Alamo)
7. Panel 2
   a. Add Moderator: Elizabeth Ashford, former Chief Press Secretary, Office of Governor Jerry Brown
   Make Jerry Schmitz's company: Southwest Gas Corp.

Very sorry to be responding so late. It's still light outside, sort of!
This seems more concise and I like it.

Tiny things:
Page 1
Let's take off "2:15" for Peevey so we have some time flexibility, and then unbold Mike's name?
Both Hersman and Peevey will constitute "the keynote" as long as Hersman is able to get that damn video done. I like the "via video note!

Could you take out a little space between the "evening event" line and 6 pm? I want to keep that "must register" message close to the event.
And then the font for "introduction by Buchanan . . . " is different from the rest of the text.

But otherwise, it's perfect!!
Thanks Terrie.

I'm too tired to even add to my list of things we need/must/had better talk about.

And we haven't even sent out a media advisory yet (which we were planning to do once the agenda was finalized) and the City of SB AND this law firm would have received the media advisory. The event is online and in our What's Hot Calendar and our Daily Calendar and it was announced at our last Voting Meeting.

And we haven't even sent out a media advisory yet (which we were planning to do once the agenda was finalized) and the City of SB AND this law firm would have received the media advisory. The event is online and in our What's Hot Calendar and our Daily Calendar and it was announced at our last Voting Meeting.

And we haven't even sent out a media advisory yet (which we were planning to do once the agenda was finalized) and the City of SB AND this law firm would have received the media advisory. The event is online and in our What's Hot Calendar and our Daily Calendar and it was announced at our last Voting Meeting.

Subject: I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016, and I.11-11-009 - ALJs' Ruling Shortening Time for Responses to City of San Bruno Motion

NOTICE TO ALL PARTIES IN I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016, and I.11-11-009

On April 24, 2013 the City of San Bruno served its "Motion of the City of San Bruno Requesting an Order to Show Cause Why Assigned Commissioners Peevey and Florio Should Not Be Recused From the 'Forging a New Vision of Safety in California' Symposium Pursuant to Rule 8.3, or in the Alternative, an Order Suspending the Safety Symposium Until I.12-01-007, I.11-02-16, and I.11-11-009 are Fully Adjudicated." Since the subject symposium is scheduled to begin on May 7, 2013, we find that good cause exists to shorten the time for responses to the motion. Responses are due April 29, 2013.

And we haven't even sent out a media advisory yet (which we were planning to do once the agenda was finalized) and the City of SB AND this law firm would have received the media advisory. The event is online and in our What's Hot Calendar and our Daily Calendar and it was announced at our last Voting Meeting.

Demand for Removal of CPUC President and Commissioner from Event with PG&E

Illegal Communication Between Regulator and PG&E Harms Fairness of CPUC Decision, Penalty in San Bruno Blast and Fire, City Says in CPUC Legal Filing

San Francisco—The City of San Bruno today filed a legal motion demanding CPUC President Michael Peevey and Commissioner Michel Florio recuse themselves from an upcoming "safety" event featuring PG&E executives, noting it is illegal and unethical for the regulatory agency to participate when it will stand in judgment of the utility and fine it for the Sept. 9, 2010 explosion and fire in San Bruno that killed eight, injured 60, destroyed 38 homes and damaged scores more. The safety symposium will focus on the same subject matter that is at issue in the CPUC investigations: natural gas safety and emergency response.

The California Public Utilities Commission Safety Symposium featuring PG&E is scheduled for May 7-8 in San Francisco to "explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors" and "will focus on natural gas safety issues," according to the invitation.

Among the scheduled speakers and panelists are PG&E President Chris Johns, PG&E SVP of Gas Operations Nick Stavropoulos, CPUC President Michael Peevey, CPUC Commissioner Michel Florio, CPUC Executive Director Paul Clanon, and CPUC Safety Director Jack Hagan.

"This is like the defendant in a criminal case taking the judge to play golf together before the judge rules on his case and his penalty," said attorney Steven Meyers of the Meyers Nave law firm, representing the City of San Bruno.

The legal filing cites the symposium for being an illegal 'ex-parte' contact between the regulator (CPUC) and defendant (PG&E) at a critical time in the CPUC hearing process in the San Bruno explosion and fire case. The filing says "the participation of the defendant and the judges... (is) a violation of the law" and calls it "unethical and inappropriate."

"On its face, the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium appears to be a step forward in promoting natural gas safety," San Bruno's filing says.

"However, upon further scrutiny, this Safety Symposium is nothing but a forum for PG&E to put on a dog and pony show in front of two out of the five Commission decision-makers charged with determining the fines and penalties warranted by PG&E's past misconduct, right in the middle of unprecedented and high-profile CPUC investigations into PG&E's deficient management and operation of its natural gas system."

In conclusion, the filing says "San Bruno urges the CPUC to demonstrate to the intervenors in these proceedings, the residents of San Bruno, and to the public at large that its commitment to accountability is more than mere posturing, and to do so in these cases that are gravely important to the residents of San Bruno and the ratepayers of the State of California. San Bruno has a strong and vested interest in a CPUC process that follows the rules. San Bruno has participated in these proceedings in good faith for over two years in reliance on the belief that a just, transparent, reasonable outcome which is in the public interest can be achieved. San Bruno cannot achieve this outcome when the very decision-makers that are determining PG&E's fate will be in the same room with PG&E discussing natural gas safety in a forum other than the courtroom."

FYI....

This afternoon, the City of San Bruno filed the attached motion seeking to have Commissioners Peevey and Florio recused from attending the upcoming CPUC sponsored safety symposium or, in the alternative, to delay the symposium until after the San Bruno related enforcement proceedings are resolved. The motions cites the conflict of having the "prosecutor", "defendant", and "judges" in the enforcement proceedings participate in the symposium and the potential for ex parte violations. Although organized and sponsored by the CPUC, the motion refers to the symposium as the "PG&E – CPUC Safety Symposium." The motion asserts that the City of San Bruno was not invited to participate in, or attend, the symposium and was not aware of the symposium until notified of it by TURN. The motion also references and attaches the recently released consultant report containing statements by CPUC staff critical of the CPUC's safety culture.

MOTION OF THE CITY OF SAN BRUNO REQUESTING AN ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE WHY ASSIGNED COMMISSIONERS PEEVEY AND FLORIO SHOULD NOT BE RECUSED FROM THE "FORGING A NEW VISION OF SAFETY IN CALIFORNIA" SYMPOSIUM PURSUANT TO RULE 8.3, OR IN THE ALTERNATIVE, AN ORDER SUSPENDING THE SAFETY SYMPOSIUM UNTIL I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016, AND I.11-11-009 ARE FULLY ADJUDICATED

Pursuant to Rule 11.1 of the California Public Utilities Commission's ("Commission" or "CPUC") Rules for Practice and Procedure ("Commission Rules"), the City of San Bruno ("San Bruno") moves for: (1) an order to show cause why Commission President Michael R. Peevey and Commissioner Michel Peter Florio should not be recused from attending and participating in the "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California" symposium on May 7-8, 2013 (the "PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium"); (2) or in the alternative, an order suspending the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium until the three Orders Initiating Investigation ("OIIs"), I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016, and I.11-11-009 (the "Line 132 OIIs") have been fully adjudicated.

I. BACKGROUND

A. The Line 132 OIIs

The Commission instituted three formal investigations into Pacific Gas & Electric Company's (PG&E) operations after a PG&E-installed and operated 30 inch natural gas pipeline exploded in San Bruno killing eight people, injuring sixty-six people, and leveling thirty-eight homes. The first Commission-initiated investigation concerns PG&E's deficient recordkeeping practices and the safety implications of such practices for the utility's gas service and facilities (the "Recordkeeping OII").[1] The assigned presiding Commissioner in the Recordkeeping OII is Commissioner Florio. The second Commission investigation into the explosion of PG&E's Line 132 concerns PG&E's violations of state and federal laws in connection with the utility's operation of pipelines in high population consequence areas (the "HCA OII").[2] The assigned presiding Commissioner in the HCA OII is also Commissioner Florio. The third Commission-initiated investigation into PG&E misconduct is a comprehensive examination of PG&E's violations of federal and state safety laws applicable to its natural gas system (the "Root Cause OII").[3] In addition to the events of September 9, 2010, the Root Cause OII expressly includes all past operations, practices, and other events or courses of conduct that could have led to or contributed to the explosion of PG&E's Line 132.[4] The assigned presiding Commissioner in the Root Cause OII is Commission President Peevey.[5] The Commission has categorized all three Line 132 OIIs as "adjudicatory" pursuant to Rule 7.1(c) of the Commission's Rules.

B. The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium

The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium is scheduled for May 7-8, 2013 and will "explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors" and it "will focus on natural gas safety issues."[6] It is also important to note that the victim in the Line 132 OIIs, and one of the key players in any safety discussion regarding natural gas explosions, the City of San Bruno, was not invited to this "important dialog" and only heard about it second-hand through an attorney from The Utility Reform Network (TURN). See Exhibit 2; Declaration of Britt Strottman.

II. DISCUSSION

On its face, the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium appears to be a step forward in promoting natural gas safety. Given the public disclosure of CPUC internal consultant reports[7] and recent legislation testimony[8] regarding the absence of a safety culture at the CPUC, such a conference would be timely. However, upon further scrutiny, this PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium initiated by PG&E is nothing but a forum for PG&E to put on a self-serving dog and pony show in front of two out of the five Commission decision-makers charged with determining the fines and penalties warranted by PG&E's past misconduct, right in the middle of unprecedented and high-profile CPUC investigations into PG&E's deficient management and operation of its natural gas system. Furthermore, the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium is also a violation of the CPUC's own rules. Any communications between the defendant (PG&E) and the judges (President Peevey and Commissioner Florio) about the subject matter in the Line 132 OIIs constitutes an ex parte communication under Commission Rule 8.1. Per Commission Rule 8.3(b), ex parte communications are prohibited in each of the Line 132 OIIs, all of which have been characterized as adjudicatory proceedings.

A. It is Inappropriate for the "Judges" and "Prosecutors" in an Ongoing Investigation to Participate in the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium

The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium, "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California," includes the following three panels[9]:

Panel 1: Building a Climate and Culture of Safety (Nick Stavropoulos, PG&E's Senior Vice President of Gas Operations, is a panel member)

Panel 3: Leading Safety – What Does Regulatory Leadership Look Like – (panel members include Commissioner Florio and PG&E President Chris Johns)

The discussions in these panels will undoubtedly focus on the events leading up to and the aftermath of the explosion in San Bruno, the largest natural gas disaster in the state of California – also the focus of the most high-profile and high-stakes investigations in history at the CPUC. The panels will certainly cover lessons learned from the San Bruno explosion. The third panel will then discuss CPUC's regulatory leadership in the aftermath of the explosion, which will unquestionably cover the CPUC's investigations into the explosion.

In all three Line 132 OIIs, the presiding Commissioners, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio, will review the massive amount of evidence over a time period of two and half years, including over thirty volumes of evidentiary hearing transcripts; briefs from PG&E, CPSD, and the Intervenors; numerous data requests from all parties, and over 300 docket entries, etc. The Commissioners will review extensive testimony on the construction of Line 132, PG&E's integrity management program, PG&E's emergency response to the explosion, PG&E's recordkeeping practices, and among other things, PG&E's going-forward commitments.

As stated above, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio are among the final arbiters of the applicable fines and penalties in all three Line 132 OIIs relating to the PG&E explosion, not only in their role as the assigned Commissioners in the three investigations, but also as voting members of the Commission. Their roles in these investigations are akin to the role of a judge as they will make the very important decisions on which state and federal laws PG&E violated and the subsequent penalties and fine. President Peevey and Commissioner Florio will assist the Administrative Law Judges ("ALJs") in crafting their proposed decisions on the violations and penalties. Once the ALJs issue the proposed decisions, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio will vote on the proposed decision, along with the three other acting Commissioners.

The "judges"/decisionmakers in the three OIIs, Commissioner Florio and President Peevey, will also participate in the symposium. The judge in two of the three OIIs, Commissioner Florio, will sit on the "Leading Safety – What Does Regulatory Leadership Look Like" panel with the defendant, PG&E's President Chris Johns.[10] Nick Stavropoulos, PG&E's Senior Vice President of Gas Operations will sit on a panel entitled "Building a Climate and Culture of Safety."[11] The judge in the root cause OII, President Peevey, will make closing remarks and will most likely attend the symposium.[12]

The "prosecutor" in the Line 132 OIIs, the Consumer Protection and Safety Division ("CPSD"), now "Safety and "Enforcement Division," is holding the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium and PG&E initiated the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium.[13] CPSD's safety director, Brigadier General Jack Hagan, announced the symposium and will make opening remarks.[14] The Executive Director of the CPUC, Paul Clanon, will be a panel member on the "Leading Safety – What Does Regulatory Leadership Look Like?" with the defendant, PG&E's President Chris Johns.[15]

The prosecutor (CPSD), the judges (President Peevey and Commissioner Florio), and the defendant (PG&E) in the three OIIs will be discussing throughout the two day symposium the very subject matter that is at issue in the three OIIs: gas safety. PG&E will undoubtedly argue that the symposium will discuss going-forward safety commitments, but any discussion of going-forward safety commitments relates back to PG&E's gross negligence in the first place. The evidence the CPUC considers as it reaches its conclusion regarding the scope of the violations and penalties sufficient to deter PG&E from similarly deadly lapses in operation of its system in the future should be heard in the courtroom, not through a public relations attempt by PG&E to tout its alleged safety commitments in a symposium.

B. The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium Violates Commission Rules Prohibiting Ex Parte Communication in Adjudicatory Proceedings

Not only is the participation of PG&E and the Commissioners in a PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium on the very subject matter of three investigations unethical and inappropriate, the participation of the defendant and the judges is a violation of the law. The participation of PG&E, President Peevey, and Commissioner Florio in the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium on subjects germane to three major Line 132 OIIs amounts to a prohibited ex parte communication under Commission Rules. The orders in the three investigations categorized the three OIIs as "adjudicatory" pursuant to Rule 7.1(c) of the CPUC's Rules of Practice and Procedure. Pursuant to CPUC Rules of Practice and Procedure 8.3, in "any adjudicatory proceeding, ex parte communications are prohibited" with any decisionmaker.[16] Rule 8.1(c) defines "ex parte communication" as any written or oral communication that:

> (1) concerns any substantive issue in a formal proceeding
> (2) takes place between an interested person and a decisionmaker, and
> (3) does not occur in a public hearing, workshop, or other public forum noticed by ruling or order in the proceeding, or on the record of the proceeding

Under the above-cited rule, an ex parte communication is prohibited between a "decisionmaker" and an "interested party." A commissioner falls under the definition of "decisionmaker" under Rule 8.1(b). An "interested person" includes "any party to the proceeding or the agents or employees of any party, including persons receiving consideration to represent any of them" and "any person with a financial interest . . . in a matter at issue before the Commission" under Rule 8.1(d).

Under the CPUC's very own rule, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio are prohibited from discussing any subject matter related to the PG&E explosion when it does not occur in a public hearing, workshop, or other public forum noticed by the ruling or order in the proceeding, or on the record in the proceeding. The interested party, PG&E, will communicate orally with the decisionmakers, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio, about a substantive issue, natural gas safety and emergency response, and this communication will not occur on the record. It seems unfathomable that in the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium there will be no discussion of PG&E's emergency response and its safety culture in relation to the September 9, 2010 explosion: the substantive issues in the three investigations.

In Decision (D.) 07-07-020, the Commission found that merely attending a meeting can violate the ex parte rules.[17] In D.07-07-020, a meeting was held between representatives of two telecommunications utilities and the Commissioners' advisors on the topic of access to 911 emergency services under Public Utilities Code Section 2883. The topic of 911 access had been raised in two CPUC proceedings at the time, a rulemaking and adjudicatory compliant involving violations of Section 2883. The Commission found that the two telecommunication utilities violated the rule against ex parte communications in the adjudicatory cases and issued a $40,000 penalty on both companies.

Decision 08-06-023 denied rehearing of D.07-07-020 and upheld the decision that the communication violated the rule against ex parte communications.[18] The decision listed circumstances for parties to consider when identifying ex parte communications:

1. The temporal proximity between an ex parte communication and a relevant adjudicatory proceeding;

2. The degree of overlap between the issues and parties; and

3. The potential that relief sought via the ex parte communication could detrimentally impact parties in a related adjudicatory case.[19]

When applying the first consideration, it is important to note the peculiar timing of the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium. The three investigations have not been adjudicated and will not until sometime in the Fall of 2013. The prosecutor, CPSD, and the Intervenors, including San Bruno, will have filed briefs on the parties' position on the fines and remedies in three investigations the day before the PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium, May 6, 2013. The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium will be held on May 7-8, 2013. PG&E's defense brief on fines and remedies is due on May 24, 2013.

PG&E's going forward safety commitments, which will be discussed during the symposium, will be considered in the fine and penalty phase of the three investigations. When determining the amount of the penalty, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio will consider the appropriateness of such penalty to the size of the business of the person charged, the gravity of the violation, and the good faith of the person charged in attempting to achieve compliance, after notification of a violation, shall be considered."[20] During this PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium, which will be held during a critical time in the litigation between the parties, PG&E will undoubtedly put on a performance in front of the judges, President Peevey and Commissioner Florio, that it is doing everything it could to fix its widespread and systemic negligence of its system: one of the three elements President Peevey and Commissioner Florio will have to consider when making its decision on the fine and penalties in the three investigations under Public Utilities Code Section 2104.5. PG&E gets to do so, not in the courtroom and through legal briefs, but in a "PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium" in front of the very decisionmakers that will determine its fate in just a few months.

C. The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium is Yet Another Example of the Commission's Ineffective Posture as a Regulator

The PG&E-CPUC Safety Symposium is yet another example of the Commission failing to recognize its role as a regulatory of the utilities as opposed to a facilitator of the utilities' economic interests. For San Bruno, the Commission's "cozy relationship" with PG&E, and vice versa, was a major contributor to the Line 132 explosion.[21] Furthermore, the inappropriate nature of the Commission's actions is consistent with recent and well-deserving criticism of the CPUC's lax oversight. An internal report commissioned by the CPUC revealed and exposed significant problems at the CPUC. Specifically, that the CPUC continues to have a cozy relationship with the utilities it regulates and that it doesn't make safety a priority.[22] The following statements in the report were compelling:

> "An overly-cozy relationship with regulated utilities: Several respondents report that both Commissioners and PUC staff members have close ties to the industries they are supposed to be regulating. This has resulted in a reluctance on the part of the Commissioners and the PUC to impose significant fines and other consequences . . ."[23]
> "If we were enforcing the rules we would not have to worry about a safety culture. If we were holding the utilities accountable and doing what we were supposed to be doing, San Bruno would never have happened."[24]
> "The executive director's aversion to conflict discourages PUC staff from taking on tough issues."[25]
> "Some staff believe that it is the PUC's failure to thoroughly 'check the boxes' and enforce existing regulations that is at the root of the safety crisis."[26]

Not only do CPUC's own staff members believe that the CPUC is lax in its oversight and is too cozy with utilities, the National Transportation Safety Board found that CPUC's lack of oversight was a contributing cause to the explosion: "Also contributing to the accident was the CPUC's failure to detect the inadequacies of PG&E's pipeline integrity management program."[27] The NTSB further explained that: "The ineffective enforcement posture of the California Public Utilities Commission permitted PG&E's organizational failures to continue over many years."[28] NTSB Chairman Deborah Hersman further elaborated: "Our investigation revealed that for years, PG&E exploited weaknesses in a lax system of oversight . . . we also identified regulators that placed a blind trust in the companies that they were charged with overseeing to the detriment of public safety."[29] The Commission's blue ribbon panel also found that the CPUC failed to oversee PG&E's natural gas operations effectively finding that the Commission and PG&E "must confront and change elements of their respective cultures to assure the citizens of California that public safety is the foremost priority."[30]

III. CONCLUSION

San Bruno urges the CPUC to demonstrate to the Intervenors in these proceedings, the residents of San Bruno, and to the public at large that its commitment to accountability is more than mere posturing, and to do so in these cases that are gravely important to the residents of San Bruno and the ratepayers of the State of California. San Bruno has a strong and vested interest in a CPUC process that follows the rules. San Bruno has participated in these proceedings in good faith for over two years in reliance on the belief that a just, transparent, reasonable outcome which is in the public interest can be achieved. San Bruno cannot achieve this outcome when the very decisionmakers that are determining PG&E's fate will be in the same room with PG&E discussing natural gas safety in a forum other than the courtroom. San Bruno respectfully requests an order to show cause why Commissioners Peevey and Florio should not be recused from the "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California" symposium pursuant to Rule 8.3, or in

SAN FRANCISCO, CA 94102-3298

April 4, 2013

Greetings,

On behalf of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC), I invite you to attend the first in a series of safety symposiums to explore solutions to safety within California's utility services and infrastructure sectors. This symposium, Forging a New Vision of Safety in California, will be held May 7-8, 2013, in downtown San Francisco and will focus on natural gas safety issues. Sessions will be held at the Milton Marks Auditorium in the Johnson State Office Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue. Please see the agenda below.

This symposium will allow representatives of the natural gas industry, government, and the public to convene and discuss ways to help create a climate and culture that embraces safety as an underlying and timeless principle in everything we do. The keynote speaker on the first day is Deborah A.P. Hersman, Chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board. Panels will follow Chairman Hersman's introduction to explore the climate and culture of safety, the regulator's role in leading safety change, and effective emergency response.

There is no charge to attend the conference, but reservations are requested so we can ensure space availability. Simply click on this symposium registration link and enter your information: http://events.signup4.com/cpucsafetysymposium. (Note that an optional dinner Tuesday evening at the Marines' Memorial Club requires an RSVP by May 1.)

As Director of the Safety and Enforcement Division of the CPUC, I believe our (industry and regulator) mission is to create a climate and culture that embraces safety as a tool and an enhancement to accomplish our organization's mission. This culture uses risk assessment and risk management as the foundation of assessing safety and the consequences of failure, and to assert that safety, with respect to human life and property, is non-negotiable. This symposium is an opportunity to establish collaborative relationships to develop solutions to the safety challenges we face in these dynamic times. I hope you will join me in this important dialog.

Sincerely,

Emory J. Hagan, III

DECLARATION OF BRITT K. STROTTMAN

1. I am an attorney admitted to practice law in the State of California and serve as Special Counsel for the City of San Bruno, California ("San Bruno"). I make this declaration in support of the Motion of the City of San Bruno Requesting an Order to Show Cause Why Assigned Commissioners Peevey and Florio Should Not Be Recused From the "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California" Symposium Pursuant to Rule 8.3, or in the Alternative, an Order Suspending the Safety Symposium Until I.12-01-007, I.11-02-16, and I.11-11-009 are Fully Adjudicated. I have personal knowledge of the following facts and if called as a witness I could and would testify competently thereto.

2. San Bruno did not receive notice of the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) and Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) safety symposium (CPUC-PG&E Safety Symposium) "Forging a New Vision of Safety in California" until I received a copy of the invitation from Marcel Hawiger, counsel for The Utility Reform Network, on April 9, 2013 at 12:50 p.m., five days after the CPUC distributed the invitation.

3. The CPUC did not invite San Bruno to the CPUC-PG&E Safety Symposium, nor ask any San Bruno representatives to participate in the CPUC-PG&E Safety Symposium.

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that the foregoing is true and correct and that if called upon to testify, I could and would competently do so. Executed this 24th day of April 2013 in Oakland, California.

Subject: CPUC Safety Culture Change Initial Discovery Report

The attached report, completed by Business Advantage Consulting, outlines the results of the Initial Discovery stage of the Safety Culture Change project. This initial stage involved two steps: interviews with senior leadership and focus groups with [illegible]. We are asking that you treat this report as Confidential and do not distribute to anyone else.

Business Advantage Consulting will be attending the Directors' Meeting on Friday, February 15 to engage the Directors in a discussion about the results. As you review the report, consider the following questions as they will be discussed in the Directors' meeting:

- What surprised you about the report?
- What resonated for you?
- What can we do to maximize the chances of successfully changing the culture of the PUC?

As a recap, this project involves identifying safety culture issues; developing a strategy that identifies safety culture goals, objectives and action plans; and finally providing coaching to identified CPUC leaders to help meet goals, objectives and action plans. The specific steps of the safety culture change project scope include six stages:

1. [illegible]
2. [illegible]/Approach
3. Assessment
4. [illegible]dual Coaching Sessions
5. Follow Up Coaching Sessions
6. Results of Safety Culture Change

Now that we have completed the Initial Discovery Stage, we will be moving into the Strategy/ Approach stage of the Safety Culture Change project.

California Public Utilities Commission
Safety Culture Change Project

Initial Discovery Report

January 25, 2013

What Does A Safety Culture Look Like?

"If this were a safety culture, when we found something that is an unsafe practice, we would take action and the Commissioners would support us."

"Everyone at PUC would know what their role is regarding safety."

"We'll know we have a safety culture when Commissioners say 'yes' to our recommendations and 'no' to utilities when they ask for things that do not include safety considerations."

"We would be making hard decisions about prioritizing safety beyond other priorities."

"We will know that safety has become a priority when a safety decision is made by the Commissioners with a 5-0 vote."

"If we were enforcing the rules, we would not have to worry about a safety culture. If we were holding the utilities accountable and doing what we were supposed to be doing, San Bruno would never have happened."

INTRODUCTION

The California Public Utilities Commission (PUC) is seeking to change its culture to one of enhanced commitment, focus, and accountability to safety throughout the organization. The desire to change its culture was sparked by the recent gas pipeline disaster in San Bruno, which revealed cultural shortcomings in safety enforcement and oversight at the PUC.

The PUC has engaged Business Advantage Consulting (BAC) to facilitate its Safety Culture Change project, which will undertake an immediate and sustained effort to help PUC leadership in a guided process of culture change to apply the lessons of San Bruno to all of the agency's regulatory programs, and leave a PUC safety culture that permeates all of the agency's work. This project began with Phase 1, Initial Discovery, which consisted of a document review, interviews and focus groups. The purpose of the Initial Discovery Phase was to uncover the culture changes needed and to develop a draft problem statement that would allow the PUC to plan its culture change strategy.

This report includes the following sections:

Introduction - this section briefly describes the Safety Culture Change Project.

Draft Safety Culture Problem Statement - this section presents the draft Safety Culture Problem Statement, developed based on the findings from the Initial Discovery Phase.

Cultural Issues and Challenges - this section presents respondent identified safety culture issues and challenges related to PUC culture.

Structural Issues and Challenges - this section presents respondent identified structural issues and challenges related to a PUC safety culture.

External Pressure Issues and Challenges - this section presents respondent identified issues and challenges to a PUC safety culture that come from external pressures.

Participants Ideas and Suggestions - this section includes respondent ideas and suggestions for creating a safety culture at PUC.

Next Steps - this section presents BAC's recommendations for next steps.

Appendix - the Appendix includes interview and focus group protocols used during the Initial Discovery Phase.

As the first step in the Initial Discovery Phase, BAC team members reviewed recent internal and external assessments relating to the PUC's culture and functioning. Some of these documents focused directly on the PUC's strengths and challenges as a safety promoting and regulating entity (Report of the Independent Panel: San Bruno Explosion (2011)), while others assessed the PUC's strengths and challenges more broadly (The Training Needs Assessment, (June 2011); The Pulse Employee Opinion Survey, (February 2012).

During October through December 2012, BAC, in collaboration with PUC staff, developed an interview protocol to gather insights and observation from PUC leaders about safety at the PUC. BAC used the interview protocol to conduct fifteen interviews of PUC executives including the PUC Executive Director, Division Directors, and Legal Counsel during October, November and December of 2012. In January 2013, BAC team members conducted four focus groups comprised of PUC line staff, supervisors, and managers. BAC worked with PUC staff to develop three focus group protocols: one protocol for supervisor/manager focus groups, one protocol for line staff focus groups, and a separate protocol for Safety and Enforcement Division (SED) staff focus groups that addressed SED's unique mandate and issues regarding maintaining and sustaining a safety culture. The interview and focus group protocols can be found in the Appendix of this report.

The Initial Discovery Phase harvested a large amount of data and uncovered a wide range of issues and challenges to establishing a culture of safety at the PUC. BAC has organized these issues into three broad categories: cultural, structural and external pressures. We do not mean to imply that the issues are separate and discreet from each other. In fact, they are overlapping and interdependent. These categories are meant to organize the data into a high level structure to allow meaningful discussion, analysis, and strategic problem solving by PUC leadership.

DRAFT SAFETY CULTURE PROBLEM STATEMENT

The information gathered during the Initial Discovery Phase provides the backdrop and scope for the following problem statement:

> The current PUC culture has contributed to its past success. Leadership has determined that some aspects of this culture, however, need to change in order to promote a culture of safety. To make meaningful progress toward this goal, PUC leadership must confront issues in three categories of barriers to a culture of safety: cultural, structural and external pressures. PUC leadership must analyze these issues, develop strategic safety goals, and take strong, effective, consistent and sustained action to achieve these safety goals.

Each issue is discussed in more detail in the body of this report. Where appropriate, issues are followed by illustrative comments from PUC interviewees or focus group participants. We wish to make clear that the issues identified in this report represent the views and perceptions of the respondents. This report is not an evaluation of the objective truth of those views and perceptions. To summarize, a non-prioritized list of all issues is included below:

I. Cultural
   A. A pragmatic culture that sees safety as "one of three competing priorities"
   B. Safety is considered less compelling than other priorities
   C. An "open" and "casual" culture sends conflicting messages about accountability
   D. Lack of follow up mechanisms and follow through consequences
   E. Lack of consistent safety modeling and messaging from PUC leadership
   F. Excessive process inhibits staff initiative
   G. The perception that safety culture is the "flavor of the month"
   H. Lack of individual assessment and accountability
   I. Lack of a unifying strategic vision
   J. PUC staff lack an understanding and appreciation of the goals, objectives, roles and responsibilities of divisions outside of their own
   K. Divergent views among PUC employees regarding the effectiveness of "carrot" versus "stick" regulatory approaches leads to a lack of consistency
   L. The Executive Director's aversion to conflict discourages PUC staff from taking "tough issues" head on
   M. An historic lack of advocacy for safety at the Commissioner level

II. Structural
   A. Staff lack the necessary tools and supports for effective safety analysis
   B. There are insufficient mechanisms for cross divisional communication and collaboration
   C. Cross divisional promotion depletes content-area expertise and experience
   D. PUC is not evaluating the outcomes of its policies and decisions
   E. Some staff believe that it is the PUC's failure to thoroughly "check the boxes" and enforce existing regulation that is at the root of the safety crises
   F. SED has lacked the power and influence necessary to serve as a safety leader
   G. Director meetings do not address shared safety goals
   H. PUC databases do not support effective analysis or information sharing
   I. PUC managers lack both supervisory and leadership skills

III. External Pressures
   A. An overly-cozy relationship with regulated utilities
   B. Pressure from the legislature and large number of environmental and rate payer lobbyists and activists keep focus on those areas

A detailed description of each issue is included in the next three sections of the report.

I. CULTURAL ISSUES & CHALLENGES

Cultural issues and challenges that emerged during the Initial Discovery Phase include basic assumptions, norms, behaviors, actions, and values that have developed over time.

A. A pragmatic organizational culture in which safety is viewed as "one of three competing priorities": Many PUC staff view themselves as analysts and pragmatists who understand accidents to be "inevitable". These respondents insist that safety goals and interests must be carefully balanced against the competing goals and interests of affordability and reliability in order for the PUC to succeed.

"We can't focus on one element of our mission to the detriment of the others."

Throughout the focus groups and interviews, respondents used the question "[illegible]"

B. Safety is considered less compelling than other priorities: For many years, the PUC has been celebrated as a leader in representing ratepayers and for promoting innovative and green technologies. There has been little attention and limited resources directed toward reliability, and even less toward safety by the Legislature and the Commissioners. [illegible] (DRA)

Because safety is considered to be "off the radar screen" of most Commissioners and legislators, it is considered to have little cache for PUC staff and managers.

"We get focused on hot projects and priorities and safety does not usually get that much attention."

"Our values [illegible] get focused on ensuring low prices and supporting environmental attributes. We are very enamored with clean energy and low rates. They drive policy making, not safety concerns."

"For the past ten years we have been mostly focused on climate changes policies. Everything else takes a back seat. We have not been focused on operating the safest infrastructure."

C. An "open" and "casual" culture sends conflicting messages about accountability: While the PUC's open and casual culture (e.g. dress code, the Executive Director's open-door policy, San Francisco address, lack of employee evaluations, industry's easy access to the PUC), is credited with promoting open communication and innovation, it is also blamed for sending the wrong message to both staff and regulated industries about accountability. Respondents reported that regulated industries have too much access to the PUC building, documents and personnel, and see too little in terms of significant fines and consequences to view the PUC as a serious regulator. Similarly, the casual approach of the Executive Director and other PUC senior leaders sends the message to staff that they will not be held accountable for their actions.

"The regulated industries and lobbyists come to the PUC and see how casual the attitude and culture is here. As a result, they don't feel that they have to comply – they are not worried. The message to them is that we are not paying attention."

"We are not disciplined. How can we expect to see discipline in the utilities?"

D. Lack of follow up mechanisms and follow through consequences: While the PUC can be highly effective at gathering and tracking essential safety data, identifying safety issues, and creative problem-solving, there is a lack of clear processes for following up and a lackadaisical attitude toward follow through. Respondents reported that meetings (from line staff meetings, to Division Director meetings to commission meetings) do not include sufficient mechanisms for tracking the implementation and outcomes of previous decisions; and that internal resources are not allocated to evaluate or encourage compliance at the back-end, i.e. review of how utilities actually spent money allocated to them for safety improvement projects). In addition, respondents report that there is little to no consequences for employees who fail to follow up, or for utilities who fail to follow through.

"We must make consequences more than a slap on the hand."

E. Lack of consistent safety modeling and messaging from PUC leadership: While most respondents believe that the Executive Director has a sincere desire to improve the safety outcomes of the PUC, many believe that he and other leaders are not providing the consistent messaging and behavior necessary to support fundamental change. Respondents point to several attitudes and behaviors displayed by the Executive Director that they consider to be "anti-safety". These include: resistance to challenging utilities, resistance to levying fines, unwillingness to re-allocate organizational resources, failure to complete employee evaluations, failure to provide consequences to staff, resistance to confronting internal conflicts.

"If Paul does not insist on change, there will be no change. There must be a constant reminder. We need to bring concrete and relevant information to the staff. We need to continually broach the issue – there is always a safety aspect to everything we do. It needs to be considered in all of our decisions."

"You need to have disciplined leadership – employees pick up on the cues and emulate what they see."

"We need consistent messaging from senior management that things need to be changed and management needs to show us support by responding to our needs and complaints…"

F. Excessive process inhibits staff initiative: According to respondents, when staff identify issues or propose new approaches, those decisions/recommendations must be reviewed by numerous layers of management before reaching upper leadership. Bottlenecks occur regularly in middle management and the majority of issues or recommendations are considered too late in the process or else never reach decision-makers at all. Failing to see their ideas acknowledged, staff lose their initiative to be innovative or proactive in the future.

G. The perception that safety culture is the "flavor of the month": According to several respondents, PUC's culture is often resistant to change. Staff report receiving directives from upper management that they consciously ignore, believing that if they wait, "this too shall pass."

When presented with the Safety Culture Change Project several respondents indicated their belief, that it was a superficial response to outside pressures and, as a result, would be gone from the radar before long.

"Once there are no accidents again, safety will go on the back burner for the other divisions."

"There is a disincentive for staff to tackle safety, it would mean taking on more work by myself for no reason and without support."

H. Lack of individual evaluations and accountability: [redacted] and had not conducted evaluations of their own staff. Neither staff nor leadership who participated in the discovery phase reported experiencing consequences for failure to complete employee evaluations outside of the probationary timeframe.

I. Lack of a unifying strategic vision: Many respondents believe that the PUC determines its priorities and allocates its resources solely in reaction to legislative and media pressures, and that there is no larger, long-term vision guiding and unifying staff around safety and other shared goals.

Many of the staff and leadership interviewed expressed the belief that enforcing safety is strictly the job of the Commissioners and the SED.

> "Commissioners should be watching the regulatory and safety piece. We shouldn't be doing this."

Outside of the SED, many staff and managers do not believe they have a role in creating and sustaining a safety culture. Many PUC staff and managers see their division's individual goals as mutually exclusive from other divisions.

> "There isn't enough about safety in our vision." We have to show people the importance of safety. We must make it relevant to people."

> "The problem here is not the staff, it is the system. Need to have a strategic plan about safety goals."

J. PUC staff lack an understanding and appreciation of the goals, objectives, roles and responsibilities of divisions outside of their own: According to respondents, at the staff, supervisor, manager and even director level, there is a general lack of understanding of what other divisions do and why they do it. This lack of understanding reinforces silos, hording of resources, and the lack of communication currently experienced among PUC's divisions.

K. Divergent perspectives among PUC employees regarding the effectiveness of "carrot" versus "stick" regulatory approaches leads to a lack of consistency: PUC employees do not agree on the most effective method for achieving compliance among the regulated utilities. While some staff firmly believe the PUC must use its significant financial and regulatory power to extract compliance, others believe that punishing the utilities with heavy fines does not work to either parties' benefit.

> "If you punish your child (i.e., PG&E) all the time for speaking up, they're not going to come to you when there's a fire in the closet (a risk)."

This inconsistency in vision and approach is seen throughout the PUC's divisions. Many employees consider compliance in very "black and white" terms. This schism appears to be due in part to an incomplete vision and message from PUC leadership regarding compliance:

"We are not being proactive. We are just dragging them (the utilities) with us."

"We were told to issue citations. We issued citations. Then we are told that we should meet with them to discuss how they could comply without complying to the law. We are told to be inconsistent. No matter what we do, they change it."

L. The Executive Director's aversion to conflict discourages PUC staff from taking tough issues head on: Several respondents reported that the Executive Director is hesitant to intervene in internal conflicts such as in disagreements over personnel and other resource allocations among division directors. In general, respondents report that PUC culture is very "risk averse" and works against "sticking your neck out".

"A don't 'upset the apple cart' mentality leads to people not challenging things, underperforming and not paying close attention, not showing the regulated industries that they are being watched and that the PUC is serious."

"I, as a director am told not to say anything. don't cause problems, how are we to regulate the utilities?"

"We need to be more transparent – open up to whistleblowers. Get away from 'the old boys network."

M. An historic lack of advocacy for safety at the Commissioner level: According to respondents, most Commissioners express minimal interest in or support for safety initiatives. Commissioners review few cases regarding safety on a pro-active basis and have minimal contact with SED personnel. The Commissioners' policy analysis and decision-making processes have historically not considered safety impacts, and there has been no evaluation of previous decisions to evaluate their long-term impacts on safety. In addition, the Commissioners have decided against several SED recommendations due to cost, political, and other considerations.

"Commissioners consider safety issues routine. They are not interested in discussing it."

"Commissioners need more political backbone to fine or punish utilities. They need to see its not just a cost of doing business."

"When Commissioners vote, they don't support safety, so there's no incentive for the utilities to be safer. If they knew they were 100% liable for safety problems, they'd take it more seriously. If the commission lets them put the burden on ratepayers, rather than shareholders, there is no incentive for the utilities to change."

II. STRUCTURAL ISSUES & CHALLENGES

Structural issues and challenges identified during the Initial Discovery Phase include resource, policy, process, communication, training, and technology barriers to creating a safety culture.

A. Staff lack the necessary tools and supports for effective safety analysis: Respondents indicated that PUC staff and managers lack the training, time, processes and management support to effectively identify, analyze and move forward safety concerns and considerations. There are no existing mechanisms for inserting safety concerns into the record. Often, when safety is considered in a case proceeding it is at the end of the process, when it is too late to make necessary changes. In addition, there are imbalances in personnel classifications. The PUC was previously staffed primarily by engineers, but over the past few decades, engineers have been replaced by policy experts, many of whom lack the training and orientation to conduct risk assessment/risk management.

"I don't know who to call when I don't understand a safety issue."

"Other divisions haven't been given a clear enough directive on what safety is."

"We have lack of expertise within the commission to evaluate safety. We prioritize for rates and affordability. DRA doesn't know how to analyze a dam. "

- There are insufficient mechanisms for cross-divisional communication and collaboration. This was the most common complaint among division directors, managers, supervisors and staff. According to respondents, the PUC offers few opportunities for staff to collaborate across divisions on issues that affect them. Lack of cross-divisional communication and collaboration was blamed for several of the PUCs current safety woes including: lack of access to critical data, ineffective risk assessment and planning, ineffective oversight, duplication of effort, and delays in response times. Respondents documented that cross-divisional collaboration is [illegible] by inherent conflicts within the regulatory process between [illegible] proceeding.

"If we all knew better what we were doing, we could share the load better. We could work smarter."

"Energy, DRA and SED need to interact with each other. They need to understand how they are all connected."

C. Cross divisional promotion depletes content-area expertise and experience: The regular practice of promoting across divisions rather than within divisions means that PUC staff take their subject matter expertise and insight out of the divisions to which it relates. Because there are few mechanisms supporting cross-divisional communication and collaboration, significant content knowledge is not often transferred to incoming staff members, making meaningful safety assessments more difficult.

D. PUC is not evaluating the outcomes of its policies and decisions: Respondents indicated that, from the Commissioners down to the staff level, there are few mechanisms for assessing or evaluating the outcomes of previous actions and decisions. There is no process or model for evaluating what worked and what did not and for creating recommendations regarding what should be done differently in the future. This is true both for decisions regarding issues internal to the PUC and for issues regarding external entities (utilities). While audits are regularly completed by SED and other divisions, there is no process for follow up to findings.

"Commissioners don't see follow up regarding the decisions they make. They make a decision and then move on."

"If you are promoting safety, you have to have mechanisms for implementing safety strategies and evaluating them. You must have an auditing mechanism."

E. Some staff believe that it is the PUC's failure to thoroughly "check the boxes" and enforce existing [illegible] is the root of the safety crisis.

"It is not rocket science to do regulations. We have clear and explicit guidelines."

"PUC inspectors were not being trained properly. They were not even 'checking the boxes' because if they did, they would have noticed something was amiss."

"We need to check the box, before you can walk outside the box."

F. SED has lacked the power and influence necessary to serve as a safety leader: Respondents report that for many years, power and resources have been allocated inequitably at the PUC. While some divisions such as Energy and DRA have received significant resources and attention from the Commissioners, other divisions (namely SED and Water), have been treated as undervalued, and at times, invisible stepchildren.

"Safety staff doesn't feel like they are a valued part of the agency. Commissioners don't talk to them."

According to several respondents, SED has been at times, both the perpetrator and the victim of this dynamic. By several accounts, SED has functioned for many years without the necessary staffing, resources and access to the Commissioners that it has needed to bring safety to the fore. At the same time, some respondents believe that SED has perpetrated its outsider status by functioning as a rigid and closed system [illegible]

"SED needs to realize that their role is to advocate for safety and think beyond doing safety inspections. They need to think more deeply about who needs the data they have collected."

"When SED takes sole responsibility for safety, everyone else takes it off their plate."

"SED needs to be telling us on a daily basis what they are finding. They should always be communicating what they are finding in terms of inspection."

"SED has not been trained in risk assessment and mitigation, and is not geared in that direction."

G. Director meetings do not address shared safety goals: Director meetings are viewed as ineffective in promoting cross division sharing, analyses or problem solving regarding safety issues. For example, according to one respondent:

"Paul has not led the directors in any shared goal setting or strategic planning" Safety is not an agenda item at the meetings."

H. PUC databases do not support effective analysis or information sharing: According to respondents, PUC divisions host a set of disparate databases that are difficult to utilize for effective data sharing and data analysis. Challenges include: duplicate entries, difficulty in pulling clear and succinct reports, and data being input into different parts of the system where it cannot be seen together. To support safety planning goals, staff require more flexible and integrated systems that are able to initiate data analysis. For example, staff should be able to give the system parameters of what types of data constitute an elevated risk to safety. When these parameters are reached from data entered by a regulator, the system should automatically generate and send out a report to key decision makers to flag a potential safety issue. Staff should be able to request risk profiles and receive notifications of potential issues.

I. PUC managers lack both supervisory and leadership skills: Respondents indicated that technical expertise, rather than leadership effectiveness has been the primary reason for promotion at the PUC. Following promotion to supervisory positions, new PUC managers do not participate in the mandatory supervisory training required by the State.

> "Managers here are very weak. They are technical experts who don't know basic management skills. Many have not taken the mandatory 40 hour supervisor training, and most don't do evaluations."

III. EXTERNAL PRESSURE ISSUES & CHALLENGES

External pressure raises issues and challenges to a safety culture. Issues identified by respondents include the low priority placed on safety by external PUC stakeholders as well as the influence of powerful industry and other advocates on PUC decision-makers.

A. An overly-cozy relationship with regulated utilities: Several respondents report that both Commissioners and PUC staff members have close ties to the industries they are supposed to be regulating. This has resulted in a reluctance on the part of the Commissioners and the PUC to impose significant fines and other consequences:

> "For years the Commissioners did not want to levy fines for safety violations. The culture was 'we will work with the utilities without using the stick...A decade of no fines."

> "Safety staff did not feel empowered to suggest large fines because the Commissioners would not approve them."

CPUC03792

PARTICIPANT IDEAS AND SUGGESTIONS

The following is a list of ideas and suggestions for creating a safety culture gathered from PUC interviewees and focus group participants.

- Develop cross functional and cross divisional workgroups
- Develop safety panels within each division
- Develop an orientation program for new employees that introduces them to each of the PUCs divisions.
- Expand the risk assessment group to other divisions outside of the SED.
- Early in case proceedings, identify the need for cross-divisional participation. Provide access to needed staff.
- [illegible] where staff can discuss the breadth of issues before the Commission.
- Utilize SED staff to provide training on safety analysis risk management.
- [illegible] To get around legal barriers, have SED hire consultants to keep clear wall around cases.
- ALJ has been looking at procedures to support safety consideration at every step. To create a record to capture safety issues for each decisions. This will require that Commissioners are aware of the safety impacts.
- Hold a forum for SED to discuss issues on a regular basis with the energy and legal division. Build this into SED's strategic plan.
- Utilize the Safety Council as a clearinghouse for reviewing safety-related decisions and workplanning next steps.
- Provide training for all employees in risk assessment and risk analysis approach, philosophy and practices.
- [illegible]

It is very important that SED communicate with their state and federal colleagues regarding what they are finding and develop a collaborative strategy for responding to issues.

- All PUC leaders need help in translating the larger PUC goals and mission into their day-to-day work plans and connecting their work plans to larger goals and mission.

- Best Practice: Energy holds "First Friday Forum" in which one of its 15 sections does a "deep dive" into their topic.

- Look at ratio of PUC inspectors to other states in terms of pipeline [illegible] if PUC is making the correct allocations in this area.

- Look closely at how the Safety Council is functioning and optimize its effectiveness. (e.g. make sure to include key players, provide processes and support for implementing decisions, needs an evaluation mechanism, needs process for communicating decisions to staff)

- Build protocol into the Commission's policy analysis and decision-making processes that looks at the longer term connections to impacts on safety ("the flow through to safety impacts")

- Set expectation by including safety in job descriptions, evaluations etc. Reward staff who meet safety goals [illegible] al safety behaviors.

- Provide directors, managers and supervisors training in, support for and consequences for not completing employee evaluations.

- Create a str[illegible]tion between Commissioners and safety staff.

- Hold inter-division forums/meetings to educate staff on the goals and objectives of each PUC division.

- Require safety to be part of every work product. Embed safety criteria/considerations/analyses in all decision-making templates. Must be weighted equally to financial considerations.

- Hold additional directors meetings (once every 6 weeks) where directors can brainstorm and problem solve together regarding H.R.-related issues. This would take these issues off the table at the regular directors meetings.

- Connect the dots between what happened in San Bruno and the decisions that led to the accident. Expand staff understanding of what "safety" really is and their connection to it. (look at National Transportation Safety Board example regarding Washington, D.C. train crash).

- Hold an off-site with the entire staff one time a year that focuses exclusively on safety and safety goals.

NEXT STEPS

The information derived from our Initial Discovery Phase will now be used in our Strategy Development Phase. During this phase, BAC will facilitate a culture change process that will help foster a safety culture at the PUC. This process will help leadership clearly define the desired change, identify strategies and actions to implement the change, and create a forum for reporting progress and ensuring accountability.

The culture of an organization is difficult to change because it is hard to see. Culture is the pattern of basic assumptions and norms developed over time in response to the specific needs of the organization. These assumptions constitute "the way we do things around here," and are taken as the facts of reality itself.

In this way, culture is like a computer's operating system. If you try to install a new program that is in conflict with an old operating system, it will be rejected. Similarly in culture change, if the change is implemented using the usual methods the organization is accustomed to ("the way we do things"), the change effort will likely be rejected by the culture.

The bottom line: you can't implement a new culture using only the typical methods of the old culture.

For these reasons, BAC will advise PUC leadership to implement its culture change using methods that may be different from those it has used in the past. These new methods will seem awkward and uncomfortable. This discomfort is actually a good sign because it means we are changing the operating system.

The Strategy Development Phase will be initiated by PUC leadership at a series of problem-solving meetings to interpret the Initial Discovery data and select safety goals. The roadmap for this process will be jointly created by BAC and PUC leadership. BAC suggests that the following change management best practices be considered as we design the change effort together:

1. Create a clear vision of what PUC is trying to achieve in a "safety culture."

2. Have a candid conversation of the current state of reality and the barriers to achieving this vision.

3. Increase the number of people, levels, divisions and units that participate in interpreting the data, selecting the goals, and planning the change.

4. Create a designated change team that guides the process and reports to the Executive Director. This team should be comprised of people who are engaged advocates for safety from multiple divisions and levels.

5. Select high level goals that if accomplished will achieve the vision. Include small wins and "low-hanging" fruit among these goals to build momentum.

6. Select metrics for each goal that will allow the organization to measure progress.

7. Ensure accountability by assigning executive level sponsors for each goal and metric and provide individual coaching as needed.

8. Develop strategies, activities and workplans for each goal with assigned staff and resources.

9. Create a forum and process for regular reporting and department-wide communication on the goal metrics. Include avenues for two-way communication to ensure that feedback is incorporated into modifications to the culture change plan.

Interview Questions for PUC Leadership

1. PUC is focused on creating a safety culture. If that was successful, what would that look like?

Probes: What would be done differently? What would be the most significant changes that would have to take place?

2. What is helping and what is hindering the PUC in terms of creating a safety culture?

Probes (1): Is safety a high priority of most leadership/of most staff? Why/why not? If not, what issues resonate most with leadership and staff right now?*

Probes (2): What role does PUC's current culture play in helping/hindering to develop a safety culture? How are decisions made? What do meetings look like? How do problems generally get solved? How do employees know if they are doing well or doing poorly? For what types of behavior are people rewarded and punished? What do people do here to deal with the unknowable and uncontrollable?*

3. What do you see as the core values of the PUC?

Probes: Where are PUC leaders aligned with these values? What is enabling and encouraging this alignment? What best practices regarding safety culture are evident in your division? Across the organization? Where do you see leaders motivating their staff to engage in safety promoting behaviors? How are they doing this?

4. What do you see as the greatest challenges for PUC leaders in creating a safety culture?

Probes: Where are leaders out of alignment with PUC values? Why is this happening? What tools do PUC leaders require that they do not have? What is the most effective strategy for providing them these tools?*

5. What are the most effective strategies for fostering collaboration and shared goals across divisions?

Probes: How challenging is the issue of silos? Are there any current contexts in which leadership is successfully working together? How can the silos at PUC be broken down? Is working together rewarded? How can we encourage cross communication across silos and focus leaders on shared goals?

6. What will be the most effective strategies for engaging PUC leaders in promoting a safety culture?

Probes: What will convince leaders that engaging will make a difference? What data will be persuasive? What type of language should we be using to talk about safety culture?

7. Which staff and managers do you think would be most helpful to include in a focus group dealing with these same issues?

Focus Group Questions for Line Staff

1. PUC is focused on moving from a "check the boxes" approach to a "risk management/mitigation" approach and creating a "safety culture." What is your understanding of the main differences between these two approaches? What do you think is meant by a safety culture?

2. What changes would have to be made at the PUC to switch to this new approach and move towards a safety culture?
   Probes: What is helping and what is hindering the PUC in terms of creating a culture focused on safety? Is safety a high priority for most staff? To your managers? To you personally? Why or why not?

3. How has the PUC handled goal setting regarding safety as an organization?
   Probes*: Do you feel the PUC is holding itself accountable? What is Leadership's role in safety? What changes need to be made to goal setting to support a safety culture?*

4. What messages about safety are you receiving from your supervisors/managers?
   Probes*: What information regarding safety initiatives is being passed to line staff? Are these messages consistent? How are these messages backed up with actions/resources etc?*

5. How is safety behavior/safety considerations incorporated into your daily work?
   Probes*: Are you able to contribute ideas about how to include safety in daily work/goals of your division? How are you getting support for safety initiatives from your managers? Are you being held accountable for the success of these initiatives? What else do managers need to be doing to support you/ to increase staff-buy in?*

6. What tools/resources do you need to support you in creating a more safety-focused work environment? What is the most effective strategy for providing you these tools?

7. How much communication, collaboration and shared goals are taking place with regard to safety at the PUC? Across the different divisions? What communication barriers have you seen between staff, managers and leadership? Can you think of any examples of where either staff, managers or leadership are successfully working together around safety goals? Why do you think this is able to happen?

8. Should there be any changes in how the agency disseminates safety information internally? Externally, to the public? What type of communication tools should be used to talk about safety culture at the PUC? (meetings, trainings, emails, memos, poster campaign, social networking, etc.)

9. What will convince you that a safety culture is a priority? What will convince your colleagues that safety is a priority? What would be most effective for creating buy-in and people's attention?

Focus Group Questions for PUC Managers/Supervisors

6. PUC is focused on moving from a "check the boxes" approach to a "risk management/mitigation" approach and creating a "safety culture." What is your understanding of the main differences between these two approaches? What do you think is meant by a safety culture? What changes would have to be made at the PUC to switch to this new approach and move towards a safety culture?

7. In your opinion, what is helping and what is hindering the PUC in terms of creating a culture focused on safety?
Probes: In your opinion, is safety a high priority for most leaders/managers/staff? For you personally? Why or why not?

3. How has the PUC handled goal setting regarding safety as an organization? Do you feel the PUC is holding itself accountable? What changes need to be made to goal setting to support a safety culture?

4. How are you incorporating safety behavior/safety considerations into your daily work and decision-making and in the work/decision-making of your staff?
Probes: How are you getting support for safety initiatives from staff? What information regarding safety initiatives is being passed to line staff? What else do managers need to be doing to increase staff-buy in?

5. What do you see as the greatest challenges for yourself and other PUC managers/supervisors to supporting safety behavior/considerations?

6. Are you getting the support you need from PUC leadership? What else do you need? What else should leadership be doing to support the creation of a safety-focused culture here?

7. What tools/resources do you need to support you in creating a more safety-focused work environment? What is the most effective strategy for providing you these tools?

8. How much communication, collaboration and shared goals are taking place with regard to safety at the PUC? Across the different divisions? What communication barriers have you seen between staff, managers and leadership? Can you think of any examples of where either staff, managers or leadership are successfully working together? Why do you think this is able to happen?

9. Should there be any changes in how the agency disseminates information internally? Externally, to the public?

10. What will convince you that a safety culture is a priority? What will convince managers/supervisors and staff that safety is a priority? What would be most effective for creating buy-in and people's attention? What type of communication tools should be used to talk about safety culture at the PUC? (meetings, trainings, emails, memos, poster campaign, social networking, etc.)

Focus Group Questions for SED Staff

1. PUC is focused on moving from a "check the boxes" approach to a "risk management/mitigation" approach and creating a "safety culture." What is your understanding of the main differences between these two approaches?

2. What changes would have to be made; 1) inside of the SED and 2) across the entire PUC, to switch to this new approach and move towards a safety culture?

3. What is helping and what is hindering the PUC in terms of creating a culture focused on safety? Probes: Is safety a high priority for staff and managers outside of the SED? What needs to be done to make safety a higher priority?

4. Has there been any change in how safety issues have been handled by SED post-San Bruno? Probes*: Did the PUC hold itself accountable enough for the incident? What have been the major changes? How effective have these changes been? What else needs to happen?*

5. What is helping and what is hindering the SED in supporting its safety goals? Probes*: Does SED have the resources it needs to meet its safety goals? What else does the SED need from PUC leadership?*

6. What messages about safety are you receiving from your supervisors/managers? Probes Are you able to contribute ideas about how to include safety in daily work/goals of your division? How are you getting support for safety initiatives from your managers? What else do managers need to be doing to support you/ to increase staff-buy in?

7. What tools/resources do you need to support you in creating a more safety-focused work environment? What is the most effective strategy for providing you these tools?

8. How much communication, collaboration and shared goals is taking place with regard to safety at the PUC? Across the different divisions? What communication barriers have you seen between staff, managers and leadership? Can you think of any examples of where either staff, managers or leadership are successfully working together around safety goals? Why do you think this is able to happen?

9. Should there be any changes in how the agency disseminates safety information internally? Externally, to the public? What type of communication tools should be used to talk about safety culture at the PUC? (meetings, trainings, emails, memos, poster campaign, social networking, etc.)

10. What will convince you that a safety culture is a priority? What will convince your colleagues that safety is a priority? What would be most effective for creating buy-in and people's attention?

> This afternoon, the City of San Bruno filed the attached motion seeking to have Commissioners Peevey and Florio recused from attending the upcoming CPUC sponsored safety symposium or, in the alternative, to delay the symposium until after the San Bruno related enforcement proceedings are resolved. The motions cites the conflict of having the "prosecutor", "defendant", and "judges" in the enforcement proceedings participate in the symposium and the potential for ex parte violations. Although organized and sponsored by the CPUC, the motion refers to the symposium as the "PG&E – CPUC Safety Symposium." The motion asserts that the City of San Bruno was not invited to participate in, or attend, the symposium and was not aware of the symposium until notified of it by TURN. The motion also references and attaches the recently released consultant report containing statements by CPUC staff critical of the CPUC's safety culture.

> This afternoon, the City of San Bruno filed the attached motion seeking to have Commissioners Peevey and Florio recused from attending the upcoming CPUC sponsored safety symposium or, in the alternative, to delay the symposium until after the San Bruno related enforcement proceedings are resolved. The motions cites the conflict of having the "prosecutor", "defendant", and "judges" in the enforcement proceedings participate in the symposium and the potential for ex parte violations. Although organized and sponsored by the CPUC, the motion refers to the symposium as the "PG&E - CPUC Safety Symposium." The motion asserts that the City of San Bruno was not invited to participate in, or attend, the symposium and was not aware of the symposium until notified of it by TURN. The motion also references and attaches the recently released consultant report containing statements by CPUC staff critical of the CPUC's safety culture.

CPUC Statement on San Bruno's Motion on Upcoming Symposium: CPUC Information Alert

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) today received a motion by the City of San Bruno calling for the recusal of Commissioners or postponement of the CPUC's May 7-8, 2013, Safety Symposium. Although the Symposium is a forward-looking event and issues related to the CPUC's ongoing PG&E pipeline cases would not be discussed, to eliminate any possible public concern over the fairness of the CPUC's process the CPUC has decided to postpone the Symposium to a future date.

Notify speakers – DONE
Cancel dinner (s!) – DONE
Notify other utilities – DONE

We'll work on notifying all others and cancelling the coffee . . . tomorrow.

I'm going to miss working with you . . .
Oh wait, we'll still be working on stuff!! Yay! Seriously, thank goodness for you both.

Good night.

Soooo.... Here's what I can think of that needs to be done (on Thursday), and who I think should do it.

- Pull from Daily Calendar (I already sent an email and cc'd Liza)

- Notify speakers: Laura

- Send email to all who received invitation (I will do this. Is the language I used in the Information Alert I just sent out OK to use?)

- Cancel Auditorium: Liza

- Cancel our IT services (I already sent an email cancelling Robert Stanford's services)

- Cancel dinner (Laura)

- Cancel drink vendor (Laura)

- Notify other utilities that were involved (Laura)

- Delete registration page and notify all who registered (Laura with Andrea's assistance)

- Delete event's web page and remove from the What's Hot calendar (I've already requested that the event page be taken down asap and I removed the event from the What's Hot calendar)

Anything else??

Subject: I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016 and I.11-11-009 (Pipeline OIIs) - Administrative Law Judges' Ruling Denying Motion of the City of San Bruno

NOTICE TO ALL PARTIES IN I.12-01-007, I.11-02-016 and I.11-11-009:

On April 24, 2013 the City of San Bruno served its "Motion of the City of San Bruno Requesting an Order to Show Cause Why Assigned Commissioners Peevey and Florio Should Not Be Recused From the 'Forging a New Vision of Safety in California' Symposium Pursuant to Rule 8.3, or in the Alternative, an Order Suspending the Safety Symposium Until I.12-01-007, I.11-02-16, and I.11-11-009 are Fully Adjudicated" (San Bruno Motion). An Administrative Law Judges' Ruling was issued shortly thereafter, which shortened the time to respond to the San Bruno Motion to April 29, 2013. Later that same day, the Commission issued a statement in response to the San Bruno Motion. "Although the Symposium is a forward-looking event and issues related to the CPUC's ongoing PG&E pipeline cases would not be discussed, to eliminate any possible public concern over the fairness of the CPUC's process the CPUC has decided to postpone the Symposium to a future date."

The Commission's decision to postpone the Symposium renders the San Bruno Motion moot. There is no need for responses to the motion and the San Bruno Motion is denied.

IT IS RULED THAT the Motion of the City of San Bruno Requesting an Order to Show Cause Why Assigned Commissioners Peevey and Florio Should Not Be Recused From the 'Forging a New Vision of Safety in California' Symposium Pursuant to Rule 8.3, or in the Alternative, an Order Suspending the Safety Symposium Until I.12-01-007, I.11-02-16, and I.11-11-009 are Fully Adjudicated is denied as moot.

Administrative Law Judges Mark Wetzell and Amy Yip-Kikugawa

2011 guidance light, rate base strong

EIX initiated 2011 guidance of $2.60-$2.90/sh, with a midpoint lighter than our estimate of $2.85 and consensus of $2.94. SCE 2011 guidance remained strong at $3.08/sh however EMG's guidance was an earnings loss of $0.19/sh. We continue to like SCE's strong quality rate base growth story and attractive valuation, but believe EMG muddles the overall story. Maintain Neutral.

Rate base growth driving earnings

SCE's rate base is forecasted to grow at an impressive 8-11% growth rate over the 2011-2014 timeframe. EIX tightened its rate base range, and the midpoint of the low and high case is higher than before. Bonus depreciation does lower rate base, though its effects are not realized until 2014. This change in rate base boosts earnings by about $0.08/sh in 2012, $0.03/sh in 2013 and $0.01/sh in 2014 holding all else constant. We assume the midpoint rate base in our estimates.

Updating our estimates; adjusting LT ROEs

EME added modestly to its hedge position in 2012, but remains largely unhedged at both MWG and HC. We have updated our model for capex, rate base, and hedging disclosures. Similar to PCG, we have haircut SCE's 2013+ CPUC ROE by 50bps to 11%. Our new 2011-2014 estimates are $2.79/$3.01/$3.06/$3.37 vs $2.85/$2.94/$3.07. Our mark to market estimates are $2.74/$2.61/$2.55/$2.84.

Raising price objective by $1 to $40

We value SCE at $40/share, based on 11.75x 2013E earnings, a discount to the industry average to reflect CA ROE concerns and the pending rate case overhang. We assign a $0/share value to EME. Downside risks: CA regulatory risk, further declining commodity prices. Upside risks: improving comm. prices.

Company Description

Headquartered in Rosemead, California, EIX is the parent company of Southern California Edison (SCE), one of the largest regulated electric utilities in California, and Edison Mission Group, a competitive power generation business with operations primarily in the Midwest. SCE serves 14M people in central, coastal and Southern California. EMG's operations consist of owned or leases interests in 10,200MW including one of the largest portfolios of wind energy projects in the US.

Investment Thesis

Edison International's (EIX) utility, Southern California Edison (SCE), is a top growing utility in a constructive regulatory environment. This growth is currently muddled by a volatile and deteriorating earnings situation at Edison Mission Energy (EME), EIX's power generation company. As a result, we see very little earnings growth at EIX over the next five years and only modest dividend growth.

Updating our work on EIX

SCE continues to have strong rate base growth and quality earnings; however SCE has a rate case to get through this year which could be an overhang. EIX's overall earnings and story continue to be muddled by EME.

We are maintaining our Neutral on EIX. EIX's utility, SCE, continues to be one the best utilities in our coverage universe. SCE has strong rate base growth from investments in transmission and distribution projects resulting in quality earnings growth.

On our valuation and $40 price objective we acknowledge that EIX looks somewhat attractive and we believe the YTD underperformance was overdone. However, SCE has a rate case to get through this year, which could be an overhang on the stock. In addition, EIX's overall earnings and story continues to be muddled by EME. While we do not assign any negative value for EME, we currently do not see any positive value either. We believe EIX may continue to trade with a conglomerate discount until clarity on EME is achieved.

SCE rate base forecast strong

SCE updated its rate base projections and forecasts rate base growth of 8-11% over the 2011-2014 timeframe

SCE updated its rate base projections and forecasts rate base growth of 8-11% over the 2011-2014 timeframe. This is in-line with the previous growth rate of 10% from 2005-2010. SCE's rate base forecast did not change significantly, though EIX did tighten the range between the low and high case to ~10% from ~16%. This is due to more certainty around capex projects, particularly transmission and rooftop solar. 2011 guidance midpoint for SCE is $3.08/sh.

Though SCE's rate base forecast did not change dramatically, the midpoint of the range (what we use in our model) did increase over the timeperiod (see Table 1). This change in rate base affects earnings by about $0.08/share in 2012, $0.03/share in 2013 and $0.01/share in 2014 holding all else constant.

Bonus D&A rate base impact delayed

SCE realizes an estimated $550M of cash benefits from bonus depreciation in 2011, but does not impact rate base until 2014

SCE realizes an estimated $550M of cash benefits from bonus depreciation in 2011. While for some utilities, this cash benefit immediately impacts rate base, for SCE, the impact is normalized over time, and does not reduce rate base in the same year. SCE's rate base does get impacted; in 2014, EIX lowered the high end of the range by $500M to reflect the impact of bonus depreciation. However, the increase in the bottom end of the range to $22.8B from $22.2B kept the midpoint of the range around $23.8B, mitigating any commensurate earnings impact.

CPUC03971

SCE's rate base growth is funded through cash flow from operations, short-term debt issuances and is supplemented by bonus depreciation and other cash tax benefits; we believe some equity may be needed eventually to sustain this level of spending

Rate base capex funded without external equity

SCE continues to fund its capex program without needing external equity. SCE's rate base growth is funded through cash flow from operations, short-term debt issuances and is supplemented by bonus depreciation and other cash tax benefits. While we appreciate the earnings growth that results from a lack of dilution we believe some equity may be needed eventually to sustain this level of spending. We note the consolidated equity ratio in our model does weaken over time to ~40% from ~46%, but this does include the impact of EME earnings as well.

SCE has requested an ~$870M rate increase based on a $16.5B rate base, 11.5% ROE and 48% equity ratio. We expect the rate increase to come down to due to the impact of bonus D&A

SCE 2012 GRC in process

In November 2010, SCE filed its 2012 GRC (for the 2012-2014 timeframe) requesting a 2012 base rate revenue requirement of $6.3B, or a ~$870M increase. We expect this revenue increase to moderate some as SCE updates it for the impact of bonus depreciation. The rate increase is based on a $16.5B 2012 CPUC jurisdictional rate base, 11.5% ROE and 48% equity ratio. A final decision is targeted for December 2011, however we believe this could easily be pushed into 1Q 2012 based on past precedent. Commissioner Tim Simon is the assigned commissioner to the rate case. As SCE has indicated that it plans to litigate the rate case versus pursuing a settlement, we believe the rate case could be an overhang on the stock for most of the year. As a reminder, cost of capital and equity layer are not included in this rate case and are currently locked through the end of 2012.

ROE could get cut

To be conservative, we are cutting our 2013 and forward CPUC jurisdictional ROE by 50bps to 11% from 11.5%; as a result in 2013, our SCE earnings (net of parent drag) have come down to $3.44 from our previous estimate of $3.49/sh

As part of the California regulatory construct, equity ratios and ROEs are decided outside of the GRC and are set for three year periods. California currently has higher ROEs than the national average. We believe there could be some downward pressure on this, and that these ROEs are likely to come down modestly when they are reviewed in 2012 to be effective in 2013.

That said, given the large renewable energy focus in California, and the 33% RPS, CA utilities generally have a large amount of PPAs. As rating agencies treat PPAs as debt, we believe relatively strong ROEs and equity ratios are necessary to avoid credit downgrades.

To be conservative, we are cutting our 2013 and forward CPUC jurisdictional ROE by 50bps to 11% from 11.5% (similar to our assumptions for PCG). We did not reduce the FERC ROE, and maintain it at 11.5%. This gives a weighted average allowed ROE of ~11.15% down from SCE's current weighted average allowed ROE of 11.5%. As a result in 2013, our SCE earnings (net of parent drag) have come down to $3.44 from our previous estimate of $3.49/sh. We note the impact is relatively light; this is largely due to the increased transmission component of SCE's overall rate base (increasing from 16% in 2011 to 23% in 2013) which still receives the higher FERC authorized ROE.

EME challenges remain

EME remains challenged by weak commodity prices, narrowing dark spreads and pending environmental compliance regulations. EME's 2011 guidance is a loss of $0.19/sh. We expect these losses to grow post 2011 as EME's in the money rail contract expires at the end of 2011. Our 2011-2014 estimates for EME are -$0.15, -$0.28, -$0.38, and -$0.37 per share. Our mark to market 2011-2014 estimates are -$0.19, -$0.68, -$0.89, -$0.90 per share.

EME continues to be largely unhedged over the 2011-2014 timeframe. As a reminder, in 3Q 2010 the company reduced its 2011 power hedges for Midwest Gen and Homer City. EME added some hedges in 2012 (see Table 2), but does not plan to materially increase its hedge profile at current depressed power prices.

While we forecast negative earnings for the next several years, we continue to see positive cash flow at EME supported by the production tax credits generated by the wind portfolio

EME also updated its capex forecast, though it did not change significantly from before. The company has forecasted approximately $480M of capex for environmental expenditures at Midwest Gen. Of this, $109M is related to SNCR (NOx) controls and the remainder is for trona for SO2 controls. That said, Midwest Gen could elect to shut down some of the plants instead of spending the capex; this decision will be impacted by the federal EPA proposed mercury and hazardous pollutant standards expected out in mid-March 2011. If EME does proceed with the trona technology, we would expect a resultant increase in operating expenses, which we currently do not include in our estimate.

While we forecast negative earnings for the next several years, we continue to see positive cash flow at EME supported by the production tax credits generated by the wind portfolio. We believe that to the extent EME can continue to operate with its cash on hand and from operations, management will retain the entity as a long-term option on power market recovery. We do not see any positive value for EME, but continue to believe that it does not deserve any negative value either.

Model updates

Our new 2011-2014 estimates are $2.79, $3.01, $3.06 and $3.37. Our 2011-2014 mark to market estimates are $2.74, $2.61, $2.55 and $2.84 per share.

We have updated our EPS estimates for EIX for updates in hedging disclosures, capex, wind project development and rate base forecasts. Our new 2011-2014 estimates are $2.79, $3.01, $3.06 and $3.37. Our prior 2011-2013 estimates were $2.85, $2.94 and $3.07. Our 2011-2014 mark to market estimates are $2.74, $2.61, $2.55 and $2.84 per share.

We made the following major updates to our model:

- Updated for new rate base and capex forecast: we assume the midpoint of the low and high cases for rate base and capex.
- Adjust CPUC ROEs to 11% beginning in 2013: as discussed above, we assume a 50bps cut in ROE post 2012. This results in a weighted average ROE of ~11.15% versus the current 11.5%.
- No longer include energy efficiency earnings: consistent with our assumptions for PCG and in-line with EIX assumptions, we no longer credit the company with energy efficiency earnings. In 2010 it added $0.04/sh, and could be upside for 2011.
- Bonus depreciation cash flow: We added $550M of cash flow from bonus depreciation to SCE in 2011 and an additional $200M in 2012.The 2012 addition is our estimate.
- Environmental capex at Homer City: We are assuming EME installs wet FGD scrubbers at Homer City in the 2012-2014 timeframe, though the company is considering alternate technologies. We estimate a cost of ~$1.1B for installation, or approximately $584/KW. This is lower than the $650/KW that was estimated for dry scrubbers at MWG in 2008, but above other companies' estimates for costs. We believe our estimate could be high.

Our financial summary and modeling assumptions are shown in Tables 3 and 4 below.

Edison International (EIX)

Our EIX price objective is $40. We value SCE at $40/share, based on 11.75x 2013E earnings, a discount to the industry average to reflect CA regulation concerns and the pending rate case overhang. We see zero equity value at EME at current power prices even before adding environmental capex at the coal plants. For EME, in our view, the company cannot be worth negative value to EIX, but we also see a slim chance of material positive value barring a dramatic power market recovery. The downside risk for EIX is an unforeseen negative turn in California regulation. On the upside, a strong power market recovery could cause EME to be worth more than we currently expect.

* Companies in respect of which BofA Merrill Lynch or one of its affiliates has received compensation for investment banking services within the past 12 months. For purposes of this distribution, a stock rated Underperform is included as a Sell.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of a stock's: (i) absolute total return potential and (ii) attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). There are three investment ratings: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

Investment rating	Total return expectation (within 12-month period of date of initial rating)	Ratings dispersion guidelines for coverage cluster*
Buy	≥ 10%	≤ 70%
Neutral	≥ 0%	≤ 30%
Underperform	N/A	≥ 20%

* Ratings dispersions may vary from time to time where BofA Merrill Lynch Research believes it better reflects the investment prospects of stocks in a Coverage Cluster.

INCOME RATINGS*, indicators of potential cash dividends, are: 7 - same/higher (dividend considered to be secure), 8 - same/lower (dividend not considered to be secure) and 9 - pays no cash dividend. Coverage Cluster is comprised of stocks covered by a single analyst or two or more analysts sharing a common industry, sector, region or other classification(s). A stock's coverage cluster is included in the most recent BofA Merrill Lynch Comment referencing the stock.

General Investment Related Disclosures:

This research report provides general information only. Neither the information nor any opinion expressed constitutes an offer or an invitation to make an offer, to buy or sell any securities or other financial instrument or any derivative related to such securities or instruments (e.g., options, futures, warrants, and contracts for differences). This report is not intended to provide personal investment advice and it does not take into account the specific investment objectives, financial situation and the particular needs of any specific person. Investors should seek financial advice regarding the appropriateness of investing in financial instruments and implementing investment strategies discussed or recommended in this report and should understand that statements regarding future prospects may not be realized. Any decision to purchase or subscribe for securities in any offering must be based solely on existing public information on such security or the information in the prospectus or other offering document issued in connection with such offering, and not on this report.

Securities and other financial instruments discussed in this report, or recommended, offered or sold by Merrill Lynch, are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and are not deposits or other obligations of any insured depository institution (including, Bank of America, N.A.). Investments in general and, derivatives, in particular, involve numerous risks, including, among others, market risk, counterparty default risk and liquidity risk. No security, financial instrument or derivative is suitable for all investors. In some cases, securities and other financial instruments may be difficult to value or sell and reliable information about the value or risks related to the security or financial instrument may be difficult to obtain. Investors should note that income from such securities and other financial instruments, if any, may fluctuate and that price or value of such securities and instruments may rise or fall and, in some cases, investors may lose their entire principal investment. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. Levels and basis for taxation may change.

This report may contain a short-term trading idea or recommendation, which highlights a specific near-term catalyst or event impacting the company or the market that is anticipated to have a short-term price impact on the equity securities of the company. Short-term trading ideas and recommendations are different from and do not affect a stock's fundamental equity rating, which reflects both a longer term total return expectation and attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster. Short-term trading ideas and recommendations may be more or less positive than a stock's fundamental equity rating.

BofA Merrill Lynch is aware that the implementation of the ideas expressed in this report may depend upon an investor's ability to "short" securities or other financial instruments and that such action may be limited by regulations prohibiting or restricting "shortselling" in many jurisdictions. Investors are urged to seek advice regarding the applicability of such regulations prior to executing any short idea contained in this report.

Foreign currency rates of exchange may adversely affect the value, price or income of any security or financial instrument mentioned in this report. Investors in such securities and instruments, including ADRs, effectively assume currency risk.

Commissioner changes at the CPUC; Peevey is key

We met with California Public Utilities Commissioner Tim Simon at the Wall Street Utility Group meeting in NY on 1/19/11. Comm. Simon is a current member of the CPUC, with his term expiring in 2013. Comm. Simon indicated that he expects Peevey will likely remain President of the CPUC. We view this as key, as Peevey has been a steady influence at the CPUC, and has led many electric utility issues. We believe Comm. Ryan appears unlikely to remain on the commission, as the CA Senate has not yet confirmed her appointment, which has a 1/20/11 deadline. Gov. Brown will therefore likely be appointing three new members to the CPUC.

Potential new commissioners

Names that have been mentioned by Comm. Simon as potential new commissioners include Mike Florio, an attorney for TURN (The Utility Reform Network), Catherine Sandoval, a law professor and telecom expert, and Jack McNally, a former union representative and current labor consultant for CFEE (CA Foundation on the Environment and Economy). Based on our review, these potential candidates appear balanced and fair. If these candidates were appointed, we believe the CPUC would remain reasonable. The next two CPUC meetings are scheduled for 1/27/2011 and 2/24/2011. A quorum (three commissioners) is required to vote on issues, which may require Governor Brown to fill at least one of the vacancies relatively soon.

PCG remains in spotlight

PCG remains in the spotlight in CA, with frequent negative press on San Bruno and opposition to smart meters gaining momentum. While we remain concerned by this overhang on PCG, we continue to believe the GRC settlement will be approved. Currently no major parties are opposed, and key intervenors such as DRA and TURN have signed on. While there could be some political sensitivities around the GRC, we do not expect it to impact the settlement.

California economy, renewables a focus

The weak California economy and high unemployment rate (12.4%) remain a focus. We believe at least one of the new commissioners could be very focused on job creation, and potentially tie jobs to utilities' infrastructure spend. Renewables and the environment policy remain a key policy initiative for Gov. Brown and we believe the CPUC will remain committed to growing renewables. We do continue to expect some some downward pressure for ROEs post 2012, but do not expect a drastic reduction.

Fears on California could be overblown

We remain supportive of CA, and believe current investor concerns could be overblown. We note the pure play California utility, PCG, does not have any rate case risk for the next 3 years post the pending settlement. We believe the current Commissioner changes will have a modest overall impact to the CPUC.

Ongoing San Bruno investigations could be headwind

PCG continues to face ongoing NTSB and CPUC investigations into the San Bruno pipeline disaster. While neither investigation has been conclusive, PCG has faced increased scrutiny on its record-keeping and ongoing pipeline operations. We believe PCG could see some additional one-time cost increases related to San Bruno in 2011, pressuring 2011 earnings.

Bonus depreciation (D&A) could lessen equity needs

We estimate PCG will see material cash benefits (up to ~$800M in 2011) from bonus D&A extension. Given this additional cash and the cancellation of the Manzana Wind project, we believe PCG may not need the majority of its $400M of external equity in 2011. We note, however, that the CPUC has a proposed resolution outstanding that would give back bonus D&A cash benefits to CA ratepayers immediately. If this is passed, we would expect a moderate increase in equity issuance for 2011, but likely less than $400M given the loss of Manzana.

Adjusting EPS for San Bruno costs in 2011, ROE in 2013

We have adjusted our estimates to reflect our estimate of San Bruno in 2011. Our new '11 estimate is $3.65 vs our prior estimate of $3.71. PCG narrowed its '11 guidance to $3.65-$3.80 from $3.65-$3.85 to reflect San Bruno costs and the GRC settlement in Nov. 2010. We also reduced our expected CPUC jurisdictional ROE for '13 to 10.85% from 11.35% given our expectation for a lower future ROE. Our new '11-'14 estimates are $3.65/$3.89/$3.95/$4.13 from $3.71/$3.91/$4.11.

Reiterate Buy, $50 price objective

PCG continues to trade at a discount to the large cap regulateds, despite its above-average 6-8% EPS growth rate. Our PO is based on an industry average of 12.5x 2013E earnings. Risks are liability related to the explosion, approval of the settlement, regulatory changes.

Company Description

PG&E Corp is one of the largest combination natural gas and electric utilities in the United States and the third largest regulated utility in our coverage universe. Based in San Francisco, California, the company primary business is the transmission and delivery of energy. The company provides natural gas and electric service to approximately 15 million people throughout a 70,000-square-mile service area to most of the northern two-thirds of California.

Investment Thesis

PCG offers a compelling regulated growth story with well below average risk. PCG benefits from very supportive state regulation in CA. Key positive CA regulatory mechanisms include revenue decoupling, cost of capital adjustment mechanism, and a pension balancing account. We project earnings growth of 6-7% over the next 5 years driven by a 10% growth in ratebase, through investments in transmission and distribution and generation. We expect PCG to increase the dividend as earnings grow.

PCG earnings preview

We believe PCG could see some additional cost increases related to San Bruno, pressuring 2011 earnings. PCG is scheduled to report earnings on February 17, 2011 at 11:30am EST.

PCG continues to face ongoing NTSB and CPUC investigations into the San Bruno pipeline disaster. While neither investigation has been conclusive, PCG has faced increased scrutiny on its record-keeping and ongoing pipeline operations. We believe PCG could see some additional one-time cost increases related to San Bruno in 2011, pressuring 2011 earnings. PCG is scheduled to report earnings on February 17, 2011. It will hold its conference call at 11:30am EST.

San Bruno investigations

We have assumed some additional O&M costs in 2011, and our new 2011 estimate is $3.65, the low end of PCG's 2011 guidance range

San Bruno continues to be an overhang on PCG's regulatory and political relationships. Given some of the increased need for inspections of pipeline pressure, record-keeping and possible leak assesments under the CPUC and NTSB investigations, we are taking a more conservative approach on pipeline O&M. Thus, we have assumed some additional O&M costs in 2011, and our new 2011 estimate is $3.65, the low end of PCG's 2011 guidance range of $3.65-$3.80/sh.

GRC settlement still outstanding

We are still waiting for a proposed decision from the ALJ on PCG's Gas Storage & Transmission GRC and Electric & Gas GRC. There is a 30-day wait period post an ALJ decision before the CPUC can issue a final decision. We believe it is likely both settlements will be approved given the largely unanimous support of the settlement by major parties.

In addition, we believe it is likely that newly appointed Commissioner, Mike Florio, will recuse himself from the PCG GRC, given his involvement with them in his prior role as an attorney with TURN (a major intervenor).

Bonus D&A could lessen equity needs

We estimate PCG will see cash benefits from the bonus D&A extension. Given this additional cash and the cancellation of Manzana , we believe PCG may not need the majority of its $400M of external equity in 2011.

We expect PCG to benefit from bonus D&A in 2011 and 2012. We expect cash benefits of ~$800M in 2011 and ~$400M in 2012. PCG had previously announced that it would issue up to $400M in external equity in 2011 (starting in late 2010) under a DRIBBLE program to fund rate base and the Manzana Wind project. Given the cancellation of Manzana and the influx of bonus D&A, we expect PCG to fund its external equity needs through cash on hand.

We note, however, that the CPUC has a proposed resolution outstanding that would give back bonus D&A cash benefits to CA ratepayers immediately. If this is passed, we would expect a moderate increase in equity issuance for 2011, but likely less than the $400M given the loss of Manzana. This resolution is currently on the CPUC agenda for 2/24/2011.

Additionally, while bonus D&A does lower rate base through an increase in deferred taxes, this impact for PCG could be pushed out. Currently, PCG's rate base for the 2011-2013 timeframe is set through its GRC settlement. It is possible that PCG could not see the impact on rate base until its next GRC in 2014.

CPUC03989

ROE, capital structure could get cut

We believe there could be some downward ROE and equity layer pressure in 2013

As part of the California regulatory construct, equity ratios and ROEs are decided outside of the GRC and are set for three year periods. California currently has higher ROEs than the national average. We believe there could be some downward pressure on this, and that these ROEs are likely to come down modestly when they are reviewed in 2012 to be effective in 2013.

That said, given the large renewable energy focus in California, and the 33% RPS, CA utilities generally have a large amount of PPAs. As rating agencies treat PPAs as debt, we believe relatively strong ROEs and equity ratios are necessary to avoid credit downgrades.

To be conservative, we are cutting our 2013 and forward CPUC jurisdictional ROE by 50bps to 10.85% from 11.35%. As a result in 2013, our earnings have come down to $3.95 from our previous estimate of $4.11/sh.

To be conservative, we are cutting our 2013 and forward CPUC jurisdictional ROE by 50bps to 10.85% from 11.35%. We did not reduce the FERC ROE, and maintain it at 12%. This gives a weighted average allowed ROE of ~11% down from PCG's current weighted average allowed ROE of 11.45%. As a result in 2013, our earnings have come down to $3.95 from our previous estimate of $4.11/sh.

As stated above, capital structure will also likely be reviewed in 2012 to be effective in 2013. PCG currently has a 52% equity ratio, above its peer CA utilities (SCE at 48%, SDG&E at 49%). While we do believe there is a possibility that PCG's equity layer is reduced, we expect that PCG will use the extra equity on hand to reduce future equity needs until its equity layer is lessened, or do a stock buyback.

Reducing PCG's equity ratio to 48% from the current 52% will impact our earnings by roughly $0.07/sh

We have run sensitivities on our model. Under a case where we reduce PCG's equity ratio to 48% from the current 52%, it will impact our earnings by roughly $0.07/sh, net of cash used for buybacks and debt paydown. This would not move our valuation meaningfully.

Valuation

We have updated our model to reflect a reduced ROE in 2013, and have taken our 2013 estimate to $3.95/sh. We now value PCG on 2013 earnings to fully account for a new ROE. Our $50 price objective is based on applying an industry average of 12.5x multiple to 2013E earnings. In other words, PCG stock is already reflecting an ROE cut at the current depressed valuations.

Model Updates

Our 2011-2014 estimates are now $3.65, $3.89, $3.95, and $4.05 per share

We have updated our 2011-2014 estimates for San Bruno and a potentially lower ROE post 2012. Our 2011-2014 estimates are now $3.65, $3.89, $3.95, and $4.05 per share. Our prior 2011-2013 estimates were $3.71, $3.91 and $4.11 per share. Tables 1 and 2 highlight our financial summary and modeling assumptions for PCG. We made the following adjustments to our model:

- Assume $50M (pre-tax) of one-time operational costs in 2011 related to San Bruno.
- Remove energy efficiency earnings from 2011-2014 estimates. We had previously estimated this at $15M, or $0.02/sh. While PCG was awarded ~$40M in energy efficiency payments in 2010, we conservatively do not expect this to continue given the scrutiny under which the energy effiency programs are currently PCG has included a range of $0-$30M in its 2011 guidance.

CPUC03990

- Adjusted 2011 and 2012 cash flow for bonus depreciation. We conservatively model in $700M in cash in 2011 and $350M of cash in 2012. We believe this number could be as high as $800M in 2011 and $400M in 2012.
- Assume only $150M of equity in 2011 under PCG's DRIP. In addition we assume incremental equity needs of $250M/year from 2012-2014 to fund rate base growth and maintain a 52% equity ratio and ~49-50% consolidated equity ratio.
- We reduce our 2014 rate base by $1,050M, assuming a reset rate base due to bonus depreciation gains in 2011 and 2012.

PG&E Corporation (PCG)

Our $50 price objective assumes an average P/E of 12.5x 2013E earnings, in line with the regulated utility average. Risks to our outlook are: 1) approval of the settlement in the 2011 general rate case and 2) Any unforeseen changes to California regulation.

FUNDAMENTAL EQUITY OPINION KEY: Opinions include a Volatility Risk Rating, an Investment Rating and an Income Rating. VOLATILITY RISK RATINGS, indicators of potential price fluctuation, are: A - Low, B - Medium and C - High. INVESTMENT RATINGS reflect the analyst's assessment of a stock's: (i) absolute total return potential and (ii) attractiveness for investment relative to other stocks within its Coverage Cluster (defined below). There are three investment ratings: 1 - Buy stocks are expected to have a total return of at least 10% and are the most attractive stocks in the coverage cluster; 2 - Neutral stocks are expected to remain flat or increase in value and are less attractive than Buy rated stocks and 3 - Underperform stocks are the least attractive stocks in a coverage cluster. Analysts assign investment ratings considering, among other things, the 0-12 month total return expectation for a stock and the firm's guidelines for ratings dispersions (shown in the table below). The current price objective for a stock should be referenced to better understand the total return expectation at any given time. The price objective reflects the analyst's view of the potential price appreciation (depreciation).

CPUC issues show cause at March 24 meeting

The California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) approved an Order to Show Cause for PCG to show why it should not be fined for failing to comply with the CPUC pipeline records search order (which was due March 15). The hearing for the Show Cause will be on Monday, March 28. CPUC staff has reached a proposed stipulation with PCG that would fine the company $6M (payable by shareholders) for failure to comply. If PCG completed its records search on pipes by August 31, 2011, $3M of the fine would be suspended.

San Bruno to continue to be main focus

As evidenced by the CPUC directives over the past few months and today's CPUC meeting, San Bruno continues to be a key focus for the Commission. We expect headline risk to remain for the stock over the next few months, particularly as the CPUC and NTSB investigations remain ongoing and the CPUC proceeding on pipeline safety and operations progresses. We continue to see some risks from the proceedings as if it is determined that PCG violated safety law standards, the CPUC may impose additional fines and penalties on PCG.

GRC final decisions still outstanding

Though the electric GRC was on today's agenda for a final vote by the CPUC, the public comment period and other agenda items caused the meeting to run long. We expect the electric GRC as well as the gas storage & transmission GRC to be on the April 14 agenda for a final vote. As a reminder, in both GRCs the proposed decisions largely adopt the settlements in the cases. We believe it is likely both settlements will be approved given the largely unanimous support of the settlement by major parties.

Mark Ferron appointed as 5th CPUC Commissioner

Mark Ferron was appointed to the CPUC earlier this week. Ferron was formerly the COO of Global Markets for Deutsche Bank. Though he does not appear to have much utility experience, he appears to be balanced and fair with a deep financial background. In addition, we expect given this final appointment, for President Peevey to remain as President of the CPUC for at least another few years, which we view positively for the California utilities.

Stock trades at meaningful discount

While the investigations and eventual costs around San Bruno will remain uncertain for the near-future, PCG is at a 13% discount to its regulated peers, a discount that is too high in our view. We continue to see ~5% EPS growth over the next several years including an ROE reduction in 2013, and above average 8% dividend growth (Note PCG delayed its dividend increase until 2Q after GRC is approved). Risks are liability related to the explosion, approval of the settlement, regulatory changes.

San Bruno big overhang; will stay that way for awhile

San Bruno remains a major concern for PCG and the CPUC. Post our meetings with the CPUC and PCG management last week, we believe San Bruno and its ramifications will likely get worse before it gets better. We have done some scenario analysis and believe most of the San Bruno risk is priced in. We have adjusted our estimates down to reflect a reasonable downside scenario (additional $500M of non-recoverable costs). On our revised estimates PCG still trades at an 8% discount to peers. Maintain our Buy rating but lower PO to $48.

Lowering estimates on estimated San Bruno impact

We our adjusting our 2011-2014 PCG estimates to $3.65/$3.80/$3.79/$3.88 from $3.65/$3.89/$3.95/$4.05. We assume an additional $500M of non-recoverable costs associated with San Bruno (SB) on top of our previous estimate of $300M of direct costs (combination of direct costs and penalties) and fund the additional $500M entirely with equity. In addition, we lower the equity ratio in 2013 to 48% (in-line with EIX) from 52%. We issue $1.2B of debt and repurchase $1.2B of stock to lower the equity ratio. We believe our SB estimate is reasonable.

Fundamental utility story intact

Though the CPUC has been under strain as a result of San Bruno, the commissioners said they would treat PCG fairly in other matters including the upcoming GRC approval. In addition, we still see LT earnings growth from renewables investments to meet the state's RPS. Eventually, PCG will see rate base growth to enhance its gas system, but the transition from shareholder-funded spend to fix San Bruno to ratepayer-funded spend to achieve best-in-class safety is still uncertain.

Maintain Buy; Lowering PO to $48

Our PO is based on an industry average of 12.5x 2013E earnings. Risks are liability related to the explosion, approval of the settlement, regulatory changes.

CA regulators reasonable despite San Bruno pressures

Last week, we met with four of the five CPUC commissioners as well as several other PUC members. Significant public pressure in the wake of the San Bruno explosion is clearly weighing on the agency. Nonethless, the commissioners remain focused on the large infrastructure needs in the state to meet the 33% renewable standard and increased safety/reliability, as well as the importance of healthy utilities to implement this. Gov Brown has given a consistent message to the new commissioners: the 33% renewable standard is a floor, not a ceiling.

San Bruno impacts...

San Bruno has clearly heightened the PUC focus on safety going forward - not just in the gas business but in all other areas. This may result in the PUC tracking rate case spending more closely, but may also create new investment opportunity. For PCG, San Bruno is a huge overhang on the company with several proceedings pending that could result in penalties and higher direct spending. At some point, PCG will see ratebase growth to enhance its gas system, but the transition from shareholder-funded spend to fix San Bruno to ratepayer-funded spend to achieve best-in-class safety is still uncertain.

ROE and other issues

On the cost of capital case in 2012, the commissioners generally noted that CA ROEs are on the higher end and will likely trend down, but not likely to industry averages recognizing the large investment need in the state. We continue to assume a 50bp reduction in 2013. On President Peevey, the Governor has indicated that he would like him there until at least the end of 2011. However, it is possible that one of the three new Comms might be named President afterward.

Prefer EIX to PCG to play California

We are upgrading EIX to Buy from Neutral after our CA trip. We see it as the best way to play the ratebase growth opportunities in CA. At this point, we would rather deal with the uncertain future of Edison Mission than the political/financial risk from San Bruno, and SCE trades at a lower embedded valuation than PCG. EIX's general rate case is a year behind PCG's, but we believe a settlement or reasonable outcome is likely.

PCG in the crosshairs though stock reflects it

Several commissioners mentioned that PCG will not be treated harsher than the other utilities due to San Bruno and our sense was that the GRC would likely be adopted. Nonetheless, there is clear concern on PCG's gas business operations and upcoming reports on San Bruno causes could be adverse. We have updated our estimates and price target to reflect higher San Bruno costs and a worse cost of capital decision. Even so, the stock valuation more than reflects these issues.

(intended for Naaz Khumawala)

Top California pick; Upgrading EIX to Buy

We are upgrading EIX to a Buy based on the following: 1) compelling utility story and valuation; 2) CA regulatory environment and renewables goals should drive above average utility growth (7-9%); 3) CA commission remains reasonable; 4) EME priced into stock at these levels. The utility valuation of the stock is trading at a 14% discount to the regulated group and a 5% discount to PCG. This valuation gap is too high in our view. Upgrade to Buy and raising PO to $43.

CA regulatory still LT attractive

Our visit with the CPUC reaffirmed our belief that the CA regulatory environment is still attractive LT. An ambitious renewables standard and increased focus on safety will drive rate base growth. All of the commissioners acknowledged that CA will need healthy utilities. While the pending rate case and CA ROE concerns are an overhang, we have previously adjusted our estimates for a 50bps ROE cut in 2013 and we feel good about EIX's rate case position after our CPUC meetings.

Concerns on EME known; risk/reward attractive

We see zero equity value at EME. EME's debt is all non-recourse to EIX, so there should be no negative value from EME. Potential positive value could come from option value on a recovery or a tax shield. EME's negative earnings cause EIX's consolidated earnings to be largely flat over the next few years. However, we prefer the current EME overhang on EIX over the San Bruno overhang on PCG.

Raising price objective to $43 from $40

We value SCE at $43, based on 12.5x (from 11.75x) 2013E SCE earnings net of parent drag ($3.44/sh), in-line with the industry average. We assign a $0/share value to EME. Downside risks: CA regulatory risk, EME restructuring overhang.

Commissioner Simon,

Hope you are well. Enjoyed seeing you last month.
When we met, I recall you mentioning that you would be in NY for a conference in mid-May. I wanted to circle back to see if you would have any free time while in NY to meet.
Thanks in advance.

Ditas,

We are excited to see you in NYC! We are happy to do lunch on the 10th.

Lunch will be with Steve, me and about 15 investors focused on utilities.

Steve Fleishman is the Senior Electric Utility Analyst and Supersector Head of Americas Energy Equity Research at Bank of America Merrill Lynch.

Please let me know if you need more information. Thanks!

Steve,
I'm trying to work an itinerary to come to NYC either before or after NARUC DC (feb 5-9). So our possibilities are arriving late on 2/2 and having all day 2/3 for meetings/reception /dinner. Or coming up on Thursday 2/9 right after the Electricity Forum that evening and all day on Friday 2/10.
I'm thinking 2/9-10 would be easier.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Thanks - I would be very interested in seeing Commissioner Sandoval. We saw her in San Francisco last Spring - it has been awhile.
Ditas - please let me know the potential dates as soon as practical.

Thanks

Hi,

I was given your contact information from Ditas Katague, Chief of Staff to Commissioner Sandoval. We are utility analysts at Bank of America Merrill Lynch. We are trying to arrange meetings with all the Commissioners, and wanted to see if Commissioner Florio is available on Thursday, February 2, 2012.

We have spoken to the Commissioner in the past and have found him extremely helpful and very personable. I've also attached a meeting request form as well.

Thanks!

Ditas,

Hope you had a good weekend. I believe I had mentioned that we were planning on taking a trip out to California to meet the Commissioners.

Would Commissioner Sandoval have some time on Thursday, February 2, 2012 to meet with us?

Thanks!
Naaz

Ditas,

We are excited to see you in NYC! We are happy to do lunch on the 10th.

Lunch will be with Steve, me and about 15 investors focused on utilities.

Steve Fleishman is the Senior Electric Utility Analyst and Supersector Head of Americas Energy Equity Research at Bank of America Merrill Lynch.

Please let me know if you need more information. Thanks!

Steve,
I'm trying to work an itinerary to come to NYC either before or after NARUC DC (feb 5-9). So our possibilities are arriving late on 2/2 and having all day 2/3 for meetings/reception /dinner. Or coming up on Thursday 2/9 right after the Electricity Forum that evening and all day on Friday 2/10.
I'm thinking 2/9-10 would be easier.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Thanks - I would be very interested in seeing Commissioner Sandoval. We saw her in San Francisco last Spring - it has been awhile.
Ditas - please let me know the potential dates as soon as practical.

Thanks

Cost of capital in California
Renewable policy--impact on rates, how achievable is it
Tehachapi line for Edison--are other alternatives feasible
Consideration of safety in rate making process
Smart meters and the backlash

We have tried several times to meet with President Peevey and have been unsuccessful--even if he had a few minutes, we would really appreciate it; though of course we understand how busy his schedule is.

thoughts on new management team and culture at PG&E

We have tried several times to meet with President Peevey and have been unsuccessful--even if he had a few minutes, we would really appreciate it; though of course we understand how busy his schedule is.

Naaz,

President Peevey requests that you meet with staff and staff has some questions due to the vague generality of the reason for the meeting.

I was wondering if you could please provide me with some specifics or maybe a ruff outline of some questions that you may for Commission staff.

Thanks,

Subject: Meeting request Commissioner Peevey 2/2/2012

Carol,

I hope you are doing well--we met you about a year ago when we came to San Francisco to meet the Commissioners. We wanted to do another trip out West; wanted to see if President Peevey and you had some time to meet with us on February 1 or 2, 2012.

I've attached a meeting request form as well.

Many thanks,

Anna-Marie--sorry to bug you, but is there any way we can extend the meeting time to 45 minutes - 1 hour? I know Paul has a tight schedule, but its so helpful to talk to him that I know we will want to go longer than 30 minutes. I don't want to eat into another appointment time by running over. Thanks!

Steve,
I'm trying to work an itinerary to come to NYC either before or after NARUC DC (feb 5-9). So our possibilities are arriving late on 2/2 and having all day 2/3 for meetings/reception/dinner. Or coming up on Thursday 2/9 right after the Electricity Forum that evening and all day on Friday 2/10.
I'm thinking 2/9-10 would be easier.

Thanks in advance for your help.

Subject: Thank you and interest in a follow up discussion

Commissioner Ferron,

Thank you very much for the time last week with myself, Naaz and our investor clients. We found our day at the PUC to be very fruitful.
As we discussed, I would be very interested in following up by phone or meeting to discuss how we look at the utility industry and specifically California from an investor perspective. Promise it will be just me this time (and potentially Naaz).

Look forward to speaking soon.

Subject: Commissioner Sandoval lunch

Ditas,

Hope you're doing well. We enjoyed speaking with Commissioner Sandoval and Colette on Thursday --sad we didn't get a chance to meet.

I wanted to go over some of the topics we planned on discussing with Commissioner Sandoval at Friday's lunch (I've listed them below). We were thinking of having her introduce herself and give some introductory remarks and then we can go into the topics.

Please let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss further.

Also-- I was going to ask Steve to e-mail Commissioner Sandoval directly as well to go over this--but I will wait until I hear from you.

Thanks!

Commissioner Ferron

Just wanted to follow up to see if you would be in NY any time soon or have time on the phone to discuss industry cost of capital practices in more detail. Thanks in advance.

MW Roundup should highlight generator bright spots...

Our annual Megawatt Roundup conference that focuses on competitive power markets commences on April 27th in Houston, TX with an investor dinner we are hosting with senior CPN management. We continue the conference on April 28th with company presentations and investor Q&A with leading generators such as (GEN, EXC, NRG, PEG, NEE and FE). Falling natural gas prices and the impact on power markets will likely be a hot topic at the conference, but we believe several participants will also highlight other favorable market dynamics that are not tied to natural gas prices. We see key topics at this year's event consisting of:

1.) Addition by subtraction: We see even coal leveraged generators such as FE and GEN as longer-term beneficiaries from more stringent EPA rules as excess power supply is reduced. Nuclear and gas leveraged generators such as (EXC, PEG, NEE and CPN) are well positioned already. We hope to get more insight into the magnitude of power prices increases see from significant capacity declines that are already underway.
2.) PJM RPM Capacity auction around the corner: Our recent meetings with officials of the PJM Interconnection (please see our recent report) to review drivers impacting the upcoming May 2012 PJM Reliability Pricing Model (RPM) auction seemed to confirm our view that capacity prices are headed higher. With the 5 of the largest generators in the PJM region in attendance (EXC, FE, PEG, GEN and CPN), we think our conference should provide further insight into where the May 2012 auction is headed.

3.) Coal to gas switching: Coal generators such as GEN and FE face potential volumetric declines as their coal assets run less during the current weak spot gas price environment. We see gas generator, CPN, as a primary beneficiary of higher utilization rates. Other conference participants such as PEG have meaningful gas generation portfolios that may also benefit.

4.) Texas upside continues to excite: On-peak market heat rates have already moved substantially higher (particularly since February) and should benefit generators (NRG and CPN), that said we see room for further increases in Texas power prices. However, generators that also have retail businesses in the state may see increased risk (NRG, NEE and EXC).

...most of which are pointed CPN's way

As we recently highlighted (please see "Good story looking better") CPN appears to be the best positioned generator in the current power market environment. As the largest natural gas generator in the U.S. CPN has positive leverage to all of the factors highlighted above. Although the stock has outperformed of late we think that gas generation will likely continue to see a higher valuation ascribed to it over the next several months. Reiterate Buy rating on CPN shares.

Subject: Meeting request for September and call request for soon please

Paul!

Sorry to bug you--maybe one day California will be boring--ha! We have a couple of requests for you:

1) Steve and I will be in California September 11 & 12. Can we meet with you then if you have time? We would prefer the 12th, but can do the afternoon of the 11th if the 12th doesn't work for you. I know its commission meeting week, so we'll be quick.

2) Can we catch up with you for a quick call this week on SONGS? We've been hearing a bunch of different things and wanted to check with the expert.

Thanks!

Paul!

Sorry to bug you--maybe one day California will be boring--ha! We have a couple of requests for you:

1) Steve and I will be in California September 11 & 12. Can we meet with you then if you have time? We would prefer the 12th, but can do the afternoon of the 11th if the 12th doesn't work for you. I know its commission meeting week, so we'll be quick.

2) Can we catch up with you for a quick call this week on SONGS? We've been hearing a bunch of different things and wanted to check with the expert.

Thanks!

Hi Paul,

Hope you're doing well. We just wanted to confirm something with you regarding the CPSDs rebuttal briefs filed today in the San Bruno OII. Based on our interpretation, it appears that the pipeline rights of way (encroachment) spending can now be applied to the $2.25 billion penalty recommendation, and this was not the case in the initial penalty recommendation. Is that correct?

Hi John,

At this time she won't be available as she will be out of the office on March 25th. However, we are only about 80% sure she will be out. We won't know with absolute certainty until late February. If you'd like I'll keep your email handy and as soon as we know for certain I'll let you know.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Good morning Paul,

I sent the below email to Anna Marie earlier this week but just called your office and found out she's out of the office. As you can see below, we will be in San Francisco on March 25th meeting with PG&E in the afternoon. We are in the process of setting up meetings at the CPUC that morning and would like to meet with you if you're available. Please let us know if this works for you.

Hi John,

At this time she won't be available as she will be out of the office on March 25th. However, we are only about 80% sure she will be out. We won't know with absolute certainty until late February. If you'd like I'll keep your email handy and as soon as we know for certain I'll let you know.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Hi Scott,

I just called and left a voicemail. Just wanted to check in to see if Commissioner Peterman is available for a meeting with us March 25th? Last we spoke there was a chance she was going to be out that day, but you weren't absolutely certain. If Commissioner Peterman is not available, would her Chief of Staff be able to meet with us?

Thank you,

At this time she won't be available as she will be out of the office on March 25th. However, we are only about 80% sure she will be out. We won't know with absolute certainty until late February. If you'd like I'll keep your email handy and as soon as we know for certain I'll let you know.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Hi Scott,

I just called and left a voicemail. Just wanted to check in to see if Commissioner Peterman is available for a meeting with us March 25th? Last we spoke there was a chance she was going to be out that day, but you weren't absolutely certain. If Commissioner Peterman is not available, would her Chief of Staff be able to meet with us?

Thank you,

Hi John,

At this time she won't be available as she will be out of the office on March 25th. However, we are only about 80% sure she will be out. We won't know with absolute certainty until late February. If you'd like I'll keep your email handy and as soon as we know for certain I'll let you know.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Hi Scott,

I just called and left a voicemail. Just wanted to check in to see if Commissioner Peterman is available for a meeting with us March 25th? Last we spoke there was a chance she was going to be out that day, but you weren't absolutely certain. If Commissioner Peterman is not available, would her Chief of Staff be able to meet with us?

At this time she won't be available as she will be out of the office on March 25th. However, we are only about 80% sure she will be out. We won't know with absolute certainty until late February. If you'd like I'll keep your email handy and as soon as we know for certain I'll let you know.

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Hi Joan,

According to the confirmation you sent to Mary, we are meeting in room 5209. Is that the correct room number, or has it changed? I only asked because she said you had to find a larger room to accommodate our group.

Thank you,

Good morning,

I work with Brian Chin on the equity research team at Bank of America. We are hosting an institutional investor tour through California the week of March 24th 2014 and will be in San Francisco visiting PG&E on March 25th in the afternoon. Is Commissioner Simon available to meet with us in the morning on March 25th? It would be a group of approximately 15 equity analysts and institutional investors.

Hi Sepideh,

We greatly appreciate your meeting with our group yesterday. Just one follow up question for you. I believe you said yesterday that the parties involved in the settlement conference would have a minimum of 10 days to review any settlement agreement reached before a proposed settlement could be filed publicly. Did I interpret that right?

This is what Rachel said. The truth of the matter is that any group of partties can file a settlement at any time and others may join or not join. It's the Commission discretion to determine if the settlement is in public interest or not.

This is what Rachel said. The truth of the matter is that any group of partties can file a settlement at any time and others may join or not join. It's the Commission discretion to determine if the settlement is in public interest or not.

Hi Sepideh,

We greatly appreciate your meeting with our group yesterday. Just one follow up question for you. I believe you said yesterday that the parties involved in the settlement conference would have a minimum of 10 days to review any settlement agreement reached before a proposed settlement could be filed publicly. Did I interpret that right?

Thanks, Sepideh. So there is no hard and fast 10 day rule, where we would have to wait 10 days to see a settlement filed if one was reached?

Hi Carol,

I work with Brian Chin on the Electric Utilities team at Citi. We are planning a Southwest Investor tour in mid-September and will be meeting with the Senior Management teams of PG&E, Edison International, and Sempra. We would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Peevey and the other Commissioners (separately of course). We are hoping to have the trip the week of September 11th and it would be ideal for us to setup meetings with the Commissioners on the 13th or 14th. The timing is tentative at this point and we are flexible. Can you please call me when you have a moment to discuss.

Phyllis,

As per my email below, we are planning a Southwest Investor tour in September and will be visiting with Senior Management of all 3 major Utilities in California. We would very much like to meet with Commissioner Simon if he is available while we are in town. We will likely be in San Francisco September 13th, but the schedule is still tentative at this point and we are flexible. Please let me know if you have some time to discuss tomorrow or next week.

We are planning a Southwest Investor tour in mid-September and will be meeting with the Senior Management teams of PG&E, Edison International, and Sempra. We would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Simon and the other Commissioners (separately of course). Please let us know if Commissioner Simon would be willing to meet with us and if he has availability in mid-September.

Phyllis,

As per my email below, we are planning a Southwest Investor tour in September and will be visiting with Senior Management of all 3 major Utilities in California. We would very much like to meet with Commissioner Simon if he is available while we are in town. We will likely be in San Francisco September 13th, but the schedule is still tentative at this point and we are flexible. Please let me know if you have some time to discuss tomorrow or next week.

Hi Carol,

I work with Brian Chin on the Electric Utilities team at Citi. We are planning a Southwest Investor tour in mid-September and will be meeting with the Senior Management teams of PG&E, Edison International, and Sempra. We would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Peevey and the other Commissioners (separately of course). We are hoping to have the trip the week of September 11th and it would be ideal for us to setup meetings with the Commissioners on the 13th or 14th. The timing is tentative at this point and we are flexible. Can you please call me when you have a moment to discuss.

Brian Chin is the Electric Utilities Analyst for Citi Investment Research and Analysis. His research has received the following recognition: Greenwich Associates Investor Survey: Independent Power (#1 in 2006-09), Engineering & Construction (Top 3 in 2007-09). The Wall Street Journal: Best Of The Street Utilities (#2 in 2008). Forbes Magazine/Starmine: Independent Power Producers (Top 3 in 2006 and 2007). Brian joined the firm in 2001. He has an MBA from Duke University and a BS from UC Berkeley. Brian was a Certified Public Accountant (now inactive) and previously worked at KPMG Peat Marwick.

Faisel Khan is a Director at Citi Investment Research and Analysis, covering the North American integrated oil, refining and natural gas pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 2 in the Natural Gas sector in the 2010, 2008 and 2007 Institutional Investor Surveys. He received First Place in the 2010 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for multi-utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the integrated natural gas pipeline and gas distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in engineering and a BA in economics, with minors in mathematics and actuarial mathematics. He is a CFA charter holder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group (ICG). ICG is an organization that works to prevent global conflict including situations in oil producing countries.

Subject: Meeting with Comr. Sandoval

Jovita and Ditas,

We are in the process of planning a Southwest Investor tour in mid-September and will be meeting with the Senior Management teams of PG&E, Edison International, and Sempra while in California and would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Sandoval. I filled out and attached the meeting request form. Please note that we are requesting meetings with the other Commissioners as well in the same 12:00PM - 5:00PM time block on Tuesday, September 13th. I also attached Brian Chin's and Faisel Khan's bios. No Utilities would be present at the meeting, only Analysts and Investors. Please let me know if you need anything else from us.

Regards,

John Apgar

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES
For important disclosures regarding Citi Investment Research, including with respect to any issuers mentioned herein, please refer to the Citi Investment Research disclosure website at https://www.citigroupgeo.com/geopublic/Disclosures/index_a.html.

Brian Chin is the Electric Utilities Analyst for Citi Investment Research and Analysis. His research has received the following recognition: Greenwich Associates Investor Survey: Independent Power (#1 in 2006-09), Engineering & Construction (Top 3 in 2007-09). The Wall Street Journal: Best Of The Street Utilities (#2 in 2008). Forbes Magazine/Starmine: Independent Power Producers (Top 3 in 2006 and 2007). Brian joined the firm in 2001. He has an MBA from Duke University and a BS from UC Berkeley. Brian was a Certified Public Accountant (now inactive) and previously worked at KPMG Peat Marwick.

Faisel Khan is a Director at Citi Investment Research and Analysis, covering the North American integrated oil, refining and natural gas pipeline industries. Faisel was ranked No. 2 in the Natural Gas sector in the 2010, 2008 and 2007 Institutional Investor Surveys. He received First Place in the 2010 Greenwich Associate Polls. He was the No. 1 stock picker for multi-utilities according to the Financial Times in 2010. Prior to joining the firm in February 2005, he worked for six years at Credit Suisse First Boston, first in investment banking and later as an equity research analyst following the integrated natural gas pipeline and gas distribution industries. Faisel graduated from the University of Pennsylvania, receiving a BS in engineering and a BA in economics, with minors in mathematics and actuarial mathematics. He is a CFA charter holder. Faisel is also on the International Advisory Council for the International Crisis Group (ICG). ICG is an organization that works to prevent global conflict including situations in oil producing countries.

Brian - I believe you and Commr Ferron discussed meeting while he's in NY. Does the 28th work at all for you - any time but 2-3? (Not sure where your office is located - he'll be on Wall Street at 2, so may need travel time to get to you.) He's interested in talking about EE finance, RPS and the energy industry generally.

Noon works. If he's paying for it himself, I suppose we should do this casual instead of white table-cloth.

Carol,

We are starting to plan for our annual Southwest Investor tour, which will take place the week of September 10th. We would very much like to setup a meeting with Commissioner Peevey and the other Commissioners (separately). Please let us know if Commissioner Peevey would be willing to meet with us and if he has availability that week. Shar Pourreza (copied) on our team will be planning the trip this year, so please include him in your reply.

Thank you.

Not at the moment. We typically put together a tentative schedule and make sure the Commissioners are available before we send out the invites on our end. It would be Portfolio Managers and Analysts from various institutional money managers. I pasted last year's attendance list below to give you an idea, it would probably be many of the same individuals.

Attendees:
AllianceBernstein - Al Caesar
ARC Asset Management - Leon Dubov
Carlson Capital - Stephen Huang
Decade Capital Management LLC - Scott Senchak
Franklin Resources Inc. - John Kohli
Green Arrow Capital - Tom O'Neill
Luminus Management, LLC - Michael Goldenberg
Norges Bank Investment Management - Barry Abramson, Riccardo Sicheri
Pacific Investment Mgmt - PIMCO - Wen-Wen Lindroth
SAC Capital - Neil Choi
Waddell and Reed - Rich Heidemann
Weiss Multi-Strategy Advisers - Jeff Chrzanowski
Zimmer Lucas Partners LLC - Jesse Laudon

Hi John,

We are looking at scheduling this meeting on 9/11 in the morning (10-noon). Please confirm if this date and time frame will work on your end. Also, please note that Thursday, Sept. 13 is our Commission Meeting day, so Wednesday would probably not be an ideal day to meet as Comr. Ferron usually likes to devote that day to prepare for the meeting. However, please don't hesitate to let me know if Tuesday is a problem and I will work with you to figure out a solution.

Thanks,

Hi Juliane,

That is great news. Tuesday at that time should work for us. Can we tentatively hold the two hour block and get back to you with the hour that works best by the end of the week?

Hi John,

We are looking at scheduling this meeting on 9/11 in the morning (10-noon). Please confirm if this date and time frame will work on your end. Also, please note that Thursday, Sept. 13 is our Commission Meeting day, so Wednesday would probably not be an ideal day to meet as Comr. Ferron usually likes to devote that day to prepare for the meeting. However, please don't hesitate to let me know if Tuesday is a problem and I will work with you to figure out a solution.

Thanks,

Juliane

Good morning Charlotte,

Just following up on the meeting request to see if the week of September 10th would work. It is looking like we will be in San Francisco on Tuesday or Wednesday, but those days are not firm yet.
