FOIA No. 2015-718

This letter responds to your recent Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request received by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC or Commission) and assigned to the Consumer & Governmental Affairs (CGB) and Enforcement (EB) Bureaus. Your request seeks copies of complaints received at the FCC that contain the word "Football."

CGB and EB conducted a search of the databases containing informal complaints. According to the Commission's Records Control Schedule for Informal Complaints ("Records Control Schedule"), the Commission is not required to maintain informal complaints and related correspondence for more than three years after the case is closed. See NI-173-07-1, FCC Disposition Authority. Therefore, all complaint records prior to January 1, 2012, have been purged pursuant to the Records Control Schedule. CGB identified approximately one hundred fifty complaints responsive to your request. Copies of the responsive documents are enclosed. EB found no additional responsive documents.

All personal identifying information relating to the individuals who submitted or are named in the enclosed complaints or inquiries has been redacted based on Exemption 6 of FOIA, which permits agencies not to disclose files that would clearly invade personal privacy.¹ Please be advised that the Commission receives many complaints and comments that do not involve violations of the Communications Act or any FCC rule or order. Thus, the existence of a complaint filed against a particular carrier or business entity does not necessarily indicate any wrongdoing by any individuals or business entities named in the complaint.

FOIA and FCC rules require the FCC to charge requesters for time spent searching for and reviewing responsive documents, and for copying them.² Based on your classification as an "all other" requester, the FCC does not charge you for the first two hours of search time and the first 100 pages of copying.³ Because there are only minimal fees associated with the processing of this request, no fees will be assessed. See 47 C.F.R. § 0.470(f).

² 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(i); 47 C.F.R. § 0.470.

³ 47 C.F.R. § 0.470(a)(3).

If you consider this to be a denial of your FOIA request, you may seek review by filing an application for review with the Office of General Counsel. An application for review must be received by the Commission within 30 calendar days of the date of this letter.⁴ You may file an application for review by mailing the application to Federal Communications Commission, Office of General Counsel, 445 12th St SW, Washington, DC 20554, or you may file your application for review electronically by e-mailing it to FOIA-Appeal@fcc.gov. Please caption the envelope (or subject line, if via e-mail) and the application itself as “Review of Freedom of Information Action” and the application should refer to FOIA No. 2015-718.

Sincerely,

Nancy Stevenson
Deputy Chief
Consumer Policy Division
Consumer & Governmental Affairs Bureau

Problem Description

Announcers of the show said a racial slur "Redskins" during the broadcast. Also the display of a stereotypical Native head-like the kind they would put in the window of stores where bounty hunters could get paid for turning in the "redskins" of my ancestors is heinous! As a Native American parent I want this type of unequal broadcasting of a racial slur against my family to stop.

Everytime a Native child is born they are FORCED to endure this inequality. When will you listen to my family? There is no time limit on racism. I wasn't born over 40 years ago to file a complaint. I did not even know about complaints until last year. YET, I am the one too late to file complaints??? NO you are the ones too late to protect our families from racism. WHEN EVERY OTHER ETHNIC GROUP gets that protection!!!

I say it is racist. MY NATION says it is racist and it is the second largest NATION in the USA borders. You think we don't know when something is racist? WE do. We also know that you are NOT listening. You are denying our rights to equal protection under the regulations you use to protect others. That is an injustice.

STOP allowing unregulated broadcast of the racial slur "REDSKINS"

Problem Description

Announcer used racial slur "redskin" while speaking of Washington coach. In addition the racial slur "redskin" or "redskins" was written everywhere. As a Native American belonging to the White Mountain Apache Tribe, this usage of a known recognized racial slur is highly offensive and should be halted. Not only is redskin a racial slur used to dehumanize my people along with other Native tribes, it also describes the barbaric practice of killing Native Americans and cutting their redskin scalps for a bounty. The disregard for First inhabitants of these lands needs to stop.

Problem Description

At exactly 33 minutes into the viewing, there is a scene where a football player tells a player on an opposing team "I had sex with your mother. I cleaned the pool, and then I had sex with your mother in your bed." This is a Rated PG program. I had to stop the program and prevent my 10 year old daughter from watching further episodes. The episode is Season 1 Episode 5. I know only a low-level employee will read this, so I am going to copy and paste this exact message on Facebook, Youtube, etc. That way, if you do not do anything, and your superior finds out that you simply "laughed", you will be held accountable. By the way, my 10 year is a girl who has already experienced a "sexual violation".

During the Patriots/Green Bay football game the camera showed multiple times Tom Brady on the Side lines yelling "Fuck". He said it multiple times and they showed it multiple times. My 8 year old grandson was watching the game with me and even commented that he should not have said that.

I understand the first time it happened that the camera man would not have expected that but to keep the camera on Tom Brady as he kept yelling was uncalled for.

I put down as 4:30 pm as the time but that may not be the exact time of the Incident.

After the football game where the Cincinnati Bengals beat the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, WBNS proceeded to televise the football game where the San Diego Chargers beat the Baltimore Ravens. After the Chargers-Ravens game ended, the transmission broadcasted a male's voice stating, "That's fucking bullshit". The voice was loud and clear to anybody watching the football game, and everyone I was watching television with was left speechless after hearing the statement. I was under the impression that all broadcasts allowed for some type of delay when transmitting the signal, and this should have been caught by CBS. Please look into why this happened so that it does not occur again.

Problem Description

Greetings. My 6 year old children know how to read lips even if there is no sound. So why during the telecast is CBS going out of their way with 1.53 minute left in the first quarter between the Patriots? and the ??Packers? game to show Tom Brady screaming the F word on national TV? The commentators even brought attention to the frustration expressed by Mr. Brady by focusing on his muted foul language. It happened again before the 2:00 minute warning in the fourth quarter where again the CBS telecast focused on Mr. Brady expressing foul language. I understand it is football and foul language will be used. I am wondering why CBS is going out of their way to showcase it? Twice? Thank you for your time. (b) (6)

Problem Description

During the NFL Football game on Thanksgiving Day between the Bears and Lions that I was watching with my seven year old son, an anti-smoking commercial came on by the NYS Department of Health. The explicit and grotesque commercial showed a cancer patient with a whole in her neck describing the effects of smoking. My son was shaken by the indecent nature of this commercial, and I do not believe this type of disturbing material should be aired during family hours of television.

On the Thanksgiving night NBC Broadcast of NFL football, commentator AL Michaels made an offensive, objectifying comment about women in Kansas City. He said "They got some crazy little women there. Problem Description

I was watching Monday Night Football with my 10 year old son and was appalled when as we were watching- the camera panned to Steve Smith as he clearly utters the phrase, 'fuck that nigger.' I understand football is a passionate sport and the players are incredibly emotional but to have to answer the question- 'why is it ok for black people to use the 'n' word?' is not how I wanted to spend the balance of the game. For one- I have no good answer because it is not ok for anyone to use such a disgusting and base word but to spend the balance of my evening having a serious conversation with my son I wasn't prepared to have because ESPN or the NFL didn't have the sense is appalling. With the ongoing lack of morals and code of ethics running rampant in the NFL (Ray Rice anyone?) I have had all I can take with the NFL and ESPN for that matter. All, meaning Steve Smith, the NFL and ESPN, should be heavily fined for exposing my child to unwanted vulgarity and racial slurs.

This is every weekend, every network station. The fact that we are watching football with our kids and the words sex and erection are coming on the TV every time there is a commercial break is ridiculous. Do you use those words in conversations? Do you say those words to kids? I sure hope not. I am a teacher, and those words would get kids suspended from school.

If you pull up Facebook on any Saturday or Sunday, there are parents talking about this all weekend. It is unacceptable that these commercials are playing during the day. Football and baseball games are the only programming that you can watch as a family other than the Disney Channel, Please clean up these commercials.

Problem Description

The commercial for the movie "50 Shades of Grey" which aired during this broadcast contained content that could be disturbing to younger viewers (in fact, it is probably disturbing to many adults as well). The images were of adult sexual S&M including an image of an individual with cuts on his body and an individual who was restrained, shirtless, and yelling as if being tortured.

Children often watch football during the late afternoon, and it is difficult to shield them from this content.

Problem Description

I was watching the Notre Dame vs Arizona St. college football game with my 9 and 12 year old children at about 3:30 pm (11-8-14), when ABC showed a GRAPHIC commercial for their show "Forever." The commercial was all about hardcore sexual bondage!! I'm not a prude and I don't care what adults do in their own bedroom, but can I not watch a college football game with my kids in broad daylight and NOT have this filth thrown in my face? I shouldn't have to explain this to my kids when all we're trying to do is watch a football game!! It's disgusting and it degrades our culture. Do these ABC people not have children or do they not have respect for ANY type of decorum in a civilized society? It's ridiculous and I'm fed up with it!! I'm sick of this garbage being shoved down our throats at all times, from what I thought was a "safe" place: college football on a major network. Please let ABC know this is NOT OK! Thank you.

This past Saturday our family including kids were trying to enjoy watching an Alabama football game on ESPN. Multiple Viagra commercials kept coming on talking about erectile dysfunction and inappropriate material for kids to see. I know companies need to advertise their products but Viagra could clean them up some to be more kid friendly or move them to later in the night when kids are asleep. Please ask them to clean up their commercials, they could abbreviate some of their functions such as saying ED instead of the entire word and couples lying in bed together talking about erectile dysfunction are inappropriate.

Thanks for your help.

My two young sons were watching the football game with me and we had to turn it off. My 12 year old son could read his lips (and so could I). We don't use that language in our home. Must NBC show this classless child swearing all the time. Fox did the same thing the week before during the Lions & saints game. Rob Ryan was dropping the "F" word all over the place on the sidelines. Can't networks pixelate mouths when foul language is used?

I find the term "redskins" to be profane and obscene because it's racist. Furthermore, it should be banned from TV for the sake of not exposing children to obscene/profane language and derogatory racial epithets. Similar to the banned use of the N-word. If the NFL wishes to continue to use this term, I intern should not be subjected to hearing the term on Publicly owned frequencies. I doubt the FCC would allow ESPN, Disney or ABC to broadcast the following terms for a Monday Night Game if all of a sudden the NFL decided to 'rename' the following team the: The Tennessee Trailer Trash or the Cowboy RedNecks? Redskins is as just as ridiculous and offensive.

Problem Description

I am personally offended by the use of the term "REDSKINS." We came to this country 300 years ago, nearly killed off an entire race of human beings and the have the indecency to use a derogatory term for them as a football team name. This is truly indecent and shameful on the face of it and should have never been permitted. Why, in this age, do we still feel the need to kick around Native Americans? Let's, finally, show them some respect and do the right thing.

I find the use of the derogatory, racist term "Redskins" on ESPN to refer to the Washington football team to be obscene and profane. I can't imagine it would be ok to refer to the Saints football team at the Louisiana N!&&3* (n-word) or the The Tennessee Rednecks, or The Georgia White Trash, or The New York shift Jews. Why is it ok to subject my children to hearing derogatory names for Native Americans when they watch ESPN. or for that matter, any sports casters using this profane, racist term during the day? The term "redskins" is the same as calling a Jewish person, a person of African decent, or a person from the South an ugly racist name...so why is this obscene, racist term for Native Americans allowed??? I demand it be banned from TV because young children should not be exposed to obscene, profane racist terms on TV. Thank you.

There is no reason commercials for erectile dysfunction should be aired before 10PM (I would like them banned all together but I don't think you will do that). Children watching the World Series, football games, golf, etc., are exposed to these commercials - do you realize that? These commercials are highly inappropriate, indecent, obscene, and are not suitable for children and teens. You need to do something about this issue.

This Tennessee vs Alabama football game broadcast by ESPN2 and viewed by many families across the country allowed Viagra commercials as early as 8 p.m. and again about 10 p.m. using the words "erectile dysfunction" and the word "sexual" activity all being presented by a sultry woman speaking to the entire audience. This should NOT be allowed during a prime time program watched by families all across America. Shame on the network and shame on the FCC for allowing such inappropriate commercial messages during prime viewing hours. Please do something about this. WHAT have we come to in America? Lots of children watch these football games. Surely there is enough money made by college football without using this money from Viagra pharmaceuticals.

Of course, muting them is an option, but by the time I realize what it is and get to the mute button, the damage is done. I would seriously like to play these ads for YOUR children and for the children of employees at ESPN2. I would prefer not to have sex-ed conversations during a college football game when my child is 8. What the hell is wrong with the FCC that this is allowed?

Watching football with my family when commercial comes on for the show/movie "Constantine" flashes across the screen with scary and gross images of blood and disfigured faces. I don't think it is appropriate to show that stuff before 8PM. IF they want to air that stuff they can do it after 9 when most kids are in bed, or at least should be in bed. Now we have to deal with kids getting nightmares because we decided to watch football and ended up seeing crap that the kids can never erase from their memory. Wait till 9 to air that stuff.

Problem Description

The broadcast itself was fine. My issue was with the choice of commercials. At every commercial break, it was multiple commercials about erectile dysfunction and graphic stories about breast cancer, not to mention sexually-suggestive beer commercials. My 10yr old boy and 7yr old girl were watching football with us or at least in the room while we were watching football. Is a noon football game really the appropriate time to be treated to commercials about erectile dysfunction, with images of a woman lying in a provocative way on a bed and talking about "ED". And a woman holding up her xray of her breast and talking about dying and death. Not exactly the questions I want to address during a day time football game.

NFL has to realize weekend day football games are family events. And if they don't, then the network needs to realize. A night game after 7p, sure, talk about all the penis and breast problems you want. But NOT during a noon football game on a weekend when many families are watching or at least kids are watching. Have some consideration for what is appropriate.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Problem Description

This refers to Viagra and Cialis commercials being broadcast during baseball playoffs, football games at all times of day and night. We cannot watch with our children without having the remote ready to change channel. This is very inappropriate and disgusting!! These commercials should be aired after midnight only! It is not only the channel listed above, but every channel that broadcasts sports. Why must our children be subjected to this and asking questions we do not care to answer?

Problem Description

Why is it that I have to endure commercial upon commercial for Cialis and Viagra while watching TV with my 14 year old daughter, 11 and 7 year old sons. These commercials do not do any justice while trying to raise a young family. I understand that these are prime tv spots for these products, but I dont like having to explain what an "Erection" is, or having that broadcast aloud within my living room on a Sunday. The message behind these products is ridiculous and I dont need my young children listening to this type of messaging. This needs to stop. Please do something about it.

Problem Description

Around 10.45 during Monday Night Football, ESPN aired an advertisement for Jerry's Subs and Pizza which showed a family watching open-mouthed as a woman in minimal clothing ate a cheesesteak. The angle at which she held the sandwich was presumably intended to imply that she was engaging in a sex act, as was the fact that the sandwich was shown to leak melted cheese onto her breasts. As a woman, I find this ad ridiculously offensive it reduces us to sex objects and was insanelly suggestive for a non pay-cable broadcast. Given that the NFL needs goodwill from women more now than ever, perhaps TV stations such as ESPN could start by not alienating female viewers with such egregious advertising during games.

Problem Description

At this point in a family friendly show, we saw ANOTHER commercial for an erectile dysfunction medication. At 8:10pm, children are awake and football should be accessible to these children. Furthermore, erectile dysfunction medication commercials are shown throughout the day, even earlier than 8:10pm, but I did not make a record of when they were shown. This is also not unique to NBC.

The topic of sex and the fact that men may not be able to have an erect penis is simply not suitable for children. It is extremely uncomfortable for adults in the room. These are not PG topics and are certainly not G topics. From a TV standpoint, this might be TV 14 and yet sports should not be TV 14.

Please ban these commercials from prime time television viewing. They are inappropriate. And the chatter on social media around this tells me my view is not unique.

Thank you for considering this.

The term Redskins was used repeatedly on a discussion about changing the name of the Washington football team. As a Blackfoot I'm deeply offended as i know the true history of the name where George Washington and other leaders like the Governor of Pennsylvania used the term redskin to describe the bloodied scalps of our ancestors that had a bounty put on them to encourage settlers to kill us and bring in the proof. This is not acceptable to me and my family. It is disgusting and a daily reminder of the racism we deal with constantly.

Seattle played the Washington NFL team and the team's name was mentioned all during the game. The team's name is a racial slur and offensive to me. I am a full blood Native American and object to the team's name and the use of that name being broadcast during their games and during all sport and news shows. It's origin came from the bounties placed on the hair (scalps) of Natives as proof of their murder. Also, some tribes would dye their skin a reddish color which led to the term redskin which led to using it as a slur, as in "you fg redskin", "kill the redskin" and many other offensive terms used all during the years since the invasion of this country even to now. It is offensive to me and to many, many Natives who have had the racist term used against us. All peoples must stop using this term as it is racist and offensive. Thank you.

The caption reads "unbutton them". The child walks in and the man jumps up and starts buttoning his jeans again. During a commercial break in Sunday night football programing, NBC played a commercial for the show Constantine. It included a scene of a zombie woman smashed on the front hood of a car, looking at the camera and growling while blood poured from the woman's mouth. To have this imagery on broadcast television during a sporting event watched by families was totally inappropriate. Our 5 year old son was in the room when the commercial came on and he saw part of this scene before we could change the channel. Broadcast channels that play these graphic images in the early evening hours, either during programming or commercials, should be reprimanded.

ESPN aired a very provocative, risque commercial for Viagra which showed an extremely attractive woman laying on a bed, showing some skin, talking about men having problems getting and maintaining an erection. My two children (ages 10 and 8) were watching TV with us, we had to scramble to mute the commercial.

Problem Description

I would like the FCC to review and remove the newest Viagra commercials airing during many NFL Football Games. We watch football each weekend with our children, 9 and 5 years old. I am troubled by the tone, content and aesthetic of these E.D. commercials that are aired frequently during daytime weekend programming. The latest series of Viagra commercials has a much different tone. A woman with a 'husky' voice speaks directly into the camera - as if speaking to the target user of the drug, she is lying on a bed and uses the word "erection" and like words in plain language during the spot. I have had this same complaint for some time, that these Viagra, Cialis and like brand commercials are inappropriate for air during the day and on programs where our children frequently are viewing. I urge you, please, to review the tone and content of these commercials and keep in perspective the audience watching.

Problem Description

I was watching Monday night football game Washington versus Seattle and the game announcers have used the word "redskins" several times. "Redskins" is a very offensive and racist word that comes from the history of the US Government paying for the scalps of Native American men, women, and children in the 18th century. This is unacceptable and I don't like hearing it and having it being used like that word is okay.

I sent the below to Dodge, TBS and Fox.

You people are out of you minds with these dart ads. Now the white guy threatens to vandalized the Black guys car. Black guy backhands him, an assault. This to sell a car. I'm emailing TBS and telling them I will not watch anymore MLB playoffs on their station.

These recent Dodge Dart commercials are racially insensitive, offensive and seek to promote violence between Blacks and Whites. I have no idea why Dodge would sign on to these ads or why any broadcaster would air them. They are not cute nor funny. Each new commercial builds on the last to the point where one expects violence between the people over a car. When I see one come on I change the channel so my grandkids don't see it. This during MLB playoffs - I have to change the channel during Baseball or Football to protect my grandchildren. Whom by the way are mixed race Hispanic, White and Native American. Sick,sick sick.

During the Thursday Night Football game that I was watching with my 6 year old son, a commercial for the movie "Annabelle" came on. The commercial showed intense violence and very intentionally terrifying images. My six year old son was so frightened that he burst into tears and could not sleep in his room. I have no problem with movies being advertised, but before 8:00 during a football game that children are watching? Commercials for horror movies have gone over the edge and are being broadcast when families are watching television together. Those commercials need to be broadcast at more appropriate times or the violence and horror needs to be toned way down.

Problem Description

How are parents supposed to watch a MLB game with their children when VIAGRA commercial comes on with woman laying on a bed, talking specifically about erections? Do something about the Viagra and Cialis commercials, they are disgusting and inappropriate for family viewing. This happens during NASCAR, football games and now MLB.

Problem Description

During CBS's broadcast of Thursday Night Football between the NY Giants and the Washington, DC Football Team, one of the announcers (Jim Nantz) repeatedly uttered a dictionary-defined slur toward American Indians ("Redskins"). Similarly, throughout the game CBS aired graphics that also showed this dictionary-defined slur. The slur has no place on network television, and the harm that it can have on people of American Indian descent is real.

<http://www.americanprogress.org/issues/race/report/2014/07/22/94214/missing-the-point/>

In order for networks to take this issue seriously, it is important for the FCC to take a stand and fine broadcast networks and radio stations every time that slur is uttered and every time a graphic with that slur is shown. Other racial slurs, used casually, have no place on network television or radio, and neither does this one. Even worse, this slur is being used for profit.

Problem Description

I understand that the FCC is currently deciding whether or not to start fining any TV or radio stations that use the word "REDSKINS." Please move forward with this plan and continue to remove this hurtful word from American media. I feel that the word REDSKINS is an offensive racial slur that has no place on American televisions. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

R rated movie preview that is very scary shown during a football game at 630 pm is very inappropriate. This commercial gave my 9 year old son nightmares when it came on during the day 2 weeks ago. Why would this be allowed during what should be a family program during day time hours? The commercial shows a very scary doll. Dumbest thing to show when kids that own dolls may be watching. This is disrespectful.

Problem Description

The trailer for the movie "Annabelle" was shown at least 2 times during commercial breaks in the middle of the day during the vikings/falcons football game.

My 9 year old and 7 year old were frightened for the rest of the day. They didn't want to go into rooms alone. We had to leave their bedroom light on as they went to sleep.

Are there any limits to the terror they can depict in these commercials during a time when kids can be watching? The "Annabelle" commercials should be pulled from the air.

Problem Description

A commercial for an R rated horror movie named Annabelle was shown during the football game while my two young children were in the room. The images were frightening.. My husband and I were working in the kitchen and not within reach of the TV remote control. I told my children to close their eyes and plug their ears while I ran for the remote. Now one of my children is fearful to be alone and is insisting on sleeping with us. It is absolutely shameful to show such commercials on network TV during a sporting event at a time when young children are likely still awake.

Problem Description

Every football game at every hour football is aired contains commercials for erection drugs. We should be able to watch Sunday afternoon football with our young daughter without having to answer questions like: "Mommy, what is an erection? What is erectile dysfunction? What is sex and what does an erection have to do with it?", etc.

It is reckless that the NFL would even consider airing these commercial during day games, but since the NFL is a business motivated mainly by profit, the government must step in and regulate this. At least consider seeking a new regulation limiting it to the night games when a large percentage of the youngest kids are sleeping.

The Washington "Redskins" was the name of an NFL football team and that is an offensive racial slur that got broadcast to children-UNREGULATED

Why is the FCC allowing a dictionary defined racial slur being broadcast! I'm a Cherokee Nation citizen and I find it very racially disparaging! My nation has a resolution against such harmful and outrageously insulting behavior! I want my children and our children protected from these slurs-just like other kids get protected from all manner of racial slurs! The logo is of a stereotypical Native man and my son doesn't look like that! In combination with the slur it is meant to inspire racial aggression towards my family! Why is the FCC allowing it! So much slurs at 7:52 at 8:00 pm and display of the racist slur word on screen!

Why are you not regulating the use of this slur!!! Do your job FCC! Native Americans are citizens of the US and a distinct ethnic group-that has racial slurs-why is this being broadcast nationwide!! I am appalled and angry that Native Americans don't share the same equal protection under the law!!

The National Congress of American Indians has a resolution and well known stance against this slur and logo - they represent over 250 Tribal nations. The president has said it's disparaging-so has the attorney general. It is time for you at FCC to enforce the rules that apply to all other racial groups EXCEPT Native Americans-or stop enforcing rules on everyone about everything else.

Problem Description

This horror movie trailer for the film Annabelle was shown during prime time college football - early on in the 6:00 pm LSU/Miss game. The imagery shown was a mother putting her infant into a crib. When she hears screams, she goes back into the nursery and finds a disturbing, terrifying doll in her child's place. The infant was obviously taken from her crib. My six year old son described this scene to me in great detail this morning (though we told him to turn away when the ad came on). Two days after seeing the ad! He told me it may give him nightmares and was very scary. At 39 years old, I find this trailer extremely scary and vivid in its horror imagery. This was a completely inappropriate time and channel to advertise this movie. We enjoy college football as a family every Saturday evening in the fall and expect it to be family-friendly. Thankfully my three year old was not watching at that moment. This ad should not be shown before 9:00 pm.

Problem Description

ESPN airs commercials for "R" rated movies during Monday Night Football programming. The commercials contain graphic content of horror movies which are inappropriate for children. Tonight, I sat down to watch Monday Night Football with my children who are 8 and 10 years old. Both children were deeply disturbed by horror movie commercials aired during Monday Night Football. Both had to leave the room and be consoled before bed. Don't you realize that children can be traumatized by airing these ads during family programming? A father should be able to watch Monday Night Football with his children without worrying that inappropriate content will appear at any moment. I am disgusted by the irresponsible behavior of advertising executives at ESPN.

Sincerely,

(b) (6)

Problem Description

My family and I were eating dinner and watching Monday Night Football when an advertisement came on for the movie Annabelle. The preview featured what appeared to be a dead baby turning it's head all the way around and an antique doll with blood streaming out of its eyes. My children immediately reacted with terror to the commercial and ran screaming from the room. Hours later they still insist they won't sleep in their beds ever again and want to sleep in the living room with the lights on. I'm not sure if this ad specifically fits the definition of obscenity because there did not appear to be anything to appeal to the prurient interests or any sexual content or genital exposure. However, I find this ad far more disturbing than that because it contains scenes of graphic violence and intense horror. My children would not be allowed to see this movie due to it's rating and my own good judgment. However, because we were watching what I thought was a family friendly program (Monday Night Football), they were accidentally exposed to 30 seconds of truly terrifying horror that none of use signed on for when we started watching football.

Problem Description

During the airing of Monday Night Football tonight, a commercial was shown for a television show on ABC, "Blackish". During this commercial, a scene was shown where the actress referred to herself as needing to prove to be black by her hair and her "ass".

With two young children of 7 and 5, simply watching MNF with mom and dad at a reasonably early time, this language was surprising and clearly uncalled for.

Problem Description

It is wholly inappropriate to be advertising erectile dysfunction commercials during prime time television. I watch MNF (and quite frankly many other shows where this occurs with my young children) and it is offensive that my children need to be subjected to pharmaceutical commercials that discuss ED and whether or not your heart is healthy enough for sex or how to be ready when "the moment is right." I firmly believe these violate common decency standards and therefore should be regulate to late night like some of the other things you current allow only after hours.

After the game, there is a four or five man panel hosting and discussing
The game and other games, they then did a segment listening to
The lockerroom speeches of coaches. The one coach said a lot about "kicking Asses", and the host then commented about the "colorful" language in the segment.
I looked at my two year old who according to statistics is learning over twenty words
Per day, to see if she caught that one. I appreciate uyour work a the FCC, although
My wife and I decided not to have any television outside of broadcast tv in our home
Because of the constant sexual content and language, I'm getting very weary In seeing
This and ask that you please crack down on these things, I can't even watch a football game
Now? Come on.

I have been meaning to write this for a while. When I am watching a show like the NFL with my son, I shouldn't have to see a commercial for a disgusting CBS show like "stalker." It was a Levi commercial. The commercial showed people wearing Levi apparel in various activities. They showed a young couple kissing passionately on a counter and they pan to a small child walking in on them. That is fine, in my opinion, until they pan back to the couple and the guy is pulling up his pants. Why do they have to show this during a family football game. The sexual content is too obvious and is not meant for children. It is sad that I can not watch a football game on TV with my 10 year old daughter anymore. This suggestive advertising should not be shown on a show which had no rating and not rated TV-14 or such. Please stop this filthy advertising during family type shows.

Problem Description

this is reference to a State FarmTV commercial aired during the MNF game.

As someone who is 100% German, I am extremely offended by the latest Aaron Rodgers commercial that State Farm is currently airing. Their depiction of Germans and Austrians as muscle bound imbeciles is completely disrespectful and insensitive. There is NO WAY they would air a similar commercial with people of Black, Asian, Native American, or Middle Eastern origin as the subject of your stereotyping. So what makes it ok to use Europeans as their bullying victim?

Racism and stereotypes exist cross ALL cultures and ethnicities, and not just people of color. They should be ashamed of yourselves for thinking this type of advertising is appropriate. To depict Germans as dumb meatheads who only drink protein shakes and work out is 100% WRONG! Their advertising department has zero class or ethics.

If this world is really to progress and move forward in unity, then this type of nonsense has to stop and it starts with companies like State Farm. Regardless of the race, creed, religion, or sexual orientation, a group of people should not be subject to ridicule and jokes as a means for a corporation to sell their product. It is 100% tasteless and I hope you take the time to address this.

Commercial showing various couples "making out" in their jeans with their clothing on but, but grabbing, kissing and removing clothing shortly. after it would show a baby wearing jeans.

My kids enjoy watching sports with me, they are at an age where they have just barely been taught about sex. They shouldn't be exposed to mature couples groping each other. Commercials don't give much warning as to their content. I thought I would be pretty safe watching a football game with the kids, but I guess I was wrong. Are commercials rated? Why aren't they in sync with the rating of the show that is being watched.

Problem Description

Please explain why Fox & Friends are allowed to joke about Domestic Violence during a moment where a heinous video of a Football player is knocking out his fiancé. I find that more obscene then a naked person because you are telling young people watching not only is it funny to beat a woman but acceptable as well.

Problem Description

At 7:25pm tonight watching Football with my 8,10 and 16 yr. old sons, a commercial for a tattoo reality show that airs on Spike TV came on. It had several girls walking a catwalk wearing nothing except pasties and then a Scary movie trailer came after that we then changed the channel... Isn't it bad enough primetime programming on local channels has been taken over by sexually explicit filth and every channel has Naked and Afraid and Dating Naked etc.....but to have this during Football is ridiculous! Where is the common sense? Why should children be exposed to this SOOOOOO young? Why is there nudity in PG-13 movies? We as parents get to choose what our children watch and you are raping us of our choice by showing blatant nudity, sex talk and innuendo and of course the horrifying images we have to sit through during commercials!!!!!! COMMERCIALS that have no business being aired during family times and programming! Something has to be done!

Problem Description

During the first ten minutes of the football game the camera stayed on a man with the word "fuckin" on his t-shirt. People with profanity on their clothes should not be shown on tv (or even allowed in the stadium).
