At the 12-5-62, meeting of the above SCTSC, it was agreed that the following meeting would be held 1-9-63, [redacted]

[redacted] Accordingly, Mr. Lish Whitson of the Domestic Intelligence Division attended the SCTSC meeting until he had to leave to attend the previously scheduled Joint IIC-ICIS Committee on Countermeasures Against Clandestine Nuclear Weapons and, thereafter, the SCTSC meeting was monitored by Mr. R. Minutes of the 12-5-62, meeting of the SCTSC were approved and [redacted]

Mr. Swartz stated that this is a policy matter which would have to be brought to the attention of the Bureau. When asked a similar question, [redacted]

SUBJECT: NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL
SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON TECHNICAL
SURVEILLANCE COUNTERMEASURES (SCTSC)

TECHNICAL SUBCOMMITTEE (TS)

The Technical Subcommittee (TS) of the main committee (SCTSC) captioned above is concerned with the study of technical means to counter attacks against United States, by Soviets and other countries by use of clandestine microphones and similar devices in U.S. establishments.

Under the charter by which this TS operates, provision is made for the exchange of information between participating agencies. This is done formally at specific intervals in accordance with policy requirements of the SCTSC.

Air Force Office of Special Investigations, a member of TS, has requested a list of technical equipment currently being used by member agencies for countermeasure work. Accordingly, a list has been prepared for transmittal to the Air Force Representative. The attached list represents the names of the equipment involved which FBI has for use in this field. Many of the items are commercially available; nothing is included of a highly confidential nature insofar as Bureau operations are concerned. The committee as such is aware of all of these items.

RECOMMENDATION:

Accordingly, it is proposed that attached list of technical countermeasure equipment be furnished to the Air Force Representative on the Technical Subcommittee.

My memorandum of January 9, 1963, set forth the outline of drafts to be prepared by various representatives in the preparation of a report by the TS to fulfill the requirements of the above Special Committee (SCTSC). It pointed out that the Bureau representative had been designated by [redacted] to draft a paper on the "Threat of Clandestine Listening Devices As Shown by Intelligence Information," and stated that such draft would be prepared and submitted for approval prior to presentation to the TS.

Proposed draft is attached. It has been prepared from the content of Bureau letters to the SCTSC of 7/5/62, 8/23/62, and 10/5/62, pertaining to information [redacted]

The material is arranged in outline form in accordance with the desires of the TS as set forth by the Chairman of TS and may be used by the SCTSC in the preparation of reports for the President and the National Security Council.

The attached proposed draft is but one portion of the entire paper being prepared by the TS. It will be correlated with the material being prepared by other agencies to be considered at a subsequent meeting of the TS. Final form of the complete draft paper will be submitted for Bureau approval.

RECOMMENDATION:

TECHNICAL SUBCOMMITTEE (TS)

The meeting at 9:45 A.M. on 3/18/63, at State Department of the Technical Subcommittee (TS) of the above parent committee (SC) was attended by Messrs J. M. Matter and R. W. Swartz of this Section in connection with the continued preparation of a draft of a report for the SC.

Section VIII dealing with the drafting of Current Countermeasure Research and Development Programs was discussed in the light of tentative drafts submitted by State Department, CIA, Army and Air Force and it was agreed that the material would be organized according to I. Isolation, II. Nullification, III. Detection and IV. Physical Search Aids. State will prepare the draft which will be reviewed upon receipt and brought to the attention of the Bureau.

Modifications in the Bureau draft of VII. Intelligence Information Relating to the Opposition's Countermeasure Capability which will allow downgrading from Top Secret to Secret were obtained from direct coordination with the Domestic Intelligence Division, were furnished tentatively to State Department, subject to confirmation. This will allow necessary time to draft the material before the meeting of the TS on Wednesday 3/20/63, which is the deadline for completion of the report to the SC.

Discussion of the various drafts for IX. Recommendations, resulted in the agreement that the TS will advise the SC that time did not permit preparation of this portion before the March 20, 1963, deadline but that it will be submitted to the SC no later than April 3, 1963. The next meeting of the TS will be March 22, 1963, for preparation of the draft of this last and final section of the report. All preceding sections will be submitted to the SC on March 20, 1963. This time factor has been caused by vacillation

At meeting of Special Committee 3-20-63 it was proposed that the Committee's policy statement of 5-24-61 be amended to reduce paper work.

The policy statement provided that on January 1 and July 1 of each year the member agencies would submit to the Special Committee reports on all research and development projects initiated subsequent to the last reporting date. Also, on April 1 and October 1 of each year, the member agencies would report on counter-measure equipment accepted for use by the respective agencies, as well as any modifications made by the reporting agencies in equipment in use.

It was proposed that the reports on research and development projects and on equipment in use, as well as modifications thereof, be combined. The combined reports would be submitted March 1 and September 1 of each year with the proviso that there will be continuous coordination of research and development projects, by the member agencies through their representatives on the Technical Subcommittee of the Special Committee.

It was proposed that the first combined report be submitted September 1, 1963. The report due in April, 1963, on equipment in use would be submitted as usual, but the research and development report due July 1 would not be submitted separately and the data heretofore submitted at that time would be included in the combined report due September 1.

The other member agencies have concurred in the proposed procedure, and it does not appear objectionable from the Bureau's standpoint.

ACTION: It is recommended [redacted] Special Committee on Technical Surveillance Countermeasures, Code 182, Ext. 2459, be advised that the Bureau representative on the Special Committee has no objection to consolidated reports being submitted March 1 and September 1 of each year.

TECHNICAL SUBCOMMITTEE (TS)

The TS of the above parent SC met at Department of State on 4/2/63, for preparation of the draft of the "IX. Conclusions and Recommendations" of the report being prepared for the parent committee (SC). Laboratory Supervisor R. W. Swartz of this Section attended the meeting.

Referral/Consult

Working drafts of "IX. Conclusions and Recommendations" prepared by [redacted] of State Department and [redacted] reviewed and discussed. It was generally concluded that the two papers were compatible and differed mainly in phraseology and emphasis. Accordingly, [redacted] stated that he would meld the two papers into a single draft for consideration at the next meeting of the TS on 4/9/63.

There was a brief discussion of the merits of recommending that the SC prepare a statement of U.S. policy regarding basic concepts of technical security against technical surveillances which would be applicable to all agencies of the U.S. Several TS representatives felt that policy statements should be expressed by the parent committee, although it was acknowledged that such policy statements would necessarily be founded to a certain extent upon technical considerations.

ACTION:

Upon receipt of the next draft of "IX. Conclusions and Recommendations," it will be brought to your attention if it is in sufficiently final form to warrant Bureau consideration. Copies of the State [redacted] drafts considered at the 4/2/63, meeting are being retained in this Section for reference purposes.

The Technical Subcommittee (TS) of the above Special Committee on Technical Surveillance Countermeasures (SC) has drafted a report for the SC which was distributed to SC members at the last meeting. Although its contents were coordinated at the TS level, the final wording was determined at the TS meeting on 4/2/63.

The attached draft containing some highly technical sections and phraseology is to be used as the basis for the preparation of a non-technical annual report to the National Security Council and appended thereto. It has been carefully reviewed in the Laboratory and certain minor changes in phraseology as set forth in the attachment should be made to prevent any misconception of Bureau acceptance of the draft.

Referral/Consult

In general, it must be noted that the draft is the combined result of consideration by technical representatives of the State Department, the military agencies, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and the Bureau. State, CIA and the military having establishments abroad, some of which are surrounded by a hostile environment, are faced with a relatively difficult physical and technical problem of protecting those establishments from penetration by technical surveillances of foreign Governments. The major emphasis of the draft is therefore related to these most difficult environments. The Introduction (page 2) is very general;

RECOMMENDATION:

It is recommended that the attached draft be approved from the technical standpoint with changes as set forth in the attached page and that it then be forwarded to the Domestic Intelligence Division for review for any further non-technical changes in order that Bureau action on the draft can be completed well in advance of the next meeting of the SC on 4/17/63.

The TS meeting of 5/7/63 at State Department, Room 1410, was attended by SAs R. W. Swartz and J. M. Matter. Distribution was made of the attached minutes of the 58th (4/9/63) meeting of the TS. There is nothing objectionable to the Bureau contained in these minutes.

Since

Bureau does not use this receiver (because it has much better commercially available units) Bureau representatives made no comment.

Referral/Consult

TS decided that since the most recent listing of countermeasure (CM) equipment was made May, 1962, that all agencies should bring their list up to date for the next meeting on 6/4/63 at which time security classification of the equipment will be considered. As indicated in my 1/18/63 memo to you, which was approved by the Bureau, a list of the Bureau's CM equipment was compiled for transmittal to the Air Force as a result of the latter's request. Bureau's TS representatives will, unless advised to the contrary, submit same list at next TS meeting. This list is classified "Confidential Group 1" because it is a complete listing of Bureau's CM equipment.

At the same 6/4/63 meeting, it was agreed that member agencies would submit a description of all prototype equipment and research and development projects along with appropriate security classification forms for these items. Bureau has no information to submit at this time in these categories.

The TS meeting of 4/9/63 at State Department, Room 1410, was attended by SA J. M. Matter. Distribution was made of the attached preliminary draft of Section IX "Conclusion" of the annual report being prepared for the SC. Since Air Force and CIA were not represented, [redacted] ruled there would be no discussion of Section IX. Instead he requested that any modifications be coordinated directly with him by 4/12/63 since there would be no meeting of the TSC prior to submission of Section IX to the SC for its 4/17/63 meeting. There does not appear to be any language objectionable to Bureau in Annex A or Annex B. However, Annex B should bear a Group I stamp on page one since the cover page could be removed for the purpose of disseminating Annex B to technical personnel of the agencies and departments represented on the Special Committee on Technical Surveillance Countermeasures, ie: State, Defense, Joint Chiefs of Staff, Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, National Security Agency, CIA and FBI.

ACTION:

It is proposed that on June 28, 1963, the Bureau representative will inform the Special Committee that Bureau has no objection to Annex A and Annex B going forward to the National Security Council but, that since the cover page for Annex B could be removed, a Group I stamp should appear on the first page of that annex just as it appears on the first page of Annex A. Attached is copy Number 17 of Annex A and Annex B (copy 18 is held by Bureau Laboratory).

FBI identified only as "a known Soviet intelligence agent."

The FBI had watched this busy group for months, frequently looked on as the spies skulked about sticking magnetic matchboxes full of information onto metal railings for other ring members to retrieve. Yet, of the information they collected, a Justice Department official said airily last week: "Generally it wasn't worth very much at all."

"Waiter, There's a Bug in My Drink!"

Russians are buggy about bugs. They hide listening devices in mattresses, under flowerpots, behind wallpaper. Three years ago, they even bugged the eagle's beak in the Great Seal of the U.S. that hung in the American embassy in Moscow. It is all part of the espionage game, and looking for hidden mikes is considered high good sport by Americans in Russia.

But last week came word of a new Soviet bug—a really non-cricket one. A U.S. military attaché met a diplomatic source in a Moscow bar, ordered a martini, then engaged his companion in deep conversation. The waiter brought the drinks ordered—including an extra martini, which he set on a nearby fireplace mantle. The attaché finished his first drink in a few minutes, but then he couldn't locate the waiter to order another. Thirstily, he picked up the martini from the mantle, took a sip, then bit into the olive—ouch.

That was no olive—it was an olive-colored, plastic voice transmitter; its "toothpick" was really an antenna. The attaché was appalled—not so much at the device itself, but at its location: "If the damned thing can work under gin," he gasped, "it can work anywhere."

TS met on 9/13/63 in Room 1410, State Department, and was attended by SA J. M. Matter of the Laboratory. Meeting was [redacted] Also present were representatives of Army, Air Force, Navy, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and National Security Agency.

TS did not consider the equipment check list due to the absence of [redacted] who was unable to attend above meeting.

Referral/Consult

FBI representative inquired as to whether a summary of reports from other agencies concerning (1) research and development projects and (2) counter-measure (CM) equipment put in use in the last six months will be distributed to Committee members. [redacted]

[redacted] Question was raised as to the necessity of continuing the semiannual report as to CM equipment put into use. Majority opinion of the TS was to the effect that if this were discontinued there would be no report on commercial equipment, such as the [redacted] radio receiver, which is put into use by agencies but is not subject of a research and development program. (Bureau has one of [redacted] receivers on order for evaluation.) [redacted]

SUBJECT: NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL
SURVEILLANCE COUNTERMEASURES (SC)

TECHNICAL SUBCOMMITTEE (TS)

On December 10, 1963, the Technical Subcommittee (TS) of the above SC met at State Department to consider the Security Requirements Check Lists of countermeasure equipment used by member agencies but in the absence of the Army representative, this item was deferred to the next meeting and a general discussion was held regarding a possible Government-wide list of countermeasures which can be taken to make a telephone more secure. The committee is on record in annual reports that no room is technically secure from penetration if a telephone is used therein. It was agreed that representatives of member agencies should review available material and be prepared to consider this matter further at the next meeting which was set for January 3, 1964, by [redacted] attached. Consideration of the latter two lists was tabled following a discussion until the joint TS consideration of the telephone problem during February. In preparation for this joint consideration, the next meeting of the TS was set for February 4, 1964, at State Department when all agency representatives are to have reviewed reports from Naval Research Laboratory (NRL) on its continuing study of telephone vulnerability to compromise. We have followed this NRL work closely, have copies of all the reports and will be in a position to discuss the matter at the next TS meeting.
