FOIA #2006-00914

OCT - 5 2006

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request, dated August 25, 2006.

You request was for:

“A copy of the FWS’s log of FOIA requests for calendar year 2004.”

We have searched our files and are enclosing a listing for most of the information that is deemed responsive to your request. However, certain information is being withheld under a FOIA exemption.

Some information has been withheld in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552 (b)(6) (FOIA exemption 6). The Department maintains that an individual has a personal privacy interest in this information. We do not perceive, nor have you stated, any public interest that would be served by disclosing this data that would outweigh the privacy interest of the subject individuals. Therefore, sound grounds exist for withholding the information pursuant to exemption 6 of the FOIA, which permits an agency to withhold “personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.”

In addition to myself, the officials responsible for this partial denial are Larry Mellinger, Attorney Advisor, Office of the Solicitor. You may appeal this partial denial to:

U.S. Department of Interior
Office of the Solicitor
Freedom of Information Act Appeals Officer
Mail stop 6556, MIB
1849 C Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20240

Your appeal must be in writing and received no later than 30 workdays after the date of this letter or 30 workdays after the records have been made available. A copy of your original request and this denial letter should accompany the appeal as well as a brief statement of the reasons why you believe this initial decision to be in error. The appeal should be marked "FREEDOM OF INFORMATION APPEAL" both on the envelope and the face of the letter. The fee incurred in responding to your request was minimal and, therefore, has been waived.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

FOIA #2006-00914

This is a supplemental response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request, dated August 25, 2006. We previously provided a response on October 5, 2006 and provided thirty-three (33) pages. Then we realized that the package was not complete.

Your request was for:

“A copy of the FWS’s log of FOIA requests for calendar year 2004.”

We apologize for our error, and provide the remaining fifty-seven (57) pages herein deemed responsive to your request. However, certain information is being withheld under FOIA exemption, (5 U.S.C. 552 (b)(6)).

The Department maintains that an individual has a personal privacy interest in this information. We do not perceive, nor have you stated, any public interest that would be served by disclosing this data that would outweigh the privacy interest of the subject individuals. Therefore, sound grounds exist for withholding the information pursuant to exemption 6 of the FOIA, which permits an agency to withhold “personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.”

FOIA #2007-00101

JAN 17 2007

This is in response to your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request, dated October 26, 2006.

Your request was for:

“A copy of the FWS’s log of FOIA requests FY2002, FY2003, and FY2004.”

The Department has a mandatory electronic FOIA tracking database system (EFTS) for which the FOIA log can be provided. Therefore, in order to provide the best customer service, we have included the log for the FY2003 calendar year.

Per our previous November 3, 2006 supplemental and October 5, 2006 responses, we provided a listing from the EFTS for the FY2004 calendar year. The database is the only means that we have in order to provide a log of the material that you seek.

According to our General Records Schedule 23 (attached), entitled “Records Common to Most Offices Within Agencies”, item #8, regarding Tracking and Control Records indicates that upon proper authorization by the GRS or a NARA-approved SF 115, records maybe destroyed or deleted when 2 years old, or 2 years after the date of the latest entry, whichever is applicable. For your reference, we have provided the National Archives URL address (<http://www.archives.gov/records-mgmt/ardor/records-schedules.html>) which provides the General Records Schedule for records retention for government agencies.

We have searched our files and are enclosing a listing for most of the information that is deemed responsive to your request. However, certain information is being withheld under a FOIA exemption.

Some information regarding names within a Privacy Act request has been withheld in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552 (b)(6) (FOIA exemption 6). The Department maintains that an individual has a personal privacy interest in this information. We do not perceive, nor have you stated, any public interest that would be served by disclosing this data that would outweigh the privacy interest of the subject individuals. ## GENERAL RECORDS SCHEDULE 23

Records Common to Most Offices Within Agencies

This schedule provides for the disposal of certain records common to most offices in Federal agencies. It covers administrative subject files; facilitative records such as suspense files, tracking and control records, calendars, and indexes; and transitory documents. This schedule does not apply to any materials that the agency has determined to be nonrecord or to materials, such as calendars or work schedules, claimed as personal.

Office Administrative Files described under item 1 are records retained by an originating office as its record of initiation of an action, request, or response to requests for information. This item may be applied only to separate administrative files containing such records as copies of documents submitted to other offices for action including budget feeder documents, purchase orders, and training requests. Item 1 may not be applied to files that also contain program records, and it may not be applied by an office that receives and takes action on documents submitted by other offices.

A new item has been added to this schedule to authorize the destruction of electronic mail and word processing records maintained by agencies in addition to the copy in the recordkeeping system. This item covers electronic copies of electronic mail and word processing records created and used solely to produce the recordkeeping copy, and electronic copies of electronic mail and word processing records that are needed in addition to the recordkeeping copy for dissemination, revision, or updating.

1. Office Administrative Files. [See note after this item.]

Records accumulated by individual offices that relate to the internal administration or housekeeping activities of the office rather than the functions for which the office exists. In general, these records relate to the office organization, staffing, procedures, and communications, including facsimile machine logs; the expenditure of funds, including budget records; day-to-day administration of office personnel including training and travel; supplies and office services and equipment requests and receipts; and the use of office space and utilities. They may also include copies of internal activity and workload reports (including work progress, statistical, and narrative reports prepared in the office and forwarded to higher levels) and other materials that do not serve as unique documentation of the programs of the office.

Destroy when 2 years old.

[NOTE: This schedule is not applicable to the record copies of organizational charts, functional statements, and related records that document the essential organization, staffing, and procedures of the office, which must be scheduled prior to disposition by submitting a Standard Form (SF) 115 to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA).]

2-4. Reserved.

5. Schedules of Daily Activities.

Calendars, appointment books, schedules, logs, diaries, and other records documenting meetings, appointments, telephone calls, trips, visits, and other activities by Federal employees while serving in an official capacity, EXCLUDING materials determined to be personal.

- a. Records containing substantive information relating to official activities, the substance of which has not been incorporated into official files, EXCLUDING records relating to the official activities of high Government officials. [See note after item 5a.]

Destroy or delete when 2 years old.

[NOTE: High level officials include the heads of departments and independent agencies; their deputies and assistants; the heads of program offices and staff offices including assistant secretaries, administrators, and commissioners; directors of offices, bureaus, or equivalent; principal regional officials; staff assistants to those aforementioned officials, such as special assistants, confidential assistants, and administrative assistants; and career Federal employees, political appointees, and officers of the Armed Forces serving in equivalent or comparable positions. Unique substantive records relating to the activities of these individuals must be scheduled by submission of an SF 115 to NARA.

- b. Records documenting routine activities containing no substantive information and records containing substantive information, the substance of which has been incorporated into organized files.

Destroy or delete when no longer needed for convenience of reference.

6. Suspense Files.

Documents arranged in chronological order as a reminder that an action is required on a given date or that a reply to action is expected and, if not received, should be traced on a given date.

- a. A note or other reminder to take action.

Destroy after action is taken.

- b. The file copy or an extra copy of an outgoing communication, filed by the date on which a reply is expected.

Withdraw documents when reply is received. (1) If suspense copy is an extra copy, destroy immediately. (2) If suspense copy is the file copy, incorporate it into the official files.

7. Transitory Records.

Records of short-term interest (180 days or less), including in electronic form (e.g., e-mail messages), which have minimal or no documentary or evidential value. Included are such records as

- Routine requests for information or publications and copies of replies which require no administrative action, no policy decision, and no special compilation or research for reply;
- Originating office copies of letters of transmittal that do not add any information to that contained in the transmitted material, and receiving office copy if filed separately from transmitted material;
- Quasi-official notices including memoranda and other records that do not serve as the basis of official actions, such as notices of holidays or charity and welfare fund appeals, bond campaigns, and similar records;
- Records documenting routine activities containing no substantive information, such as routine notifications of meetings, scheduling of work-related trips and visits, and other scheduling related activities;
- Suspense and tickler files or 'to-do' and task lists that serve as a reminder that an action is required on a given date or that a reply to action is expected, and if not received, should be traced on a given date.

Destroy immediately, or when no longer needed for reference, or under a predetermined schedule or business rule (e.g., implementing the auto-delete feature of "live" electronic mail systems).

✱ 8. Tracking and Control Records.

Logs, registers, and other records used to control or document the status of correspondence, reports, or other records that are authorized for destruction by the GRS or a NARA-approved SF 115.

Destroy or delete when 2 years old, or 2 years after the date of the latest entry, whichever is applicable.

9. Finding Aids (or Indexes).

Indexes, lists, registers, and other finding aids used only to provide access to records authorized for destruction by the GRS or a NARA-approved SF 115, EXCLUDING records containing abstracts or other information that can be used as an information source apart from the related records.

Destroy or delete with the related records.

10. Electronic Mail and Word Processing System Copies.

Electronic copies of records that are created on electronic mail and word processing systems and used solely to generate a recordkeeping copy of the records covered by the other items in this schedule. Also includes electronic copies of records created on electronic mail and word processing systems that are maintained for updating, revision, or dissemination.

a. Copies that have no further administrative value after the recordkeeping copy is made. Includes copies maintained by individuals in personal files, personal electronic mail directories, or other personal directories on hard disk or network drives, and copies on shared network drives that are used only to produce the recordkeeping copy.

Destroy/delete within 180 days after the recordkeeping copy has been produced.

b. Copies used for dissemination, revision, or updating that are maintained in addition to the recordkeeping copy.

Destroy/delete when dissemination, revision, or updating is completed.
